An executive of Masjumi, the country's strongest political faction, said the party wanted a parliamentary decision on the question of taking American dollars under the Mutual Security Act.

On his own hook, Foreign Minister Achmad Soebardjo signed an agreement with American officials in January to keep on taking U.S. help under M.S.A. and go along with the anti-Communist pledges the act requires. A storm of protest from parliament and other cabinet members followed.

Commonwealth Outfit Six-Country Division

WITH THE COMMONWELATH DIVISION IN KOREA, Feb. 23 — (Reuters).—The Commonwealth Division became a six-country outfit with the arrival Friday of five South African officers.

"We are only a tiny part of a division—but we hope there will be more of us in Korea before the war ends" said Capt. C. H. Schuman of the South African Armored Corps. He is senior officer of the group.

The five are all veterans of North African fighting in the Second World War.

Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India are the other Commonwealth members represented in the division.

Coronation Likely Held On August 7

Queen Will Decide About Ceremony Within Three Weeks

LONDON, Feb. 23. (CP) — Plans for a mid-summer coronation ceremony were reported under consideration today. Reuters News Agency quoted reliable sources as saying that Aug. 7 will be suggested to the queen by court officials.

The Daily Express, while less positive about the exact date, said the Queen is expected to decide on a date within three weeks. The newspaper said plans are to hold the ceremony in late August or early September.

If the Queen approves a date this summer, it will be the first time in 225 years that a British sovereign has been crowned within the year of succession to the throne.

The Reuters' report noted that Aug. 7 is a Thursday and that Thursdays have been popular for coronations in the past. Queen Victoria, William IV and George IV chose that day. Edward VII also picked a Thursday, but his illness caused a postponement.

Good Reason

Although holding the coronation ceremony on a Thursday is not based on tradition, there are some good reasons for choosing that date. Thursday is almost a general half-holiday throughout Britain and consequently there would be no interference with Britain's production drive.

Speculation on an early coronation began last week with two official announcements. First, the Queen declared that the mourning period for the late King would be only four months instead of the customary nine to 12.

Allies Break Even On Planes

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 23 (CP).—Allied planes ran up a score of at least 10-0 in jet battles with Communist MIGs over North Korea last week but the United Nations airmen lost 10 of their own planes to Red groundfire.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said today that U.N. pilots claimed 10 MIGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and nine damaged. No U.N. planes were lost in air action.

But the Air Force's weekly summary said Communist anti-aircraft fire knocked down five allied planes. Five others failed to return from flights over Red Korea.

An Air Force spokesman said of the missing five, "We don't know whether they were operational or combat losses. They just went up there and failed to return, that's all." He added it was known they were not lost in air combat, because the results of all battles were known.

The spokesman said the pilots of some planes destroyed by groundfire were rescued.

The loss of 10 planes in a week is just about the Allies' average since the Korean war started.

Red Planes Can Strike U.S. Cities With A-Bombs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP).—The first detailed reports reaching Washington on Russia's newest long-range bomber indicate U.S. cities are well within reach of those atomic bomb carriers.

New information on the Soviets' Type-31 bomber, glimpsed briefly during a Soviet air demonstration a few weeks ago, became available along with fresh word about the mounting strength of Russia's jet-fighter and tactical air force.

The Type-31 bomber apparently is powered with piston-type engines, but quite possibly may appear with faster turbo-prop power (a jet engine turbine driving a propeller) by the end of this year. In its present form, it is described as having a range of 6,500 miles and a speed of more than 450 miles an hour.

It obviously is intended as a successor to the TU-4, which the Russians patterned from early models of the American B-29.

Here are some reported developments in Russian plane strength:

Two new tactical plane types are in use, Type-27, a light bomber powered with twin jets, has a speed of more than 500 miles per hour and a range of about 1,300 miles. A Type-35 appears to be similar in speed and other performance. The two types are being produced at a rate of about 1,000 a year.

Russia may have in production a new interceptor plane even better than its MIG-15. Reports about the type number of this model vary. Some describing it as the MIG-16, some as MIG-19.

The fact that Russia has built up Red China's air force fighting the Korean War to a new estimated strength of 1,700 aircraft—900 of them jet fighters—may be indicative of a huge production rate for the MIG-15. Or it may mean that this model is being superseded by mass production of later types.

Find Tot Walking On Montreal St. After Phone Tip

MONTREAL, Feb. 23. (CP) — Three-year-old Barbara Nemeroff, kidnapped from her home for $50,000 ransom on Friday night, was recovered by police today. Police said they discovered the tot walking along the street with a man on St. Catherine Street. The girl was unharmed and the man was arrested. Police said the suspect was in his early 20's. They did not identify him but said they believed he had worked for the child's father, Morris Nemeroff, well-to-do leather goods manufacturer.

The man and the child were in the midst of the hustle and bustle of the busy main street of Montreal, crowded with Saturday morning shoppers.

Recognized Description

Police said they received a telephone tip that the man was in front of Eaton's department store with the child at the time.

The tip came from a woman who had seen the girl with the man and recognized them from a broadcast description.

Phoned First

The maid said the man broke into the northwest Montreal two-storey duplex home of the Nemeroffs after she had received a telephone call asking whether Mr. Nemeroff was at home.

The ransom note directed that the $50,000 be delivered in the shoe department of Dupuis Freres Departmental Store.

The note gave no time for delivery of the money. It warned the parents not to call police.

The Nemeroffs were away from their Dolbeau Avenue home in northwest Montreal visiting when the kidnapper gained entry about 10:30 p.m.

Slipped Bolt

The abductor, masked and wearing gloves, slipped the bolt on the door of the second-storey quarters above the Nemeroff store.

He ordered the maid to rouse and dress the tot.

When she was taken from her home she wore a red-white-blue jersey with brown mittens and a maroon sweater and carried a "sleeping" doll which she calls "Rosalyn."

Rumors Still Flying Pearson Joining NATO

LISBON, Feb. 23—(CP)—The Associated Press said today there is not much doubt that Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson, will be chosen as permanent Secretary-General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Informed sources said again today that the 54-year-old Pearson has agreed to accept the job.

Early this week when Reuters News Agency reported that Pearson was understood to be willing to take the post, Pearson himself merely parried reporters' direct questions about it.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said at that time that Pearson had not been in touch with him about the possibility of his quitting the External Affairs portfolio and moving to the permanent N.A.T.O.

Reds Charge Allies Massacre POW's

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 23 (AP) —The Communists today accused the United Nations of "barbarously massacring large numbers" of prisoners in the U.N. prison camp on Koje Island.

"The latest massacre fully testifies to the brutal inhumanity with which your side treats our personnel captured by your side," said Col. Tsai Chen-wen.

The Reds had been expected to inject into the truce conference the Monday riot in which 69 Korean civilian internees were killed and 142 wounded.

In an adjoining tent at Panmunjom the Reds accepted the U.N.-proposed monthly troop-rotation ceiling of 35,000. Previously the Communists had insisted 30,000 men was sufficient.

However, the Reds clung to their demand that only five ports of entry on each side be opened to inspection by neutral teams during an armistice. The U.N. allies insist on inspection at six entry ports.

Col. Don Darrow said that after an agreement is reached on ports of entry "there still are quite a number of minor items. But they should not present much difficulty unless the Communists become obstinate."

The staff officers, however, are not even discussing the biggest issue of all in the truce-supervision controversy — whether the Reds may build and repair military airfields during an armistice.

Communist staff officers again demanded that the U.N. accept Russia as a Communist representative on the neutral inspection commission.

Finland Takes 2 Championships

OSLO, Feb. 23—(AP)—Little Finland swept its second and third championships of the winter Olympics today by capturing the women's 10-kilometre cross-county ski race and the men's 40-kilometre cross-country ski-relay contest.

Lydia Videman, a 28-year-old typist who plans to get married soon and give up competitive racing, carried the hardy nation's colors to victory in the individual race in decisive fashion. Four crack hill and dalers brought Finland another 10 points in the four-leg relay.

There were no Canadians in either event.

The Finns also took second, third and fifth in the women's grind for a grab of 21 points in that event and a total of 31 for the day. That moved them past Austria (58) into third place in the team standings with 72 points, only 12½ behind the runner-up United States. The leading Norwegian team picked up six points for the day with a sixth in the women's race and a second in the relay. The Norwegians have the team title sewed up with 107 points.

Honduras Would Like Quit Commonwealth

GUATEMALA CITY, Feb. 23 — (AP)—Guatemala said in a note to Britain Friday night that the people of British Honduras do not want to remain in the Commonwealth or join a British-backed Caribbean Federation.

The note, handed to British Minister Wilfred Sansford Galliene by Foreign Minister Manuel Galich, of this Central American Republic, also rejected Britain's protest this week against Guatemalan territorial claims on British Honduras and Guatemalan charges that the British administration of the colony is undemocratic.

Capacity Crowd Enjoys Varied Films

A capacity audience in Queen Mary auditorium attended the opening night of the Second Annual Film Festival presented by the Peterborough Film Council Friday.

Geography, biography, agriculture, religion and safe driving were all featured in a three-hour showing of 10 films. From this it was evident that the program had been chosen and arranged with care to show films that were varied and that catered to different interests.

Chairman William Graff, secretary-treasurer of the film council, explained that the purpose of the festival was to bring to the city outstanding documentary films made in Canada and other countries.

If tonight's festival session is of equal calibre to Friday's, the council can be complimented in achieving their purpose.

Fine Photography

From the first film, Fair Country of Ayr, to the final, High Country Farm, the films were extremely interesting and each was an example of brilliant skill in the art of photography.

For the enjoyment of the literary-minded there was the film, Balzac, which by the means of paintings, sketches and illustrations, the life of the famous French author was reviewed.

The remaining films, Fair Country Ayr, a camera-tour of Robert Burns home county in Scotland; Driver Irritations, a lesson in courteous driving; El Dorado, a review of British Guiana, its people and their work. Out In the Open, a film of the camping activities of Nova Scotian guides, were all interesting and informative.

Timber and the Totem Poles, a ten minute color film showing the revival of the art of the totem pole carving in Alaska and an explanation of their meaning was a splendid instance of the manner films can be used to communicate a better understanding of our North American Indians. The same could be said for the film, The Longhouse People, a film showing the life and religious ceremonies of the Longhouse people—the Iroquois Indians who adhere to their ancient religion.

Britain's Festival

On particular interest was the clored film, Festival of London, which gave a graphic visual interpretation of Great Britain's gala tourist attraction.

Tonight the festival session will feature such films as, The Top of the Ski World, a film on skiing in the scenic country of Norway; Tanglewood Story, the summer music school at Tanglewood Massachusetts, where students from all over the world go to study music; Newfoundland Scene, the outstanding film photography by F. R. Crawley, highlighted by shots of seal hunting, whaling and many other aspects of Canada's newest province.

The arrangement for the films shown at the two-night festival were made by Ron Ward, National Film Board representative.

INTERESTED SPECTATOR — Louis Danis, 19-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Danis, of Montreal, who was an interested spectator at the third running of the Laurentian International Sled Dog Races which was held in conjunction with the 1952 edition of the Ste. Agathe Snow Fiesta during the weekend. She is seen with two Siberian huskies who were with the Admiral Byrd Antarctic expeditions.

Slot Machines Legal Soon In Alberta

By The Canadian Press

Slot machines soon will be legal in Alberta. The government of that province Friday introduced a bill in the Legislature to bring its regulations on coin-operated equipment into step with the times.

It proposes to amend the Slot Machine Act to permit use of machines dispensing goods or services, including amusements or tests of skill or strength — provided there is no element of chance in a machine's operation.

Lose Margarine Bill

A private member's bill to lift the ban on the coloring of margarine by manufacturers went down to defeat 32-22 on second reading in the legislature at Winnipeg. It was introduced by F. L. Jobin (LP—The Pas) after a series of referendums in Winnipeg and other centres last fall in which many persons indicated they favored the coloring.

In the Ontario legislature, which opened Thursday, 11 minor bills were introduced by the government. It also formed a striking committee to organize standing committees for the session, including new committees on health and on travel and publicty.

In the British Columbia legislature, a C.C.F. want-of-confidence motion was defeated by a vote of 34 to 11, winning only C.C.F. suport. C.C.F. leader Harold Winch said he introduced the motion mainly because the Liberal government of Premier Byron Johnson had announced it would not act on "vital issues" during the present session. He said the issues included hospital insurance, the Labor Act and parts of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Saskatchewan has completed a deal to borrow privately $20,000,000 for 20 years at four per cent, Treasurer C. M. Fines announced in the legislature at Regina. He said the loan is the largest ever placed privately in the United States by a Canadian province.

Nasty Charge

Throne-Speech debate continued in the New Brunswick legislature. In reply to an opposition charge earlier in the session that a ruthless Liberal political machine is running the province, M. A. Savoie, a Liberal, said it was the first time he has seen or heard a member "stooping that low."

Premier Agnus Macdonald of Nova Scotia told the legislature at Halifax that his province is paying more than its share of education costs and any further expenditures will have to come from the municipalities. He said the province pays 55 per cent of the cost of education and can go no farther in helping to make up salary increases sought by teachers.

RESCUE AT SEA—As the bow half of the split tanker Fort Mercer tips upward in storm-swept waters off Cape Cod, Mass., two crewmen are pulled toward the Coast Guard cutter Yakutat in a life raft (left). The seamen, Vincent A. Galdon of New York and Willard Fahrner of Winthrop, Mass., huddle together in the raft (upper right) and, at lower right, Fahrner is hauled aboard the cutter by a rope. Two other crewmen were rescued from the bow of the ship, but 13 of their shipmates stayed put on the stern to await salvage operations

Youth Admits Store Robbery

Two break-ins were solved Thursday by detective sergeant Bud Clarke and constable Douglas Farthing.

A teenager has confessed to breaking into the laundry of Chung Quon, 348 Charlotte St., last weekend. Instead of the $10 reported missing by the owner, the boy claimed he only took $7.

After investigating a break-in at the apartment of Misses Sally and Lillian Weiss, 343½ George St., constable Farthing arrested William Misson, 25, 264 Simcoe St.

In police court today, Misson was charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit the theft. He was granted an adjournment until February 25.

Snowbound Train Ready To Proceed

STE. THERESE, Que., Feb. 23 (CP). — Thirty-eight passengers, stranded in a snow-bound train since Monday night near this Gaspe Peninsula town, will probably be able to continue their journey today.

The seven-car train backed up to Chandler Friday night, 15 miles west of here, bringing with it half the original passengers, mostly travelling salesmen who handled their business by phone from hotels here.

The remainder, originally headed for Gaspe, 45 miles east of here, remained in hotels and farmhouses for a day train.

A Canadian National Railways spokesman said the snowbound train will be cleaned up and take on fuel before it is decided whether it will start again for Gaspe or return to its starting point of Campbellton, N.B.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Corn prices sank in an otherwise mixed grain market today.

The March yellow grain cereal lost the most ground. Hedging pressure was an important factor in the slump. Cash corn on track totalled 425 cars, a high number for a Saturday even though it did represent a two-day total.

Wheat started unchanged to ½ lower, March $2.25-$2.55⅛, corn ⅞ lower to ¼ higher, March $1.80½, oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March 83¼-⅛, and soybeans ½ lower to ¼ higher, March $2.97¼.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 23 (CP) — Prices showed a firm tone at the close Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Outside interest was limited due to the holiday in the United States, but most grains received fair support from locals and commission houses.

Export loadings of wheat included 300,000 bushels for the United Kingdom and 150,000 for Italy. Prices for Class 2 wheat and I.W.A. were unchanged.

Vicar Vows To Tax Tardiness At Altar

MILTON REGIS, Kent, England —(CP). — Wayward brides who can't get to the altar on time worry some British vicars.

One Milton Regis vicar, Rev. R. A. F. Parsons, is so annoyed he threatens to charge extra any time a bride is more than 10 minutes late.

Time is important because many clergymen schedule three or four marriages in one afternoon. One vicar, annoyed at a bride who was so late the next couple missed their honeymoon train, decided on stern measures.

He put late-comers at the end of the queue. One bride so penalized waited through three other ceremonies before her turn came. Since then brides in the parish have been strictly on time.

Marriage Law Suggestion Made

LONDON, Feb. 23—(AP)—The Fabian Society said today a single lapse into adultery "should only be considered on its merits" as a reason for divorce and should not be an automatic ground for breaking a marriage.

The Socialist intellectual society presented its views to a Royal Commission studying proposals to improve Britain's laws on marriage and divorce.

"Misconduct should only be considered on its merits in conjunction with other evidence showing the marriage has failed," the society said. "Many marriages have survived a single act of infidelity."

The Fabians advocate a more business-like basis for marriage.

It said, for example, that a wife should be able to seek court decisions on the amount of housekeeping money allowed her and should be empowered to find out from income tax authorities how much money her husband really earns.

The society helped found the Labor Party half a century ago. Among its early members were the late George Bernard Shaw and Sidney and Beatrice Webb.

Both the big railways have been worried about the problem for years. The C.P.R. already is in the highway business on a fairly large scale in the West, where it has bought a few long-distance trucking firms. The C.N.R. has been doing some experimenting on a smaller scale.

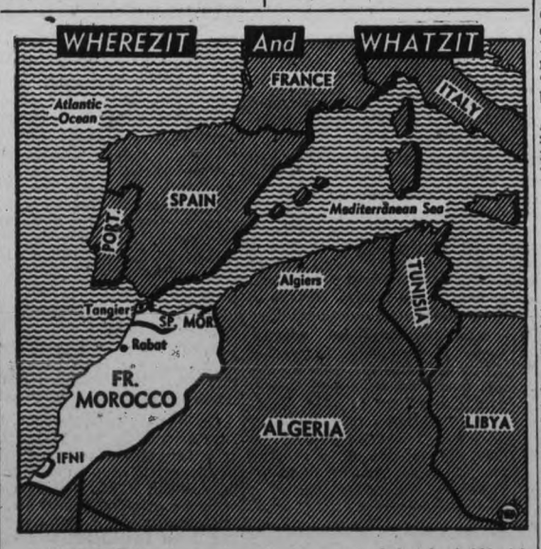
Government authorities are watching the national line's action closely. A big C.N.R. move into the highway field probably would call for the endorsation of Cabinet since some question of Dominion-provincial relations would be involved.

Man Faces 2 Charges Of False Pretences

Arrested Friday night, on two charges of false pretences, Burton H. Young, 25, no fixed address, appeared in police court today.

He was remanded on bail of $300 until Monday.

Burton is charged with obtaining an overcoat valued at $55 from a local department store in October by issuing a worthless cheque. He is also charged with obtaining $20 from William Young in October with intent to defraud by giving Young a cheque which was also worthless.



MOROCCO has been described as part of the Arab World displaced by chance on the northwest corner of Africa. The country is a mixture of desert and rich, beautiful garden land where the river valleys cut through the mountains. Here, for centuries, nomadic tribal chieftains have led the Riffs, Berbers and Arabs in war against French and Spanish colonials. The Morocco monarchy, now divided into French and Spanish protectorates, with some 10,000,000 population, is but the remnant of the great Shereefian Empire carved by the Arabs in Northwest Africa and Southwest Europe in the seventh century. Its natives are mostly Berbers, Arabs and mixtures of the two races called Moors. Morocco's economy is agricultural and pastoral, but because of its splendid climate and natural beauty, Morocco has become a tourist mecca. Now, its greatest importance to the free world is that is the Western anchor of any Middle East Defence Command. The U.S. has several big air bases there with more planned. Morocco's restless tribesmen are presently caught up in the anti-colonialist, "nationalist" fever that has engulfed the Arab world. The powerful Sultan of Morocco himself has shown strong nationalist tendencies. Continued unrest and violence, most prevalent in the French protectorate, could develop into a dangerous revolt similar to that against Britain in Egypt's Suez Canal Zone, at the "other door" of the Mediterranean.

Company Orders Layoff, Slowdown Ends

HAMILTON, Feb. 23.—A slowdown in production at Canadian Westinghouse Co. plants in Hamilton came to an abrupt end Friday after company officials decided to lay off 100 employees because of piled up materials.

Officials of the company and Local 504 United Electrical Workers are awaiting the appointment of a conciliation board, the next step in negotiations which have been going on since the first of the year.

Union stewards were reported to have cancelled the slowdown, which was approved by the membership vote last Thursday.

The slowdowns apparently back fired as materials piled up in certain departments and the company decided to lay off 100 employees.

A company official said the layoffs were to become effective on Thursday night but a meeting of stewards partially averted this action.

R. H. Williams, general manager of the air brake division, said it would still be necessary to put into effect a modified form of temporary layoffs to handle the materials on hand.

Company secretary W. A. Campbell said it was to be regretted that any slowdown had taken place, since it was totally unnecessary and has meant a loss of earnings to employees.

"Conciliation proceedings are moving ahead with promptness that was anticipated by the company several weeks ago," he said. "The ill-advised slowdown action had neither speeded up nor retarded conciliation procedure, nor can such tactics bring about a faster or better settlement."

Suggests New Terms Would Avoid Stigma

LONDON (CP).—A British report on illegitimacy suggests that "natural child" might be a better term for children born out of wedlock.

Nearly all names used, the report notes, transfer to the children the stigma caused by their parents' conduct.

The descriptions "illegitimate child" and "bastard" seemed out of date, and "love child" was hardly suitable. Although no name was entirely satisfactorily, "natural child" was perhaps the best of those suggested.

The report was drafted by a joint committee of the British Medical Association and the Magistrates' Association.

Speed Arms Production

Armst production is to be speeded.

National resources—Men, machines, metals and materials—need to be used more efficiently to stretch thin supplies. Coal, steel and metal production need to be boosted, and the Allies are urged to avoid scrambling with each other for scarce raw materials.

The entire plan underlines the idea that a substantial German contribution in men and materials is needed to reach the arms goals the Allies have set.

The N.A.T.O. council Friday took a big step in this direction by approving the French-sponsored plan for a European army under which German divisions would be used.

Convicted of Conspiracy

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Feb. 23 (AP). — A federal court jury Friday night convicted a leading Syracuse real estate broker and a former bank bookkeeper on charges of conspiring in a $1,600,000 overdraft scheme and misapplying bank funds. Jackson M. Potter, 52, the broker, and Bernard E. Klock, 37, ousted by the Syracuse Trust Company last April, were accused of having an arrangement whereby $1,600,000 in cheques drawn by Potter against inadequate balances were paid by the bank, but not recorded in its books.

The Daily Express noted that a mid-summer coronation would lure thousands of tourists to the British Isles to see the glittering pageantry.

Blood Plasma Substitutes Being Tested

WINNIPEG (CP)—If an atom bomb hit a city the size of Winnipeg, at least 100,000 bottles of blood would be needed within 72 hours.

Where would it come from? Experiments undertaken by the University of Manitoba's medical faculty may supply the answer.

Blood substitutes are being subjected to extensive tests by researchers. Findings may spell the difference between life and death for thousands of persons should a city become a primary target in a future war.

Substitutes tested are known as dextran and polyvinyl pyrrolidone, commonly call P.V.P. Tests are financed by the defence research board at Ottawa with results forwarded to the board. Similar tests are being made in the United States and findings are funnelled to researchers here.

Experiments so far show the substitutes to be free of any harmful reactions. But long-term effects have yet to be determined.

Testers here say the good points are readily apparent. Substitutes are cheap to produce, easily sterilized and remain stabilized for long periods. They also do away with typing—persons of any blood type can be given transfusions.

Developed In Europe

The two substitutes are not new. They were depeloped during the Second World War—Dextran in Swedwen, P.V.P. in Germany—and used extensively in emergency cases.

Dextran is a carboydrate compound related to the starch family. Discovery that it might be used as a plasma substitute was made when researchers studied the nature of gum substances that interfere with the production of beet sugar.

P.V.P. is a synthetic nitrogenring compound, first offered to the German medical profession in 1940. Besides taking the place of blood plasma, it will delay and prolong the action of drugs such as local anaesthetics, antibiotics, antihistamines and hormones.

Absorption qualities of P.V.P. aid in the transport and detoxification of diphtheria, tetanus and other toxins. The dextran substitute has been found useful in the prevention and treatment of shock—particularly from burns.

Importance of substitutes like P.V.P. and dextran is great. Stockpiling of whole blood supplies is not feasible. Blood, for transfusion purposes, should not be stored more than three weeks to remain in a healthy state.

Human plasma or serum can be dried and stored for longer periods but there are grave deterioration risks similar to whole blood.

HITS MAIL POST.

More than $350 damage was caused to the car of Walter Flowers, 55, Bewdley, on Friday when he crashed into a mail-box post, just oposite the Hitching Post on Highway 28. Mr. Flowers had to make a quick right turn to avoid striking a milk truck ahead of him that slowed before making a left turn. The whole right side of the car was scraped, windows were broken, and the right front wheel was bent. O.P.P. Constable Roy Feeley investigated.

Fashions Help Drive

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 23 (Reuters).—Women's fashions today became part of the campaign to reduce meat consumption. The semi-official newspaper Democracia came out in favor of the wasp waist styles—but warned against achieving it by a meat-only diet. The newspaper said that to diet on meat alone "is bound to produce serious liver complaints and other diseases."

Russians Told Western Alliance Now Crumbling

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Soviet press is highly optimistic about world affairs these days. There has hardly been a time when Russia's newspapers and their leading writers seemed more sure that time is on the side of the USSR and the nationals allied with her.

First, there is the Atlantic alliance. The Russian press sees that as slowly falling apart.

Then there is inflation in the United States, an approaching crisis, corruption in government and confusion in leadership, the press says.

Britain is seen beset by enormous economic difficulties and a growing realization of rising Anglo-American conflicts.

The view here is that the northern countries—Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark—are awakening to the situation and it is only a question of time before they take a neutral position between the two big world camps. In this process, the Russians think Norway and Denmark will quit the Atlantic pact.

One of the most encouraging developments in the world, as seen by the Soviet press, is what it calls the irresistible independence movement in North Africa, Iran, Iraq, Indo-China, Indonesia, Malaya, Burma and even Spain and several countries of Central and South America.

Great Encouragement

Soviet commentators are professing great encouragement at the results of India's first national elections in which Communists won many seats in the central and state legislatures.

As for France, it is taken for granted that the French people are getting fed up with affairs as they now stand.

The Italian people, the Russians are told, know they have a rotten government and it is only a matter of time before they vote it out.

As to Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia, Soviet commentators have said time and again that the Yugoslav people are going to take care of him.

Take Right Path

Germany and Japan, as seen through Soviet spectacles, are finding their way along the right path. It seems clear Western Germans definitely do not want in any European army, this version goes, and while German militarists would like to set up shop again the French will see that this does not happen.

To the Russians, Britain's avowed intention not to participate in a European army seems good sense.

Meanwhile, so the Soviet press says, Russia, China and Eastern European countries are getting stronger all the time.

War? No one is talking about it here except to say U.S. militarists want it. They especially want to step it up in the Far East with an attack on China, the Russians are told daily, but the asurance is given that millions of people all over the world who want peace will see such an attack doesn't happen.

In short, the Russians are saying it is only a matter of waiting things out, and there is going to be a bright new world with capitalism dead as a doornail.

Gruesome Sight

LLANELLY, Wales — (CP) — When a gale upset a truck here, bystanders saw a baker climb from the wreck apparently covered in blood. The gory display however came from the crushed load of jam tarts.

Lowly Algae Ahead Of Man

Conversion of sunlight into chemical energy is believed to be a secret of that aquatic flora known as algae against which the Kawartha tourist industry is raising, so far, ineffectual hands.

Resort owners want to rid their waters of it, with some slim hope of aid from present investigations of science.

Another aspect of algae is pointed out to the Examiner by the New York Times who noticed the following item in its edition of Sunday Feb. 17:

"Tiny green leaves are still outsmarting man in the field of chemistry, according to Dr. Dean Burk of the National Cancer Institute, Bethseda, Md.

He told a General Electric Science Forum audience that algae, one-celled plants often seen as green scum on ponds, absorb sunlight and convert it by a process of photosynthesis into chemical energy more efficiently than any known man-made mechanism.

If this mechanism can be duplicated in the factory, science may be able to produce unlimited supplies of food and fuel. The energy in sunlight failling on the United States daily is equal to several times the amount now used for food, heat, light, transportation and manufacturing, according to Dr. Burk."

(Photosynthesis — process by which plant cells make sugar from carbon dioxide and water in the presence of chlorophyll and light.)

(Chlorophyll—the green coloring matter of plants. In the presence of light it makes carbohydrates, such as starch, from carbon dioxide and water.)

San Antonio, Former Spanish Capital Remembers Alamo With Spring Fiesta

Deep in the heart of Texas stands the colorful city of San Antonio, one of the Southwest's finest all-year vacation areas. In just two months the city will set aside its sedateness for a week when it stages the annual San Jacinto Festival, April 21-26, which pays tribute to the memory of heroes who died for Texas freedom 116 years ago.

Once again as dark-eyed senoritas and cowboys roam the streets, "Remember the Alamo" becomes the slogan on many lips. Texans go all out celebrating the victory of Gen. Sam Houston over the Mexican dictator Santa Anna in 1836. Any visitor fortunate enough to be here during the fiesta will have some never-to-be-forgotten experiences.

To many Canadians, the Alamo massacre brings to mind a river. Instead, the Alamo is a Spanish mission which still stands in the heart of San Antonio. The spark of the Alamo siege set all Texas aflame and united the people so that they achieved freedom.

At early twilight, Monday, April 21, thousands of San Antonians from school children to trail drivers, from the humblest citizens to the Governor will wind through the streets in a colorful pilgrimage past the Alamo, pausing to bank its entrance with flowers. Almost everyone is in costume and this gorgeous pageant includes Spanish ladies in mantillas, cowboys, covered wagons, princely thrones, hill billy bands and symphony orchestras.

Arrival Of Fleet

The week's gaiety opens with the arrival of King Antonio XXX at the head of a royal fleet on the San Antonio river which curls through the heart of the city. This event is a brilliant pageant with elaborately decorated barges and gondolas.

On Tuesday and Wednesday a fashion revue and flower show will be sponsored and thousands will take part in a children's fete at the Municipal Auditorium, Tuesday evening. A Thumb Box auction of paintings will be staged Wednesday night in La Villita, the charming Spanish village which has been restored in San Antonio. Thursday includes a dress parade and acrobatic riding exhibition staged by the Peacock Military Academy and in the evening a famous band festival at the Alamo stadium and the crowning of the fiesta queen at the Municipal Auditorium. There is also a tour of Old World Charm, when Texans throw open some of the old homes to tourists driven through the area in horse-drawn buggies. More than half a million spectators will witness the Battle of the Flowers Parade Friday afternoon and the fiesta is brought to a flaming finish Saturday night with the Fiesta Flambeau night parade. Thousands of costumed men and women take part in a mammoth square dance. Gaiety is the byword.

In addition to these exciting events, the program will also include a western parade, recalling the heritage of a frontier town. All branches of the armed forces in the area will participate extensively in the fiesta celebrations. Special reviews of troops are held at Fort Sam Houston and Lackland Air Base. Visitors are transported back to the San Antonio of old when a fiesta is staged within La Villita, the little Spanish village.

Spanish Stronghold

Apart from the fiesta, San Antonio is a beautiful city noted for its fascination and charm. Once a Spanish stronghold and capital of the province of Tejas in New Spain, San Antonio, which is one of the great cities in the southwest, had a humble beginning. Six proud flags have flown over this centre, those of Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederate States of America and the United States. The Spanish imprint was the strongest outside influence left on this city, and today the traces of old world customs and architectures mingle picturesquely with modern skyscrapers.

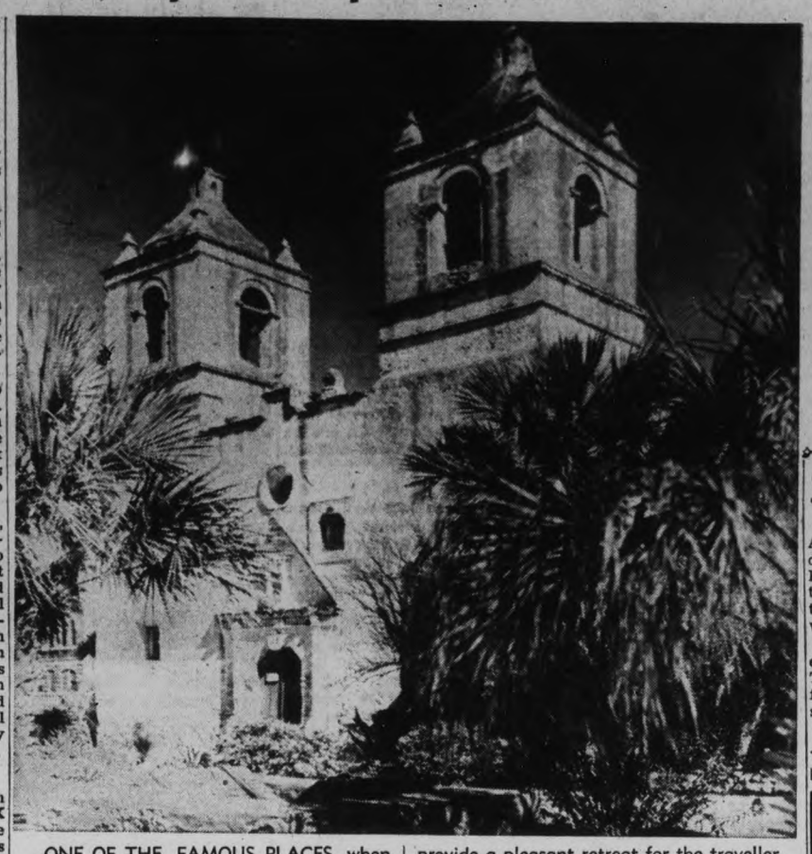
The San Antonio river valley was for hundreds of years the home of the Coahuiltecan Indians. In 1536, only 17 years after Cortez conquered Montezuma and 44 years after Columbus discovered America, the Spaniard Cabeza chronicled his visit to an Indian village believed to have been La Villita . . . in the heart of today's metropolis.

In 1691, a Royal Spanish expedition again visited the spot. A Franciscan father celebrated mass and as it was the feast day of St. Anthony of Padua, he named the village site San Antonio. Since the time 200 years ago that Spain and France warred for the possession of the fertile lands surrounding San Antonio, the city has been an important military post. The year 1718 was marked by the establishment of the Alamo.

San Antonio proper was first settled in 1731 by 15 Spanish families sent from the Canary Islands by the King of Spain. The seat of government was a pretentious adobe building, the Governor's Palace, which still stands.

Under Mexican Flag

For 100 years the royal emissaries from Spain ruled. Fierce Lipan and Comanche Indians took a heavy toll in life and property. Then the power of Spain began to wane and the Mexican Revolt flared up in 1824. The Spaniards were defeated and San Antonio came under the direct rule of Mexico. The tyranny of the Mexican government grew and San Antonio became the scene of armed revolt. The "Napoleon of Mexico," Santa Anna, marched with 4,000 men to put an end to unrest in Texas. The battle of the Alamo was fought and then finally the Texan victory at San Jacinto. The Lone Star State became a nation and later joined the United States.



ONE OF THE FAMOUS PLACES when New Spain was at its peak is the Mission Concepcion (Above) at San Antonio, Texas. Founded in 1716, it shares with the Alamo the distinction of having been used as a fort during the Texas war for independence. Religious services are still held here and its cloistered walls, rich in tropical vegetation, provide a pleasant retreat for the traveller. The Chinese Sunken Gardens (Right) are one of America's most beautiful gardens. Located on the edge of Brackenridge Park, this is an old quarry transformed into a bower of loveliness. The lily pond alone covers one-half an acre.—Patterson-Elicson Photos).

One of the things which makes San Antonio such a delightful city is that it is in the heart of the Mission Country. These missions of the early monks still stand in a half circle about the city like sentinels.

The Alamo, which is the most famous, is one of the most interesting buildings in the United States for its romantic history and it is in the central plaza of the city. It has been called the "Cradle of Texas Liberty." Established by the Franciscan Fathers, the Alamo and the other missions had a threefold objective: converting the Indians to the Roman Catholic Church; educating the settlers and their families; and defending them from attacks by hostile Indians.

The Alamo was originally known as the Mission de San Antonio de Valero and was so called from St. Anthony of Padua and the Marquis of Valero, one of Spain's viceroys in Mexico. The origin of the name Alamo is not definite, but it is believed to have come from the Spanish name for cottonwood, because these trees shaded the Alamo.

Difficult To Defend

As seen today, the Alamo differs from the original form in the days of 1835. Then it was a fortress in a sense, but an imperfect one. The Alamo church and convent were enclosed in a wall eight feet high and 2½ feet wide. The enclosure was calculated to hold 1,000 men. With such an expanse to guard, it was difficult for a small group of defenders.

When Santa Anna, the Mexican dictator, attacked San Antonio, Col. William Travis and 182 men fell back to the Alamo with 4,000 soldiers against them. Anna demanded unconditional surrender. A shot was the only answer and the Lone Star flag was run up on the roof. For 14 days the Alamo defenders withstood assault but on March 6, 1836, the attackers gained entrance and in the last hand-to-hand struggle every Texan died fighting. The bodies were piled in front of the Alamo and burned. This flaming pyre ignited all of Texas for it welded scattered Texans into a united people. Houston led the Texan army against Santa Anna at San Jacinto. The small force dashed into battle crying "Remember the Alamo" and routed the Mexican army, and took Santa Anna a prisoner.

Among the other interesting missions is the Mission Concepcion . . . originally known as the Mission de Nuestra Senora de la Concepcion de la Purisma de Acuna. It was founded in 1716 and moved to its present site in 1730. Located on the left bank of the San Antonio River, it lies about two miles from the city. It, too, was founded by the Franciscans.

Imposing Architecture

The architecture is severely plain, though massive and imposing and of the Moresque plan. Two prominent towers can be seen for miles around. Traces of highly colored decorations in purple, orange and blue can be found. The mission is of cruciform design and at the main entrance is an interesting door between the two towers that is surmounted by a triangular facade, no doubt indicative of the Trinity.

It was at this mission on October 28, 1835, that Col. James Bowie with 20 Texans was surprised by a large detachment of the Mexican army which surrounded them on three sides while the river was to the rear. There was a fierce encounter but the Texans won.

The Mission San Jose (Mission San Jose de Aguayo) was called "Queen of the Missions." It was named in part in honor of St. Joseph. In 1720 it was decided a mission was needed to educate local Indian tribes and convert them to the Church. So it was built and the Franciscans taught the Indians reading, writing, sanitation, music, art and crafts of the early days. At the height of its prosperity it was said to have no equal in New Spain.

Other interesting missions in the area include the Mission San Juan, six miles below the city on the San Antonio river and the Mission Espada, nine miles from the city.

Chinese Gardens

But there are a multitude of other interesting things that add to San Antonio's charm. One of the loveliest spots to be found are the Chinese Sunken Gardens, in Brackenridge Park. This is a famous beauty spot in Texas. It is an old quarry transformed, its walls covered with flowered vines. There are lily ponds with thousands of gorgeously tinted blossoms; a winding stairway to a thatched tearoom and a bridge built to resemble a dragon. The entire garden is brightly lighted at night with small colored lights. The lily pond covers one half an acre while the tea garden covers an acre.

The beautiful pools in the Sunken Gardens are filled with aquatic plants which blend with surrounding shrubbery to form an exotic picture within rugged rock sides. Paths wind in and out of the garden and across quiet pools. Adjoining the Sunken Garden is the Sunken Garden Theatre where the San Antonio Civic Opera performances are given in the summer. It is noted for its marvellous acoustic properties.

La Villita, charmingly reminiscent of Old Spain, is the original village restored in the heart of San Antonio. It paid heavily during the Mexican battles for it was nearly always on the losing side. It now houses a rich library of Texana and documents on Mexico and other Latin nations. In Juarez Plaza many outdoor dances and banquets are held. Smaller gatherings take place in the Cos home (he was the Mexican general who surrendered in 1836). On the brightly lit San Anotnio river at the foot of the bluff is the lovely outdoor Arneson theatre, all part of the La Villita project. There are also many colorful craft shops. La Villita is open to visitors daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. Guides and workers are there at all times to show and explain.

Famous Saloon

Another must for visitors to San Antonio is the Buckhorn Curio store and museum. More than 50 years ago the old Buckhorn Saloon was more famous as a museum than a saloon due to the display of horns and heads that adorned its walls. The saloon was conducted in such an orderly manner . . . that ladies were welcome as visitors to view the collection.

Albert Friedrich began it as a hobby in 1881 and through years of perseverance he obtained a specimen of almost every type of horned animal in the world. Some of the outstanding features of the collection are the 78-point Texas deer head and a Texas Longhorn steer (entire body mounted) with the horns measuring 8 feet, 1⅝ inches, tip to tip; also the world's largest chandelier, 50 feet long, made of hundreds of sets of Texas deer horns. The total weight is approximately 4,000 pounds. Another unique feature of the display is the collection of 32,000 rattlesnake rattles, fashioned into designs, some inlaid in the bar front. Some of them form pictures.

This city of 445,000 is famous as the Gateway to Mexico. It offers a fine introduction to its southern neighbor and has a picturesque Mexican quarter. It is also noted for its large military establishment, Fort Sam Houston.

Dude Ranches

Interesting side trips can be made to the Gulf Coast of Texas, the Hill Country (home of the dude ranches), Valley of the Lower Grande and the ranching country. Most of the dude ranches where visitors can go western in grand style, are clustered around Bandera, some 50 miles northwest of San Antonio. Posting American plan rates of $3 to $20 a day, they range from work ranches where tourists take over the chores of cowboys to resorts featuring golf, swimming, chuck wagon dinners and western music festivals.

San Antonio, the combination of old and new, offers something for every taste with its colorful history, Spanish atmosphere, development of the arts, its modernity and its warm welcome.

St. Genesius Guild Lauded By Adjudicator

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 (CP)—Adjudicator Pierre Lefevre Friday night called the St. Genesius Players Guild entry in the Western Quebec Regional Drama Festival here "really a play of festival level."

The Montreal company presented "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams, better known for his "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Mr. Lefevre commended the group's hard work in meeting the demands of a difficult play and a complex staging problem.

He called the production the first English effort that showed full command of acting and control of movement.

Progressive Legislation

The legislative measures announced in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the Ontario Legislature on Thursday are not startling; they reflect steady conservative government in an expanding prosperous society. The most striking statement was about assistance for people totally disabled, and it was the phrasing rather than the proposal to give them a $40 a month pension which stirred the mind. From the time the family allowance ends until he is receiving the old age pension, completely disabled persons without means will receive financial security. This will be the first instance in Canada of cradle-to-grave social security. First is the baby bonus. When the needy cripple reaches the age of 18 he will get a monthly cheque up to $40. This will continue until he is 65 and can apply for the old age pension to needy persons. Thus is Ontario society taking an obligation to support a disabled person from birth to death, even though he can contribute nothing at all to that society during his whole lifetime.

* * *

Other measures forecast in the Speech from the Throne have a carefully progressive tinge; measures to stimulate house-building, to encourage farm expansion and farm home development, to continue to extend the highways system, to revise Crown timber laws so as to provide a sustained forest yield, to improve rural telephone systems, to strengthen and improve the Workmen's Compensation Act. Considering that Ontario is now primarily an industrial province, there is to be a considerable emphasis on rural farming matters in proposed legislative enactments.

* * *

The Speech and the few and unremarkable legislative changes proposed show that Ontario is smoothly organized as an administrative unit, and that the wheels are turning in well-oiled quiet. We note with approval the Ontario Government's intention to continue to study provincial-municipal relations and to consider helping municipalities financially with their highway problems. It is an anomaly that the Province should be so rich, the Provincial surplus annually so big, while cities and towns are breaking their backs and having to borrow large sums of money to provide the services which residents expect and the Department of Municipal Affairs, Education and Health require. It is wrong that cities should have to increase their debts while the Province, with big surpluses, can reduce debt. Ways should be found to give municipalities greater financial aid out of the taxing resources of the Province.

Ireland Not A NATO Country

The virus for joining organizations has not infected Ireland. It is outside the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which now extends its tentacles as far as Turkey and Greece.

The Irish Ambassador (not a High Commissioner, be it noted; we exchange High Commissioners with Commonwealth countries) explains why Ireland has not joined and will not join NATO in a recent Montreal address. Mr. Sean Anthony Murphy said that Ireland had the friendliest relations with "nearly" every NATO nation, but is unable to join NATO because its members (and the organization) guarantee the territorial integrity of a nation.

Ireland does not want its territorial integrity guaranteed—at least not the territory which Britain, Canada, the United States and other nations recognize as being Eire. Eire claims the six northern counties of Ulster. To join NATO " would mean accepting Britain's claim to a portion of our territory, and in our opinion the essence of democratic rule lies in the right of a nation—not part of a nation—to determine their own form of government without outside interference." Apparently Mr. Sean Anthony Murphy believes that it is democratically right that Eire should decide the fate of Ulster. Obviously, that kind of thinking cannot permit Eire to become a member of NATO.

Eire is quite practised in staying out of international organizations which work for western defence. It stayed out of the last war, too.

An Atomic Commission contract hearing reveals that plumbers on the job get $750 a week, while carpenters get only $350. This gives the Russians the valuable information that making an atom bomb is more like plumbing than carpentry.

Tom Moore's Centenary

Monday next will be the centenary of the death of Thomas Moore, and we take the opportunity of calling our readers' attention to a poet whom we feel to be unjustly neglected. Moore was not, perhaps, a great poet, but he has virtues which we think raise him above many men whose place in public estimation is more favoured. Perhaps the unjust neglect which he has suffered from scholars may be blamed upon two things; he was a striking success while he lived, and he was more intent upon pleasing his readers than edifying them; these are faults which the pundits of literature cannot excuse.

Moore wrote a great deal, and much of what he wrote is of no interest now. But some of his lyrics are of a tenderness and a delicacy of workmanship which is equalled only by poets of the highest flight. They have been called artificial in sentiment. What, may we enquire, is artificial in Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms, or Oft In The Stilly Night?. These verses appear to us to be fully equal to anything of Burns'. We must be grateful for the Canadian Boat Song, one of the first pieces of good verse to be written in our land, and still waiting for an appropriate musical setting. Artificiality there is in Moore in plenty, but it is artificiality of the lightest, most adept kind, as in—

The young May moon is beaming, love,
The glow-worm's lamp is gleaming, love;
How sweet to rove
Through Morna's grove,
When the drowsy world is dreaming, love!
Then awake!—the heavens look bright, my dear,
'Tis never too late for delight, my dear;
And the best of all ways
To lengthen our days
Is to steal a few hours from the night, my dear!

Nowhere is Moore more neglected than in his native Ireland. The Cambridge History of English Literature suggests, with unwonted acerbity, that it was his neglect of the popular pursuit of political murder, and his "cat-like comfort in pleasant society" which annoyed his countrymen. Of this we cannot judge. But we suggest that more people are familiar with Moore than are conscious of that fact, for the vast number of Irish airs to which he wrote English words has provided fodder for generations of drawing-room and concert-hall singers. Certainly in Canada, during the Victorian era, the heap of music on the top of most pianos contained a volume or so of Moore's Irish Airs—not in the original edition, but in the pretty and somewhat cloying arrangements made by J. L. Molloy. Who has not sung The Last Rose of Summer? And how many have done so without being conscious that the words were Moore's?

It is time for a re-examination of Moore's claim to fame. His vein was rich, if not as deep as that of a handful of poets of the nobler sort. As a technician he commands respect, for there was no rhythm of which he was not a perfect master, a corollary, no doubt, of his skill and training as a musician. Apart from its poetic quality, which we believe to be great, consider the sheer technical mastery shown in these lines:

At the mid hour of night, when stars are weeping, I fly
To the lone vale we loved, when life shone warm in thine eye;
And I think oft, if spirits can steal from the regions of air
To revisit past scenes of delight, thou wilt come to me there,
And tell me our love is remembered even in the sky.

These are not the lines of a man who can be lightly dismissed. Is it not time we had a more generous justice for Thomas Moore?

NOTES AND COMMENT

People who refer to this as "an old-fashioned winter" make us long for some newfangled ideas in the meteorological line.

A prophet announces that "the human race will have a lot of trouble in 1952". This prophet is on safe ground.

English tailors have been criticising President Truman's clothes. There will be no trouble, however, so long as they keep quiet about Margaret's voice.

Several London tailors want men to give up pyjamas and go back to the nightshirt. We know dozens of men who have given up pyjamas without going back to anything.

BIBLIOMANIA

A Baptist Among The Reds

I LED 3 LIVES by Herbert A. Philbrick (McGraw-Hill Co. of Canada)

ANYBODY who knows that Judge Harold R. Medina tried eleven Communist leaders in the United States—a trial which lasted nine months from April 1949—will know who Herbert A. Philbrick is. He was the surprise F.B.I. witness, taking the stand after Louis Budenz, apostate Communist, former managing-director of the "Daily Worker". Philbrick was a civilian spy who had wormed his way into Communist inner circles in New England. This book is his story of how he wormed and why.

Despite the fact that Philbrick never really got next to the Big Time of U.S.A. Communism (only one of the eleven on trial came into his ken directly as a Communist), and although nothing really desperate happened to him as a false Communist and he did not witness anything blood-curdling, Philbrick's story is fascinating.

IN the first place, it is told well (some expert 'ghosting' may account for this). The story opens in Judge Medina's Courtroom as Philbrick is being called to the stand. There he states that he became a Communist card-holder at the instigation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and, so witnessing and telling his story, he sheds the nerve-racking triple life he had been leading for nine years, as a citizen, as a Communist and as a countersoy.

During nine years he had to pretend that he was just an ordinary citizen, and carry on his work as junior executive in an advertising business in Cambridge and Boston; and at the same time he had to be a Communist, unknown to his church, neighbours and business associates. And at the same time, unknown to them and to the Communists, he had to be an F.B.I. spy.

All this was thrust on a young man, aged 25, recently married. This is another reason the book is interesting. A young citizen of seemingly ordinary capacities, conventional New England background with a Baptist faith, and a decent, if naive, attitude to war and peace, suddenly finds himself in circumstances worthy of a dime thriller-diller. How he came to them, and the personality and character of this good young American, indirectly revealed are as fascinating as his uncovering of Communists and their activities.

In 1940 the U.S.A. was not at war. Philbrick had drifted into the advertising business in the late years of the Depression, after earning an engineering degree by night study and finding no engineering jobs available. He had married on September 3rd, 1939. That was a Sunday, if my memory serves right, the day war broke out—but it did not break out for Uncle Sam. "A hazy, warm autumn day", Philbrick says. The book relates that the next day "a shadow erossed our path"—war broke out. The confusion of dates shows how uninterested he was at the time in a European war. He was (and still is, I believe) a good Christian of good habits. Then in 1939 and 1940, he believed that peace was a good thing, war evil, and that the U.S.A should stay out of any war.

A nice, rather innocent fellow. But he obviously had more than niceness and innocence in his fibre. (The photograph in the front of the book shows him to have thick lips and something of an orator's frame of mouth; sometimes it is people like that who throw themselves headlong into good works according to their lights—pulpit oratory, politics, anti-vivisection, Communism, Fascism or America-firstism.)

YOUNG Philbrick plunged into saving America from war. His story of wandering by chance as an advertising salesman into the office of the "Massachusetts Youth Council" is thin. No man who had been an advertising salesman for even six months would look for business in such a place. My guess is that he was looking for uplift and a chance to uplift; a group where he could find outlet for a nascent desire to do good and save civilization.

So he became entangled. In a few months he found himself an organizer of youth groups with starry-eyed, patriotic aims. But then, horror! as the President of the Youth Council he became aware that things were not being run democratically and that he was being over-ruled and undermined, he the President, by a tight little executive. Things were getting Pink, pinker than he, a faithful Baptist, a democratic American liked.

Without saying anything to his wife, he called on an F.B.I. office in Boston and said that, really, he smelt Communism in his organization. The F.B.I. appreciated his sense of smell, and said string along with them and report anything odd which you happen to notice.

SO Herbert Philbrick strung along. He became more deeply involved in left-wing efforts (and finally outright Communist affairs) and at the same time, more definitely an F.B.I. civilian reporter on what went on in his left-wing circles. Within a year his wife was let into the secret that, really, all those funny people he was meeting, even at their very modest apartment, were not bosom pals. He was acting as an unpaid secret soldier of Uncle Sam. (An arrangement was made early in his triple-life career whereby he got out-of-pocket expenses for his F.B. I'ing).

A small, significant point in estimating Herb. Philbrick is this: within six months of his marriage, at the age of 25—he was becoming passionately involved in leftist Youth Movements which took a great deal of his time, even before he was wooed to become a Communist sympathizer and later an outright Communist for the sake of F.B.I. and the American Way of Life. One wonders why he was so prodigal of his time when he had a new bride at home—prodigal even before he took on the patriotic F.B.I. mission.

UNDOUBTEDLY he served his country well; the prosecutors of the Communists in Judge Medina's court used his reports and his statements as witness to good advantage in getting convictions. Their value was not so much in their revelations of Communist ways and means, but in their being the findings of an ordinary, good American citizen doing a special, voluntary tour of duty in Communist circles. The very naivete of the man must have been an advantage to the prosecution: his indignation at methods Communists used; his wonderment and dismay that such things could happen in Christian U.S.A.

The cloak-and-dagger stuff he relates reads like play-acting of a sewing-circle. He tells how he might have been followed and spied upon several times by Communists.

Philbrick's secret scouting and even the meetings of the Communist cells to which he belonged sound as if the whole caboodle of them had not quite got beyond the Boy's Own Annual.

But this underestimates the native intelligence of the man, his real desire to forward the best interests of mankind and particularly of Americans, and his stamina in playing three roles through nine long years.

It was a good example in unaffected good citizenship. Even if many readers of this book might know more about the philosophy and methods of Communism and Stalinism before they begin it than Philbrick knew when he ended his nine years of service, it is his plain, wide-eyed knowledge based on experience which has more validity than a bushel of theory—especially in a courtroom. His revelations may be small potatoes, but it is acres of such small potatoes all across the continent, in seeding and sprouting stages, which together blotch the North American landscape unpleasantly. Philbrick reveals the rottenness of them all in one unwholesome patch.

DANCE TO THE PIPER, by Agnes de Mille (McClelland & Stewart)

THERE IS A CURIOUS notion, cherished by many people, that success in the arts is easier for the children of the rich than it is for the children of the poor; this is an error; success in the arts is not easy for anybody, and it is harder for a wealthy beginner to get himself taken seriously than it is for someone who is struggling. Agnes de Mille is probably the greatest name in American ballet at present, but for years she had to fight against the prejudices of her family, and the prejudices of those who assumed that a wealthy girl who danced could not be more than an amateur. But Miss de Mille reveals in her book that she is a stubborn woman, and she refuses to be brushed aside.

She has her own philosophy of the dance, and she has succeeded in imposing it upon great numbers of people engaged in American ballet. She saw no reason why American themes and American idioms should not find expression in ballet, and after a long struggle she won others to her way of thinking. The moment of her triumph, if such a moment can be chosen, was when the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo commissioned her to prepare a distinctively American ballet, and she produced "Rodeo"; but she could not have done it if she had not known what she wanted, and if disappointment and slights had not hardened and clarified her attitude towards her work.

Books by dancers and books about dancing are often painful reading, for the writers are often the worst of writers. But Miss de Mille is an exception; she writes with clarity and wit, and with implication—by which I mean that she suggests much more than she specifically says.

The clarity and verve observable in her ballets is transferred to her writing, to produce a book of common interest.

One Angel Of Peace We Can Very Well Do Without

Northern Quebec Crater A Bubble?

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

THE theory that the mysterious giant crater recently discovered in Northern Quebec is the product of meteoric concussion is being challenged in the United States.

While plenty of iron has been found in the neighborhood, with one concentration indicated magnetically under the east rim of the crater, the critics suggest that this is of local origin like other deposits being developed farther south.

Another objection is that the vast lake-filled bowl is carpeted with layers of very large, well-rounded granite boulders quite unlike the shattered fragments usually associated with meteoric bursts.

With the original hypothesis now heavily discounted, scientists are tentatively advancing a new theory to account for what is in the general view one of the most remarkable geologic phenomena on the face of the earth.

Northern Quebec is covered by a vast sheet of granite which, it is said, was formed by crystalization of original sedimentary rocks. This process is presumed to have started at some point in Ungava and to have spread like an expanding balloon, with heat generated at a constant rate on the surface of the expanding sphere and being conducted backward because the newly formed granite possessed two to seven times the conductivity of the surrounding limestone or sandstone.

This reduced the interior of the "bubble" to rapidly expanding plastic, which gradually raised a great dome at the surface.

It is suggested that this took place at a time when the whole region was covered with mile-deep ice. The "bubble" finally broke at the top with soft granite oozing out, according to one description, "like toothpaste squeezed slowly from a tube".

Two things then happened. A lake formed under the ice and the molten granite "pillowed" to form great boulders which sank through to carpet the lake floor and the base of the dome.

While this account may be somewhat less dramatic than the theory of meteoric concussion, it will appear to many quite as remarkable. It is to be expected that the new theory will also come under critical fire and it will be interesting to see how it stands up.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

On this side Jordan, in the land of Moab, began Moses to declare this law, saying, The Lord our God spake unto us in Horeb, saying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount . . . Behold, I have set the land before you: go in and possess the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give unto them and to their seed after them. (Deut. 1: 5, 6, 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else. The shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments, which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, for ever. (Deut. 4: 39, 40.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed . . .

And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day. And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day . . .

It is written in the prophets. And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me . . . Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life. (John 6: 27, 39, 40, 45, 47.)

"Be Particular About The Children"

(Montreal Star)

Now that the political campaign in the United States is well under way, the candidates for office are being required to show their fondness for the babies of their voters. Mr. Robert Taft was recently photographed at a public meeting, with a little child pushed against his knee. It is hard to say whether the child or Mr. Taft looks the more ill at ease.

The editor of The Christian Science Monitor, examining this photograph, was reminded of a passage in Charles Dicken's "Pickwick Papers."

The rival parties were the "Blues" and the "Bluffs." In the election at Eatanswill, the Hon. Samuel Slumkey was the parliamentary candidate.

As he was being paraded through the streets, the party manager said to him: "Nothing has been left undone, my dear Sir—nothing whatever. There are 20 washed men . . . for you to shake hands with; and six children in arms that you're to pat on the head, and inquire the age of; be particular about the children, my dear Sir—it has always a great effect, that sort of thing . . . And, perhaps, my dear Sir—perhaps if you could—I don't mean to say it's indispensable—but if you could manage to kiss one of 'em, it would produce a very great impression on the crowd."

Perhaps the practice of kissing babies is not just a modern American political custom. Charles Dickens was a reporter of the London Morning Chronicle, nearly 125 years ago. Politics, it seems safe to assume, were always politics.

"A SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT WORLD, MY MASTERS"

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

A fellow reporter—I shall call him Slim—sits near me. A feverish trout fisherman, he has whipped more streams hereabouts than ten men. In season, of course. When he runs out of stale tales of daring-do, he doodles new fly designs on my phone book and uses hours of his spare time and my busiest moments telling me about fly tying.

It isn't safe to go out on an assignment together these winter days for every trickle of water we pass he holds forth on the good spots of each and warns me against the bad ones. I doze in the corner of my seat. It bores me to death.

Right now, speckled fever is running through his veins like fire.

Poor fellow.

Slim comes staggering into work these mornings, fretful and bleary-eyed, from working half the night over a hot fly-tying vise. He has bits of hackle in his hair and coloured threads in his trouser cuffs. His fingers are so calloused from tying threads he can hardly hold a pencil.

Poor fellow.

And yet, it may be the thought of another night's orgy of dreaming up and tying some new creation, Slim brightens in the afternoons. I suspect he sneaks out to make rounds of the millinery shops to do some feather lifting for a new diabolical creation he has in mind.

Pity him no longer. He has become a thief.

Heaven knows what his home life is like. I can see him getting out the card table, clamp vise and dozens of bottles of materials before the supper dishes are washed. I can see him sneaking through the hall clothes closet with a pair of scissors while his wife puts the baby to bed. I can hear him snipping bits of feather from her best hat. He finally settles down to his work.

Slim paws through his materials. Small hooks, Nylon and silk threads and embroidery floss. Beads. Tinfoil. Feather tips of ostrich, peacock, jungle cock and golden pheasant. With his tongue stuck out the corner of his mouth he whips, snips and winds and set the night's goal at a dozen Royal Coachmen.

The city is full of characters like Slim, if the truth were known. And it's a good thing that fishing opens on May 1st. There would be no holding them after months of this terrific build-up.

Fly-tying is a terrible affliction.

I was just about to make some complimentary notes this week on the aspirations of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters from a sheaf of notes from zone secretary Cam Rowatt. A Canadian Press dispatch that ran in the Peterborough Examiner caught my eye instead; it said:

Foxes are hungry these days in Mariposa Brook area of Victoria County, conservation officers have found. They are breaking into muskrat houses now that the strengthening sun has thawed the hard crust. Few rats will be taken in this manner, however, since they take quick refuge in their tunnels.

Lumber hauling contractor Charlie Binnington of Lakefield tells me he made quite a few mink sets in the late fall at Kosh Lake. A recent survey showed little if any mink signs in that area. He says the new North River dam is doing a splendid water barrier job and making good old-fashioned lake levels stay put.

Before 1842 The Norwood House Of Peter Pearce., Esq., Was Open To All

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

Dr. H. G. Carleton's thoughtful and singularly moving "Appreciation of the Pearce Family" revives poignantly in memory many interesting phases of life in Norwood during and since the earlier Victorian era.

Dr. Carleton does well to suggest the establishment of a memorial to the family in Norwood. Such an offering by a grateful community would have a social significance differing in both degree and kind from that attaching ordinarily to the privately-erected individual cemetery gravestone. It is not often that an epitaph is inscribed which records the passing of an entire family—and it is still more infrequent that elegiac lines are called forth in remembrance of a family who served the community for generations with the integrity and quiet devotion of the Pearces.

But, memorial or not, we may be sure that the good works of the Pearces have not perished from the earth. For it is intrinsic values such as were perceived a priori and called into actuality by the Pearces and others like them in the earlier days that gave shape and direction to the life of Peterborough County. By their fruits they shall be known in what to us are the dim distances of the days to come.

As far back as 1836, we are reminded by Poole's history, Peter Pearce was in charge of the mill and agent for the Keeler property at Norwood, part of which was divided into village lots.

Norwood's first tavern was opened in 1842 by Robert Hartley. Before that time, the history records, "The house of Peter Pearce, Esq., was open to all comers with the most generous hospitality. Travellers and others in a constant stream were kindly fed and housed by the gentleman and his amiable wife, free of expense, in a manner of which few in later times have any conception or would care to imitate. Being then the only commodious dwelling in the place, public and religious meetings were held in the house, the inconvenience cheerfuly borne and all made warmly welcome."

In the 115 or so years since those days, the name of Pearce has been inseparable from the history of Norwood, as Dr. Carleton remarks. Within the memory of the present older generation, the services of Joseph Burgess Pearce (son of Peter Pearce and father of Fred Pearce, the last of the line, who died last month,) are recorded among the sharply-etched pictures of an era in which a basic sturdiness of character was a prime essential. In Asphodel, those were the days of the Grovers (Peregrine Maitland and Thomas M.); the Foleys; the Butterfields; the Birdsalls; the Roxboroughs; the Bucks; the Finlays; the Fords, the Frasers and so many others of public spirit who cannot here be mentioned individually.

"Aunt Foley"

In the present writer's memory there recur vivid living pictures of "Aunt Foley" (Mrs. James Foley) as she sat in the summer sunshine on our Warsaw home verandah reading from her Diary of her experiences while travelling in the Swiss Alps and in Spain. Even on the mind of childhood the breadth and keenness of her powers of observation make a deep impression. Testifying to "Aunt Foley's" qualities of foresight are her eleemosynary bequests which still are being administered for the well-being of Peterborough people. Linked with these recollections are those of the writer's grandmother, Hannah Grover (Mrs. Thomas Choate) who died at Warsaw, April 29, 1885.

Boyhood recollection of the final generation of the Pearces focuses not unnaturally upon the personal contacts through many years with Russell Sperry Pearce, frequently in the fields of sport. Russell Pearce in the Nineties was one of Central Ontario's fastest and most graceful speed skaters. In Peterborough County he and Tom Ridpath, of Lakefield, were pre-eminent. Occasional meetings of the two at carnivals gave rise to public interest in their respective skills. Tom Ridpath, brother of James Ridapth, long publisher of the Lakefield News: John, now of the Ridpath Galleries, Toronto; Sam; Bruce, later widely renowned in sports; and "Colonel", fashioned his own racing skates from a steel saw-blade.

Talk of the individual prowess of these two fine young exemplars of the sporting spirit of those days quickened and widened and finally took shape in arrangements for a matched race for a purse of $25 (a lot of money at that time). Interest was keen all over the district and in the City of Peterborough it was manifested in the offering and taking of wagers of considerable amounts.

Norwood at that time had a spacious rink, giving "amplitude of swing" to those of us who were carrying on the homeric hockey battles of the day. In the Lakefield rink a curling section was delimited by a light timber partition, which was easily removable, providing an enlarged skating area when carnivals or hockey games were toward. In such games Keene and Warsaw teams not infrequently took part. "Edge" Hartley of Peterborough was then the foremost exponent of "figure" (then called "fancy") skating.

Speed Skaters

Some of the speed skaters came to celebrity by jumping over an incredible number of wooden sugar barrels, placed side by side. A common form of carnival contest involved a sliding passage through barrels by skaters at full speed. Such races usually came off happily enough though in one of them which comes to mind the nails had not been removed carefully and one luckless competitor emerged at t'other end in a state of undress which made necessary a hasty, inglorious retreat into a top-coat of undiaphonous staves.

But to end our digression—what, of the matched race? The result eludes the memory of the

Your Garden:

Plenty Of Garden Chores You Can Do Now

By HENRY PREE, NEA

Even if there is snow on the ground there are certain things that every gardener should do at this time of the year. Heading the list is the task of taking the lawnmower to the repairman for sharpening and reconditioning.

✧ ✧ ✧

Better check your garden tools and supply of insecticides, too, so you may make new purchases while stocks are ample.

✧ ✧ ✧

Ever have trouble trying to germinate seeds with hard coats, like Morning Glories for instance? Well, soaking them in shallow water for a day and a night before sowing will soften their covers. Don't place them in deep water, just enough to cover them.

✧ ✧ ✧

More seeds are lost because of deep planting than from too shallow a covering. Tiny ones, such as some of the bellflower, saxifrages and sedums, need no covering at all. The best practice is to press them into the soil and water from below by standing the pots in pans of water.

It is often well, too, to sift talcum powder or other white substance over very small seeds before planting so that you can see that they are not being sown too thickly.

Some experienced gardeners think that a dusting of slaked lime on the seeds of lime-lovers, of which Baby's Breath and Mignonette are examples, gives the plants a good start.

Too much water is worse than too little after germination commences. A good plan to follow: Water thoroughly and then do not repeat until the surface of the soil definitely shows that moisture is needed.

And when the pots or flats are in frames or hotbeds, it is usually best to do all watering in the morning as long as the outside temperature is likely to go below freezing.

Moles and skunks find beetle grubs a tasty addition to their diet. But in their desire to help us in the fight against Japanese beetles, they do much damage to the lawn. Crows, robins, starlings and grackels also aid in combating beetle growth; since they cannot get them all the home gardener must join in the fight.

The best method to control beetle larvae is grub-proofing with lead arsenate or with chlordane. Catching the insect in the grub state before it has had time to attack flowers, roses and shrubs is important.

Since beetles lay eggs in all closely-cut turf, especially in sunny areas, early spring is the time to apply the poison.

Lead arsenate at the rate of seven to 10 pounds, or chlordane, one pound per 1000 square feet of lawn area, are recommended. Either can be applied in solution or mixed with the spring application of fertilizer.

While lead arsenate is the more costly, one application will grub-proof a lawn for seven to 10 years. Put this down on your list of things to do in early spring.

Gardening Questions

Q.—What is "Dairy Steer Manure" that one sees advertised in West Coast magazines?—R.E.

A.—Steer manure is obtained off concrete floors in dairy barns. It is then placed in large piles for about a year for aging and to reduce all possibility of weed seeds. After drying it is ground, and put up in bags for easy handling. They tell me that it is odorless. Highly recommended for west coast gardeners, but elsewhere freight costs make it expensive.

Q.—Please recommend a half-dozen different flowering shrubs for a small bed along the south side of our house.—P.A.P.

A. — Excellent are Avalanch, Mock Orange, Chinese Azalea, Froebel Spirea, Carle's Viburnum, Chenault Coralberry and Glossy Abelia.

Q.—Are potted plants or flowers injurious to the patient if kept in the room at night?—C.S.

A.—No — the carbon dioxide given off and the oxygen consumed by them are almost zero.

Reconditioning the lawnmower is a good place to start on your pre-spring outdoor chores.

HUNTER STREET ABOUT 1870, looking east from near Chambers Street. On the left (north) side is R. Kingan's Hardware. Across the road, beyond the alley opposite Chambers Street and running up to the George Street corner is C. Shaver's Hotel. The three-storey building east of Kingan's is the present Royal Bank building. It was built in 1866. The George Street crossing is plain in front of it. Just beyond the intersection in the middle of the street is a big pile of cordwood. In the left background is the present Sun Life building at the north-east corner of Hunter and Water. Across from it is the present Examiner building, re-erected after the fire in 1858. At the time of the photograph, it was the Commercial Hotel. Note how Hunter Street (before the present high-level bridge) used to slope abruptly down to the river. Beyond the Commercial Hotel are low, old barns which used to run right to the street edge. The service station there now is cut down from the old barn. Note the hitching posts along both sides of the street. This old postcard photgraph was lent to The Examiner by Miss Alexis Howson, retired P.C.V.S. teacher.

F. Kingan Tells Of Hunter St. Long Ago

Mr. Fred Kingan looked at the yellowed old picture, a picture of Hunter Street from just west of Chambers, looking east towards the river. "Before my time" he said. And to say that is to go back 82 years.

The only overhanging sign on the street is "Hardware R. Kingan". Robert Kingan was Fred Kingan's father and he began the family hardware business in 1852, in the shop which has the sign in the old photograph. It is now the site of the building which houses the Department of Agriculture Office. The building in the picture was burnt down in 1885, and also the block west of it, owned by James Lynch, father of John Lynch the druggist whose store is in the new building which replaced it then.

The Kingan building, owned by Robert Kingan, was rebuilt by William Wand, who ran a planing mill where the Quaker Aats skating rink now is. The Dixon lumber sluice canal was there then. Mr. James Lynch bought the Kingan property. Mr. Lynch, father of the druggist, at the same time owned the grocery store at the north-west corner of Park and Elm Streets.

Old Hotel

Looking across the street from his father's old establishment Mr. Fred Kingan said: "That hotel doesn't look the way it was; as I remember it was three storeys" (The building running back from the south-west corner of George and Hunter, has three storeys today). Mr. Kingan guessed that the one in the picture might have burnt down. The sign over the doors in the photograph reads: "E. Shaver's Hotel". As Mr. Kingan remembers it, it was run by "Bob Roddy".

He recalled a vivid incident of his youth when Bob Roddy shot and killed Bill Montgomery in the bar. Roddy was a smallish man, Montgomery a great big tough. "He would even bite people's ears off". Montgomery was in one of his ruffian moods in the hotel one day in 1878 and went behind the bar and after Roddy. Roddy happened to have a revolver, took it out, and shot Montgomery. Roddy got off Scot free, for the shooting was in self-defence.

The old photograph bears the imprint of "Sproule". Sproule was a local photographer, whom Mr. Fred Kingan remembers, and had his photograph shop upstairs at the west end of the building shown in the photograph next to Kingan's hardware — the Royal Bank building. The back of the photograph has the crest of the Prince of Wales (later Edward VII) so it may be that Sproule once photographed the Prince.

After the 1885 fire in the Kingan building shown in the picture Robert Kingan retired and his sons Bob and Frank took over the business; Fred was too young to become a partner. Frank left Peterborough in 1892 for the American Sault Ste. Marie to take over management of the American General Electric plant there, which had been going in the hole, Fred went with him, and stayed in the United States until 1932—with visits back to Peterborough of course. He came back to his native city permanently in 1932.

Problems Of Staging Ten Plays

Ten drama groups are entering the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival which begins in Peterborough on Tuesday. A major problem confronting any Festival executive is how to set up on the stage so many plays—ten—in such a short time. For instance, on Wednesday evening there will be three different stage sets and three troupes of actors taking the stage, all within three hours. Saturday the situation will be even more hectic: three plays in the afternoon and a full three-act play to stage.

The busiest persons, or at least most hard-pressed, around the PCVS auditorium during Festival week will be the stage-manager, Ray Gillies, and his committee of Miss Margaret White, Mrs. Tollington, Peter McCombe and Robert Hockwood.

The local committee of a Festival supplies basic properties and sets up the lighting. Thus visiting play groups need not come loaded down with furniture for the stage. Even if they wanted to use all their own properties, they could not do so very well; there would not be enough room behind stage to store half a dozen living-room sets, two or three kitchens and the like.

Companies bring their own costumes, of course, and any unusual articles of stage equipment necessary to the production. Two months ago the Peterborough Festival Committee sent out notices to all participating companies, enclosing a diagram of the stage, measurements, specifications about back-drops; and a request that the playing companies notify the festival stage manager what their property needs would be, and what kind of lighting each required. These returns came in to him, and he and his committee have been busy begging and borrowing sofas, tables, lamps, chairs, rugs and the like.

The problem of lighting the plays according to specifications is complicated. It would strain even the best-equipped theatre.

A group like the Ottawa Little Theatre, which has almost professional standards and equipment, and operates in its own theatre in Ottawa, will not have precisely the same set that it used in Ottawa for "Candida", but their "Candida" in Peterborough next Friday evening will be as well-staged as time, place, local conditions, and a pooling of Peterborough-Ottawa resources will permit.

The requests which Mr. Gillies has had from some play groups entering the Festival have been astounding, but somehow he and his group, like wizards, are meeting the basic needs. After this experience, it would be no surprise to Mr. Gillies to be asked to provide, as a stage property, a 20-foot model, jet motor included, of a space ship. To those who know Mr. Gillies' capacities to pull something out of thin air, it would be no surprise if he did produce such a space ship.

Both Americans and English are subject to loquacious imbecility. Their subjects only differ. The American talks of his government, the Englishman of himself.

Protect Singer In Florida

By KENNETH HARRIS

We talk a great deal about encouraging artists. In some places artists have to be protected. Marian Anderson, famous Coloured contralto, has been giving a series of concerts down in Florida—on condition that Coloured people and whites were admitted to each concert.

There is a lot of racial trouble going on down in Florida; Jewish places of worship have come in for nasty attacks, and the dynamiting of a Negro housing estate led to deaths and injuries. So, Miss Anderson's concerts have been heavily protected.

A friend of mine was at her concert in Miami, that luxury city on Florida's eastern coast. Sixty plainclothes men, including F.B.I. (Federal Bureau of Investigation) officers, sat in the audience. The 2,000 patrons, sixty per cent. of them Negro, sat in rows, one row black, one row white. Only obviously identifiable persons were allowed backstage.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Love's Philosophy

THE fountains mingle with the river
And the rivers with the ocean,
The winds of heaven mix for ever
With sweet emotion;
Nothing in the world is single;
All things by a law divine
In one another's being mingle.
Why not I with thine?

See the mountains kiss high heaven
And the waves clasp one another;
No sister-flower would be forgiven
If it disdained its brother;
And the sunlight clasps the earth
And the moonbeams kiss the sea:
What are all these kissings worth
If thou kiss not me?

Petes Down Belleville 9-7 To Keep Well In Front In Group Hockey Standing

The Petes beat Belleville Hawks 9-7 last night before 1,100 fans in the Quinte arena to keep well atop their O.H.A. senior "B" group standing. Despite some peculiar officiating by Referee Johnny Carr-Harris of Kingston, who threw Curly Mason off with a match misconduct in the first frame for arguing too strenuously after he and Doug Day drew majors for fighting, the Petes earned the win in a ding-dong battle.

The Hawks, with a full team on deck again and on home ice, but missing Red Doran (in Peterborough with the junior Hawklets), put up a terrific fight, but the Petes outfought them—even without Mason — and finished stronger to grab the important victory. They broke the deadlock in the last half of the third heat and added one more for insurance before the last gong .They were handed six of the eight penalties. Both sides kicked plenty at the refereeing.

Good On Attack

Dugan, Wade, West, Garvey, Fryia and Gus Leonard were all prominent on the Petes' attack, but it was a team effort with the whole crew clicking well against odds of the road trip to yank out the verdict. The defence toiled hard and the goaltending was real good as Belleville battled bitterly to get up higher in the standing with schedule's end looming. Goyer, Wardhaugh and Jones were the big shots for the Hawks, but the whole team roared in hard in this tussle, and the fans saw some fine hustling and passing hockey, close all the way.

Trumble opened the scoring on an in-close solo thrust but Garvey got it right back on Collins' pass. Goyer then broke in fast with Wardhaugh's pass to tally and Jones took a pass from the same player half a minute later to dent the hemp. Fryia put the Ellis' men back in the hunt on an assist from Dugan on quick play, and Gus Leonard tied it up near the close on a solo effort. Day and Mason tangled in this heat and drew majors, the latter having a match misconduct tacked onto him for crowding the referee to argue his case. Carr-Harris seemed excited and lost his proper perspective—an ordinary misconduct being the regular routine in such a case. Minors went to Mortimer, Floyd and Steele before the finish, with no more to Belleville.

Scored Three

The Petes fought fiercely to throw in three in a row in the second stanza. Wade got in nicely with West's pass for one, and the latter fed Dugan for another neat marker. Floyd added one on fast work in close with Wade before Hawks came back for a pair. Jones clicked smartly with Wardhaugh for their first one of the frame, and Barrett did a solo job on the other at almost point-blank range. This period saw a lot of smart, fast hockey, with not a penalty.

After Garvey counted neatly from Jopling in the third, Hawks went in front. Wardhaugh fashioned a marker from Barrett at the halfway mark and Moher tore in hard on a ganging effort to score with MacDonald and Jones in on the play. At 12.26, Arn Dugan broke the deadlock as he dipsy-doodled in like a jet to smash the rubber home on Wade's pass. Both sides battled hard then, and the Hawks were ganging up when Gus Leonard added the insurance tally with a nice one from Fryia with eight seconds to go. Jopling earlier had drawn a minor penalty and MacDonald was gated for a misconduct as the home crew kicked plenty at what they figured was terrible refereeing. Teams:

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and E. Leonard; centre, Dugan; wings, Mortimer and Mason; alternates, Wade, G. Leonard, Collins, Garvey, Floyd, West, Steele and Fryia.

Belleville: Goal, Leforte; defence, Bastedo and Semark; centre, Goyer; wings, Wardhaugh and Jones; alternates, Reeves, Trumble, Barrett, MacDonald, Moher, Day and Desjardins.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The widespread interest that has come to our boys, club and city, since Dr. Ralph Clark's rink won the British Consols competition and the right to represent the 10,000 Ontario curlers in the Macdonald Brier bonspiel at Winnipeg, is amazing. Hardly a day passes but someone sends a wire or a letter wishing "our champions" good luck. Late yesterday a telegram came to Dr. Clark from W. Weyman, secretary International Bonspiel, Quebec City. It read: "Just heard the good news. All Quebec is with you."

Other congratulations came from Dr. N. Sutton, Camp Borden; P. Skitch, Lindsay: Reg Diamond, Brantford; C. Weber, Beaverton; Harvey Forsythe, Lindsay; Jack (Cold Draw) Allan, Guelph; Father Charlie Kay, Lindsay; Peter Gibert and family, Chatham; Miss Short, Toronto, the Lindsay Curling Club, the Peterborough City Council, Mr. and Mrs. M. Coburn, Toronto; F. Rutledge, Fort William, and besides all these, hundreds of telephone calls. And the boys deserve them all.

No mixed bonspiel tonight. The men are using all ices for their bonspiel.

Hawklets Beat I.O.O.F. 8-6 To Lead By Game

Belleville Hawklets defeated Oddfellows 8-6 Friday night at Civic Arena in the third game of their best-of-five junior "B" group semi-final hockey set to take a 2-1 edge in the series. The fourth game will be played at Civic on Wednesday night. Over 1,000 fans, including children admitted free with fathers through the generosity of the Oddfellows hockey committee witnessed a thrilling playoff struggle between two well-matched rivals who played it hard, fast and essentially clean throughout, despite 14 minor penalties. Hawks drew 10 of these but proved effective when shorthanded in staving off Links' power plays. Two of Oddfellows' penalties came together in the middle frame when Hawks scored two goals to overcome a 4-2 deficit and give the visitors new life after the Godfreyites had taken a fair margin on the play and a good lead in the early stages. It was a tough break as it turned out.

Oddfellows set a stinging pace in the opening period as the two lines of Twist, Coyle, Heffernan and McCracken, Stewart and Jensen, clicked nicely for three goals to give Links a fine start; Coyle, Jensen and Twist were the marksmen in the first 12 minutes of play.

Hawks battled hard and found reward near the period's end when Carey scored on a close left-wing drive after a smart rush with Therrien and Houle. Each team suffered two penalties in a very fast frame.

A Hot Pace

Play hit a terrific pace in the second and DeGray soon hit the penalty pen for tripping; then Duke Doran and Gilmour combined on a fast rush, the former potting on a close drive from the portside. Don Clapper made it 4-2 for Links, a few second later, when he sank a 10-footer directly in front of Barclay on fast work after McCracken fed him the disc as he flew in. A double charging penalty at this point by Referees Walsh and Calhoun enabled George Jacklin to become an opportunist and with Ted DeGray he fired two fast ones past Wasson from close in as Hawks swarmed around the redhead to capitalize on their welcome advantage. John Munroe, big defenceman, gave his team an edge for the first time near the three-quarter mark on a centre drive just inside the blueline from a pass-out, and every man on both squads continued to battle hard in a gruelling stanza, marred by six penalties.

There was nothing more in the second though both custodians were tested from all angles. On the play, Hawks edged Links in the mid-frame as the latter had the Quinte lads in the opener with penalties and the breaks an important factor in the scoring.

The third period found the strong rivals giving everything in an all-out show for supremacy, and thrill followed thrill. Strahan put Hawks two up near the halfway mark from Lalonde; but Links came back once more as Red Robinson beat Barclay with a whistling penalty shot, a minute later. DeGray scored soon after on a great rush around the rival cage to poke it in; and again Bus Jensen and Stewart clicked, the former potting on a lightning thrust to keep O's in there in the rugged tussle. With a minute remaining, Coach Godfrey gambled as did his rival in the second game and removed Red Wasson.

With time running out, Duke Doran shot a long one to the open cage to end a piping duel with every man a star on either team.

Mantle Big "If" For New York Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP).—Mickey Mantle, billed as the new Joe DiMaggio, is the "big if" of the world champion New York Yankee camp.

For years the sports writers wrote about DiMaggio's operations. He was the annual spring serial. Now it's Mantle's knee.

The 20-year-old outfielder still favors the right knee that crumpled under him in the second game of the world series last fall. The Yanks' club physician advised young Mickey to report a week early with the batterymen. He was to move into training work by gradual stages.

When Mantle grabbed a bat and approached the plate Friday in the first Yankee drill, coach Jim Turner refused to throw to him.

"Mantle has been ordered to take no hitting practice except bunting for one week," the club announced to reporters.

Bobo Brazil has a tough mat assignment here next Tuesday night when he tangles with huge Hans Hermann in the main pro grapple bout at the Brock Arena. The tall Negro is fast and tricky, but he will be in against a powerful and unscrupulous foe. The hefty German is a most hated wrestling villain, and he narrowly escaped serious injury several days ago when stabbed by an angry fan after leaving a London, Ont., ring. His disdainful, strutting manner and his rough tactics offend everyone, but he usually wins his bouts. Brazil might upset the dope, though. Fred Atkins tackles newcomer Ray Clarke in the semi-final on this card, while Pat Flanagan meets Jim (the Bull) Wright in the prelim.

Next weekend, four Peterborough curlers will be off for Winnipeg and a crack at the Canadian championship. First time ever for a local quartet to get this far in the curling game, and folks here and throughout the province will be wishing the Ontario champs well in the big one. They range in age from 33 to 39 years of age, Bert Harrison, Vic Brown and Ken Bissett being C.G.E. employees, while Dr. Ralph Clark skips the rink. He used to pitch intermediate ball, and Vic Brown played hockey here before the war. Harrison hurls in the softball circuit summers. Vic and Ken hail from Saskatchewan but have lived here for a lengthy spell. Doc and Bert are Peterborough young men. They're all top curlers.

Eagles Playing Petes

Petes have a busy puck weekend on home ice, taking on Eagles tonight and Kingston on Monday eve. Latter should be a good game, too, but the tilt tonight is a natural. Eagles have been doing well against the loop leaders in recent starts, but the Petes figure they'll halt 'em tonight. A ding-dong duel assured between these old hockey rivals, and no doubt plenty of torso tossing from the first faceoff to the final gong. Eagles and Petes would sooner beat each other than any other team in the group. Schedule is nearly over and teams are definitely playing now for keeps. Rates a huge Saturday night crowd.

Following the Monday senior "B" contest, a challenge game in the arena is being run off till midnight between Elliott & Browne Mechanics and Christie's Salesmen. Latter lineup is alleged to include: One-shot Legrow, Ringer Foster, Sliver Arthurs, Pork Foster, One-skate Woods, Speed Ainslie, Grocer Flood, Midnight Dormer, Lindsay Thurston, Flash Vitarelli and Kid Hatton. Coached by George (Little Iron Man) Dormer. Refs are One-eye Cournyea and Spin Heffernan. Mechanics are keeping their proposed lineup a top-drawer secret until the affair is unveiled to anyone silly enough to stick around for it. This item is given simply as a warning.

One Won As Two Lost

Eagles dropped a 7-3 toughie last night in Kingston, while Petes pulled out a 9-7 victory in Belleville in senior "B" hockey fixtures. That leaves the standing with Petes well atop with 32 points, while Eagles remain in second slot with 27. Kingston is crowding closer to them with 25, just one more than Belleville has. However, the Quinte crew has but one remaining game in the schedule, so it rather looks like the group semi-finals will have Petes playing off with Hawks, while Eagles and Kingston clash in the other bracket. That's not for sure yet, but it's shaping up that way. Here last p.m., Belleville Hawklets yanked out an 8-6 decision over the Oddfellows to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five junior "B" group semi-finals. Next one is here next Wednesday, and the I.O.O.F. crew must take that one or hang up their skates.

Bev Goulding's senior "A" cagers from P.C.V.S. came up with a thriller at the Collegiate last e'en to yank out a series win o'er Oshawa Central, by 84-82 on the round. It gives 'em the Lake Ontario district title, and the seventh year in a row they've erased Oshawa in hoop opposition. Bryon Young tossed in the winning basket with two seconds to go and you can't come much closer, eh? A swell team effort. Jack Cullis' junior "A" Collegians also banged through to win 54-45 over their Oshawa opponents to tie for first place in the group, dandy chore by these young hustlers. The other P.C.V.S. junior squad took a 28-27 squeak against St. Peter's. In girls' play at the Y.W., Black's took Nurses 29-18 in loop play, as Neill's trimmed Port Hope lasses 48-15 in an exhibition.

P.C.V.S. Seniors Rub Out Oshawa Cagers

Scrappy Bryon Young is today the Ozark Ike hero-type of P.C.V.S. And no wonder for with only two seconds left to play Friday night he sank the winning basket which gave the Garnet and Grey their Lake Ontario cage series over Oshawa Central.

As the ball slipped through the hoop the 600 fans yelled, hooted and stamped, as ear-drums beat out a winner's roll. Mixed with these mad screams were the sighs of the 100 Motor City fans.

But in the remaining two seconds there was an anti-climax to the game; Lionel Hempstead fouled on an Oshawa rush and a foul shot was awarded. Oshawa promptly took a time-out and then waived the shot to take possession. Their star, Mozewski, took a long field shot trying to tie the round score but was far off the hoop.

Then the fans mobbed the Collegiate quintet who have now only Lindsay Collegiate to brush past before the C.O.S.S.A. finals on March 15 in Toronto.

Young's basket gave the Garnet and Grey a 46-41 score on the game and a two-point edge on the series, 84-82. They lost in the first game of the points-to-count series 41-38. This is the seventh straight year that P.C.V.S. seniors have beaten Oshawa in district play.

That all-important basket came after the Collegiate cagers had taken the lead on the round no less than four times during the second half. Then the lead was never more than one or two points.

One-Man Team

Oshawa's one-man team, despite the checking efforts of Murray Grafstein, was the thorn in P.C.V.S.' side throughout the game. His teammates fed him the ball continually in the second half and generally he brought the Central boys even on the round.

Hounded by the steady Grafstein, Mozewski managed to eke through several times in the first quarter to give Oshawa a 14-10 score at the quarter. Then Grafstein bottled him up until the half. Meanwhile Don Ash and Bryan Young pecked away at the offensive hoop. Then in the final minutes before the half were helped by Langhorne and Grafstein. The lead changed to the Garnet and Grey 21-20.

From there in the game score changed hands six times, with neither team holding a lead more than two points for more than a minute. But the same Young gave P.C.V.S. a two-point, 33-31, lead at three-quarter.

Terry Brown, Ash and Young built up a five-point lead in the game (two points on the series) early in the fourth. They led from there until the final whistle although the series was tied four times.

Don Ash topped the P.C.V.S. scorers with a 19-point effort on neat one-hand long and short shots while Young placed second with 10, mostly on driving in scores from the guard position. Terry Brown, with seven points, acted as a steady playmaker throughout.

Murray Grafstein again was the star defensive performer. His assignment was to stay close to Mozewski and that he did with some success. He grabbed rebounds out of the Oshawa hands time after time to start the quick break up the court. Young also was a standout defensively.

But Mozewski took the game's scoring honors. Armed with a one-hand shot Mozewski worked it with a layup shot for 23 points. That was all Oshawa needed to stay close.

Lineups—P.C.V.S. Senior "A"—Ash 19, Young 10, Grafstein 2, Brown 7, Hendry, Langhorne 8, Cunningham, Cranfield.

Oshawa Central—Mozewski 23, Andrinovich 7, Varga 5, Stroz 4, Edwards, Matthews 2, Starr, McInally, Blasko.

St. Alphonsus Wins

At Civic Arena, St. Alphonsus Seniors registered their second straight win of the week by a score of 14 to 2. Smith with six goals, Doris with five, and Rochetta with two, were outstanding. Johnny Driscoll, with a neat tally, worked hard for the winners. Walker and Livings turned in a stellar effort in a losing cause.

The teams:

St. Alphonsus: Goal, Hamblin; defence, Gordon, Adamson; forwards, Driscoll, Doris, Smith; subs, Riddle, Rochetta, Saxby, Fitzgerald, Lawless.

St. John's: Goal, Vyse; defence, Livings, Doumoulin; forwards, Walker, Cummings, Collins; subs, Reil, Reil.

Referee—D. Hayes.

Kingston Edges Out Eagles By a Count Of 7-3 In Hot Senior "B" Contest

KINGSTON, Feb. 23.—Revenge is sweet, the Kingston Sacs found out again last night at the Community Centre. For the umpteenth time this season Kingston turned around and defeated a team which had beaten them earlier in the week away from home. Last night it was the Peterborough Eagles who absorbed a 7-3 drubbing from the locals. The win pulls the Sacs out of last place into third spot by one point. In Belleville, the Hawks took another loss, this time at the hands of the Petes 9-7. Kingston now has 25 points, one more than the Hawks and two behind the second-place Eagles. Petes hold down the top place with 32 points.

Spread Around

Seven Kingston players shared the goals last night with Murray, Mulholland, Larmer, MacGregor, Bender, Wagar and Stewart lighting the red light. Samalenko scored two of Peterborough's goals with Montgomery getting the extra one. Murray and White each picked up two assists for the Sacs with singles going to Aitken, Stewart, MacGregor and Larmer. Don Murray broke the ice for Kingston when he scored on a penalty shot at 15.54 of the first period. Montgomery was the goat when he tripped Bender going in alone on Nicholls. Bender had been serving a kneeing penalty and had just got on the ice when he picked up the puck at mid-ice. On the penalty shot, Murray went in slowly on the Eagles' net, left the net minder flat on the ice, and flipped the puck into the cage. Anderson, who played an outstanding game in the Kingston goal, had to retire for a five-miute repair job when a flying puck caught him over the eye at the 6.30 mark.

Sammy Mulholland started the second for Kingston when he scored close in, assisted by Murray and Aitken. Samalenko scored the first Eagles' goal on a hard shot which travelled not more than a foot above the ice from just inside the blue line. Latimer was banished for interference and Larmer and White, after ragging the puck, combined on a pretty effort to put Kingston two goals up. MacGregor made the score 4-1 when he backhanded the puck along the ice. Bender, assisted by MacGregor and Larmer, blasted the disc past Nicholls later.

Rough Going

The game roughened up considerably from then on with four roughing penalties, one each for cross-checking, interference and high sticking being handed out. Crowley and Latimer started it off with Latimer receiving two minutes for roughing and two for cross-checking. They were joined 15 seconds later by Mulholland and Vitarelli for roughing. Mongomery, feuding with Mulholland, after the Kingston player returned to the ice, was sentenced to two minutes for interference. Wagar sandwiched a goal in between Montgomery's penalty and one to Stan Stewart of Kingston for high sticking.

The third period started with Kingston still on the offensive and both teams playing it cool. The match livened up when Bender and Greenlaw tangled behind the Sacs' net and ended up in the penalty box with two minutes each for roughing at 7.54. Stewart joined them 31 seconds later for high sticking. The Eagles poured on pressure but couldn't get by the Kingston defence.

Stewart returned to the ice and promptly picked himself up a clean goal, assisted by Murray. At 12.41, Montgomery scored the Eagles' second goal from a scramble around the goal mouth. The Eagles kept driving and were paid when Samalenko slapped in a rebound. Latimer finished the period with a tripping penalty.

The Canadian Noah Brusso, under his ring name of Tommy Burns, won the world heavyweight boxing title 46 years ago today by defeating Marvin Hart in 20 rounds at Los Angeles. Burns, from Hanover, Ont., defended the title nine times before he lost it to Jack Johnson in 1908 at Sydney, Australia, where police stopped the fight after 14 rounds to save Burns from further punishment.

Rangers Stick With Francis In Last-Ditch Tussle

By CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Four games are scheduled in National Hockey League play this weekend, but a Sunday night engagement which sends Boston Bruins against New York Rangers looms as the most important of the quartet.

The fourth-place Rangers, rallying behind the inspiring play of their pint-sized sub-goalie, Emile Francis, have shown plenty of fight in recent games. Just two short weeks ago, the would-be experts had counted the blueshirts out as they floundered about in fifth place, three games back of Boston.

Now the positions are reversed, but the Bruins trail the Rangers by one point.

The long-suffering Rangers have become sentimental favorites in their uphill battle for a playoff berth and a surprising number of neutral observers find themselves pulling for the New Yorkers in Sunday's key game. But no matter what they do, Francis is the guy on the spot.

On the Spot

Brought up from Cincinnati of the American Hockey League on Sunday to replace Chuck Rayner, injured last Saturday night in Montreal, he is destined to be known as the individual who did or didn't get the Rangers into the playoffs.

With the N.H.L. trading deadline a few hours away, Ranger manager Frank Boucher today said he'll stick with the five-foot-seven Francis for the rest of the season and through the playoffs if his team is fortunate enough to gain Stanley Cup play.

"He may be small, but he's good," said Boucher. "I don't intend to make any change. I'll stick with him to the end.

"However, there's a mistaken impression going around that Rayner is through," Boucher added. "That's just not so. Next to Terry Sawchuk of Detroit and Harry Lumley of Chicago I consider Chuck the best goaltender in the league. At 31, he certainly should have three or four more years ahead of him."

Rayner will be operated on today. The operation was put off Monday to let the swelling of his injured knee go down.

No Sign of Collapse

Boucher conceded Boston Bruins show no signs of collapse, but it will be a battle right down to the wire. Both teams have 14 games to go in the schedule, eight of them at home. The Rangers have a much better home record.

In the weekend's other games, the league leading Detroit Red Wings are in Toronto tonight for a clash with the faltering Maple Leafs, currently deadlocked in second place with Montreal Canadiens. The Wings move into Chicago Sunday for a matinee affair with the tailend Black Hawks.

Montreal, still without the services of Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, entertains Chicago tonight.

Belmont W.I. Approves Of New Health Unit

HAVELOCK, Feb. 23 (ENS). — Belmont Women's Institute met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. Keene in Havelock with an attendance of 27 members and nine visitors and the president, Mrs. William Ketchen, presiding.

Two minutes' silence was observed in memoriam of King Georve VI and a member of the society, Mrs. George Newton, who died last week.

A discussion took place regarding the advisability of renting the Institute dishes at a rental of $1 to outside organizations, owing to the breakage that was incurred. It was decided that the old motion stating the fee would remain in effect but a clause would be added that any breakage would be made good by the party or organization using the dishes.

Tickets were sold at the meeting and the draw held for two hand crocheted pot holders donated by Mrs. W. Anderson and Mrs. Jesse Anderson. The sum of $4.30 was realized from the sale of tickets and Mrs. W. Aunger was the winner of the draw.

Mrs. G. Gawley, the health convener, reported that she had been approached by the Rev R. D. Duncanson with regard to the Belmont Women's Institute giving its assistance in sponsoring a health unit for this district. The members were in favor of the project but left the matter over for further details.

The secretary announced that the proceeds from their recent bake sale plus three cash donations amount to $30 which will be given to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Havelock-Belmont Branch No. 389 of the Canadian Legion for the purchase of curtains for the Legion Hall.

Mrs. W. Goadsby and Mrs. Horace King were conveners for the following program, which opened with community singing: Readings by Mrs. W. Smith and Mrs. Clarence King; a song quiz conducted by Mrs. Horace King and won by Mrs. Hugh Smith.

Lunch conveners were Mesdames C. Ellis, Gordon Newton, Randal VanSickle, Eza King, W. Youmans, and Arthur Anderson.

Welcomes Dutch Members

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 23 (ENS).—A happy event was enjoyed Wednesday evening when members of St. Paul's Catholic Church met in the parish hall to welcome new families into the parish. There were about 75 in attendance. The Rev. V. J. Masterson, parish priest, welcomed the guests.

The evening was pleasantly spent in community singing and dancing. The new friends from The Netherlands sang several songs which were greatly enjoyed.

Music for the evening was supplied by Mrs. W. Dever, Mrs. M. Coughlin, Mrs. T. Heffernan, Miss Mary Moloney, Thomas Sullivan and Charles Armstrong.

Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies under the convenership of Mrs. Heffernan, Mrs. J. Deladonne and Mrs. A. O'Donnell.

Warkworth

Mr. and Mrs. Rae Orser of Kingston were guests last week of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Wartman.

Mrs. Wilfred Sykes and daughter are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. George Clysdale, Indian River.

Miss Marjorie Massey of Toronto and Miss Mary Millar of Queen's University, Kingston, have returned to their homes after visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Massey.

VOL. CIV. No. 46 — SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

SNUFF OUT FIRE

A rubbish fire burning behind Eric Howard's men's clothing shop, 392 George St., was extinguished Friday afternoon by firemen using a handpump. It was the only call received Friday.

BROTHERHOOD SPEAKER

Rabbi J. J. Eisen of Beth Sholom Synagogue, Toronto, will be the guest speaker at the George St. United Church brotherhood service Sunday night. Rabbi Eisen will be speaking in place of the scheduled speaker, Dr. Richard D. Jones, director of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, who is ill.

APPOINT MAGISTRATE

R. C. Jackson, Napanee lawyer, has been appointed magistrate for the northern section of Lennox and Addington, Hastings and Frontenac counties. He succeeds the late J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook. Magistrate Jackson will preside at police court in Bancroft, Marmora, Madoc, Tweed, Flinton and Sharbot Lake. He expects to live in Tweed.

LOWER RATE

Telephone users who have an extension to another part of their homes will be paying more for the phone, but less for the extension beginning March 1. If they are on a two-party line, they will pay an increase of 15 cents for the phone, but have 10 cents taken off their extension bill of $1.35. This means an increase of just 5 cents for both.

Takes Dad's Car Enlists In Army

"How did you ever get into the army," Magistrate W. R. Philp asked a 15-year-old youth who appeared in police court today, charged with joyriding.

"I told them I was 17," replied the boy who was picked up in Pembroke Thursday and brought back to Peterborough to face a charge of taking his father's car without his consent.

"And they let you into the army with that," said the magistrate as he examined an identity card which the youth took from his billfold which he said gave his age as 17.

"The drummer boy at Waterloo was only 12", interjected crown attorney John A. Bradshaw.

"But I presume they let them in at that age then," replied Magistrate Philp.

Mr. Bradshaw said that the lad joined the army with his mother's consent, had come home on leave and after being A.W.L. for a time, returned to Pembroke.

Pembroke police found the car on Thursday. The father reported it missing February 18, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the son, on a joyriding charge.

Magistrate Philp said it was a matter for juvenile court and asked that the boy's parents be contacted and meet in his office after court was adjourned.

GHOST DOG?

Could there be a ghost dog tormenting deer in the Burleigh Falls district? Mark Edwards who lives in the village is beginning to wonder. Three weeks ago Mr. Edwards had to shoot his "best friend," an 11-year-old dog that was blind and crippled but still able to help another dog kill a deer. Regretfully, Mr. Edwards shot his "best friend." He also had to pay a fine for letting the dog run at large. Friday he got a bit of a surprise. A game warden told him that there were more complaints that his dog was seen chasing deer. "Then it must be his ghost," replied Mr. Edwards. "Or maybe you can put it down to another of those 'reliable' reports."

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION is a year-round job with modern road-building equipment. Workmen have been busy all winter, blasting rock cuts and straightening Highway 28 between Burleigh Falls and Haultain. Upper Left, a bulldozer levels off a blasted rock cut while a mechanical shovel in the background dips its bucket, to take a yard-and-a-quarter bite of the debris, as in the close-up, Upper Right. Lower Left, a new section of the highway will be built through this cut, eliminating a long hill and dangerous curve.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Iron Ore, Not Oil On Twp. Farms

The Examiner published several weeks ago an account of extensive options being taken on farm land in South Monaghan, Hope and other townships east and west of Port Hope.

Property owners were not informed of the identity of the interests behind these aerial surveys and their quest in obtaining rights of purcase. Local conjecture suggested possible search for oil, but the Cobourg Sentinel-Star points to iron.

That neighbouring paper reports this week: "A prominent Hope township citizen, interested enough to delve into the research going on around his farm, consulted a geologist at the Ontario Government buildings in Toronto. He was told that it was definitely iron ore and that Bethlehem Steel was interested in the area."

"Iron ore has been in the news constantly in recent months because of the renewed interest in iron deposits at Marmora . . . According to another source the largest deposit is beneath Kingston harbor waters."

Bought Aerial Ladder Right Time Says Chief

Peterborough's purchase of an aerial ladder for the Fire Department was a timely investment, Chief George Smith commented to the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night.

"We paid $29,000, and that same machine today costs $45,000," he said. "Toronto is in the market for five of them."

As to certain station observations in Toronto, Chief Smith drew a wide contrast with the housekeeping at the local hall of the Fire Fighters.

In Toronto the lock on a door was broken, and the door was held shut with a wedge of paper. Walls were cracked and broken, and "I wouldn't want it for a dog," said the chief.

Here the men look after all that kind of work, except washing the bed clothes. It is written in their agreement.

Spring Has Sprung

The course of true love gets rough sometimes. Take the case of the youngster at Park Hill Rd. and Water St., who offered a girl "a dime if you'll kiss me." The girl giggled and ran a few feet away, to stand beside another of her age and sex. She looked the lad up and down and said: "And I'll give you a dime if you don't."

UE Protests Proposed Bill

Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, have protested to the Ontario government over proposed legislation that would make arbitration of labor disputes compulsory.

They have also asked the Department of Labor to increase unemployment benefits by 50 per cent.

A telegram, signed by John Whalen, president of Local 527, says in part: "The executive board of Local 527, UE, demand that the House forbid the implementation of the Bill of Compulsory Arbitration. The workers in Peterborough are very much concerned that their basic rights are being scuttled in the interests of big business. They feel that such legislation is against the interest of labor . . ."

Copies of this telegram were sent to the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, and J. B. Salzberg, MPP.

The executive board also asked the Department of Labor to increase unemployment benefits by 50 per cent and eliminate the number of waiting days before an applicant becomes eligible to receive these benefits.

(Unemployment rates now vary between $4.20 and $16.20 a week for an unemployed person without dependents; and between $4.80 and $21 a week for those with dependents. The waiting period is nine days.)

Local 527 asked that these requests be granted to alleviate the hardships of local workers who the union claims are beset by unemployment and reduced hours of work.

$2,225 More Needed For School Health

The health committee of the Board of Education are asking for an increase of $2,225 in their estimates this year. Total estimated expenditure in 1952 is $23,825, $2,479 more than was spent in 1951.

Chief item of expenditure is salaries, $20,090. This is for four nurses, a doctor and two dentists (one part time). The board have their own dental and medical services. Division of salaries is $19,100 for public schools and $990 for P.C.V.S.

Supplies and car allowance make up the rest of the estimates.

Following is a list of the 1952 estimates compared with expenditures in 1951:

Public schools, $22,595 and $20,222; Collegiate academic, $645 and $580; and Collegiate vocational, $585 and $544.

British Band To Play Here

The International Staff Band, a Salvation Army Band from London, England, considered the world's leading non-contesting brass band, will perform in Peterborough May 19.

This was announced today by Sr. Capt. Douglas Sharp of the Salvation Army.

The London Band, under the direction of Sr. Major Bernard Adams is making a coast-to-coast tour of Canada performing in all the major centres. The group will arrive in Ottawa for their first performance on May 9 and will come to Peterborough after visiting Hamilton.

Widely known in Europe for their high calibre performance, this band was the only band to play for His late Majesty, King George VI during his long illness.

The tour is being arranged by Col. Norman Duggins.

Bedrock Spoils Building Site

The Trenton Town Council in an effort to acquire more property as a building site for a government housing project have had the Hendrick's farm under option for some time. Following investigation of the nature of the ground, Clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry said at a recent council meeting that the Central Mortgage Company advised against acquiring the ground at the present time.

It was found that only about half of the Hendrick farm situated north of Highway 2, and comprising 42 acres, would be suitable for the purpose. The second half south of the highway showed that bedrock existed between two and two and one-half feet below the surface and would not be suitable. Mayor Kenneth Couch suggested that the acquisition of the farm be discussed at a later time, when the present building area was at least built up to the suitable section on the north side.

Alexander Member Of Red Patch Club

Before leaving Canada to become Britain's Minister of Defence, Viscount Alexander accepted an honorary membership card from the Red Patch Club of Peterborough.

The Red Patch Club is composed of 1st Division veterans of the First and Second World Wars.

Albert Nelson, secretary of the club, received this message from Government House in Ottawa:

"Lord Alexander has asked me to thank you for your letter.... with which you so kindly enclosed an honorary membership card to your Red Patch Club. He is very pleased to become an Honorary Life Member of your organization." (Signed) J. F. Delaute, Assistant Secretary to the Governor-General.

Friendly Party

PARIS, Feb. 23 (Reuters). — American, British and Russian officers clinked glasses of vodka in a friendly atmosphere at the sumptuous Soviet Embassy Friday night during a reception in honor of Red Army day.

New Alderman Suggests All Council Set Salaries

Two aspects of the civic employees' salary question, related only in part, were mentioned by Ald. Sid J. Black and Ald. Arthur B. Burrows at the beginning of the meeting of the fire, water and light committee of the council Friday night. As a new member of the council, requiring information, Ald. Black suggested that it might be more effectual practice if matters pertaining to salaries were dealt with by all the members of the council in committee, instead of by a special committee of five members.

Ald. Burrows referred to a report in Friday's Examiner quoting a member of the Fire Fighters' Association as having said: "The council has simply refused to bargain with us." More precisely, perhaps, that statement should have read in the report: "refused to bargain further with us."

"The statement that the salary committee refuses to bargain is absolutely untrue," Ald. Burrows said. "The Firemen's representatives went away from the last meeting with things still in abeyance. We told them to bring in any recommendations, and they would be discussed further."

Pleasant Meeting

Ald. Burrows said it was a very pleasant meeting, and the atmosphere was quite congenial.

It is a fact that the Firemen have been heard at the city hall. They have been negotiating for a working agreement for 1952. Their contention, as reported by two of the members of their Association Friday, was that the agreement of 1951 legally remained in effect this year until a new agreement was settled.

They said that they had protested to the council their salary cheques of Feb. 8 and Feb. 22 because the cost of living bonus had been reduced to 14% of their salaries instead of remaining at 17%, and that actually the bonus should be increased to 19%. That was a reference to the amount of the cheques. Any other items in the recent discussions were not mentioned Friday.

Separately from the Friday news report, which he said he hadn't time to read, Ald. Black said he did not know what the salary committee had done, when he was asked about it by certain employees of the city. By some means the salary committee could have told the other members of the council: "This is what we have done."

Not Satisfied

"I am just expressing my own views as a new member of the council. From my recent experience, as it turns out, I don't think that city hall employees are satisfied about it. If you want efficiency in your staff, you've got to keep them satisfied and happy," Ald. Black said.

Ald. P. J. Anglesey said the intention of appointing a salary committee was to save the other members a lot of time.

Ald. Harold Rehill remarked with a note of humor that he agreed with Ald. Black up to a point, "and after that I am glad to be off the salary committee."

Ald. Anglesey: "I understand Ald. Black's feeling as a new member."

Ald. Black said he liked to know the "ins and outs" of things, and how decisions were arrived at. As for the case of the Fire Fighters they claimed they were to be paid certain money to the end of 1951, and now there was a difference "and it seems to be going the other way." Ald. Black said it was a matter of information that gave him concern.

Ald. Anglesey said some of the things the Firemen asked for were not granted because they could not be granted, but it was not true that council refused to bargain with them.

"They left here with the idea of bringing in alterations or different proposals," Ald. Anglesey said.

Ald. Aglesey remarked that "it means no increase in salaries, and that's what we intend to do." "I still feel that these matters should be left to the salary committee, and a member who wants to sit in at its meetings has the opportunity to do so."

Ald. Norman Graham said "The salary committee should let us know what's going on. I've had a half a dozen or more in the store asking me about what was being done."

"It is a committee of the council, and we know when their decisions are made," Ald. Rehill said. "An alderman who is not on it, is quite well excused from not knowing until the thing is finalized."

Ald. Burrows said he had wanted to clear the air of any criticism that the firemen had not been given a hearing, and also in a friendly atmosphere.

Ald. Graham switched the discussion back to the opening topic. "Any way, I think Chief Smith is not getting the salary he should get in proportion to the Assistant Chief's salary."

The difference is now $350 ($3850 and $3500 respectively). "It was always $900 between Chief Gimblett and myself," the Chief said. "I don't think cost of living bonus and service pay should enter into the basic salary. In the last few years," he explained, "the men have got increases when I didn't."

Hydro Builds Radio Tower 200 Feet High

A 200-foot radio transmitter is being erected by the Hydro Electric Power Commission on the south side of Highway 7, two and a half miles west of the Chemong turn.

The frequency-modulated transmitter will operate with a power of 500 watts. It should be working by April, Robert H. Aspinall, hydro area manager, said today.

Purpose of this radio equipment is to speed maintenance when hydro lines are down, thus increasing the efficiency of the repair service. Instructions will be transmitted directly to repair trucks, each equipped with a radio.

The antenna is being erected on a hill 1,000 feet above sea level and about 500 feet south of the junction of the Fife's Bay road and Highway 7. It is one of the highest hills in the area and trucks should pick up messages anywhere within a 40-mile radius of the city.

Both time and mileage will be saved by installing this radio equipment, H.E.P.C. officials feel.

At present crews of the repair trucks have to check with area headquarters by telephone for instructions. If they are some distance from a telephone the extra trip wastes time and money.

Modern Way

"It's the modern way of dispatching trucks," said Mr. Aspinall. "The police have a radio system, so have taxi cabs. It will allow us to operate more efficiently."

The control centre will be the Ross L. Dobbin hydro station, two miles south of the transmitter site. Besides the antenna itself, a small hut, housing the radio equipment, will be built. It will be remotely controlled from the Dobbin station.

The transmitter will also put the area in direct communication with headquarters in Toronto and neighboring regional headquarters in Barrie and Belleville.

Winter Work Completing Rebuilding Highway 28 North Of Burleigh Falls

Replace 6½ Miles Of Sharp Hills, Curves With Straight Cuts Through Rock; New Road To Be Ready By Early Summer

All winter, construction crews have been busy ironing out the roller coaster hills and eliminating the hazardous curves on Highway 28 between Burleigh Falls and Haultain. By early summer, the contracting firm expects to have the job completed and motorists will be travelling over the six and a half mile stretch on a smooth crushed gravel surface.

Since last September, when the first rock cut was blasted, Field Superintendent Harry Wells estimates that between 125,000 and 150,000 tons of rock have been dynamited.

Grim Job

"It's about as grim a job as we have ever had," says Mr. Wells, who is no stranger to road building in this part of the country. He worked on the Oregon Trail 15 years ago, and on the Apsley Highway 10 years ago.

"There is some earthwork on most jobs, but there is not one earth cut on this one. Our operation is confined to rock blasting and laying a granular base over the rock road bed."

After bulldozers and mechanical shovels clear the shattered rock from the cuts, some of which are more than 30 feet deep, an eight and one-half inch layer of sand is being laid over the surface. Then two different sizes of crushed rock are applied to top off this granular base.

So far, 33,000 tons of crushed gravel have been used and another 30,000 will be put on the stretch before the job is finished by early July.

First opened up as a pioneer wagon trail and rebuilt during the depression as a works project for unemployed, the road began to get its latest improvements in June.

Brush was cleared from the shoulders, and the right-of-way was widened to 38 feet, and 44 feet through the several rock cuts.

Thousands of Holes

The staccato pound of pneumatic drills has been going on for months, as thousands of inch and a quarter holes were reamed out of the solid surface rock. Four holes, some of them as deep as 16 feet, are drilled to a square yard. When the rock cut is honeycombed, powder crews ram charges of dynamite down them and prepare for the blasting.

Mr. Wells says that there are about 3,000 holes in a rock cut 600 feet long. As many as 800 holes are set off at one time, but period caps are used which means that they do not all explode at once. One row of holes goes off after the other.

The harder the rock, the higher it is blown in a blast. If the rock is fairly soft, the whole surface seems to rise a few feet when a charge is set off. However, if the rock is extremely hard, fragments are sometimes blown as high as 300 feet in the air.

Local Men

Between 50 and 55 men have been working on the road all winter with the exception of 10 days at Christmas when all work on the project was stopped.

Mr. Wells points out that while most contracting firms bring in their bulldozer and shovel operators and drilling crews, Storms Construction Company which is doing the job is using all local labor.

Twenty-five of the men are from the Apsley district five are from Buckhorn, and the rest, with the exception of a few of the firm's staff, are from Burleigh Falls.

When the spring break-up temporarily halts work on the road surface, workmen will finish up the ditching and trim work and the highway will be in top condition for the flow of summer tourist traffic.

City's Lights On, Hydro Burned Shows Increase

Peterborough's peak load of electricity in January was 22,450 kilowatts, an increase of 1,723, kw., over the first month of last year.

Local power consumption was 10,525,400 kwhrs., an increase of 884,200 kwhrs. over Jan. 1951.

These are records in the report of R. L. Dobbin for the Utilities Commission.

Work on the electric distribution system included, the new primary circuit from No. 5 to No. 6 substation; new primary circuits on Monaghan Road from Sherbrooke to King St.; and on Homewood Ave. and Belmont St.

Circuits Rebuilt

Primary circuits were rebuilt on Albertus from Sherbrooke to Charlotte; on Lock from McGill to King George; and secondary circuits were rebuilt on Waterford from London to McDonnel and on College from McDonnel to Murray.

Twenty-two new 3-wire and one new two-wire services were connected; 20 services were changed from two to three wire; 56 flat rate water heaters were connected; 18 new street lights were erected.

In the water department, total January pumpage was 131,515,000 gals., an increase of 15,950,000 gals, over Jan. last year . . . . Average daily pumpage was 4,242,419 gallons.

In the gas department, quantity of propane was down 2,707 gals. from 44,814 gals. a year ago to 42,107.

And gas production was down 252,000 cu. ft. from 6,709,000 cu. ft. to 6,457,000.

Propane used in January was 94 per cent and gas made 96 per cent of the 1951 figures for the same period.

At the gas plant a block wall was built separating the gas-fired boiler from the gas governor as requested by the insurance underwriters. The bottle storage platform at the bottling plant was doubled in size to take care of the larger volume of business. A recording temperature pressure gauge was installed on the city meter to provide more accurate records of operation and production.

In the distribution system, two leaks occurred on the low pressure main on George St., one at Richard Hall's, the other at Lech's. Both were repaired temporarily until proper equipment can be obtained. Two leaks were repaired on the high pressure main on Charlotte Street between George and Aylmer.

Jittery Iran Eyes Kuwait Oil Yields 640,000 Barrels Daily

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP) —The fabulous piece of desert-bound real estate called the Kuwait has moved into the Middle-East oil picture as possibly Britain's trump card in its bitter dispute with Iran.

There are signs that Iran's Prime Minister, Mohammed Mossadegh, realizes this and is getting increasingly jittery over his prospects of victory.

Ever since Iran nationalized Britain's $1,000,000,000 oil properties, production in the Kuwait has been going up and up. This desert Sheikhdom, an Arabian port at the mouth of the Persian Gulf, is turning out 640,000 barrels of oil daily, replacing nearly half of Iran's output.

Added to the stepped-up production in Saudi-Arabia, Iraq and the western hemisphere, the rick flow of oil from Kuwait has enabled the west to get by since last summer when oil stopped moving from Iran.

Mossadegh is faced with the bleak prospect that oil production in the Kuwait and Saudi-Arabia can be boosted even more in the next few months, if necessary. In the meantime, his government, without British oil royalties to count on, is heading straight for bankruptcy within the next six months unless something is done.

Cooked Goose

Some British and American oil experts think Mossadegh already has killed the goose that laid Iran's golden egg. Even if he were to reach a settlement with Britain tomorrow, they believe the west would continue to rely more heavily on trouble-free areas like Saudi-Arabia, the Kuwait and Iraq in the Middle East rather than Iran.

Further, there are indications that the Sheikh of Kuwait and King Abdullah of Saudi-Arabia would in effect insist that their stepped-up oil production be kept at the same level. These governments could argue cogently, some officials believe, that they helped out in a pinch and should not be tossed aside when things ease up.

Regardless of developments, Kuwait appears to have a gold-lined future. A new agreement with the British American Oil Company which operates the fields there assures it of a 50-50 division of profits.

This is expected to amount to $150,000,000 in royalties alone during this year. Not bad for a desert waste inhabited by some 100,000 Arabs.

So much money is pouring into the Sheikhdom that Britain has sent half-a-dozen specialists there to figure out how the old Sheikh can spend it. The 1,950-square-mile area he rules not only stands to be the richest in the Middle East but perhaps the world. Statisticians estimate per capita income in the Kuwait this year, when added to the money earned by inhabitants working for the oil company, will average about $2,000 annually.

There is a generous window area in each of the three bedrooms too. The large corridor-type kitchen has provision for a breakfast table and two built-in benches. Again we find large windows—one neatly placed over the sink, and corner windows to make the breakfast corner cheerful. Closet space is plentiful—as a matter of fact there are nine closets all told! Hints Manufacturers Curtailing Production

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott hinted Thursday night that tobacco manufacturers were curtailing production to reduce sales and make a case against the government's tobacco taxes.

In an address to a district political club, he said retailers have written him complaining that they cannot get enough tobacco supplies. These complaints said the manufacturers told the retailers a quota system had been set up.

The minister said that when a delegation of tobacco growers visited him recently to protest the tax on tobacco, he warned them "not to oversell their case."

Pearson Plans NATO Peace Flag

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 23 (Reuters)—A "peace flag" for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is planned by the Atlantic council's chairman, L. B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister.

It was reported today he will submit proposals to the council's session here for a flag to symbolize the goal of N.A.T.O. peace through strength.

The proposed flag features a shield for defence against a blue background of waves, representing the Atlantic ocean. A sword and an olive branch express the theme of peace through strength.

The idea of the flag is credited to Charles Spofford, U.S. delegate, who felt N.A.T.O., like the United Nations, should have its own emblem.

Britain Recruits 250,000 For Civil Defence Posts

By ROBERT WIGHTON

LONDON, Feb. 23 (Reuters)—Nearly 250,000 British men and women have joined civil-defence forces since the recruiting call two years ago, and the number is increasing by nearly 7,000 a month.

To them may be added the 11,200 members of the Auxiliary Fire Service, 23,353 special constables, 19,060 members of the National Hospital Service Reserve and 17,092 highly-trained aircraft observers and plotters of the Royal Observer Corps.

Not included in the total of 242,943 in the Civil-Defence Forces are the "last-ditch" soldiers of the Home Guard, now being formed again, or the permanent forces of the Red Cross and the St. John Ambulance Brigade which will also play their part if a third world war comes.

Many believe that in a third world war Britain would become a giant "aircraft carrier," uninhabitable under a rain of atom bombs.

So concerned with this despondent view is the London Borough of Holborn that its councillors plan to distribute leaflets in taverns warning against "careless atomic talk."

A Civil-Defence staff college and training schools have been established to become the model for more, including some to be set up in the United States.

Canada, which last spring made a formal agreement to pool her Civil-Defence resources as well as her military means with those of the United States, also has made arrangements to exchange students of Civil-Defence with Britain.

Quebec Asks Provisions Put In New Constitution

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 (CP). — Quebec Solicitor-General Antoine Rivard Friday night said the province has distinct provisions it wants included in a new Canadian-made constitution.

In an address over the CBC French network, Mr. Rivard said Quebec today claims exclusive jurisdiction in education, insurance, administration of civil and criminal justice, trades and professions, hospitals, agriculture, municipal and school institutions, colonization, and maintenance of competent courts in civil and criminal matters, among other things.

He said the province also claims that in matters of civil, municipal and school law, final appeal should be in a court of appeal in each province, judges of which should be named by the province.

Mr. Rivard said all parties made it clear in the 1948 Quebec elections that they were behind Premier Duplessis in his stand against centralization efforts of the Canadian Government

The Quebec Government had faithfully carried out the 1948 mandate, Mr. Rivard added, representing such viewpoint when the Federal govrnmnt, without consulting the provinces, had asked for authority from Westminster to amend the constitution as it saw fit.

Premier Duplessis had protested against Ottawa taking the right to amend a contract, saying the power asked was dangerous.

Mr. Rivard said the Premier had maintained his attitude at the Dominion-Provincial conference in Ottawa in 1950. Mr. Duplessis said Quebec favored a purely Canadian constitution, written in Canada by Canadians and for Canadians.

For those who thought the Quebec attitude at the 1950 gathering hampered co-operation between the provinces, Mr. Rivard recommended they read what Premier J. B. McNair of New Brunswick and Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta had said at the time.

"BIRDMAN" OF THE FUTURE—Marine Sgt. Daniel Murphy of Pittsburgh, Pa., shows the United States Navy's "hoppi-copter," a one-man helicopter which it is hoped will some day enable a fully-armed man to get about the battlefield more quickly. Engine and gas tank are strapped onto the Marine's back; his legs are the landing and take-off "gear." Performance details of the flying machine are secret, but Navy spokesmen said his model did lift a man and hover over a field as early as 1947.

Different Wall Finishes Require Varied Treatment

Special care must be taken when cleaning in order not to harm the finish. Each type of wall finish requires different treatment. Here are some suggestions for cleaning a variety of different surfaces:

Cleaning Dull-Painted Wall

1. Always dust the walls with a wall brush or broom covered with a soft cloth. Use light overlapping strokes; heavy ones will rub the dirt "in" rather than "out." Change the cloth when necessary.

2. Painted walls may be washed with a cloth wrung out of light suds. (Never use strong suds water). Rinse with a cloth wrong out of clear water and wipe with a dry cloth.

3. Special precautions: Clean a small place at a time, use an up and down motion and be sure each stroke overlaps the last and leaves no streaks; use very little water; yellow soap, soda or washing powder may change the color of paint; any good soap or cleaner may be used; change water and cloth frequently.

Enamel Paints

1. Enamelled paints are dulled by soap. Walls that are finished with them should be cleaned with a cloth wrung out of hot water.

2. Remove spots with a fine scourer such as whiting, lightly applied.

Calcimined Walls

1. Calcimined walls are very difficult to clean because the calcimine comes off easily. Refinishing is usually necessary.

2. Some spots may be removed with art gum or putty eraser, but, unless the erasing is carefully done, it is apt to leave spots or rings.

Papered Walls

1. Papered walls are somewhat difficult to clean since hard rubbing blurrs the pattern. Use a soft, clean cloth or soft brush, and rub with an even stroke and very little pressure.

2. Most commercial cleaners and powders streak the paper unless they are carefully used. Putty erasers or cleaners (which can be purchased) and prepared starch or dough cleaners may be used, but require much time and energy and results are not always satisfactory.

3. Spotted or sooty paper may be cleaned by using soft stale bread. Cut away the crust and use the inside of the loaf for cleaning, cutting off the soiled section as work progresses.

4. Grease spots are difficult to remove, but may sometimes be removed by coating them with a thick layer of fuller's earth, magnesium, or even talcum. Let the coating remain for 24 hours and lightly brush it off. Repeat application if necessary.

Fabric Wall Covering

1. Heavy paper, burlap, tapestries, and brocades hold dust. Therefore, to clean them, thorough and frequent brushing is necessary. The use of a vacuum cleaner is desirable. Gasoline and other cleaners are somewhat difficult to use successfully.

2. Oilcloth coverings may be washed with mild soapy water, and rinsed with clean water.

To Clean Tile

1. Glazed tile when used on the wall is easily cleaned with warm water and mild soap.

Will Fight Plan

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—Ottawa's French-Canadian church recreation groups decided Friday night to fight the city of Ottawa's move to collect taxes on their properties. At a meeting called by the St. Jean Baptiste Society, a committee was formed to act in the matter. A spokesman said the case would be taken to the Ontario Municipal Board if necessary.

Visits Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 —(CP)— Princess Alice of Greece, mother of the Duke of Edinburgh, arrived here by plane Friday from New York for an "informal" visit. She will later fly to England. While here, she will stay with "an old friend," Mrs. Sofie G. Enriricos.

Youth Given Opportunity To Become Better Citizens

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

Peterborough was outstanding in the Second World War by having the highest per capita enrollment in the navy of any Canadian inland community.

Approximately 1,600 men from Peterborough served in the Royal Canadian Navy during the years 1939 to 1945.

This enviable achievement didn't just happen. Behind it was years of work by a few Peterborough men, who devoted time and effort to a boy's organization in the city — the Sea Cadets. Of the city's total naval enrollment during the war, 90 per cent had been members of the local sea cadets.

In peace, as in war, the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Howe (the official name of the city corps) has a definite contribution to make to Peterborough. Through this organization, the youth of the city are given an opportunity to receive sea training and other training which will develop in them those qualities which make for good citizenship: discipline, fair play and a sense of responsibility.

For those who wish a career on the sea, a basic training is available that will give them a good start in achieving their ambition. For other boys it might be termed a recreational training that makes them finer citizens while providing enjoyable hours.

Financed By Navy League

The Sea Cadets are financed by the Navy League. This organization provides all the uniforms, equipment, ship's quarters and other essentials for the corps. In addition, the corps members are sent to camp every summer free of charge.

The Navy League considers the Sea Cadets its major contribution to Peterborough. However, it makes other contributions, which although perhaps not so direct are equally important.

A Peterborough sailor may at this moment be enjoying the facilities of one of the several hostels, clubs and recreation centres maintained by the Navy League in the principal seaports of Canada.

This week he may have received a ditty bag, woollen garments, fur vests, reading material or games provided by the Navy League.

These types of services for men of the Canadian Navy have been provided by the league since before the First World War. During both world wars, expenditures for these services ran into millions of dollars.

With the R.C.N. now taking an active part in the Korean war and preparing to take part in a possible North Atlantic navy, the Navy League is also developing its services for an increasing Canadian naval force.

These activities and services carried on by the Navy League, both in organizations such as the Sea Cadets and hostels and clubs for Canadian sailors have to be financed by voluntary contributions.

This year the Peterborough branch of the Navy League of Canada is one of the 10 agencies appealing for funds through the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, March 7 to 15.

A contribution during the campaign will help finance not only the city's sea cadet corps, but may make it possible to send another ditty bag to a Canadian sailor, perhaps one from Peterborough.

Attacked By Thugs

VANCOUVER, Feb. 23 (CP)— A few hours after he testified in the bookmaking conspiracy trial here, Ab Forshaw, wealthy, self-admitted bookmaker, was attacked Friday night by two gun-wielding thugs. He was also robbed of $300. Forshaw, called a key witness in the bookmakers' trial in which 26 are charged with conspiracy, suffered injuries in a similar attack some weeks ago.

Highest Tax Levy

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 23 (CP)— Woodstock's 1952 tax rate was struck at 69.5 mills by city council early today. Highest tax levy in the city's history, this year's rate was an increase of six mills over 1951's 63.5 mills.

ALL WRAPPED UP—Sheila Yang, 11-year-old daughter of the Korean ambassador to the U.S., is all wrapped up in her Washington home in the $100,000 leopard-skin rug, taken last June from the Seoul palace of the last queen of Korea. The rug, made of 48 matched skins, was acquired by Sgt. Elverne H. Giltner, who airmailed it to his Pueblo, Colo., home at a cost of $39.20. The Korean government protested the "liberation" of a national treasure and U.S. customs authorities impounded it as the property of the Korean government.

Police brought him to the United States army and air force recruiting station, which got in touch with the Canadian embassy at Washington.

Oshawa Beaten By P.C.V.S. In Junior Tilt

Faced with elimination, Jack Cullis' Garnet and Grey junior "A" cagers roared through the Oshawa Central quintet Friday night to win 54-45 with a last half drive. In the opening game the P.C.V.S. juniors chalked up a 28-27 victory over St. Peter's High Saints in the final game of the "B" schedule.

The win for the junior "A" team gave them a record of three wins and a loss, to tie for first place with Central. The winner will be decided in two weeks' time in a points-to-count series, the victor meeting either P.C.V.S.' second junior team or Lindsay Collegiate.

A fast-breaking quintet, the Garnet and Grey blazed from the first whistle until the last and were matched stride for stride by Central. Oshawa, with an early lead, swept to an 18-15 score at quarter and stayed ahead 28-26 at the half.

But the Cullis crew were too smooth passing and shooting in the third quarter. Dashing up the floor with fast passing plays the Garnet and Grey swept away the small deficit for an 11-point, 46-35 lead at the third mark. Minus two star players in the fourth P.C.V.S. tired but held for the win.

Off for only the last 30 seconds Dan Griffin, Jack Corbett and Bob Boorman led the attack throughout the game. Terry Roberts combined with Griffin to help build the lead until fouled out in the fourth.

Ken Armstrong was the standout on the guard line during the first half but used sparingly in the second half suffering from an overdose of personal fouls. Corbett, Harry Carleton and Allen helped carry the load in the defensive department.

Griffin topped all previous season's performances with a 25-point scoring attack mixed with a steady defensive game. He worked generally from under the basket. Roberts worked with Griffin and also took time for 12 points.

Central's Chasczewski was the Oshawa team. The up-and-coming forward drifted in for 29 of Oshawa's points with a variety of shots. He also helped his team mates score the other 16 points with last-minute fakes and passes.

Saints Lose

The 28-27 defeat for St. Peter's in the junior "B" was their first in league play, finishing with a record of three wins and a loss. But the loss meant little to them for they have already started into the C.O.S.S.A. "B" playdowns.

But it meant everything to Jack Cullis' "B" juniors for it provides a margin over Lindsay for the coming "A" series which will declare a winner to meet the victor of the P.C.V.S.-Oshawa series. The Lindsay games will now be arranged within the next week.

Doug Ash came into his own with a 13-point scoring spree to lead P.C.V.S. to the win. Simmons and Legros were the best for the Saints with seven points each.

Marmora Victorious To Make The Finals

MARMORA, Feb. 23—(ENS)—A battle royal between Marmora and Stirling to decide who should meet Wellington in the Central T.V.L. finals was waged on the former's rink Friday, the homesters getting the verdict by 5-3. The night before Stirling had thrown them back with the decisive score of 11-5 to make this third game necessary but Friday night's encounter went differently as it was viewed by the largest crowd of the season, 750. The game was halted for 10 minutes in the first period as Bates, visiting goalie, was struck below his left eye with the puck.

Trumble, the Marmora captain, added to his goal-scoring record by getting three unassisted. Stirling did their scoring in the second, the Mason and Wright lines each getting a counter. Gray's goal in the first was the best of the evening. The penalties were for minor infractions and the referees had it under control.

Wellington will be at Marmora on Monday evening for the first game of the finals.

Norwood Winners Against Lakefield

NORWOOD, Feb. 23 (ENS) — A goodly crowd saw Norwood defeat Lakefield 10-8 here last night to wind up their T.V.L. schedule in second place. The lively game was marked by a fight in the second which drew majors for Marshall and Robinson. Play otherwise was fairly clean and quite fast throughout.

Brydges, Rogers and Whitnall scored for Norwood in the first, as the former, Tompkins, Ferguson and Robinson each had an assist. Quigley and Jopling counted for Lakefield, Casey aiding on two and Doris on one. Tompkins tallied twice next heat for Norwood, singles going to Brydges, Thorpe, Robinson and Rogers. Thorpe and Tompkins had two assists each, and Robinson one. Doris dented the hemp twice for Lakefield, Jopling and Casey getting one each. Doris, Quigley and Jopling had an assist apiece. After Ferguson scored in the third for Norwood from Robinson and Whitnall, D. Wasson counted for Lakefield from Casey, and the latter added one from Doris.

Luminous Buoys

CAMPOBELLO, N.B. — (CP)—Luminous paint may be used in the near future to make Bay of Fundy buoys visible farther at night. The prediction was made by A. Wesley Stuart, Liberal member of Parliament for Charlotte, who said Canadian authorities have been experimenting with various luminous coatings.

Canada's Olympic Scoring Over Except For Hockey Entry

By JACK SULLIVAN.

OSLO, Feb. 23 (CP).—Except for the hockey team, Canada isn't figured to collect any more scoring points in the 1952 Olympic winter games.

Four events remain to be completed—the 40-kilometre ski relay and women's 10-kilometre cross-country ski race today, and the ski jump and the final hockey round Sunday.

Canada had its closest call in the hockey series Friday night before defeating Sweden 3-2 on Billy Dawe's goal with 20 seconds of play left. Norway and the United States are Canada's opponents in the last two rounds.

Canada has no entrants in today's ski races, in which Sweden, Finland and Norway appeared to have the best chances. As for the special ski jump, Norwegians have won every gold medal in that event since the winter games started in 1924.

Not Much Chance

Canada's two jumpers, Luc Laferte and Wilfrid Charland of Three Rivers, Que., are hardly expected to reach the top flight of Europe's ski birds.

The figure skating competitions ended Friday and again Canada had a place among the point-scoring top six.

Skating in the pairs, Robert Norris Bowden and Frances Dafoe of Toronto placed fifth, good for two points in the unofficial team standing.

Suzanne Morrow of Toronto accounted for one point when she finished sixth in the women's singles figure skating a few days ago.

Peter Firstbrook of Toronto placed fifth in the men's singles, and now the pairs skaters from Toronto have added another two points by placing fifth.

Bowden and Miss Dafoe, senior pairs champions in Canada, were given a great round of applause by the crowd of more than 15,000 in Bislett Stadium.

The world champions, Paul and Ria Falk of Germany, won the Olympic title and the Kennedy kids—Peter and Karol—of Seattle, Wash., placed second.

Get First Points

Laszlo and Marianna Nagy of Hungary were third, scoring the first points in these games by any Russian-dominated country of Eastern Europe.

John and Jennifer Nicks of Britain placed fourth in the pairs figure skating, adding three points to the first-place 10 scored by Jeannette Altwegg in winning the women's singles figure skating championship.

Germans won the gold medals in both events decided Friday. In the morning Andreas Ostler, world bobsled champion, guided his sled to victory in the four-man bobs. A U.S. sled driven by Stan Benham of Lake Placid, N.Y., placed second. Two Switzerland sleds took third and fourth places.

Sweden, undefeated until Friday night, proved a tough and valiant foe for the Canadian team from Edmonton. The Canadians had a wide margin of play, but in the matter of goals it was a close squeak.

Sweden's goalie, Tord Flodquist, put on about the greatest exhibition of net-minding the Canadians have seen—or hope to see the rest of the way in this series.

Flodquist tossed shots aside with monotonous regularity. Time after time he beat Bob Dickson, Gordie Robertson, Frank Sullivan and Bob Watt on shots that were well labelled.

The game itself was one of the cleanest and well-played of the series. There were only two penalties, one to each team for minor infractions.

Excited Crowd

The crowd of more than 10,000 was in an uproar throughout the game, particularly when the Swedes took a 2-0 lead in the first period before the Canadians settled down.

The Swedes then played defensive hockey, leaving three and even four men on the defence and waiting for the breaks. But the Canadians got their attack rolling following in fast on shots, and Flodquist was under steady fire.

Louis Secco teamed up with George Abel to score Canada's first goal before the opening period ended and Abel drilled in a long hard shot late in the second period to tie the score.

Although the Canadians kept peppering Flodquist, it looked as though they would have to settle for a draw. Dawe had tough luck before he finally made his pay-off shot. Once in the second period he hit the goal post and in the third missed by inches with only the goalie to beat.

Third Chance

His third chance came when Billy Gibson went behind the Swedes' net and passed out to Dawe, who pulled the goal tender out and slapped the puck in.

The United States team got into another faffoo in Friday night's game with Poland, the Americans winning 5-3. This time it was Andy Gambucci of Eveleth, Minn., who got into a brawl. The other night it was Joe Czarnota, in the Americans' game with Switzerland.

A near free-for-all broke out in the third period last night in front of the Poles' bench. Gambucci and Anthony Wrobel of Poland were given major penalties for their part in the big mix-up.

Czechoslovakia, whose only loss was to Canada, scored its fifth victory, defeating Switzerland 8-3, and Finland won 5-1 over Germany in a tussle between two of the low-placed teams.

NO STRINGS ATTACHED — In Berlin, Karl Baessler, a 37-year-old radio engineer, demonstrates the new portable piano, which he invented, to his wife. The instrument is played like a piano, up to five octaves. In place of strings, it has metal bars similar to those of a mouth organ. The vibrations are picked up and transformed into tunes in a magnetic system and amplified. The "pianophon" weighs 25 pounds and is 16 inches wide and 36 inches long.

Cobourg Curlers Plan Three-Day Bonspiel

COBOURG, Feb. 23.— Cobourg will stage a three-day bonspiel for Ontario curlers during their month-long stand at the modern recreational centre here. This was decided at the organization meeting held here last night.

The month-long program, so successful last year, will start this year on March 15 and end on April 15. Playoffs will be staged, as was the arrangement in 1951, and winners will be declared in aggregate, consolation and games won groupings.

A feature will be the visits of the Utica rink and a Montreal foursome during the big weekends here.

Last year's winning rinks were skipped by Maurice Booth, Percy Macklin and Lyle Wilson.

Black's Victors Over Nurses In Cage Game

Black's cagers tripped up the Nurses Friday night 29-18 in the girls' city league basketball at the Y.W.C.A. while in an exhibition game the Neill's lasses kept winning with a resounding 48-15 victory over Port Hope.

Carol Raper, Reta Naylor, Marney Hollingsworth and Eaddie McIlhagga all netted the ball in the first half for Black's as they took a 17-8 lead. Jean Bell and Pat Martyn accounted for the Nurses' points.

Black's kept up the pressure in the second half and again outscored the Nurses this time by a much smaller margin, 12-10. Marney Hollingsworth continued her first half pace for Black's while the Nurses counted on foul shots.

Leads Snipers

Reta Naylor topped the scorers with nine points for Black's while Hollingsworth and Raper each counted eight. Jean Bell was the Nurses' best with six.

Neill's easily remained undefeated as they romped through Port Hope for their exhibition win. The Peterborough girls went up 13-6 at the quarter, added to it 26-12 at the half, added again in the third 36-13 and finished off strongly with 12 points to the Ports' two.

Mabel Gillen sank 12 points for Neill's while Pauline Stewart had nine and Joan Dunk eight.

Powell Heading For Triple Crown

By The Canadian Press.

Ray Powell, lanky centre of Providence Reds, may become the first player in American Hockey League history to win the circuit's scoring derby, goal-getting race and playmaking crown.

The 26-year-old star just about locked up the point derby Friday night as he collected seven in leading the Providence Reds to a 9-4 triumph over the Buffalo Bisons.

Powell banged home three goals and assisted on four others to boost his point harvest to 86. The three goals increased his output to 34, two more than runner-up Steve Wochy of Cleveland has scored. The four assists brought Powell's figures in that department to 52, a commanding total.

Since the league was organized in 1936-37 a number of players have led the circuit in two of the three scoring departments but none have ever made a grand slam. Powell, with 12 games left to play, stands an excellent chance to be the first to accomplish the feat.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Maurice (Rocket) Richard will be lost to the National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens for at least two more weeks and possibly longer.

General manager Frank Selke said Friday night in Montreal that Richard, out of action with a groin injury, will leave for Florida tonight with his wife for a complete rest.

"All I can say is that he will be gone for an indefinite period," Selke said. "He can stay as long as he wants, or until he feels he is ready to come home."

Richard said he believed he would remain in Florida for about 10 days. Club doctors said the only thing that can cure his injury is a complete rest.

Vic Raschi, the New York Yankees' most consistent winning Charley Silvera signed contracts Friday in St. Petersburg, Fla., leaving four players who haven't come to terms with the world champions.

Ted Reeve, Toronto Telegram sports columnist, said Friday in a story datelined Vancouver that football executives in the west coast city are considering a plan for a springtime Big Four League made up of Vancouver, Victoria, Edmonton and Calgary.

McGill captured its third straight senior intercollegiate badminton crown in London, Ont., Friday when the Redmen defeated Western four matches to one. Friday's win marked the second time in three years that McGill has beaten Western for the title.

Heavy snow on the bay has forced postponement of the third annual Canadian championship ice boating regatta, slated for this weekend in Hamilton.

Chuck Rayner, New York Ranger goalie injured a week ago, will undergo an operation today for torn ligaments in his left knee. Though the 31-year-old netminder obviously is out of action for the rest of the season, Ranger manager Frank Boucher Friday in New York emphasized Chuck's career is far from over.

Busy little Robert Villemain of France Friday night staged a blistering rally in the last two rounds for a unanimous decision over wild-swinging Danny Nardico of Tampa, Fla., in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden in New York. Villemain weighed 167¼, Nardico 172.

NORTHERN CHAMPS—The Kenora rink skipped by Jimmy Guy, extreme left, will represent northern Ontario at the Dominion curling championships to be held at Winnipeg next month. Winners of the Northwestern Ontario Curling Association title, the Kenora quartet went on to win the northern Ontario title at Sudbury against the winners of the Northern Ontario Curling Association and the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Curling Association. The winners are, left to right: Skip Guy; vice-skip Jack Pike; second Leo Fregeau and lead Ray Parnell.

Philadelphia Stadium Site Of Walcott Bout

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP). — The Philadelphia Municipal Stadium, it appeared today, will be the site of the return match between Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles for the heavyweight championship.

Promoter Herman Taylor of Philadelphia said last night tentative arrangements have been worked out for the title fight in the stadium about June 18.

Taylor said he made a "very flattering offer" in a conference with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, and "we didn't fix up all the details but part of the obstacles were ironed out." Another meeting is scheduled Monday.

Taylor said the fight would be televised nationally, except for a blackout in Philadelphia.

Campbellford Midgets Win

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 23 — (ENS)—The largest crowd of the season saw the Campbellford OMHA Midgets defeat Stirling Midgets 16-3 in the Community Centre here Friday evening. It was the second and final game of their home-and-home-goals-to-count series. They downed the same team 11-5 on Stirling ice on Monday.

The locals were a slightly heavier and faster group than their Stirling rivals, and had little difficulty in piling up their goal margin on the series. They scored 27 goals to Stirling's 8.

The line of Wood, Campbell and Hermiston stood out for the Stirling team, along with their 11-year-old replacement goal tender, Don Brady. This plucky little fellow did yoeman work for the visitors, and on one occasion kicked out four shots in as many seconds, remaining quite calm throughout the play. Stirling's regular goalie, Ross Ray, suffered a broken nose in the first game of the series.

The Garvey, Wilson, Dooher trio carried the local play, with these lads getting eleven of the sixteen counters.

Referees Patterson and Free kept the game well in hand and dished out about a half dozen minor penalties to each side.

Campbellford will now meet Bobcaygeon for their next series, with the first game probably taking place on Wednesday evening.

Red-Hot Biltmores Wallop Waterloo In 15-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

The red-hot Guelph Biltmores climbed to within a single point of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race Friday night as they delighted a home crowd with a convincing 15-2 victory over eighth-place Waterloo Hurricanes.

Guelph is runner-up to Toronto Marlboros.

Ken Laufman led Biltmores with four goals and three assists Friday night to boost his season point total to 134, a record for O.H.A. Junior A play. The old mark of 129 was held jointly by Lou Jankowski of the 1951 Oshawa Generals and Dutch Reibel of the Windsor Spitfires.

In other junior clashes, Barrie Flyers downed ninth-place Windsor Spitfires 8-2 and held on to eighth position in the 10-team league while the sixth-place Kitchener Greenshirts upset St. Catharines Teepees 4-2.

Teepees are in a fourth-place deadlock with Toronto St. Michael's.

Down Sailors

In Senior A O.H.A. play, Hamilton Tigers kept their playoff chances alive with a 3-1 win over the cellar-dwelling Sarnia Sailors.

In the only other O.H.A. Senior A tussle Friday, the league-leading Stratford Indians bounced Brantford Redmen 13-5 at Brantford.

It was Ken Laufman's four goals that led Guelph to its win. Ron Murphy added three and Dean Prentice came through with two. Harry Howell, Chick Chalmers, Andy Bathgate, Aldo Guidolin, Chuck Henderson and Lou Fontinato banged in singletons. Neil McIntosh scored both Waterloo markers.

Fears Of Past Torpedo U.K. Mining Plan

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 23 (CP)—Mining chiefs have just about written off a plan to recruit unemployed Italians for work in Britain's short-staffed collieries, it was indicated Friday.

Old fears and prejudices, born in the days when mining was a depressed industry, thus killed a new plan for speeding output in British pits.

Officially there is still a chance of a change of heart. The national coal board won't admit the plan has been torpedoed. But an official in touch with negotiations acknowledged Friday "you can draw your own conclusions" from the attitude of the miners.

Italians already in Britain or those on their way will be allowed to remain, bringing the total employed here to approximately 2,000.

The idea of recruiting men from Italy's pool of 2,000,000 unemployed had the blessing of the British government, the coal board and the National Union of Mineworkers. The Italians were eager to come, and newspaper accounts indicated that those already here worked with a fanatical enthusiasm.

Old Fears

But nearly all the mining lodges refused to accept the Italians. Their reasons seem largely intuitive—a fear of outsiders flooding into the pits and diminishing the bargaining power of scarce labor, a dimly-felt antagonism against "foreigners?" or ex-enemies, a brooding among older men over past injustices.

It was even suggested in parliament that the miners feared the Italians as serenading Latin lovers. This brought such a howl from the miners' leader that the member of parliament who brought up the question promptly apologized.

The irony of the situation is that Britain just hasn't enough miners of her own, and that coal is the biggest single factor in her economy. The case of the Italian miners seems a classic illustration of the way Britain's post-war recovery has been retarded by the wrongs, real or imaginary, of the past.

Woodview News

Gordon Reid is slowly improving from his long bout of illness.

Mrs. Harrison Bronson is in St. Joseph's hospital, Peterborough, to undergo an operation.

Gordon Reid and Miss Emma Reid learned recently of the death of their brother at Chesley, Ont.

Mrs. Harrison Bronson was presented with a gold watch by the congregation of Eden Church for her services rendered as secretary-treasurer for the past 11 years.

Despite poor travelling conditions on Highway 28, which is under construction, Cleveland Robb, a lay pracher from Peterborough, who travels more than 100 miles each Sunday to preach at his four charges, has been able to keep a 100% attendance record.

Miss Gladys Langton, Peterborough, was a recent visitor at Eden Church services.

MARKET STREET, San Francisco's main thoroughfare, became a massive parking lot when the municipal railway system was tied up by a recent strike. And for once in their lives, motorists didn't have to worry about leaving their cars on the tramways right-of-way. Police permitted parking in the middle of the street after all available curbstone space was taken. The transit employees are protesting schedule changes which spread their eight-hour shifts over 10 hours.

Says Canadians Lagging In Housebuilding

TORONTO, Feb. 23 —(CP)—Canadian housebuilders are lagging behind their United States counterparts, Alan Brockbank, president of the National Association of Homebuilders of America told the National Homebuilders Association (Canada) Friday night.

Speaking as a representative of 25,000 U.S. contractors, he said the financing arrangements of the association, together with interchange of construction ideas, is producing a different type of U.S. industry.

U.S. housebuilders are developing an assembly line technique on a semi-prefabricated basis, he said. The individual contractor was no longer a "broker in materials and men," but part of an organization that has standardized building materials and methods.

Financially, the principle of low down payments with long amortization would provide a $12,000 home with a down payment of about $1,000, the balance being paid over a 30-year period. In Canada, a similar home would require a down payment of about $2,400, with the balance paid within 20 years.

Mr. Brockbank said there is a definite swing toward home ownership in the United States. One out of every seven families has bought a home since the war, he said.

Sharp Drop On Market During Week

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A month-long trend of steadily weakening support and slowly mounting selling pressure culminated early this week in Toronto, Montreal and New York with the sharpest stock market drops in several months.

Toronto was hardest hit as the Exchange's industrial index dropped about eight points from Monday morning to Tuesday night. Golds resisted the trend but base metals and western oils lost about six points. The loss dropped the industrial index to the level of early last July.

Montreal papers and industrials declined sharply during the two-day sell-off while New York prices slipped irregularly.

All markets steadied Wednesday and snappd back for a solid gain Thursday. The rally faded, however, after about half the losses were recovered.

Toronto opened the week Monday with a mixed active market. Prices turned downward during the first hour, however, and broke sharply about noon. All sections slipped in Montreal.

Depress Issues

Steady selling depressed a heavy list of issues in Toronto Tuesday while in Montreal, all sections maintained a steady decline. Prices wavered irregularly in Toronto Wednesday as the market staged a mild rally. Papers and industrials slowed their recession in Montreal but closed lower.

Prices snapped back in Toronto Thursday to recover about half their losses while all Montreal sections advanced. Lacking direction from New York yesterday —the market was closed in observance of Washington's birthday —Toronto and Montreal strengthened slowly.

Spotty selling in New York Monday weakened the list while stronger selling pressure Tuesday depressed a wide range of issues. New York's Wednesday rally failed to hold and prices again closed lower. A stronger rally Thursday however, buoyed most prices.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 4.80 at 327.55, golds down .14 at 81.15, base metals down 1.85 at 195.29 and western oils down .277 at 132.24.

Mystery Voice Located; Two Juveniles

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—Police disclosed Friday that "Harold Gotch" the mysterious voice that telephoned Ottawa Merchants and ordered thousands of dollars' worth of unwanted goods delivered to a west end residence, had a dual personality.

He was, they said, two Nepean high school boys. They appeared Friday before Juvenile Court Judge John P. Balharrie on charges of creating a public mischief and were remanded in custody for a further hearing Feb. 29.

Police said it was the lads—aged 13 and 14—who besieged the Westboro home of Edgar Larwill with unordered deliveries of goods and services that ranged from six tons of coal to funeral wreaths and a man to estimate cost of moving the house from its foundations. They placed the orders by phone.

Credit for unearthing the boys went to Laurie Weber of Quintan, Sask., who has been visiting his brother here. He became suspicious when he tried to use his brother's telephone, a two-party line, and heard a youthful voice giving an order for 50 tons of fish. Police traced the boys through his tip.

A new wrinkle to the telephone gag developed Friday. A woman reported to newspapers that she had received three calls from youthful females. Each asked for her to ask her husband to return a glove left in the back seat of a taxicab during a date with the husband Thursday night.

Hockey, Hike Make Busy Week For Scouts

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 23 (ENS). —The Sea Scouts have been having a busy time during the past week, with a series of hockey games, church parades, regular meetings, hikes, etc. Since this is the week of Baden Powell's birthday, this extra busy time seems appropriate.

Saturday afternoon the Scouts met with Young's Point on the latter's ice and went down to defeat to the tune of 6-2. Sunday afternoon found them gathering at Troop Leader Rick Wilford's for a hike across the park, marsh, swamp and as far as Mr. Woodward's gravel pit. Tuesday evening the troop was represented at the Bridgenorth annual scout banquest by Troop Leader Rick Wilford and Scoutmaster Ken Jakins.

Wednesday evening the entire group met in the basement of the United Church to hear Alex Kay give a talk on birds and animals. Following the lecture the "Going-Up" ceremony was held in which Bobby Brattain, Doug. Newsom and Bob Vallance, all Second Star Cubs, went on to Sea Scouting "with both eyes open."

After the ceremony the group committee adjourned to Theo. Down's for their monthly business meeting. Since Mr. Kay was there, business was quickly disposed of and more nature stories were heard. Two items of business discussed were a paper drive on March 1, and a variety show to be held during the last week of March.

Friday, Feb. 22, being founder's birthday, all Scouts and Cubs of the Lakefield Group wore their uniforms all days as a gesture of honor to his memory.

3 Canadians Marry Japanese, Curbs Looming

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP).—The army is preparing to put troops in Korea on a wartime footing as far as marriage is concerned. This development follows the marriage of three soldiers to Japanese girls.

The soldiers, whose names were not available here, were married during the latter part of last year.

A spokesman at army headquarters said there is nothing to prevent a soldier getting married under normal peacetime regulations. During the Second World War, however, a serviceman was required to obtain permission of his officer commanding to become eligible for marriage allowances.

This wartime policy has not been in effect in the Far East, but the army is planning to make it applicable. The commanding officer's permission involves a cooling-off period, whereby the serviceman must know the girl a certain length of time.

Rev. Tonge Explains China By Interpreting Its Past

Ladies of the Women's Art Association were intensely interested in the address given Friday afternoon at their studio meeting by the Rev. Walton Tonge of Lakefield. Mr. Tonge endeavoured to interpret for them China today in the light of China of yesterday, from knowledge gained during three years as a teacher in China and study of the country's history before and since his sojourn.

He asserted with confidence that the present situation cannot last. But he predicted it will last for 10 to 15 years. "The Christian church is the hope of China—the one thing communism cannot counteract" he said. Though less than one per cent. of the population is Christian, that group comprises 80 per cent of the "who's who". This includes all the teachers, all medical persons, most of the agricultural leaders, and from these people will come the leadership.

Mr. Tonge has come away with a deep and apparently lasting love for the Chinese. He has a confidence in them which cannot be rightly understood by looking from afar. He stated "The very foundation of Chinese life is contrary to the ways of communism. They are a patient and lovable people. I have never seen them even engage in a fist fight."

Absolute Poverty

Several times Mr. Tonge told his audience they could not comprehend the situation as he strove for examples to make it clearer. In the first instance he was endeavouring to explain the absolute poverty of the lower class, against which he said the poorest person in this county would appear "well off", and the wealth of the upper class which is yet so immense compared with the richest person in Canada.

"The communists are in power in China, not because the Chinese wanted them, invited them or accepted them", he said, "but because the Chinese had no choice. They wanted peace at any cost but they are finding the price pretty high." It is impossible to comprehend here how terrible is their plight he felt and there is nothing in Canadian life with which to compare it. "Fear is in every heart and mind. Everyone is an espionage agent — wife against husband, father against son, etc."

Three Phases

Though merely touching the fringe of the story, he said, Mr. Tonge outlined three phases which have contributed to the Chinese being overcome by the communists—religious, economic and political.

China has a very old culture—its civilization dating to 5,000 BC from which the arts and crafts for which it is famous have come. Mr. Tonge displayed some of the things he was able to bring from China and they were enviously admired. One of their early religions was Taoism which had very little to do with after-life and concerned mostly a code of living. After Tao came Confuscius, a practical prophet who cut away all thought of ritual and of superstition. He had too much philosophy to take the place of a religion, so Bhuddism crept in from India adding ritual and trappings to the Chinese religion.

Filled The Gap

Mr. Tonge explained that communism helped to fill the Chinese mind with enthusiasms, and challenge of life, and against this the feebleness of the Christian church has taken a beating. Economic conditions grew increasingly worse, so that the speaker saw inflation of money up to 500%. The health of the lower class was so very poor that anything could tempt them, he explained.

Appeal must be made to the middle class who are steeped in the tradition of China, he said. "Give them hope by letting them know that you are concerned. That you will give something of the great deal that you have to help them."

Chiang Sincere

"The Chinese is an individualist in politics" said Mr. Tonge. "He has no loyalty outside himself and his family—no national feeling. Chiang Kai-Shek was a most sincere man and a Christian. He wanted to be a George Washington in China but he was so encircled by corruption that he found it impossible and his regime crashed around him."

So, the political life also paved the way for communism. But Mr. Tonge is confident his Chinese friends will win out and he is ready to go back and face it with them if he ever has the opportunity.

This lecturer met all the tests of a good speaker. He went overtime and still held the attention of the audience, and after the meeting they expressed desire to have him speak to them again.

TORONTO, Feb. 23—(CP)—A welfare expert thinks the day may come when couples adopting a child will pay a fee.

Mary Elizabeth Fairweather, adoption supervisor for the Children's Services of Cleveland, told a meeting called by the welfare council of the Community Chest here that she believes adopting parents would be willing to pay for the skilled services needed to arrange successful adoptions.

"Qualities we seek in adopting parents include physical and emotional health, ability to meet the hazards of the future, facing childlessness without bitterness and, finally, the desire to have children more for the joy of giving than receiving.

"The old emphasis on the amount of income, kind of house and the quality of housekeeping no longer plays a part in assessing adoption parents."

Fashion Flashes

The delicate air pervades many of the most beautiful resort-dress collections. Pinkish beige linen is used for a charming late-day dress made with a full, flaring skirt. A band of cut-out Swiss embroidery curves around the deep scoop neck and forms the sleeves. Two graduated bands below the waist introduce five graduated bands to make the lower part of the skirt.

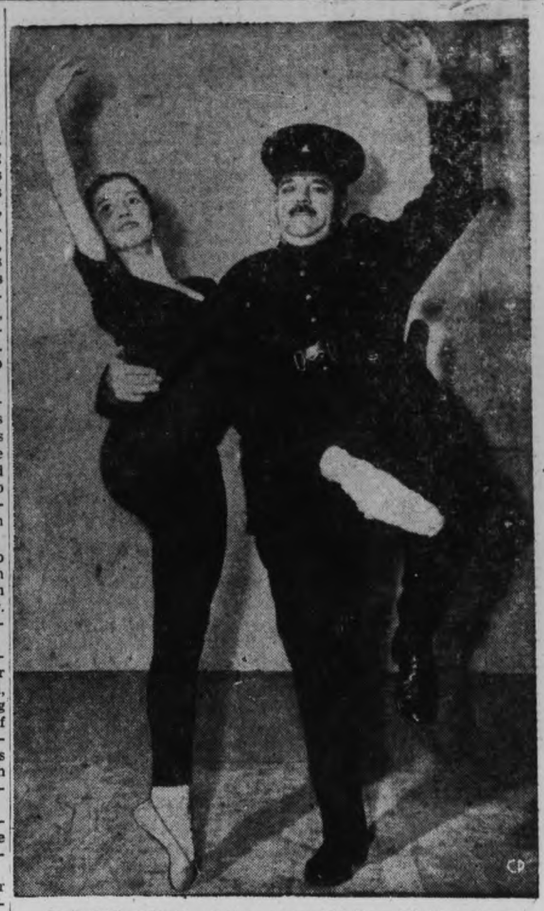
A nice dividend is the matching skirt with a full-length fitted coat, making for a good costume suit and separates. Nicely interpreted in a fine line black and white striped tweed, the princess coat is outlined at all edges with black braid, and has slanting flap pockets and three-button closing that is above the waist. Slim skirt has a high waistband.

Doing better than ever is linen, now treated to new and improved finishes. A silky surface marks a pale blue linen suit, softly tailored along classical lines and worn with a pale pink chiffon blouse.

Accepted as an integral part of the wardrobe is the fashion for separates. Charming early Spring designs include a full-sleeved, deep V-necked shirtblouse of light gray silk shantung, paired off with a darker gray, heavier-slubbed silk shantung skirt that is taffeta lined for flaring fullness. Skirt has slit pockets.

Refreshing designs marks suits readied for spring. Brown and white worsted knit is used for the jacket of a pretty suit with white linen underlays for the high club collar and turn-back cuffs. The skirt is of brown flannel with all-around accordion pleating.

Favored for spring success in the millinery field is the sailor silhouette, curved up, front and back, in a sort of rocker effect. Nice in fine navy straw with a cluster of small, red velvet tulips posed to point up the high-curved back, and to match the softly tucked crown band.



POINT(E) DUTY—Police constable Tom Wakley demonstrates another of the hazards of a policeman's lot. He poses with ballerina Judie Colpman of Toronto, a member of the National Ballet Company which will appear at the Toronto Police Association's concert next Wednesday. Constable Wakley is president of the Association.

Homes Made By Parents

ROSENEATH, Feb. 23 (ENS)—"Our homes are just what we are," said Mrs. R. C. White in a devotional address at the meeting of the W.A. of the United church. The speaker chose as her subject "Christians in the Home."

"God gave us patience, wisdom, love and understanding to use in our homes, and peace will come when the homes of our nations will become listening homes," she said.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Clarke Sandercock on Wednesday afternoon. The president Mrs. Earl Waldie presided. The treasurer, Mrs. Fred Norris, reported a balance on hand of $432. This included the receipts from the recent church supper.

The good cheer report presented by the convener, Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite, showed eight persons had been remembered during the month.

The W.A. members have divided into three groups as a means of raising funds and each has decided on its own way of making money.

Group No. 1 "The Willing Workers," with Mrs. Clarke Sandercock as president and Mrs. Bart Thackeray as secretary, have planned a television program at an early date.

Group No. 2 "Up and Doing," with Mrs. Fred Norris president, and Mrs. Charles Sandercock, secretary, are sponsoring a three-act play "A Pair of Country Kids," presented by the Ever Awake Bible Class of St. James United church, Peterborough, in the L.O.L. hall, Roseneath on February 27.

Group No. 3 "Ways and Means" with Mrs. Isabel Brown president and Mrs. George Hoover secretary, are holding a "Ladies' Night St. Patrick Supper" at Maple Lodge on March 17th.

Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite was program convener and announced the following numbers: a recitation by Mrs. Ivan Thackeray, a reading by Mrs. Charles Sandercock; Mrs. Fred Norris contributed a "Menu" quiz.

The meeting closed with prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Normal "At Home" Guests See Excellent Production

Highlight of the Normal School year is the annual At Home when students entertain their parents and friends and special guests. Through the combined efforts of the student body and the teachers the event is always outstanding, including a drama presentation, a social hour with refreshments served, and dancing and games afterward.

This year there were two nights of entertainment. Thursday evening a crowd of about 150, made up of the practice teachers and students' guests from their boarding homes, viewed a full dress rehearsal of the play and then enjoyed a social hour together. The formal presentation Friday evening was attended by 300 guests, about one-third being the parents, many of whom came from some distance, and the others mostly former students and their ladies and escorts who also came from distant places in many cases.

On hand to receive them were principal Mr. L. W. Copp, dean Mrs. Crawford Turner and the officers of the Literary Society, Mr. William Hayes, president, Mr. Glenn Watson, vice-president; Mr. John McFadden, and Miss Betty Scollard, last year's president and vice-president.

Decorations were copied from the realm of the fantastic in painted pictures of gnomes, elves, fairies and sprites covering each of the windows of the auditorium and the library of the school. Adding charm to this scene were the girl students and guests in their lovely evening attire, chosen with such care for this occasion.

Production Excellent

The feature entertainment was an excellent production of Christopher Fry's play "The Boy With a Cart," directed by Mr. J. D. Londerville, and with accompanying music led by Mr. Q. McKinney. First-rate work was done by the verse-speaking choir which spoke the chorus parts of the play, and among the actors G. Stevenson as an old man, and Miss M. Aiken as an old woman were particularly good in a cast which was good throughout. The leading part of Cuthman, the inspired boy who built a church, was played by Bernard Wright. He was particularly good in the moments when he was called upon to show deep feeling.

The students of the Normal School will present this play in the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival next week.

About one-third of the student body is involved directly in the play. The remainder have co-operated in the At Home enterprise by assisting in making scenery, designing and making costumes, lighting, make-up and in decorating, arranging programs, games, dancing and refreshments.

OmemeeCoupleWedToday

In Trinity United Church, Omemee, at two o'clock this afternoon, February 23rd, the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt performed the marriage of Yvonne Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stevens, to Mr. Allan Thaxter Shaw, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Shaw, all of Omemee.

Spring flowers decorated the church for the occasion and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Irvine Connell. During the signing of the register Mr. Reginald Peters sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white satin with overskirt of tulle and topped with a lace jacket. A cap of matching lace held her fingertip veil of tulle and she carried an arm bouquet of American beauty roses.

Bridal attendants Mrs. Gordon Bocock and Mrs. George Stevens were wearing gowns of velvet in different shades of blue and hats to match. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow daffodils and pink sweet peas.

The groomsman was Mr. Gordon Bocock. Ushers were Charles and Brackley Shaw, brothers of the groom.

The home of the groom's parents was setting for the reception. Mrs. Shaw chose to wear a gown of bronze faille with hat to match and a corsage of talisman roses. She received the guests, assisted by the bride's aunt who wore blue velvet gown and hat in matching shade and a corsage of roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Columbus, Ohio, and the New England States, the bride wore a navy velveteen suit and hat and navy accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will live in Omemee on their return.

DOROTHY DIX

Heartless Relatives Come From Childhood Favorites

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a married woman of 30, the mother of three children. My trouble dates back to my childhood, when I was the youngest of four children and my father's favorite. My mother, brothers and sisters resented dad's partiality towards me and always seemed to hate me.

I started to work when I was 20, and sent half my money home to my mother every week. In fact, I have done everything I could to win the love and approval of my family. While I was sending the money home they all treated me very well, but after I married and stopped working, they went back to the old ways.

Now when I go to visit them the family still lives together though my brothers and sister are married, they don't seem a bit glad to see me, and in fact act as though they'd be glad to see me go and not come back. They show no love or affection for my children, either. They never visit me. I try to pretend to my husband that our family is a very happy one, but I'm sure he's not fooled.

Now I have come to the point where I don't care if I win my family's love or not. Up to now I have been an easy mark for them, in my endeavor to have their approval. Now I don't feel that way any more. Should I stay away from my family since they have no respect or love for me or mine, and no consideration for my feelings?

RUBY ANNE

ANSWER: At no time do we put ourselves so at the mercy of others as when we want to win love and approval. Your anxiety to be liked puts you in a position where you cannot refuse to do a favor, and all you ask in return is a smile or kind word—which usually isn't forthcoming.

Stop Trying

Unfortunately, the more you exert yourself, the less return you will get. The minute you cease to be a soft touch, you get a cold shoulder. Realizing, therefore, the utter futility of all efforts, the best thing to do is stop them. This system will at leat win your family's respect—if not their love. They will certainly never respect you while you continue to play the underdog.

Visiting your family just to be hurt and humiliated is foolish. Stop visiting them; if they decide after a while that they miss you, they'll come calling themselves.

You have your own family life to build; your own three children to bring up. Profit by the mistakes made in your childhood and be sure that you and your husband show no favoritism. Treat each child equally and avoid future dissension in the family circle. You also have a good husband who is deserving of your best attention. Tell him frankly what the situation is in your family; trying to hide your troubles will only result in an emotional conflict that could lead to actual illness. Create a social circle around your husband and children; plan family outings and activities to include neighbors and friends. Don't sit home and brood over your ungrateful relatives; forget them until they realize that your patience has reached the breaking point, and you are no longer the beggar for their love.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man of 23. While in grade school I had lots of friends, but became hard of hearing and finally left school at 16, being in the sixth grade. Since then I haven't been able to make friends. I was brought up in a good home with a large family, and am socially inclined. I wear a hearing aid and wonder if that could be the reason why people are not friendly.

BOB S.

ANSWER: A hearing aid would have little to do with your lack of friends. Many fine and great men, including the famous Bernard Baruch, wear such appliances and find them no hindrance.

You do have another handicap, however, which could quite easily be the cause of all your difficulty. That is your inadequate education. Sixth-grade schooling is a very poor foundation according to today's high standards of education. This situation, however, is very readily remedied, and I strongly urge you to begin at once to improve it. In fact, you may easily accomplish two purposes by further attendance at school. While acquiring additional learning, you will be with a group of young people all sharing the same problem, and a better foundation for friendship would be hard to find. Go to night school, improve your knowledge of English, history and geography; learn another language or specialize in some field in which you are particularly interested, but however you do it, go ahead with your education.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have recently returned to the United States from Canada and would like to know of reliable clubs where I could meet people of both countries. I would like to make personal contacts, and also correspond with people.

I. W.

ANSWER The English-Speaking Union, which has a branch in your city, is the ideal association for your purpose. Through them you will be put in touch with folks from Canada, Britain, and other English-speaking countries as well as the United States.

Mount Pleasant W.A. Discuss Training School

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 23 (ENS).—The February meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held in the church on Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-three ladies attended.

The president, Mrs. G. McLean, was in the chair, and opened the meeting. Two minutes' silence in memory of King George VI was followed by the "Theme Song." The scripture lesson was read by the president. The devotional was in charge of Mrs. J. Fee, and in her absence was read by Mrs. S. Tully.

Mrs. E. McLean was instructed to order 50 new hymn books for the use of the W.A. and the church. A new record book for the church was purchased, and Mrs. H. Lowes was appointed in charged of same. Members elected representing the W.A. on the parsonage board were Mrs. H. Lowes and Mrs. H. Jamieson. Letters of thanks were read from members who had been remembered during illness and from a member who had moved away.

Correspondence was also read concerning the Dominion W.M.S. and the Dominion W.A. associations of the United Church campaign to be launched for the building fund for a training school to train women for full-time church work.

A vote of thanks extended by Mrs. H. Lowes and Mrs. A. Bland to Mrs. H. Gardiner for the work involved in selling Christmas cards.

The following program was in charge of Mrs. S. Tully and Mrs. E. Garnett: Prayer, Mrs. L. Handley; "If You Would be a Lady," sent by Mrs. R. Carr and read by Mrs. L. Handley; "Our Duty," by Mrs. W. Downer; a poem by Edgar Guest, Mrs. K. Morden; "Cheerfulness," Mrs. W. H. Lowes; "Queen Mother's Message," Mrs. H. Gardiner; "If Your Nose is Close to the Grinding Stone," Mrs. H. Lowes; "A Legend of Birds," Mrs. S. Tully; "Wouldn't This Old World be Better," Mrs. E. Garnett.

The meeting closed with prayer offered by the Rev. A. E. Larke.

Refreshments were served by group 2, Mrs. E. Lawson, Mrs. E. Whitmore, Mrs. M. Handley and Mrs. D. Hayes.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: Recently I clipped out of the paper your recipe for whole wheat bread which makes 5 loaves. I am on a diet for my health, and have to eat whole wheat bread, but since I am the only one in the family who eats it 5 loaves are too many. Could you possibly give me a recipe for 1 or maybe 2 loaves. Mrs. H.

ANSWER:

There would be no harm at all in dividing that whole wheat recipe of mine by five,—remembering that there are 3 teaspoons in a tablespoon and 16 tablespoons in a cup. That is the best recipe I have.

But—the following may be less confusing to you. If your doctor will permit no white flour at all substitute whole wheat flour for the small amount called for—but knead the dough longer.

Whole Wheat Bread (one loaf)

One cake compressed yeast, ¼ cup lukewarm water, pinch of sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup scalded milk, 1½ cups bread flour, 4 cups genuine whole wheat flour, ½ fresh wheat germ, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons each molasses and melted but not hot shortening. Soften yeast in ¼ cup lukewarm water to which pinch of sugar has been added. Add it to the mixed milk and water which have been cooled to lukewarm. Add bread flour, and 1 cup whole wheat flour, mix well. Cover and let rise in warm place. When the mixture is light and full of bubbles, add the salt, sugar, molasses, shortening, whole wheat flour and wheat germ. The dough should be soft but not sticky. Knead on board lightly sprinkled with whole wheat until dough is smooth and squeaky. Cover with cloth and let rise until doubled in bulk. Knead again and shape into 1 large or 2 small loaves. Place in greased loaf tin, cover and let rise until doubled in fairly warm place. Bake at 360 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour—do not underbake.

QUESTION: I find your column very helpful—I follow it every day. I have one problem which I hope you can solve for me. My corn which I canned last fall has turned sour. As they are sealed properly I do not know what caused this. The corn was fresh and the jars sterilized. A few of the jars were all right. Millie.

ANSWER: I have had a great deal of experience in canning corn and think the trouble was insufficient sterilization time after the corn was sealed in jars or tin cans. If the corn is to be processed in boiling water it requires at least 3 hours, after it is sealed. If it is to be sterilized in pressure cooker it requires 65 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure. All corn should be canned and processed under pressure. Your trouble is called "flat sour" in the canning trade and is a very common trouble in home canned corn. If you want detailed instructions for conning corn write to me again and enclose stamped self-addressed envelopes—about one month before corn season rolls round—and repeat your question. Do not be discouraged about this—it happens in the best of corn-canning circles.

QUESTION: I have a new electric stove (Gurney) and have not had success with the use of the oven. Would you please give me instructions as to cooking roasts, pies, etc. Mrs. Joseph LeG.

ANSWER: First of all write to Gurney Industries Ltd. at 1893 Davenport Road, Toronto 9. I have sent your letter to them, and from the experience I have had with range manufacturers they will be only too happy to help you solve your baking problems. I have forwarded your letter (to me) to them and they will be expecting to hear from you.

There are two methods of roasting meat. One is to sear the salted and peppered and floured roast at 475 deg. Fahr. for about 10 or 15 minutes. Temperature is then reduced to 325 deg. Fahr. For "rare" done standing rib roast of beef allow 25 minutes to the pound for total roasting time; 30 minutes for medium done; 35 minutes for well-done.

For Fresh Pork rib or loin or shoulder roast bake at 325 deg. Fahr. throughout for 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

Another method of roasting beef is at 325 deg. Fahr. during entire roasting time, when for "rare" you give it 26 minutes per lb.; medium 30 or 32 min.; and 34 or 36 minutes per lb. for well-done.

For a two-crust apple pie bake at 425 deg. Fahr. throughout for about 45 or 50 minutes OR at 475 deg. Fahr. for first 10 minutes, then at 400 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes.

I will not go into detail because Gurney's will send you instruction booklet and any other information you could possibly use. I sincerely hope that with this help your stove will give you complete satisfaction.

6—In Memoriam

BURNS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Burns, who passed away Feb. 24, 1945.
We miss him when we need a friend,
On him we always could depend.
We miss his smile, his kindly ways,
With him we spent our happy days,
His presence is ever near us
His love remains with us yet
He was the kind of father,
His loved ones will never forget.
—Sadly missed by his, son and daughter, Reg and Annie (Mrs. C. Clegg).

FINDLEY—In loving memory of a dear husband, William J. Findley, who passed away February 23, 1950.
The midnight stars are shining
Upon his silent grave
Beneath it sleeps the one I love
And the one I could not save —Ever remembered by his wife Rosilla.

GOODBERRY—In loving memory of George Goodberry who passed away February 24, 1949.
Looking back with memories
Upon the path you tread
We bless the years we had with you
And leave the rest with God.
—Ever remembered by Clara and Glenn.

HENDREN—In loving memory of Gordon Albert Hendren, who passed away Feb. 25, 1948.
We watched you suffer day by day
And could not help in any way
But just stood by and saw you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.
—Ever lovingly remembered by all the family.

HOLMES—In loving memory of Martha Clark, beloved wife of Albert Holmes, who died February 23, 1919.

The love of Jesus filled her heart,
And in his arms she sank to rest.
—A better wife and mother God never made. Ever remembered by Dad, and daughter.

writer. But does it matter? Surely we may say "No" and remind ourselves of the lines written for the New York Tribune by the celebrated sports editor, Grantland Rice:

"And when the last Great Scorer comes,
To write against your name,
He'll ask not if you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

British battles have been won on other playing fields than those of Eton. From the playing fields of Norwood went forth Russell Pearce when the bugles sounded for the First Great War. In 1915, he gave his life on the fighting front in upholding the cause of the British arms.

That was how Russell S. Pearce "played the game". That was how he carried on the fine traditions established by generations of Pearces and by many contemporary people of Norwood.

When the Great Scorer "casts up the Honour Roll no apologist will be needed for the families of the stalwart Asphodel breed.

Interested In Job You Welcome Monday

LONDON — (CP). — Research shows that well-known "Monday morning feeling" may not be as unpleasant as the expression indicates.

In fact, there are people who genuinely like Mondays. Samplings of opinion taken by canvassers show that such characters include persons really interested in their job or working on their own. Others who welcome Monday are those who see too much of the family at week-ends and have little real rest.

For most women, however, Monday is still a bugbear. It means wash-day, cold food, post-weekend irritability, and the prospect of a full week of the same old chores.

The public-opinion surveys also show: Tuesday is slightly better because Monday is over; Wednesday is unpopular because it is midweek; and Sunday best of all.

One housewife said she picked Sunday because that is the day hubby does the nappies.

Mrs. M. Regan Regent Marmora IODE

MARMORA, Feb. 23 (ENS). — The annual meeting of Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. was held Thursday evening, preceded by a turkey dinner in St. Andrew's hall, served by the W.A. of that church.

Mrs. Muriel Regan presided. Members of Norwood and Stirling chapters were present. Annual reports were then given, all being of a satisfactory nature. One new member was installed, bringing the membership up to 47. Mrs. Bud Wells, as convener, presented the report of the nominating committee. The election followed. The new slate is as follows:

Regent, Mrs. Muriel Regan; 1st vice - regent, Mrs. Marjorie Hughes; 2nd vice-regent, Mrs. Alice Marett; Echoes secretary, Mrs. Peggy Drew; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Verna Fraser; treasurer, Miss Miriam Savage; educational secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Walsh; standard-bearer, Mrs. Florence Easton; councillors, Mrs. Jennie Young, Mrs. Nora Brownlie, Mrs. Dorothy Atchison, Mrs. Clare Borland, Mrs. Dorena Shannon.

The guest speaker, Mrs. L. L. Skuce of Milton, vice-president of Ontario Provincial Chapter, was introduced by Mrs. Brownlie. The speaker gave an entertaining talk on a trip she took to Europe in recent years. She described personalities encountered by her in the various countries and depicted their various attitudes in life.

Mrs. Young voiced the thanks of all present for the address. Mrs. Helen Brady thanked the W.A. on behalf of the chapter before the meeting closed.

Buttons Charm Alberta Woman

EDMONTON—(CP) — When a friend in Rhode Island first told Mrs. Earl Quincy, of Edmonton, about button collecting, she scoffed at the idea.

But that was 10 years and some 4,000 buttons ago. Today, Mrs. Quincy has one of the finest collections of buttons in North America. She is a charter member of the Rhode Island State Button Society.

"Buttons are antiques in miniature," she says. "Button collecting opens up a background in research of the theatre, arts, history, clothes and customs of the times."

Mrs. Quincy has buttons of early bone, calico buttons worn by frontier women, buttons of ivory from India which were used to convey secret messages, silver buttons with the hearldic crests of English nobility, bridle buttons from the Vanderbilt stables, cameo buttons of Jenny Lind, miniautres of French court beauties painted on silk and even the lowly overall button—each with its own story.

The discs worn as ornaments on Roman and Greek togas were the forerunners of buttons, Mrs. Quincy explains. The nobility wore them as jewellery.

Francis I of France had 13,600 gold buttons on a single costume and Louis XIV once paid $14,000 for a diamond and jewelled button.

Women weren't admitted to the button world until 1850. Later, Queen Victoria, in mourning for her consort, popularized jet and black glass buttons.

To Write A Book

Every button opens up new channels of research. Mrs. Quincy is writing a book about the Golden Age buttons, popular between 1820 and 1850.

Mrs. Quincy says the hobby of collecting buttons goes back only to 1938 although many a grandmother kept her button string, spurred by the legend that "she who collects 999 buttons will never have to sew them."

There's a special button shop in New York for unusual buttons and in Hartford, Conn., the State Museum has a collection of 90,000 buttons.

With 4,000 buttons in her own collection to choose from, Mrs. Quincy's favorite is the first one she saved.

It is a large gold button of bees and a beehive which she found in her grandmother's button box and wore to school in Rhode Island.

The giant of her collection is a redwood button which is 10 inches in diameter and three inches thick. Mrs. Quincy fills its five holes with tapers and uses it as a sandwich platter when she entertains.

But even a leading button collector can be foiled.

Mrs. Quincy's sister recently finished a new dress for her. Which buttons would look best on it? They delved through the 4,000 buttons—and couldn't find three to match.

Spring Fashions May Bloom On Mid-April Easter 1952

Three weeks can make a big difference in changing the course of things—fashions, too. The date of Easter this year of 1952 is April 13—three weeks later than last year. In terms of fashions, this time difference makes the difference between buying your first spring clothes for an early Easter, or buying a second real seasonally Easter outfit, as you might very well be doing this year, for a mid-April Easter.

The second week of April promises the kind of temperatures that warrants wearing the lighter side of spring clothes unconditionally. The fashion editors of Women's Wear Daily, in reviewing manufacturers' showings of spring and summer clothes, note that silk suits, silk coats, lightweight wool suits and coats, in the light pastels so enticingly scheduled, can be worn on April 13th, making fashions bloom to suit the season. A grand way, too, to show off new accessories that either add froth or a touch of color contrast, with no interference from wintry coats. Mid-April, too, is a wonderful times to wear the little fur Spencers and capes that have been multiplied in numbers and style importance for this season. These to wear with one-piece dresses either in lightest woollen, or the new crisp silks.

"Costume Look" Dresses

Day dresses with a costume look will make some of the liveliest news in the 1952 Easter parade. One-piece cuts fully designed to require no additions or subtractions with such style tricks as big bows, gilets, redingote inserts, peplums or bolero-effects by seaming are the leading dress types. Costumes of dress-plus-jacket and suits softly styled with a dress look strongly back up this approach to the two-piece look.

Crisp textured silks, lightweight woollens, and sheer rayon crepes or tissue faille are the main fabrics in Easter-beamed dresses. Navy is the top color, followed by beige and gray, some black.

Empire midriff, the princess, or moulded torso with modified full skirt make the predominant spring dress silhouette . . . in one-or-two-piece form. In two-piece: short Spencers for Empire, fitted-to-waist jackets for the princess effect, brief-peplum fitted jackets for moulded torso. Throughout, all-round fulness and straight front with back fulness share skirt honors.

Short Jackets For Suits

The short-jacket suits comes through as the most popular silhouette, and there is no doubt but that this will be the Easter number one choice, the fashion editors find. There is now a swing away from full skirts except the novelty pleated skirts that give a slim look.

Navy is the surprise choice for the favorite suit color this spring. Second choice is for yarn dyed gray. The fabric preference is solely in favor of dry handle worsteds of quality type. Thanks to the colorful line-up of accessories, "navy with color" or with white will be heavy Easter favorites.

Pastel suits are an important part of the spring story. Here the waistlength jacket that can serve as a tiny topper, in lightweight coating boucle or fleece, is important, matched to skirts of gabardine dyed exactly to match. Dusty pink and blue and pale mauve will be the star colors in the pastels.

Light Colors In Coats

Three coat silhouettes will take their place in the Easter parade. The fitted coat, the loose coat and the short coat will share the honors, and fabric selections will lean toward spring - weight poodles and lacy loops, and lightweight fleeces. Because of the mid-April Easter, you will see a greater number of pastel coats, as well as white. The final word is a light-tone coat to throw over a dark suit. Nude and wheat tones in nubby fabrics and fleece point further to this costume look.

The fitted silk coat is expected to take its place as the Easter star in ribbed silk and worsted or in shantung weaves. The fitted coat that can parade as a dress in the big type; silk coats with colored linings to be linked to the dress or suit underneath also are expected to be an Easter hit.

Some Sportswear Goes To Church

Easter is day for church clothes so it will be the more sophisticated sportswear fashions that will make their appearance. Silk print dresses and separates are top candidates. Emphasis will be on the crisp silks such as shantung and taffeta that can translate bouffant sleeves and skirts so perfectly.

Easter blouses will take two directions this year state fashionists. New synthetic fabrics and lace embroideries are lavished on the nylon tricots and nylon and orlon combinations. In most cases, the trimmings are synthetic too, with the same quick-drying, no-ironing properties.

The bouffant sleeve and Gibson Girl silhouette is another spring style favorite. In addition, suit blouses are made with above-elbows length puffed sleeves in very sheer crease-resistant cottons, or the synthetic fibres. These sleeves go under suit jackets, especially the very latest new Gibson Girl jackets.

For the classic suit blouse, it's the soft, feminine, individually detailed type called the French blouse. Most have a curved dropped shoulder but no sleeves, and some bustline or midriff-section detail such as pockets, contrast yokes and buttoned tabs.

Big Brims For Easter Millinery

There is every reason to expect that with a longer spring season this year than in several past, the larger, dressier hat will be one of the top Easter favorites. The sailor will undoubtedly take precedence in moderate and wide brim outlines. Small flowers clustered around the crowns of light natural or pale yellow textured straws will be in pale tones of blue, yellow, pink and green, with lots of white intermingled

Large undulating brim capelines in sheer an dsmooth straws, the side-tilted bicorne with curving and pointed diagonal brim and the wider, shallow breton with balanced side points are silhouettes to watch for the role they will play in the Easter millinery picture.

Flowers—always significant for the Easter hat—appear just as important this season. The "pressed" look of tiny flowers under veiling on straw or the dramatic touch of one very large single flower at the back of a cut-up brim or at the side of a tilted toque are scheduled for spring popularity.

The biege with white combination; lots of bright yellow in smooth straws, the entire range of soft naturals in rough straws; medium blues, all white and all black are top Easter color entries.

Short And Wrappy Furs

Furs in the Easter parade will be keyed to ready-to-wear silhouettes: short and wrappy to complement small waists and the skirts. All types of small furs will be important, including capes, cape-jackets, stoles and boxy or side flared jackets. Newest looking, however, are the briefer bolero versions, hitting just at the waist or above. Many of these are designed to function as cape or stole as well as bolero. Convertible details will provide the switch from stole to short waistlength bolero for the single garment.

Color interest centres on the light spring shades. The many mink mutations, ranging from the new gray-blue sapphire to creamy brown pastel, will be most frequently seen. Light tones, too, in muskrat, squirrel and similar furs.

More fox in the Easter forecast, with color news in this category, too. Pale natural colors such as the Norwegian blue or pearl platinum, are on hand, but newest in fox are the dyed pastel shades, in yellows, pinks or blues, to team directly with such colors in ready-to-wear.

Civil Service Rules Opposed By Union Heads

LONDON — (CP)—Indignant protests have been expressed by British trade union officials over the government's decision to extend the civil service retirement age, at the same time that drastic staff cuts are being imposed as part of the government's economy program.

The criticism developed after several thousand employees had rceived their notices and R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, had announced that the minimum age for leaving the service henceforth would be 60 years.

In future, the chancellor said, the general aim will be to employ all civil servants for as long as practicable. Retirement will be between 60 and 65 either at the request of the individual or the departmental head. Tests of efficiency will be applied as employees approach the 60-year mark, and at regular intervals thereafter if they continue to work. Those who fail to reach acceptable standards will be retired but no stigma will be attached to their departure.

Voice Resentment

L. C. White, general secretary of the Civil Service Association, deplored the chancellor's decision.

"It will make a bad promotion situation worse and will be deeply resented." He believed the government was pursuing a contradictory policy by retaining certain employees for a further five years at a time when it was discharging younger help.

Similar views were voiced by T. R. Jones, secretary of the Civil Service National Council. The Government's timing, he said, had been bad, especially after its rejection of a proposal to continue in a lower grade those retained after 60.

"This would have maintained to some extent," he added, "the flow of promotion which is particularly important in higher posts where the national interest requires the maximum degree of competence."

Minister Giving Blood Home Catches Fire

SUTTON, Feb. 23 — While the Rev. W. D. Smith was giving blood for the troops in Korea today his house was on fire.

Firemen carried out his four-weeks-old son and five-year-old son and escorted Mrs. Smith to Sutton Private Hospital next door.

A fire among some refuse in the basement was filling the house full of smoke. Firemen soon extinguished the blaze.

More than 231 persons donated blood at the Red Cross clinic in the Legion Hall. Reeve William Parks made his 28th donation.

It was announced a donation towards the buying of choir gowns had been made by Miss Katie Edwards.

William Milne

ROSENEATH, Feb. 23 (ENS). —The funeral of William Milne, for many years a farmer in Alnwick Township, near Roseneath, was held at his late residence, D'Arcy Street, Cobourg, on Thursday afternoon.

Ford Unionists Committed To Higher Court

WINDSOR, Feb. 23 (CP)—Four union committeemen were committed to high court trial Friday on charges laid in connection with the December 3 forced closing of the Ford of Canada powerhouse.

The four men charged are Connie Steers, Norman Brookes, Clayton Wood and Anthony Drouillard. Charges laid against Grant Shaw and Roy Hayes were dismissed for lack of evidence. The six are members of Local 200, United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

Steers faces three charges — conspiring to obstruct the transmission of electric power, obstructing the transmission of electric power and watching and besetting the powerhouse "with a view to having one R. Blanchard (a plant protection officer) leave the premises."

Brookes and Wood face charges of obstructing power transmission and Drouillard faces charges of obstructing and of watching and besetting.

Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan ruled that an assault charge brought again Drouillard was not sustained by the evidence.

Approached By 75 Men

Blanchard, the plant protection officer, told the court that he was standing inside the powerhouse gate on the afternoon of Dec. 3 when some 75 "angry" men approached. Among them were Drouillard and Steers. Blanchard said that the crowd presed against the gate and broke it down.

Homer Bickhart, powerhouse superintendent, described a scene in the powerhouse turbine room December 3. He said that a chowd of "shouting, yelling men" entered the room. Among them were Steers, Brookes and Wood.

"We went into the switch room. As the switches were pulled, Brookes, Steers and Wood wanted to know what each switch controlled.

"After the switches were pulled the men left the powerhouse. The employees on the powerhouse stayed until 10 o'clock the following morning. Everything was dead when we left."

Believe Actors Need Second Racket

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23—(AP) — Don McGuire, actor turned writer-producer, has this advice for film players: Find yourself another racket, just in case.

McGuire is walking evidence of his own theory. Until a year ago, he was an actor. Then he decided it was more fun to eat regularly, so he turned to writing and producing movies.

He was a newspaperman before the war and came to Hollywood after the Army. At first he was a press agent. He went to Warner Brothers to see about an acting job for a girl friend and ended up with a contract for himself. He started at the studio three years ago and then free-lanced. After 35 pictures he decided to give it up.

Most Admired

One of the most admired directors in town is George Sherman. The reasons: he always brings his picture in ahead of schedule.

But George not only saves time and money, he provides quality entertainment. Clark Gable even sought him for "Lone Star" but arrangements couldn't be made with Sherman's studio.

An amazing thing about the Sherman method is that he shoots from 8:30 in the morning until around four in the afternoon. Most directors work from 9 to 6. "Everybody gets tired in the afternoon and the actors' faces start to sag," Sherman explained. "I can get just as much done by starting a half-hour earlier and working faster."

His secret for speed: He studies the script the night before and figures out three different ways to shoot each scene. If one fails, he tries the others.

Parents Concern In Another War Reflected In Talk Of Children

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Look at that jet — see her move!" a small boy's voice from the backyard came floating in the open kitchen window.

"My dad says we'll be bombed for sure when the war comes!" his chum replied in a matter-of-fact tone.

The mother in the kitchen caught a glimpse of two boys craning their necks to see the vanishing plane. The sick feeling inside her was suddenly quieted by her son's words :"Maybe so—but my folks say we had better pitch in and get behind the church and the United Nations and everyone who is trying to keep the bombs from falling here."

The atmosphere of expectancy of another war is very catching. How often the concern of adults is reflected in the lives of boys and girls! A little six-year-old girl, after playing "fighting" with the "big kids" woke up in the night crying: "Mummy, Mummy, come fast — the Big Bomb is going to get me!"

We cannot hide from our children the suffering which accompanies war. Planes and bombs are part of today's world — their world as well as ours. In the papers, over the radio, in the movies, disturbing events in far places are continually coming to their attention.

But our children should not live in a state of anxiety. They should be able to look to their parents for reassurance Not just in the darkness when a child wakens with a nightmare, but in the daytime when youngsters are troubled by the thought of war, they should know they can turn to their parents for comfort.

After a family listens to a news broadcast or reads the evening paper in sections, or sees a movie short on current events, they should take time to answer the children's questions about what they have heard or read, or the pictures they have seen. Some adults believe that children are too young to understand happenings in other parts of the world. But surely if a child is old enough to ask intelligent questions, he is mature enough to receive sensible answers!

If the public library is near, do encourage the school age boys and girls to borrow books on other lands. Take an interest in the stories of children who live in other countries. Inquire if there are any books or pamphlets on the United Nations. Discuss the point of view of books which present the perplexing issues in today's world.

Last year an estimated one hundred and fifty thousand immigrants entered Canada. Children of "displaced" persons and other immigrants quickly pick up the language of their schoolmates and Canadian ways. It means a lot if they are made to feel welcome. Parents, by being hospitable, and by giving their children a lead in kindliness to New Canadians, will make a fine contribution not only to these recent arrivals but to their own children's attitude to other peoples who have grown up in other parts of the world.

Many of the newcomers from other countries have suffered a great deal in recent years. It must have taken a lot of courage for them to leave their homes and come out to a strange new land! Already they have contributed to our national life in the value they place on freedom and democracy, as well as in cultural ways. Mothers and father should point out to their children that our national life has been enriched by the influx of New Canadians.

The Junior Red Cross at school, the Mission Band, and other youth groups in the church have an international emphasis and carry out worthy service projects. But parents should not think that their children's outlook on today's world is entirely up to teachers and religious leaders.

Boys and gzirls want to be reassured about the danger from bombs, they want to know about other lands and what is happening throughout the world, they enjoy becoming acquainted with people of other races, and their response to other people's need is quick and whole-hearted.

The other day a little girl quickly turned over the page in the paper showing a Korean orphan with large sad eyes, dressed in ragged clothes with his feet thrust into shoes many sizes too large for him — the only shoes he had ever owned. There were tears in her eyes as she said, "It would be horrid trying to walk in those awful boots — Can't we send him a pair of ours?"

Cominform Washed Up As Red Policy Instrument

By VINCENT BUIST.

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (Reuters)—After more than two years of apparent inactivity by the Cominform, many Berlin observers are ready to speculate that this once powerful organization has been discarded as a major instrument of Soviety policy.

Its last official meeting took place in Hungary in November, 1949.

Since then a large headquarters in Bucharest has continued to operate. But there have been no meetings similar to previous ones which got big headlines all over the world. If meetings have taken place, they have not been disclosed, contrary to Cominform custom.

From being Stalin's mouthpiece, the Cominform has lapsed into an office headquarters where propaganda is prepared and minor officials are trained, according to East European press reports reaching Berlin.

Zhdanov First Chief

The creator and first chief of the Cominform, short for Communist Information Bureau, was Zhdanov. His death not only robbed the Soviet Union of a leader, but also seemed to leave the Cominform without its former aim and skill.

Even if Zhdanov had not died, the general opinion among students of East Eupropean affairs here is that the Cominform had begun to outlive its usefulness in 1949.

It failed in its two main post-war tasks—to wreck the Marshall Plan and eradicate nationalism from Communist countries in east Europe.

Its lack of success against east Europe nationalism can be estimated from the number of east European purges and trials since 1947.

The resounding propaganda defeat for Moscow in the defection of Premier Tito of Yugoslavia, it is believed, led to Russian doubts about the usefulness of the Cominform.

Since then many leading members of the Cominform have lapsed into the Communist twilight and in recent months first Vladyslav Gomulka, of Poland, and then Rudolf Slansky, of Czechslovakia —both Cominform-founder members—have been arraigned in their own countries for treason.

Gomulka and Slansky, who sat at table together when the Cominform was born, epitomize the failures which have dogged the organization since Tito broke away.

Employs 700

The central office of the Cominform moved from Belgrade to Bucharest after the Tito break. Seven hundred officials work in its five-storey headquarters.

Journalists who have visited the building say it is closely-guarded by conspicuous police patrols. They say, too, that the Cominform's chief purpose now is to amass world statistics and prepare material for delegates in the Soviet group of countries.

The more important policy-forming functions of the Cominform now are probably being exercised by the new "global" institutions which, Allied and German experts believe, have risen to supplant it.

Chief among these is the World Peace Council, which is said to draw heavily on the resources of Cominform headquarters to supply its delegates' meetings with translators and material. Others are the World Federation of Democratic Youth and the International Federation of Democratic Women.

Milburn Blames Government For Bad Prices

NORWOOD, Feb. 23 (ENS)—Hinting at an apparent plan by the federal government to depress farm product prices to combat inflation, Vivian Milburn blamed the government for food surpluses selling at prices below production costs.

Mr. Milburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, was speaking to the Peterborough County federation's annual banquet Wednesday night in Norwood United Church.

About 130 farmers and their wives attended the banquet. Chairman was Henry Sharpe, president of the county federation.

Present low hog prices were brought on, Mr. Milburn said, by a surplus of inferior grain in Western Canada. This grain, produced under bad harvesting conditions, was being marketed through livestock.

The federal government, he declared, should shoulder the blame for losing the export market in Britain. This expert market would have taken care of any surpluses Canadian farmers might have.

If the government did have a plan to depress farm product prices, and in that way fight inflation, said Mr. Milburn, labor should also face criticism for the inflationary wage increases they were demanding and getting.

The Norwood Women's Institute catered to the banquet. A dance in Norwood town hall followed, with music supplied by Potter's orchestra from Warkworth.

Recreation Director Leaves Cobourg

COBOURG, Feb. 22—Cobourg's plan to have the services of a full time recreation director ended recently when Bob Cooper, director since 1948, sold his share in a local business and left town.

The job he took came to life under the leadership of the late J. S. Smith, mayor at that time. Cooper was appointed in June, 1948.

Criticism started as early as the winter of 1948, when it was alleged Cooper spent too much time as player-coach of the Galloping Ghosts football team.

Criticism continued into the second year of the plan, and service clubs, who had contributed to the wage cost, began to withdraw their support. By 1951, the plan was almost completely abandoned.

The town's recreation commission is still functioning, but they will not say what their plans are. A spokesman said another man would not be hired until spring at the earliest.

Canadians Only Troops Not Wearing Two Ribbons

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Feb. 23 — (CP). — All troops in the 1st Commonwealth Division except the Canadians are wearing the two Korean campaign ribbons.

The ribbons are those of the Commonwealth's own Korean medal and of the United Nations' Korean decoration.

Hold-up on issue to the Canadians is an application to the Crown by the Canadian government for authority to affix a Canadian maple leaf clasp to the Commonwealth ribbon.

Soldiers here criticize the Canadian request as political rather than military. They also consider it inappropriate in view of their membership in the Commonwealth Division and feel that their Comonwealth ribbon should speak for that just as their U.N. ribbon will speak for their place in the U.N.'s Eighth Army.

There also is belief in official circles that Canada is considering changing the qualifications for the Commonwealth medal.

The provision now is that it goes only to armed forces who actually served in Korea. There is thought that Canada wants to extend it to all her troops serving in the Far East, including Japan.

Causes One Beef

The fact that such soldiers are issued with the ribbons as they pass through Kure en route home has caused one inter-service beef.

Sailors of the Royal Canadian Navy returning to Canada are forbidden to wear them, even if they could obtain them, and there is no machinery here for issuing the ribbon to them.

Also tied up in the administrative mill is the question of permission for individuals of the 1st Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry to wear the decoration that goes with the presidential citation won by the unit at Kapyong last April.

Individuals on an American unit's posted strength at the time such decorations are won are entitled to wear a gold-framed black enamel badge on the right breast. This has found favor with Canadian army thinking here but so far has not been clarified by Ottawa.

The Gloucesters, who won their citation during the same Communist offensive, wear the award on their unit colors. The Australians wear theirs on the right sleeve just below the shoulder.

Canadian thinking is that the badge should be worn as the Americans intended.

Meanwhile Canadians here wear no Korean decorations of any kind.

Not Settled

At Ottawa a spokesman at army headquarters said the question of Canadians wearing the Commonwealth or United Nations medals is "still up in the air," but has been receiving active consideration. Canada's policy is expected to be announced "shortly".

The idea of affixing a maple leaf clasp to the Commonwealth ribbon has not been decided and is still in the "suggestion" stage.

Meanwhile, some Canadian repatriates have been wearing both sets of ribbons, neither of which are issued to Canadian soldiers. When a group of soldiers of the 1st battalion of the Princess Patricias came home on rotation leave with the ribbons up, the army at first ordered them to take them down.

However, Defence Minister Claxton later ruled that the soldiers who returned home wearing the ribbons should be allowed to continue wearing them, pending a decision on Canada's policy.

Resume Insurance On Fire Truck

PORT HOPE, Feb. 23—Town council has again put collision insurance on their $18,000 fire truck. The policy was dropped last year as an economy move.

Only the town police car has been covered by insurance since the council's 1951 decision.

The new decision was made after Councillor Glen James, chairman of fire and light committee, pointed out that the fire truck could be in a collision ,on its way to a fire, and that damage could run to hundreds of dollars.

Other committee chairmen agreed, and said the vehicles in their departments should also be insured. Only disagreement came from Councillor J. M. Rosevear, chairman of the finance committee.

He felt his committee should not be "saddled with this expenditure".

Truck Hits Train, Driver Suffers Fractured Skull

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 25. (ENS) — An Ottawa truck driver suffered a fractured skull and spine on Saturday when the transport he was driving crashed into a slow-moving train three miles east of Havelock. The driver, Ivan Brown, 35, of Ottawa, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by a Campbellford ambulance. Hospital authorities said Brown's condition is "serious, but not critical." Tragedy brushed close a second time when a tire blew on the ambulance near Norwood. Driver of the ambulance managed to control it, and the trip was delayed only 15 minutes.

Brown was driving his tractor-trailer east of Highway 7 when he saw the train. He said after the accident that he saw it too late to stop, and tried to avoid a crash by swinging to the north side of the road.

The transport, loaded with 45-gallon drums of oil, smashed into the car behind the engine, pinning Brown in the cab of the truck.

The train, made up of two cars hauled by a yard engine, was travelling south across the highway on the Havelock Building Products siding. Engineer was Erle Nelson of Smiths Falls, and William Kennedy, also of Smiths Falls, was conductor.

Told Story

Brown, although in great pain after the accident, was able to tell police his story of the accident, after he had been given a sedative by Dr. W. M. Judd of Havelock.

Investigating officers, Constables Donald Erskine and George Rose of Campbellford, said the transport was a total loss. It stopped almost in its tracks when it hit the train

After the accident, Brown said he saw it was only a short train, and he thought he might get around it by swinging his truck to the north side of the road. He said he was right on top of the train before he saw it.

Scientists Watch Eclipse Over Khartoum

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Feb. 25—(AP). — The lights went on as the sun went out this morning in the capital of the Sudan. The moon covered old Sol completely, for just over three minutes, in a total eclipse shortly after 11.00 a.m. (4 a.m. EST).

Visibility seemed favorable for the 70 scientists from 10 countries who had waited for weeks to record the phenomenon with a great mass of complicated equipment.

From their observations, and after a lot of calculation and study, they hope to find out more about what's around and behind the sun, whether Einstein was right about relativity and how wrong some of the world's maps are.

The sky was clear and the weather was cool.

17 Teams of Scientists

The scientists — 17 teams of them — had come here from Canada, the United States, Britain, The Netherlands, France, Italy, Greece, Egypt, Austria and Switzerland.

Though Russia sent no experts, presumably they were making their own observations at home. The eclipse, or enough of it to make observation worthwhile, was to be seen along a 9,000-mile route about 70 miles wide, curving from somewhere in the Atlantic between Brazil and Africa, across Africa and the Arabian and Persian Gulfs to the Irkutsk region of Soviet Siberia.

Astronomers calculated that, in the Khartoum area, the moon's shadow started across the sun's face at 9:49 a.m., and slipped off the eastern side at 12:30 a.m.

Sudanese officials have used radio, newspapers and word of mouth intensively to tell the country's primitive tribes of the blackout. They hoped to avoid a panic from the darkness before noon.

The scientists' findings won't be known for months, after elaborate computations and study of the numerous photographs and recordings.

R.A.F. To Get Top Priority

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP) — Britain gave the R.A.F. top priority today in this country's defence program.

The directive was announced by the government along with the 1952-53 estimates of defence expenditure. The estimates were published as three white papers—one for each of the armed services.

"Whatever the difficulties, the need is such that the most urgent requirements of the R.A.F. will have first call on the national resources," the air estimates said.

Defence estimates included £12,000,000 for Western European defence. This is nearly double the corresponding figure last year. This estimate covers items needed for the common defence of Western Europe, including the provision of certain airfields and communications inside Britian.

The provisional estimate for Britain's contribution toward the common expenses of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is decreased by £735,000 to £1,950,000.

Roomer Saves Lives In Fire

TRENTON, Feb. 25.—Residents of four Joseph St. homes were forced into near-zero cold early Sunday morning as a result of a fire which broke out in an old stable and, for a time, threatened a whole block.

Miss Lorraine McCauley, a roomer at 21 Joseph St., was credited with saving the lives of four members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Johnston, who also live in the house. Awakened by the fire, she aroused the others and got them to the street before flames had done serious damage.

The street was filled with furniture and personal effects which residents, many in night attire, brought from their threatened homes. The stables, now unused, were almost entirely destroyed by the fire. Considerable damage was also caused to four attached houses adjoining the old building.

Canada's Defence Costs Half Billion Extra

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP).—Canada's three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program now is expected to cost at least an extra half-billion dollars more than the original estimate, it was learned today. That is a boost of at least 10 per cent.

The bulk of the sum is figured as Canada's share of the $300,000,000,000 program agreed upon by the North Atlantic Treaty powers at Lisbon Saturday as the cost of a three-year-program ending in 1954. The major factor excluded for N.A.T.O. purposes is the cost of Canada's Korea effort.

Major reason why the estimate for the three-year Canadian program is proving inadequate is rising costs.

Believe Labor Party Ready To Approve European Army

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Feb. 25 — (CP). — Reports persisted today that opinian within the Labor Party is becoming steadily more favorable towards the idea of British participation in a European army.

A proposal that support for a British contingent should be part of Socialist policy is expected to be discussed at a party meeting tomorrow or Wednesday.

If accepted, such a policy would reflect a strong feeling within the party, which has always been tinged with pacifism, that the only possible way of enabling German rearmament to take place with safety is to "insulate" it with a British contribution.

Up to now the British government has vigorously resisted all overtures from the French for such participation, and many influential voices still oppose it. Strong Socialist support for a change of policy might help wear down the opposition.

A section within the Conservative Party is believed in favor of a British contingent. As a straw in the wind, Sunday newspapers published a letter from a Conservative member of Parliament, Canadian-born Ted Leather, urging Britain to join the European army.

Leather, from Hamilton and Toronto, came to London after the Second World War with the avowed purpose of becoming a politician so he "could try to do something about preventing future wars." In his current campaign to that end, Leather zealously preaches the cause of Atlantic union.

Coronation Scheduled During 1953

Authorities Indicate Commonwealth Now Being Consulted

LONDON, Feb. 25. (CP) — The coronation of the Queen will take place sometime in 1953, an authoritative source said tonight. The Press Association said it has been learned authoritatively the coronation will not take place this year.

Court circles said the exact date now is being considered. Consultations with Commonwealth governments are in progress.

Previously there was considerabel speculation in the press that the coronation would be held late this summer. The period of mourning for the King ends May 31.

Fears Sisters Were Murdered

NIAGARA - ON - THE - LAKE, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP)—John J. Pollock, whose 24 - year - old daughter Dorabelle was killed by a railway locomotive while apparently searching for a missing sister, said today both girls may have met with foul play.

Dorabelle died Sunday night as the result of a fractured skull. She was found unconscious Saturday night at a Stamford township level crossing, eight miles from the Pollocks' Niagara township farm home.

Mr. Pollock discounted the police theory that she was struck by a diesel freight engine. He said doctors told him there were no bruises on her body apart from the skull fracture.

Meanwhile, police and the Pollocks had no explanation for the missing daughter, Violet, 20. Mrs. Pollock said Violet left the house about 4:45 p.m. Saturday "to get some air." Two hours later Dorabelle left in search of her.

Mr. Pollock said: "I can't help feeling there is some connection between Dorabelle's death and Violet's disappearance, and that they were together some time Saturday."

Mr. Pollock, a fruit farmer, said he had been told a car was stalled on the tracks not long before the freight train passed. But whether the two girls were in the car was unknown.

Not Convinced Driver Slain

KITCHENER, Feb. 25—(CP)—Hilbert Schedewitz, Waterloo township police chief, said today he was not convinced the death of an Elmira school bus driver was a case of almost-perfect murder.

Body of the driver, Sylvester B. Gingrich, 53, was found Jan. 22 at the scene of a two-bus crash on a slippery highway intersection near here.

Since then Waterloo police have been investigating what at first seemed a routine traffic fatality.

A postmortem showed Gingrich died as a result of a crushing blow to his right side. A provincial pathologist who examined both buses said neither showed signs it had struck a human body.

Open Negotiations

CAIRO, Feb. 25 (CP).—Prime Minister Al Maher Pasha said tonight Britain and Egypt will open negotiations over the Suez Canal and the Sudan Saturday.

The Prime Minister made his statement at a press conference. He is expected to meet with British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson.

Egypt scrapped its 1936 treaty with Britain last October, and demanded that British troops quit the Suez Canal zone and recognize King Farouk as ruler over the Sudan.

DEATH BRUSHED BY an Ottawa truck driver twice on Saturday. The two pictures Above show his transport after it had smashed into the side of a CPR train at a level crossing three miles east of Havelock. Ivan Brown, 35, the driver, suffered a fractured skull and spine. As he was being rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, the ambulance he was in blew a tire just outside of Norwood. The ambulance driver controlled the vehicle, and there was only a 15-minute delay. Brown's condition was said today to be serious, but not critical.—(W. W. Reid Photo)

British Diplomat Franks Chosen For NATO Job

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 25 (AP) — British diplomat Sir Oliver Franks, now ambassador to Washington, was chosen today as secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, informed sources said. The closing session of the ninth N.A.T.O. council meeting also decided to move N.A.T.O. headquarters from London to Paris.

The selection of Franks was a compromise reached at dinner on Sunday night by the United States Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, high N.A.T.O. sources said.

Britain wanted N.A.T.O.'s headquarters to remain in London, but agreed to U.S. insistence on Paris when a Briton was tabbed for the top job.

(Last week The Associated Press indicated that L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister and president of the Lisbon council meeting, would be named secretary-general.)

The Secretary-General will head a secretariat which will remain in the permanent session and direct the work of committees of experts who will replace separate agencies such as the defence production board, finance and economic board and the council of deputies.

Franks, known as talented economist, as well as diplomat, was the head of the European Marshal Plan organization, known as or-organization for European economic co-operation.

Now 47, he has been Britain's Ambassador in Washington since February, 1948. He was called to war duty from his professorship of moral philosophy at Glasgow University during the Second World War. He soon distinguished himself as an economist and organizer and rose to permanent secretary of the combined ministries of supply and aircraft.

Two Problems

Just two problems remained at the final sessions:

1. How much the United States will pay of an estimated $450,000,000 "infrastructure" program to string air bases, communication networks and headquarters across Europe. The best guesses were at least 40 per cent.

2. A big-three meeting on Germany and Austria Tuesday holds U.S. State Secretary Dean Ache-

R.M.C., West Point Meet On Saturday

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP).—The annual hockey game between Royal Military College of Kingston and the United States Military Academy of West Point, N.Y., will be held Saturday, Army headquarters announced today.

Following the policy of alternating game sites, the Canadians will play host this year. The 1951 event was played at West Point. The game marks the 20th meeting of the rival military colleges. R.M.C. has recorded 15 victories and one tie since the series was inaugurated in 1923. West Point won 4-2 last year.

The series started through the joint efforts of Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur, then superintendent of West Point, and the late Lt.-Gen. Sir Archibald Macdonnell, commandant of R.M.C. at that time.

Yanks Steal Royal Plaid Anguished Scots Protest

WITH THE U.S. 2ND DIVISION, Korea, Feb. 25. (Reuters) —The battle of the bagpipes, which threatened to turn ally against ally in dreadful combat along the Korean front, ended Sunday before the first shot was fired. "We will take immediate action," said a 2nd Division officer when told that Britain's King's Own Scottish Borderers had taken vociferous objection to sharing their exclusive Royal Stewart tartan with the Americans.

"It was all a mistake anyway. We didn't know anything about Royal Stewarts. I personally thought it was a MacDougall."

The opposition from the kilted Borderers reached its climax when they learned that the second division's new bagpipe band had ordered kilts of the Royal Stewart plaid.

Very Special

The Borderers sputtered in indignation. For not just anybody can wear the Stewart. It has been worn for centuries by the Royal Family. It dates from the Stuart kings themselves.

The right of others to wear it has been conferred only once or twice in the history of the British Army—and then only as a solemn and high honor.

London newspapers printed the news in outraged headlines.

(Snarled the Sunday Chronicle: "The Pipers Are Coming—and How and How. Yanks' Kilty Band Steal a Tartan."

("G.I.'s Bag the Pipes and a Royal Tartan," growled the Sunday Graphic.)

The Borderers themselves don't wear it. Indeed, it was a great dispensation by King George VI that they were authorized to wear certain of its colors in their pipe band on the regiment's 250th anniversary in 1938.

Quake Rocks Ludwigshafen

LUDWIGSHAFEN, Germany, Feb. 25 (AP) — An earthquake shook Ludwigshafen area Sunday night as gases were being released skyward from the huge Badische chemical works and the city panicked in fear an explosion had occurred.

Thousands of workers rushed to the plant to give emergency aid, remembering the tragic blast which killed 207 there in 1948.

But at the gates of the plant the managers told the excited crowds there had been no new disaster.

The Heidelberg University observatory, less than 10 miles from here, said the earth jar was so violent that instruments were unable to record its full intensity.

Happy Ending For Sick Girl

CHATHAM, N.B., Feb. 25 (CP). — The story of Marie Mazerolle had a happy ending Sunday when the eight-year-old girl, suffering a ruptured appendix, was airlifted from the snowbound village of Point Sapin and underwent a successful operation here.

Capt. James Gilbert, army doctor who parachuted into the northern New Brunswick fishing village last Friday, said he was "well pleased" with the outcome.

Foot-And-Mouth Disease In Regina Area Cuts Multi-Million Trade

Government Will Compensate Cattlemen Where Infected Herds Destroyed; Fear U.S. Embargo May Last For Year

OTTAWA, Feb. 25. (CP)—A contagious animal infection in the Regina area was identified today by the Agriculture Department as the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease. The outbreak will cut off, at least temporarily, Canada's multi-million dollar livestock trade with the United States. Infected herds will be rounded up and destroyed. Farmers will be compensated for their losses. It has been estimated there are fewer than 400 animals now under quarantine and likely to be slaughtered immediately. These animals were on 24 different premises, all in the Regina area.

Canada has a total of 9,000,000 cattle and 4,500,000 hogs.

The department's announcement was made in the parliamentary press gallery. It was followed closely by one from Washington which said that an embargo had been placed on imports of cattle, hogs and other cloven-foot animals from Canada because of the outbreak.

Canada's exports to the United States last year totalled $130,000,000 in live animals and meats.

May Be Banned Year

Under the U.S. tariff law, the embargo sometimes runs for about a year. That would virtually cripple Canada's livestock industry, valued by agricultural economists at more than $2,000,000,000.

An American agricultural observer now is in the infected area, which includes nine municipalities adjacent to Regina.

Foot-and-mouth disease is carried by a virus and attacks all exposed tissue, causing blisters on the mouth, tongue and on parts of the animal's hoofs. The animal usually slobbers, becomes lame and goes off his feed. It loses weight and becomes economically useless.

The department said the danger that human beings might contract the infection is "extremely remote," according to the best medical advice.

It also said that the Canadian meat supply is not expected to be imperilled by the outbreak.

"Not unless the outbreak were allowed to get completely out of hand would the meat supply be noticeably affected," it added.

Washington Talks

J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, will leave today for Washington where he will confer with Hume Wrong, Canada's ambassador to the United States, on the embargo.

Queen Outstares Elephant On Kenya Trip

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP). — Queen Elizabeth had a narrow escape in a staring bout with an elephant at close quarters a few hours before she became queen, it was disclosed Saturday night.

Sherbrooke Walker, owner of an East African jungle lodge where the then Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh were staying, told the story in a letter to Sir Philip Mitchell, governor of Kenya Colony.

The royal couple were on a camera expedition, Walker said, when a big elephant appeared within 11 yards of Elizabeth as she headed for a tree-top picture-taking spot.

Showed No Fear

"With the greatest coolness and courage," Walker said, "the Princess continued going forward and quietly climbed the ladder without any suspicion of hurry."

Later a herd of elephants gathered near the tree, he said.

Walker said he told Elizabeth as she was leaving next morning:

"If you have the same courage, ma'am, in facing whatever the future sends you, as you have in facing an elephant at 11 yards, we are going to be very fortunate."

She smiled at that, he said. The Duke, her husband, laughed and they headed for the royal lodge, a gift to them from the Kenya Colonials and where they learned of the death of the King.

The day was Feb. 6, first in the reign of Elizabeth II.

Narrow Escape

WITH THE U.S. 45TH INFANTRY DIVISION, Korea, Feb. 25. (AP)—Sgt. Gene Gower was leading a night raiding squad when he found himself face to face with a Chinese soldier. At point-blank range Gower pulled the trigger of his rifle. Nothing happened. The Chinese pulled the trigger of his weapon. Nothing happened. Both men beat a hasty but orderly retreat.

Magistrate Offered Bribe

SASKATOON, Feb. 25—(CP)—Magistrate H. J. Cummins said Saturday he had been offered a bribe by "some person unknown" in connection with the trial of Steven Danyluk of Arlee, Sask.

Danyluk appeared in R.C.M.P. court on charges of creating a disturbance and having liquor in his possession. Judgment in this and sentence on other charges of which he was convicted earlier will be delivered here March 3.

Magistrate Cummings said he did not know whether the intended bribe was to have influenced him in favor of the accused or was motivated by spite against him.

"I wish to let the public know that some person unknown offered me a bribe in connection with this case", he said.

French Forces Announce Major Indo-China Retreat

SAIGON, Indo-China, Feb. 25—(AP) — French forces Sunday night announced their first major retreat in North Indo-China in 15 months—abandonment of the key highway centre of Hao Binh and withdrawal of 20,000 soldiers into a much-shortened perimeter around Hanoi.

The French had said, after capturing Hoa Binh in mid-November, they would never let Ho Chin-minh's Communist-led guerrillas get it back. It was a key point on the Vietminh's north-south supply route.

But French commander Gen. Raoul Salan told reporters Sunday night the battle-devastated town is no longer of strategic importance—partly because the Communists had by-passed it on the west with roads over which Communist China is pouring in supplies.

Along with the abandonment of Hoa Binh, French forces withdrew from colonial route No. 6, the main supply channel to the town. This cut the Hanoi defence perimeter from 500 to 375 miles.

Salan said French and Viet Namese troops now are concentrated in the Red River delta around Hanoi, and this will be held as a beachhead until they can launch a big-scale offensive.

Though Salan called Hoa Binh unimportant, its abandonment was expected to have a marked psychological effect on the Indo-Chinese.

Salan said the withdrawal, under heavy enemy fire, began Friday night and was completed at noon Sunday. French losses were listed at about 170 wounded.

The general said the French had achieved their main objective in holding it—7,000 Vietminh killed and 15,000 wounded during the three months, as compared with French losses of 349 killed, 835 wounded and 404 missing.

U.N. Offers Supervision Compromise

Will Drop Norway As Neutral If Russia Barred

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 25. — (AP)—United Nations truce negotiators today moved to break the deadlock over selection of a neutral truce-supervisory commission, offering to withdraw their nomination of Norway if the Communists would give up Russia.

Under the Allied proposal, behind-the-lines inspections during an armistice would be made by representatives of only two neutral countries for each side rather than three.

The U.N. would be represented by Switzerland and Sweden; the Communists by Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The only immediate reaction came from Chinese Col. Pu Shan, who declared: "You have no justification to object to the nations nominated by our side which are in compliance with the definition of neutral nations."

Staff officers working on prisoner exchange made no headway during a 58-minute session. Col. George W. Hickman called it a "completely fruitless" meeting.

Demand Investigation

The Communists complained that four Allied aircraft flew over the neutral Panmunjom conference site Sunday. The Reds demanded an investigation.

In addition to proposing a compromise supervisory-commission plan, Allied staff officers submitted a rephrased paragraph covering the inspection of armament replacements during a truce.

It provided that neutral teams would be permitted to check equipment only enough "to properly insure" that it was of the same type being replaced.

The Reds, who advocate a more thorough inspection, replied only: "We have fully expressed our views on this matter."

The staff officers made no progress toward agreeing on the numbers of ports of entry to be checked on each side. The Red proposal is for five ports; the Allied for six.

All Possessions Lost In Fire

Fire that was discovered at 12:15 a.m. Sunday destroyed most of the possessions of Ella Tobin, a roomer at the home of William J. Dolan, 771 Water St.

Miss Tobin's room was gutted by the flames; a couple of holes were burned in the floor; and a couple of others in the ceiling. The furniture and her personal clothing were all destroyed.

Damage is estimated at $900.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Miss Tobin said she retired for the night about 11:30 p.m. Saturday. Forty-five minutes later she detected the small of smoke and she left her room to investigate.

Forced Back By Heat

She found nothing; but when she returned to her room one wall had burst into flames and the heat and smoke prevented her from entering and saving any of her belongings.

Apparently the wall had been smouldering and when she opened the door, permitting a draft to circulate, flames started up.

Besides Miss Tobin's belongings the fire destroyed a couple of beds and the bedclothing, a chest of drawers, chairs and a radio. The whole second floor will have to be redecorated because of smoke damage.

Police blocked off traffic around the house for some time so the firemen could cope with the blaze unhindered.

No Charge In Kidnapping

MONTREAL, Feb. 25. (CP)—Robert Patenaude, 16-year-old youth, held in connection with the kidnapping of a three-year-old girl, might not appear in court for several days. A high police official, who asked that his name not be used, said investigation is still incomplete, and no charge has been laid against the accused. When he appears it will be in social welfare court, the name given juvenile court in Quebec. Patenaude's parents visited him in his cell Sunday, where he spent most of the time reading a torn comic book, and playing cards with policemen. The youth seemed unconcerned and nonchalant about the fact that police are preparing a kidnapping charge against him.

He shrugged when his mother asked him: "Why did you do it?"

He half-turned his back on his parents while he talked, scratched the back of his neck and smiled into space.

He nodded when his mother asked him if he had said his prayers Saturday night. She gave him a rosary.

Advised Tell Truth

Before they left, the middle-aged father advised his son to tell the truth.

Patenaude was picked up with three-year-old Barbara Nemeroff on busy St. Catherine Street, Saturday morning.

Police say he snatched the child from the Nemeroff home Friday night while the parents were out and Irene Lachance, a 25-year-old maid was looking after her. Before he left, the accused allegedly left a $50,000 ransom note. The maid gave police a good description of the man and the clothes he was wearing.

He was walking just a pace behind the girl when police picked them up. They acted on a tip from Mrs. Margaret Henry, who recognized the tot from descriptions broadcast to all Montrealers.

When they arrived at police headquarters the child was taken to the office of Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medio-legal expert of Quebec, who said she was "apparently unharmed."

Sticks To Story

Patenaude has stuck to his original story throughout a weekend of questioning.

He said:

"I don't know why I took the little girl, but I wanted money. I haven't got the faintest idea what I would have done wth it. Probably I would have buried it somewhere."

The only change in his answers to police dealt with his relation regarding Morris Nemeroff, the child's father, and his employer.

When picked up he said: "I asked for a raise and the boss refused."

Later he reportedly told police: "Nemeroff is a prince. He has been a square shooter with me all along."

The maximum penalty for kidnapping in Canada is 25 years, but a well-known criminal lawyer said Sunday night that a juvenile, tried and found guilty of this charge would probably get from six months to two years in a delinquents' home.

Car Flips On Side Driver Unhurt

Douglas Yaxley, R.R. 3 Keene, escaped injury Saturday when his car ran up an embankment and flipped over on its side, four miles east of Peterborough.

Yaxley was driving east on Highway 7 in his 1942-model car and pulled out to pass a car in front, driven by Sidney Luther, R.R. 1 Peterborough. He collided with the left rear fender of Luther's vehicle and then went out of control for 104 feet down the highway, crossing a four-foot ditch and mounting a 12-foot embankment.

The car turned over on its side. The right rear door and fender were damaged and total damage is estimated at $250.

Yaxley was shaken up but otherwise uninjured. Luther, his wife Joan, and his two children—Laura and Tomothy— were also unhurt. The Luther car had the left rear fender and door damaged as a result of the collision.

O.P.P. Constable Roy Feeley investigated.

And now the Americans announce they have taken a fancy to the tartan and are taking it over.

There's no law against it. But an authority on Highland dress firmly states: "No one should wear a tartan to which he is not by name or descent entitled. To do so is foolish and ill-mannered and invites scorn."

In the front lines of the Commonwealth division Sunday night, there could be no doubt that he was dead right—about the scorn.

A bare two weeks ago Sgt. Eric Bradford returned to his pipe band after teaching the Americans how to play their brand new pipes—just in from Glasgow.

He knew they had ordered a complete outfit of kilts from Scotland but it was not until Saturday that any one guessed the awful truth.

"We just wrote to Glasgow, Scotland, and asked for 10 sets of bagpipes. Then we wrote and asked for kilts to match the plaid of the pipes. I'm inclined to suspect a Communist at work in the bagpipe factory," said Lt.-Col. William Kerhan.

"We don't know much about these things in America. Say, where do you think we would get some literature about this tartan business? We don't want any more international incidents."

Market Prices Hold Firmly To Gains

TORONTO, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Stock market prices held firmly to morning gains today in early afternoon dealings.

Trading was brisk as a wide list of western oils, lower-priced base metals and penny golds attracted speculative interest. Eldona was a standout as it added pennies while more than 450,000 shares changed hands. Volume for the first three hours was 1,932,000 shares.

Steels, liquor and refining oils led industrials upward while papers and foods drew firm support. Agricultures and retail stores weakened as constructions turned upward.

Western oils posted a slim majority of gains. Calgary and Edmonton, Calvan Consolidated, Central Explorers, Royalite, Selburn and Western Leaseholds edged higher.

Base metals made little headway. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Mindamar, Quemont and Yale Lead strengthened while East Rim, Noranda and Sherritt-Gordon slipped.

Senior golds were firm as Bralorne, Dome, Giant Yellowknife and Teck Hughes turned upward. Secondary issues posted a majority of penny losses.

Boy Fractures Arm While Tobogganing

COLDSPRINGS, Feb. 25 (ENS) —While tobogganing on a hill near the Coldsprings school on Thursday, Gordon Turner, 13, had the misfortune to break his arm.

He was taken to Cobourg hospital for X-rays, where it was found his arm was broke in two different places, near the wrist, and just below the elbow. He was confined to hospital till Friday.

Henry Jos. Moloney

The funeral for Henry Joseph (Harry) Moloney, 148 Park St. N., who died Saturday was held this morning from his residence to St. Martin's Roman Catholic church, Ennismore township.

Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Patrick J. Lynch. Also in the sanctuary was the Rev. V. J. Gillogly.

Pallbearers were Jack, Gerald, James, Victor and Patrick Moloney and Ambrose Sullivan. Graveside prayers at St. Martin's cemetery were said by Father Lynch assisted by Father Gillogly.

Being Drunk No Excuse—Court

As well as being a serious charge, this case had "a ridiculous aspect," Magistrate W. R. Philp told William Misson, 25, 264 Simcoe Street, when he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering today in Police Court.

"Being extremely intoxicated is no excuse for a crime," said Magistrate Philp. "You could be sentenced up to 14 years on this matter. It is only with the consent of the Chown that I am placing you on suspended sentence for two years on payment of $2.50 court costs," Magistrate Philp added.

No Intent

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said that he was recommending suspended sentence because there was no intention on Misson's part to steal anything. He was in "an extreme degree of intoxication," Mr. Bradshaw said, and while he did break into the apartment, restitution is being made for the damage. "Both he and his wife have agreed voluntarily to go on the interdicted list," said Mr. Bradshaw.

Magistrate Philp said that Misson's suspended sentence was conditional on his reporting to Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army at least once a month or as often as Major Everitt may require.

In asking Major Everitt to see that Misson observes the condition of his two-year probationary period, Magistrate Philp said: "Particularly with respect to drinking, would you be good enough to see that these people do go on the interdicted list and provide general oversight in this situation."

Foot-And-Mouth

Resoruces Minister Winters, acting as Agriculture Minister in the absence of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, told a press conference that the purpose of Mr. Taggart's trip will be to inform American officials of the action taken by Canada to "protect" the U.S. against the possibility of the outbreak penetrating the U.S.

It appeared likely, however, that Mr. Taggart and Mr. Wrong may seek to have the U.S. ease the embargo in order that Canada's livestock exports may not be crippled.

May Affect Prices

The embargo may have some effect on beef and pork prices in Canada.

"The situation at the moment is not very clear," said Winters. "If livestock cannot go to the United States, supplies will back up in Canada, possibly causing some surplus. That may cause meat prices to go down.

"On the other hand, there will be a deficit in meat supply in the Regina area where the two packing plants have been shut down. There will be a tendency for meat from Eastern Canada to move west. That will cause a drop in supplies in the east.

"We have not discussed the possibility of a support program for beef. That will depend on what takes place. We'll probably have a clearer view of the situation shortly."

TORONTO, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Ontario farmers will face a "substantial loss" through embargo, C. D. Graham, Ontario Deputy Agricultural Minister, said.

"It will mean a substantial loss. How much, no one can say at this time," Mr. Graham said.

"There have been no reports of the disease in Ontario," he said, but "if the United States' ban is Canada-wide, the Ontario farmer will suffer."

Conclusive Evidence

The department said conclusive evidence in support of the diagnosis of foot-and-mouth disease was reported Sunday by the animal pathology laboratory at Hull, Que.

So far the department said nothing has been reported to arouse suspicion that the disease has been carried to points outside of the Regina area. Quarantine measures already taken will be continued and extended "in any way that seems calculated to reduce chances of the disease spreading and to detect it quickly if it does spread."

"Now that the disease has been definitely identified as foot-and-mouth, vigorous and immediate action is being taken to stamp it out."

This action consists of the slaughtering of all animals known to have had the disease or to have been in any way in contact with possible infection. All animals destroyed will be cremated or buried deeply.

Premises Disinfected

All premises known or suspected to have been contaminated will be cleaned, disinfected, quarantined and kept under close observation long enough to make sure no living virus of the disease is left.

The department said all necessary action to exterminate the disease will be taken at the expense of the government and all owners of livestock will be fully compensated for the value of animals destroyed.

Wherever it is necessary to take over premises or equipment to facilitate the work of exterminating the disease, the owners of such equipment or facilities will be paid "reasonable compensation."

Since it was impossible to foresee all difficulties which might have to be dealt with, the department said it expects that emergency authority will be given to its officers "to take whatever action may be needed on the spot."

Staff Authority

Such authority would be exercised by the department's veterinary director-general, but all members of his staff and others assigned to duty with the health-of-animals division would be responsible for carrying out "their respective parts of the program and they may exercise authority where necessary".

"Since measures which must be taken to stamp out the disease will, to some extent, interfere with the normal commercial movement of livestock and meat, special measures may have to be adopted to prevent the accumulation of surplus products in one area while shortages may prevail in others, the department said.

"There may also be problems in connection with prices of livestock, costs of transportation and other such matters which will have to be kept under constant review. No specific announcement can be made in this connection at present".

Kept Informed

The department said the United States Department of Agriculture has been informed of developments to date and will be kept informed as time goes on.

Transport companies, packing companies, livestock-marketing organizations and others whose normal activity may be affected also will be advised as to what must be done.

The department said special efforts will be made to notify farmers and others affected in the quarantine area as to "exactly what procedures are being adopted, why they are necessary and what the people should do to facilitate prompt extermination of the disease".

son, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain here. They will talk chiefly about lifting allied controls of defeated West Germany's war industries and try to settle the final size and form of its contribution to western defence.

Most of the other 1,500 delegates and advisers today leave Lisbon—now celebrating carnival time — and scatter to their homelands.

They felt they had held the most successful of the North Atlantic Council's nine meetings. It told Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the first time just what forces he can count on for his Atlantic Pact army to resist any aggression.

To Get 50 Divisions

By the end of 1952, he is due to have in Europe a 50-division, 4,000-aircraft fighting force with strong naval support.

In 1954, this is to grow to about 88 divisions, by the economists' calculations, or 100 divisions if the military men's full target is achieved. This three-year program, the economists estimated, will cost Western taxpayers a total of $300,000,000,000.

Eisenhower will assume important new responsibilities. His headquarters will mushroom as Allied forces from Iceland to the Dardanelles are unified under a single command.

An estimated 200-plus air bases will provide insurance against sudden air attack.

The Atlantic Council also gave its blessing here to the European defence community. This is a plan for a supra-national European force made up of French, Italian, West German, Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg fighting men.

'Lights On' Campaign Starts In City To Fight Cancer

To raise $8,815 to fight cancer, the Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce is asking Peterborough residents to leave their verandah lights on this week if they wish to back the financial campaign.

Kenneth Billings, chairman of the Jaycees committee, said today that the Lights On campaign is the main step in their campaign to collect funds for the Canadian Cancer Society.

The city has been divided into four sections to cover every home in the city boundaries. On Tuesday night men will canvass the area south of Lansdowne St., on Wednesday night, Ashburnham, on Thursday night, the area west of the river between Lansdowne St. and McDonnel St., and Friday night, the area north of McDonnel St.

Besides the Jaycees the service clubs will be providing canvassers to help the districts.

Give Receipts

Mr. Billings points out that any donations $1 or more are income tax deductible and receipts will be given out for those amounts.

The second main step in the campaign was held Sunday night at the Brock St. Arena, a variety show featuring internationally-known singers, acrobats and comedy teams. More than 1,000 people attended.

The favorite entertainers were the comedy team, Authors and Swenson, from Toodles Weaver's television show from New York City. Another international was the Keppo family, a Swedish acrobatic troupe.

C.B.C. radio stars, Bobby Gimby, from Bert Pearl's Happy Gang, Vi Emerson and Albert Marsden, were well-received as well as accordionist-singer Nancy McCaig.

The county has been canvassed or will be canvassed this week through donations from the school children. At the same time Jaycees and Junior Farmers will be calling on last year's donors.

The campaign opened last week with a Lights On campaign in Lakefield.

Serves Province

GLADSTONE, Man. (CP).—The extension department of the University of Manitoba is designed to benefit the province as a whole, said Dr. A. H. S. Gillson, president of the university, in an address here. He expressed high hopes for the university's policy of sending speakers, musical groups and arts displays throughout Manitoba.

Police, Dancers Battle Over Liquor

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP)—Gaily-costumed "Mardi Gras" dancers turned angrily on morality officers as they attempted to seize liquor in St. George's Hall early Sunday, touching off a fracas which ended abruptly with the arrival of about a dozen police reinforcements.

It took five trips by cruiser car to carry away what police seized: 206 full bottles of beer, 72 part bottles of beer, 336 empty beer bottles, and 30 empty wine and liquor bottles. There were no immediate arrests.

Vic Denisous staggered along Dundas Street, blood streaming from a badly gashed right forearm. He was cut when shoved against a window in a corridor below the hall which occupies a third storey.

It was a mere two-man battle in which Denisous came out second best that took police there in the first place.

Later Trouble

The later—and bigger—trouble started when some one in the hall hurled a beer bottle at Morality Officer Walter Johnson.

He ducked. But some one else lunged at him, knocking beer from the hands of Constable Wilson Martin, and the short-lived battle royal was on.

About 150 persons were at the Mardi Gras event, which police said was sponsored by The Latvian Club. An estimated 40 or 50 smashed tables and chairs and milled and shoved around Johnson, Martin, and Morality Officer James Durnin in the brief melee.

But other officers dispatched by radio were on the scene in quick time. Their presence calmed things down and the hall was cleared.

Cattle Prices Up $2 After Bad News

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP). — Cattle prices jumped $2 to $3 at the Ontario stockyards today following news that the United States has clamped an embargo on livestock imports from Canada after an outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

Trading in cattle was active and the 3,020 head received today was up about 1,000 over the last few Monday openings.

Prices and receipts in other divisions of the market were normal.

Selling of stockers — cattle bought by farmers to fatten and graze for the summer—was stopped and the slaughter of all stockers received was ordered by the government as a precaution against the disease. Many of the stockers sold on the Toronto market are brought in from the western provinces.

The link that had to come

The two main roads to the solution of life's problems, divergent though they may have seemed to be, are the way of Science and the way of Religion.

These two paths converge in Christian Science. Today the rational thinker finds logic, supported by proof, in the religious thinker's deep conviction of a primal cause, or intelligence, called God.

Science and religion can now agree, for through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the actual Science of Christianity has been revealed.

This great book shows, through reason and revelation, the solution to problems of health, supply, or of any other kind. It may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

Kingston; post-war Mrs. S. A. Hopping; flower fund, Mrs. T. Craighead; membership, Mrs. Ross Douglas.

Annual reports of the secretary, treasurer, post-war convener, and child and family welfare convener showed that 1951 was a busy year for the Chapter. The last instalment of the $1,000 pledged to the Campbellford Memorial Hospital will be paid immediately.

The Chapter decided to send a protest to the government through Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P. for Northumberland against the dropping of the title Dominion from Canadian government documents.

Bears Seen Outside Maybe Spring's Here

Seymour Township Couple Celebrate 55th Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 25 — (ENS).— Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Petherick of Seymour celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on Sunday. They have lived here for the past 52 years.

Mrs. Petherick, the former Nettie Barnum, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Barnum of Seymour. She was born in 1878. Fifty-five years ago she became the bride of Daniel T. Petherick, in a simple ceremony at the home of her parents. The Rev. R. L. Edwards performed the ceremony before nearly 100 guests.

Mr. Petherick was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Petherick of Seymour, and was born in 1872. Last February 14 was more than Valentine Day to Mr. Petherick.

—it was his 80th birthday. The couple both enjoy good health and are quite active in church work at Stanwood.

There are four sons. Harold and Melville of Campbellford, Murray at home, and Fred of Rawdon; two daughters Mrs. William Begg of Seymour and Mrs. Carl Stephens of Campbellford. There are nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A rather unique and fortunate fact concerning the Petherick family is that there has been no break in the family during the entire 55 years.

Sunday's celebration was a quiet one, with relatives calling on the couple to wish them well during the afternoon.

Cattlemen Throughout World Fear Foot-And-Mouth Disease

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP)—Foot-and-mouth disease is feared by cattlemen throughout the world.

It is as damaging to livestock as smallpox and bubonic plague is to humans. It spreads like wildfire. The only way to halt it is to slaughter infected animals and bury the carcasses.

Transmitted by a tissue-destroying virus, the scourge in recent years has struck at Mexico's thriving cattle industry and almost destroyed it. It has crippled livestock production in continental Europe. It has threatened to injure Britain's economic comeback.

Just where this animal plague originated is unknown. Some scientists believe it has a 2,000-year European history, but actual documentation goes back only about 400 years.

Foot-and-mouth disease in European agriculture has become so widespread that some countries have given up trying to eradicate it. Young animals infected by it sometimes die. Older ones become so lame and useless that they become uneconomic to maintain.

Doesn't Affect Humans

But it doesn't affect the human. Humans have been known to eat infected meat, properly cooked. The cooking apparently kills the bacterial infection.

The virus, transmitted in many ways by animals, by humans on their boots and clothes, and even by flocks of migrating birds and hay and straw, hits exposed animal tissue.

It causes blisters on the mouth, tongue, udder and some parts of the animal hoof. It sometimes even gets into the stomach and ulcerates tissue there. The animal goes off its feed. It becomes lame. It loses weight.

Worst of all, the virus spreads quickly. Herds and counties can be infected within days.

Still Battling

When it broke out in Mexico in 1946—the first time since 1929—hundreds of thousands of cattle were slaughtered and farmers compensated for their loss. By boat, aircraft, truck and automobile, agricultural technicians moved in on the infected areas, cleansing and sterilzing barns and equipment.

The fight against foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico still goes on.

The United States had its last outbreak in 1929. It was controlled. But so fearful are cattlemen of the possibility of a recurrence, that an emergency train stands ready in Chicago to be moved with vaccines and other emergency equipment to a contaminated area at a moment's notice.

In Britain, the fight against foot-and-mouth has been continuing for years. The threat there is from Europe. Huge flocks of migrating birds, moving from Europe to Britain, sometimes carry the virus.

But the virus has invaded many other countries. Last year a federal survey showed that only Canada, the United States, New Zealand, Australia, Ireland and Scotland were free from the disease.

Dr. Thomas Childs, chief veterinarian for Canada, considers the disease comparable in deadly toll to an epidemic of bubonic plague.

"Hitting hard and fast," he says, "an outbreak of this disease could be disastrous to the whole national economy."

When foot-and-mouth disease appears in hogs, lesions frequently occur on and above the snout. In rare cases, the muzzles of cattle are affected. In sheep, goats and deer, the feet are the most common site of the blister formation.

Red Herring In The Three R's?

The educational service is supposed to be a great school of discretion; it is surprising, therefore, when Dr. W. J. Dunlop leaves the educational service after a long career therein, and emerges as Minister of Education in the Ontario Cabinet, that he should speak as rashly as he did last Tuesday, February 19. Next autumn, he says, he will issue directions that the three R's must be stressed in Ontario education, and that "fancy" subjects, like art, music and athletics must be curtailed; an inordinate amount of time is being spent on such subjects, says the Minister. It seems odd that he should be discovering this now, after a lifetime as a teacher and Provincial education officer. But there can be no doubt about what Dr. Dunlop said, for he repeated the gist of his remarks in an interview given at his office after his speech had been made to the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities. Such speeches are not made without careful preparation, and it looks to us as though Dr. Dunlop said what he said in order to distract attention from the fact that the Government has done nothing, and shows no sign of doing anything about the Hope Commission Report.

• • •

In company with many Ontario newspapers we have pointed out during the past several years that the educational qualifications of High School pupils seeking employment have become low; they are not adept in the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic; they cannot use the English language correctly, much less ably. Therefore we have no quarrel with Dr. Dunlop's proposal to lay heavier stress on the three R's. But we object very strongly to Dr. Dunlop's proposal to do this by cutting out entirely what he calls "frills." He mentioned music, art and athletics. These things, we say, are not frills, but essentials of education, and have been so since Plato's day. The job of a good school is not to teach pupils to earn a living, but to equip them to live; this means something more than drill in the three R's, though of course it means that, as well.

• • •

Dr. Dunlop's zeal for educational reform has plenty of material to work upon in Ontario. He might begin with a housecleaning of his own Department; he must know it well, for he has been in touch with it for a long time, and he must know that many things inimical to good education in Ontario spring directly from its confusion. He might exercise his reforming talents upon the Ontario College of Education, which is not beyond criticism. He might turn his attention to the Normal Schools, lengthening their course of training to two or even three years; does Dr. Dunlop really think that if it takes university training and a subsequent year at O.C.E. to make a High School teacher that the Normal Schools can make elementary school teachers in one year?

• • •

We find Dr. Dunlop's remarks confusing, and as we do not believe that a man capable of being Minister of Education is confusing because he cannot do better, we must assume that he was confusing on purpose. Why is he worrying about athletics, which occupy very little time in elementary schools, and not much more in High Schools? A little physical training is surely not amiss, and comparatively few boys and girls engage in organized sports otherwise. Music is chiefly an extra-curricular activity, and the number of pupils taking instruction in art is not great. Time-wasting subjects are no doubt to be found in the curriculum, but can it be shown that music, art and athletics are among them?

• • •

There are certainly questions to be asked about education in Ontario, but we suggest that they have been asked, and recommendations made, in the Hope Report. Does Dr. Dunlop propose to set out on a scheme of reform of his own, ignoring the Hope Report entirely? If so he shows, at the close of a career in education, that he is a better politician than an educationist. His talk of the three R's, and his talk of the Communist menace, and his desire that there should be a Union Jack in every classroom, suggests to us that he wants to divert attention from the Hope Report with talk of a sort which is easily understood and approved by people who do not really care about education at all. To put it bluntly, we think that he is not merely dragging, but wildly flourishing, a red herring which will distract attention from the fact that a long, careful, sober enquiry has been made into the needs of education in this Province, that the results of that enquiry are available to the Legislature, and that the Government does not want to have anything to do with it.

A century ago, general education in this country was taken out of private hands in order to improve it. It appears to us that the present Government, and several before it, have forgotten that education should not be an instrument of political expediency, and that their attitude toward educational matters is shabby. It is not, in the end, teachers, educational officers, Normal School staffs and other professional educators who are to blame for the shocking slump in educational standards during the past 25 years, but successive Governments of Ontario, who do not care enough about education to raise it above cheap considerations of party gain. Dr. Dunlop's loud and empty speech merely echoes the belief of our legislators that education matters less than votes.

Is A British Troublemaker Not Subject To Discipline?

Apparently there have been several outbreaks of violence at the Ajax camp recently, all involving newcomers to Malta. These men, with people of other nationalities are living in the camp while awaiting placement in industry or elsewhere. After the latest outburst, three Maltese were sentenced to jail terms at Whitby, and Crown Attorney Alex C. Hall has declared that he will recommend deportation if there are any further outbursts of violence.

The most interesting feature of the case was an answer given by Camp Superintendent Edward Johnston to a question asked by Mr. Hall. The latter wanted to know what disciplinary powers the camp superintendent had, and Mr. Johnston said that was "a sixty-four dollar question. It puts me on the spot." He went on to say that the Maltese were not displaced persons but British subjects. Whether Mr. Johnston intended to do so or not, he certainly gave the impression, as reported, that a troublemaker was less subject to discipline if a British subject than if he were a displaced person of other origin.

We feel sure that there is no official or legal ruling to this effect. And if it is actually a practice of those in charge of the Ajax camp to make such a distinction, it is little wonder that there are outbreaks of violence there. Troublemakers must be treated alike, if discipline is to be maintained, regardless of their national origin. A Maltese troublemaker qualifies for the same treatment as a Polish troublemaker—and deportation, as Mr. Hall has indicated, is the final answer in dealing with incorrigibles of this nature. If they do not value Canadian citizenship highly enough to keep the peace while being maintained at the public expense, they do not value it highly enough to be allowed to remain in this country.

V.O.N.

When the Victorian Order of Nurses was founded in 1896 by Lady Aberdeen and a group of enthusiasts, a visiting nursing service was thought to be a hare-brained scheme and impracticable. One newspaper suggested that the occupants of Rideau Hall were going beyond their province, and that the Governor-General's wife had better go home if that were the sort of activity she was bent on.

Lady Aberdeen persisted, got a Canadian nurse named Miss Charlotte Macleod and five other nurses with experience and enthusiasm for this type of work, from where had been practising at a Massachusettes nursing school. Thus the V.O.N. was launched. Today, with its headquarters still in Ottawa, and wives of Governors-General its patronesses, the V.O.N. has a hundred branches scattered throughout ten provinces. There is an active branch in Peterborough.

The V.O.N. does an unusual service. The V.O.N. nurse goes into the homes of sick persons needing some care but not hospital care. She takes daily care of mothers and babies both before and after childbirth, does surgical nursing in accident cases, relieves doctors of many of their visiting chores, and keeps invalid homes cheerful and organized. The charge for a V.O.N. visit is low—approximately two dollars a visit—and if the home is unable afford this, the Order does not collect fees. (Of the million visits last year, less than half were paid for by the patients.) Apart from the advantage to patients and their families, the V.O.N. home nursing service relieves the pressure on hospitals, by nursing accident cases and chronic invalids in their own homes. A further value of the service is that many patients prefer to be cared for at home rather than in hospital.

This week the V.O.N. is seeking to make the advantages of its work better known. We glady pay tribute to its good work in this community, and from what we know of its services across the country and the devoted and skilled women in its corps, we can believe it to be one of our finest national social service organizations.

In America, almost as much as in Russia, you must think what your neighbour thinks that it pays to think.—Bertrand Russell, noted British philosopher.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

IT happens from time to time that the conductor of a choir or band falls sick and a deputy has to be found at short notice. Many celebrated conductors owe their first chance to an accident of this sort. Toscanini was playing the cello in the orchestra of the opera house in Buenos Aires. One evening in 1886 (how long ago it sounds) the audience, who had been becoming thoroughly dissatisfied with the regular conductor, started a noisy demonstration against him, and the performance could not proceed. At that moment Toscanini's colleagues in the orchestra, who had a healthy respect for the young man's musical ability, forced him to the conductor's desk. The audience, surprised to see the baton taken by a youth of 19, calmed down, and the performance ended amidst scenes of great enthusiasm. Toscanini, though he had never conducted before, had memorized the whole score of the opera, and what is more, he possessed in abundance all the gifts of a great conductor.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHILE we cannot all be Toscaninis there is always a possibility that one of us may be called upon quite unexpectedly to stand in for the regular conductor. There are several good manuals on the technique of conducting orchestras and choirtraining. In both departments the stick or hand technique is the same and the requirements are similar, so that for instance a good deal of what Sir Henry Wood says in his admirable little book on orchestral conducting applies to choral conducting also. Nevertheless in an emergency there is usually no time to "mug up" the subject in a hurry. I would therefore suggest to every keen chorister or band player that he should equip himself for such an emergency. It is a thrilling experience to be a conductor of even a moderate force. The conductor has to be a little dictator. What he says goes. Not everybody is temperamentally equipped for the job, however great his musicianship. Yet even quiet and unassuming musicians can rise to the occasion by forgetting themselves in the work in hand.

✧ ✧ ✧

LET us assume, then, that you have been called upon at the last moment to act as a stop-gap for the regular conductor. The first thing to bear in mind is the fact that there is never enough time for rehearsal. It is therefore necessary to put the time available to the best use. This does not mean that you should go "flat out" all the time. Sufficient time should be allowed for relaxation between numbers in order to get the best results. Rehearsing individual parts is a good substitute for this, apart from its obvious advantages, though care must be taken to limit this treatment to passages that really require it, otherwise your slender allowance of rehearsal time will soon be eaten up. Do not interrupt a number too often. It is disheartening to be continually stopping and starting. It is better to aim at completing a manageable chunk first, reserving your comments until it is completed.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are some things on which a conductor must insist. In the first place his beat must be followed. It is a good plan at times for him to take a simple and well-known piece (if it is a choir it could be a hymn such as "The church's one foundation") and then vary the pace of the beat in an arbitrary fashion, now faster, now, slower, so that everybody will have to keep his eyes glued on the conductor in order to keep up with him. In connection with beating time, there is a knack in starting a piece. This is best learned by observing a competent conductor in action. In special cases one should not be afraid of beating one or two preparatory strokes, so long as the players or singers are informed beforehand. Koussevitzky used to do this for the awkward opening of the scherzo of the Eroica. The choral conductor must insist on good diction. If Canadians enunciated their words more clearly in ordinary speech the task of the conductor would be far easier. Unfortunately in some circles it is considered smart to be sloppy in speech. This tells particularly in choral work, where the words must be enunciated with almost pedantic distinctness in order to get across. Soft passages need special care.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOMEBODY defined a fugue as a piece of music in which the subject keeps on coming in and the people keep on going out. It is true that a good many fugues are of a rather austere nature and require to be heard and studied repeatedly for their beauty to be appreciated: some are just dull. On the other hand there are some fugues that make an immediate appeal, jolly rollicking affairs, like the "Fugue a la Gigue". As Tovey pointed out, fugue is a texture rather than a form. Once each part has entered with the subject the composer is free to do what he likes. The so-called rules of writing a fugue were invented after the fugue had been brought to perfection by Bach. Of all the numerous fugues that he wrote the majority do not even have a regular counter-subject as prescribed by the pedants, and though he could on occasion produce masterly stretti, augmentations, inversions and the like he only used them in certain instances. In any case there is nothing particularly learned in these devices. The art consists in introducing them in such a way that they fit into the general argument. Bach's fugues obey the rules of their own nature rather than arbitrary regulations, unfolding with majestic inevitability from beginning to end.

ONE or two points on playing fugues. Needless to say all the notes should be held for their correct time value, no more, no less, by means of finger legato. I need not apologize for this somewhat obvious statement as it is so often completely disregarded. Another important rule is that the subject of the fugue should be phrased the same way each time that it appears: in this way it may often be identified more readily. Sometimes the subject should be played with greater emphasis than the other parts, especially if the subject is in one of the middle parts. Care must be taken, though, not to swamp the other parts for the sake of "bringing out the subject".

✧ ✧ ✧

I CANNOT forbear from quoting from a letter that I have just received from a musical friend, a Director of Music in a well-known boys' boarding school. Talking of amateurism in its less desirable phases he observes pointedly, "Music has a lot to suffer at the hands of its 'lovers'".

NOW LAUGH

"These new fashions are absolutely skyish," said Mr. Robinson. "Every time I look at that new hat of yours it makes me laugh."

"That's splendid, darling," replied his wife. "I'll hang it up where you can see it when the bill arrives."

"REPORTS OF MY DEATH WERE GREATLY EXAGGERATED"

She Who Has Mourned Two Kings

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

WHEN word of the King's death reached the troops in Korea, one soldier said: "Queen Mary's the one I'm thinking of. It's a sad blow for her. But we can be sure of one thing. She'll keep her chin up."

In some ways Queen Mary is the most tragic figure of all at this time. She has mourned two kings: her husband and her son.

It was she who came out of retirement after her husband's death to steady the Monarchy in a time of great strain and confusion. She appeared in public for several weeks with George VI and Queen Elizabeth, and the two princesses. Her own dignity and her sure touch with the past seemed to restore confidence in the steady old ways.

But once this duty was done, she retired again with a perfect grace. She had stood in the group on the Palace balcony after her son's Coronation. She looked down on the thousands cheering and waving. Then she turned away, saying with satisfaction: "This is all for you, my son. It's for you they are cheering."

As the years have passed, she has followed the stately routines of her private life, In the years of war she appeared again, but only for work on committees, just as any other worker who wished to do what she could. With the grim war years gone, she saw her son more loved and honoured than ever by his people.

But now, in these late years, the new sorrows have crowded in, not sparing her growing frailty. Few will ever forget the photograph of her face, framed in the window of her car, as she entered the gates of Buckingham Palace to visit her son in his illness. It was a face in which the courage of dignity was struggling with a breaking heart.

George V, before he died, asked her to write a last entry, when all was over, in the diary he had faithfully kept for so many years. When the last hour came, she had gone from his room, and recorded in his diary the time of his passing. But as she recorded the end of her husband's life, so has she now seen time write the last line to the life of her son.

The Dean of Windsor has described how he spoke with Queen Mary in her hour of sorrow in 1936. And she said: "There is only one thing to do—that is to go right on."

So she will say, even now. And she will go right on to the end, knowing that there is something greater even than one's greatest sorrows, and that is one's duty.

Letter To The Editor

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT'S PROTEST

Sir: I do hope that you print my letter of protest and if so I want to thank you for supplying the space. I've got a big protest and I'm sure many students will agree with my attitude toward a certain Mr. Dunlop. Why? Well, Mr. Dunlop certainly has a hard idea of how schools should be run. Don't you agree? I'm only a third year high school student but this is my beef and I'll come straight to the point. Mr. Dunlop wants to do away with "fancy subjects"—music, art and athletics and return us to the three R's, reading 'riting and 'rithmetic. Where is the good man's heart? Just what does he think we are learning now? All day in school—reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic—day after day, week after week. Physics, literature, history, French; mind you—these subjects are fine and useful things to learn, but why cut out with these "fancy, frilly" subjects? The man says to replace the sugar-coated education with more useful activities. Well! Is art not useful—music, athletics? I realize that every subject must have its place but to do away with these—NEVER. Does Mr. Dunlop consider being a musician, an opera singer, or a pianist, being a failure? People have to be entertained and where do they go for their entertainment? To a concert, a recital, or even just a movie—not to a geologist's lecture. People can't enjoy an exhibition of geometery but they can enjoy art exhibits—and appreciate their beauty and colour. I know many artists starve and never become famous but neither do all history students. Is it a crime to be talented in art or music? Dear Mr. Dunlop wishes to dispose of athletics being taught in school. Does Dictator Dunlop want to see the nation's students develop into puny weaklings? Athletics are a good thing to be taught in school. They may not teach you Archimedes Principle of Buoyancy or the progress of Neolithic man, but it does teach you to work with others, it builds the body, it relaxes the mind, it provides enjoyment and best of all it gives us a sense of fair play. This can never be achieved by a Pythagorean theorem. Now, I study all these "dry" subjects but during a hard day at school I don't look forward to a physics period—oh no, my yearnings turn toward a relaxing music period, a session of painting, or a refreshing basketball game. Where is a school's school-spirit? Just take a guess Mr. Dunlop. It's in the choral clubs, the school bands, the art clubs, the poster contests, and last but not least, the rugby and basketball games. Yes, my good man, art, music and athletics are very useful subjects. Where else but in school can we learn them. We're in school five days a week. Mr. Dunlop, did you forget that you were young once? A boy who is weak in athletics can pull up his marks in the other subjects and the boy down in history and math can pick up in athletics or music or art. Not everyone can make a pass in chemistry but on the other hand not everyone can play volleyball, tool leather, and play the piano, so what's wrong with trying to learn both? A radio singer or an architect can make just as good a living as a budding scientist or mathematician. Why do you think so many pupils leave school? Well, sometimes they have to go out and work, but eight times out of ten it's because a student would rather go out and work than further his education by doing the three R's. We spend plenty of time on them and we wish we could have more time for these so-called "fancy" subjects.

Mr. Dunlop is a very foolish man in my eyes. No one can be forced to learn. Learning can only be achieved by the love of knowledge and being curious and wanting to know more. This is my beef Mr. Editor. I hope Mr. Dunlop can change.

A FAITHFUL READER.

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgement and justice in the earth. In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. (Jer. 23: 5, 6.)

And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary.

And the angel came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou that art highly favoured, the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women .... And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary: for thou hast found favour with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS. Finds Canada Good Investment Says N.Y. Herald

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—(CP)—The eyes of the financial world are focussed on Canada as one of of the few spots where investment capital is safe from the hazards of government instability or government hostility toward business, The New York Herald Tribune says today in a newspage article.

The paper devotes 10 pages to Canada, touching on business, finance and industry. The broad review of Canadian affairs stresses Canada as a land of opportunity.

"This is Canada — a land of promise whose defence program is being meshed with her natural resources and industrial strength to give her a vital role in the councils of the Western world," one of the articles states.

"Risk capital flows to Canada, knowing that this country represents the greatest concentration of the undeveloped natural resources in the world . . . Canada's chief problem is to digest the capital waiting at her door."

Rockingham Sets Up Winning Goal

WITH THE COMMONWEALTH DIVISION IN KOREA, Feb. 25—(Reuters)—Brig. John M. Rockingham set up the winning goal Sunday as a team from the 25th Brigade Headquarters defeated the officers of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry 3-2 in a hockey game played on the frozen Inkim River.

Rockingham, playing defence, made a shaky length-of-the-ice attack, passed to Capt. Dodd P. Fenny, of Dundas, who scored the winning goal, and promptly collapsed on the ice.

In reply to shouts from 300 soldiers watching the game as shells whistled overhead toward the Communist lines, Rockingham replied: "I practised that for more than three hours in my tent last night."

Dozens of cameras were trained on Rockingham, Commander of the 25th, every time he got the puck. There were great cheers from the men every time he "skated across the ice in a sitting position," as he described it later.

One of the game's stars was Chaplain Maj. Joe Cardy, of Port Credit.

Cardy's single goal was disallowed, but the referee hastily explained:

"It wasn't dirty playing, Sir. You were just offside."

Rocky said later that he had known Headquarters would win, though he had only played one game of hockey in his life.

"I have aches and pains all over now," he said ruefully.

Wartime R.C.A.F. Chief Air Marshal Edwards Dies

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 — (CP). — Air Marshal Harold (Gus) Edwards, C.B., 59, wartime chief of the R.C.A.F. overseas, died Saturday night.

Word reaching Air Force headquarters said the Air Marshal, who retired in 1944 and had been in ill-health for several years, died at Scotsdale, Ariz., in his sleep.

The veteran of nearly 25 years' service with the R.C.A.F., had been living for some years at St. Sauveur des Monts, Que., and went to Arizona several months ago.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately announced. His widow, who was with him in Arizona, will decide whether he will be accorded a military funeral.

He joined the service in 1920 when it was still known as the Canadian Air Force, with wartime flying experience already behind him.

Major Role

At the outbreak of the Second World War, he played a major role in launching the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and then went overseas to take charge of the major phases of building up the RCAF in the United Kingdom.

Noted for his drive and his warm personality, he was highly respected throughout the Air Force as a man who took a keen interest in all ranks.

"He lived and loved the Air Force," said a former associate.

His big jobs were as air member for personnel from February, 1940, to November, 1941, when he handled the personnel problems associated with the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, and as commander of the R.C.A.F. overseas from 1941 to 1943, when th R.C.A.F. overseas force grew from practically nothing to some 40 squadrons.

AIR MARSHAL EDWARDS

Born at Chorley, Lancs., in 1892, he came to Cape Breton, N.S., with his family as a child. At the outbreak of the First World War he enlisted as an able seaman in the Royal Canadian Navy, transferring in 1915 to the Royal Naval Air Service and serving on operations in France as a pilot.

Sent to Germany with a navy unit on a reprisal raid for the sinking of the British hospital ship Asturias, Edwards was shot down and spent the rest of the war in a prisoner-of-war camp. Although he escaped twice, he was recaptured and never left Germany.

German P.O.W.

He returned to England for a time after the war, and soon joined a group of airmen who took planes and equipment to Russia to serve with Gen. Deniken of the White Russians in counter-revolutionary fighting. He served both as an instructor and on operations.

He returned to Canada in 1920 and joined the Canadian air force. During the 1930's he served in the Maritimes, and is credited with the organizational work which enabled the R.C.A.F. to operate effectively on anti-submarine operations at the outbreak of the Second World War.

In 1936, as commander of a squadron stationed at Dartmouth, N.S., he played an important part in the famous Moose River, N.S. mine disaster, when he was placed in charge of air rescue operations.

Keen Disciplinarian

A keen disciplinarian, he commanded the R.C.A.F. detachment at the coronation of King George VI and in 1939 was in charge of air force arrangements for the visit of their Majesties to Canada.

He was made a companion of the Bath in the King's New Year's honors list of 1943, and in addition held many foreign decorations, including the French Croix de Guerre and the U.S. Legion of Merit. For his work with the White Russians he was awarded the order of St. Ann, 3rd Class, and the order of St. Stanislaus, 3rd Class.

His chief hobby was fishing. He fished hundreds of Canadian and British streams in search of trout and salmon, and was an expert fly-caster.

These are critical years!

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE MAY BE JUST A WIDOW'S MITE.... IF YOU DIE WITHOUT THESE:

—a cash sum for illness and dying expenses.
—a monthly cheque for your widow, adjusted to that critical period until the children are self-supporting.
—a financial provision for children's education.
—a cash sum to lift the mortgage on your home.
—a Life Annuity for your widow.

BUT, IF YOU LIVE . . . the same funds, accumulated for your family's protection, will provide a Retirement Income for YOU!

Yes! From the illustration you can see that with John, Mary, and Peter several years away from being self-supporting, and a mortgage on the home, it would be a critical period for Mother if death stopped her husband's income.

The Dominion Life suggestion for this "Critical" period of bringing up the children, is that along with your present Life Insurance you look into Dominion Life's "A Plan for Security." Consider the amounts your widow would need—for some, or all, of the necessaries in the panel to the left. Without these your life insurance may be just a widow's mite!

THEN SEE THE DOMINION LIFE REPRESENTATIVE. HE IS A GOOD MAN TO TALK TO!

Let him, with you, work out a Plan. There is no obligation—and you'll get a clear picture of how you can provide funds for "critical periods" of your widow's income.

Let him also show you how, if you live, the values which accumulate to protect your family, will provide you with a Private Income on retirement.

DEPENDABLE GUYS—Two dependable senior "B" pucksists game after game, Gus Leonard (at left) of the Petes and Freddy Mortimer of the Eagles. Gus scored two goals Saturday in the Petes' 4-3 win over Eagles, while Freddy Mortimer's marker put his side in front in the second period, though the lead changed in the next stanza.

Petes Assured Of Top Spot By 4-3 Puck Triumph Over Eagles In Senior Fray

By edging Eagles 4-3 here Saturday night before about 1,500 fans in Civic Arena, the Petes clinched first place in their Central Ontario senior "B" puck race, leaving Eagles presently in second position. Freddy Garvey's goal from Don Floyd with less than three minutes left in the game gave Petes the victory after a fast, close tilt. It was 1-1 in the first heat and 3-2 for Eagles going into the third, the Petes finished a trifle stronger.

While some rugged checking was seen, the game was fairly clean and quite fast, though scrambly in spots. Petes drew six of the 10 penalties, one a misconduct to Arn Dugan for ridiculing Referee Maurice Walsh after a minor penalty. Both sides were plenty tired in the final five minutes after hot action throughout. It was even enough in the initial inning, Eagles looked a bit better in the second and Petes showed a little more drive in the third to win out.

The Standing

With each club scheduled for 30 games, the Petes cannot now be dislodged from first place. The standing at present:

	P	W	L	T	Pts.
Petes	26	17	9	0	34
Eagles	28	13	14	1	27
Kingston	27	12	14	1	25
Hawks	29	12	17	0	24

Both goalies came up with many swell saves Saturday as play piled up thrill upon thrill at either end in fast order. Gus Leonard clicked for two goals for the Petes, Chum Fryia had a goal and an assist, Fred Garvey one goal, and George Steele, Drake Jopling and Don Floyd an assist apiece. Eagles' markers were by Jed Wilson, Freddy Mortimer, and Bert Hill, as an assist each went to Reg. Stewart, George Samalenko and Jim Munroe. Some robust checking on defence was displayed by Ron Horton and Keith Montgomery.

Scored First

Early in the initial inning, Bert Hill got down the side fast and close to blaze a sharp angle drive high into the hemp to put Eagles one up. Steele drew a kneeing penalty but little pressure occurred in his absence. Montgomery then went off for tripping and the Petes got in just two unsuccessful thrusts while he was away. It was fast and clean and both goalies busy through this stanza. A Mortimer-Greenlaw drive came close, and then Gus Leonard's backhander on a sharp angle shot caught a net corner to sew it up. The Hill line pressed a space but the Petes came back to make it close in rather scrambly going on both sides. Dugan was gated for boarding and Vitarelli followed for holding the puck, but nothing happened while they sat it out.

Gus Leonard got a quickie in the second on real fast and close-in combination with Fryia. Play was speedy again and a rush by Crowley and Hill saw Harding pull a fine save. Dugan got it for kneeing and had a misconduct tacked on for imitating the ref's waving motion. Wilson cashed in on that for the tying goal at an angle as he ganged up with Samalenko and Munroe. With the sides even, it was hot stepping but Eagles seemed to have an edge. Fred Mortimer finished off a forward pass smartly with Stewart at point-blank range to give the Vitarelli pack a lead. Horton went over for interference but Eagles couldn't click in his absence, and both goalies were kept hopping the rest of the rout.

Tied And Won

Montgomery served an early third period interference penalty and then Fryia stickhandled nicely to tally on a smart setup by Steele after Jopling fed the puck up. The latter was chased for boarding but returned and Crowley was robbed in close. West almost counted as the Petes showed a little edge on drives, though Eagles were back-checking better. It slowed down some later and finally Garvey combined neatly through defence to blaze a hot one into a corner of the cage for what turned out to be the winner. Eagles pressed hard and Horton drew a holding penalty, but Munroe followed right after for boarding, and it was even travelling at the gong. Teams:

Eagles: Goal, Milne; defence, Montgomery and Richlark; centre, F. Mortimer; wings, Greenlaw and Stewart; alternates, Hill, Crowley, Vitarelli, Samalenko, Berwick, Wilson, Munroe and Smith.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and Peters; centre, Garvey; wings, Floyd and Collins; alternates, Horton, Wade, Steele, G. Leonard, Fryia, Dugan, West and Mason.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A copy of the Boston Daily Globe of earlier this month comes to hand, and we see a sports' story headed: "Shamrocks May Bloom Again; Red-Headed Rookie Sullivan Favorite of Bruins' Fans." It's about George (Red) Sullivan. Says in part: "So far this season, the scrappy Irishman from Peterborough, Ont., who was recommended to the Bruins by Dit Clapper, has been used chiefly in utility and penalty-killing roles. But the 22-year-old redhead has the hustle, fight and determination to establish himself in the N.H.L., according to veteran members of the champion Detroit Red Wings."

Sid Abel of Wings praised him for tearing in to slap home a rebound against Terry Sawchuck for a 3-1 Boston win at home. "Sully was right on the spot as he dug in to knock in the puck when it bounced off Terry's chest," Abel pointed out. "We call those shots garbage but you'd be surprised how much garbage we collect during a season and how much it helps a team. Guys who hustle like that are invaluable to a team." Abel and his mates were impressed by the manner in which Sullivan went into the corners to fight for the puck. In his third year in pro hockey, Red looks like he has every intention of staying up in the National League.

"Work My Head Off"

Globe continues: "Sullivan's chief drawback to winning a regular berth right now is his lack of speed. He's a step below, they say, otherwise he has all the qualifications. Nobody realizes this more than Red, but he isn't letting it get him down. If it is at all possible for him to speed up, he'll do it by hard work. 'I always wanted to be a National League player since I was a little kid,' he said recent- ', 'and now that I'm up here I'm going to work my head off to stay.' ted is the first on the ice and the last man off at practices. He eats p everything Lynn Patrick tells him and he doesn't make the same mistake twice. Sullivan also can score goals and he has color other than his fiery thatch. Watch him kick up that left leg in a little jig every time he scores."

Kingston clashes with the Petes at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an O.H.A. senior "B" fixture. As the standing, in elsewhere, shows, the Petes have first place in the Central Ontario grouping clinched, with four more games to play. That means they'll go into semi-finals shortly against the fourth-place club. But the latter spot isn't settled by any means. Rest of the schedule is a dogfight to see how Eagles, Kingston and Belleville finish. Eagles are second now, one game up on K's, who lead Hawks by half a game. So Kingston will be fighting furiously tonight to grab this win. Team finishing second gets first semi-final playoff on home ice o'er the third-place club. Yes, this should be another fine fray this eve.

Sizzling Puck Scrap

A goodly gallery at Civic on Saturday p.m. saw a lively and tight tilt ere Petes yanked out a 4-3 win o'er Eagles in the final few minutes of play. Fast,, a bit rugged at times, somewhat scrambly but always close and exciting. Eagles weren't outclassed to any extent, but the Petes' drive in the third paid off as they came from behind to tie it and then finally fling in the winning marker. Both sides were dragging at the finish after sizzling action most of the distance. And both goalies had plenty to do, but neither let in any soft tallies. We only hope these well-matched ice enemies tangle in group final.. What a series that would be!

The proposed O.L.A. senior clubs' meeting in Mimico on Saturday was postponed, but will be held shortly. They're anxious to know how many entries to figure on this lacrosse season, as Owen Sound might decide upon a comeback after a year's layoff. The other clubs of last season are all expected in, though there has been some talk of Fergus dropping out if the Sounders return. St. Kitts is making a play for Harry Wipper, Fitz and some of their former players, now with Petes, while the local club wants them back. They want Wipper again, also, as P.M.L.A. coach. Likely an early executive meeting of the Petes' Timbermen, and one item to come up will be that of coach. Don Crowe isn't available for the job this year.

Remember When—

Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League saw their record unbeaten streak ended at 23 games when New York Rangers shut them out by a 2-0 score 11 years ago tonight. Rangers were outplayed by a wide margin but took advantage of a pair of third period penalties to Dit Clapper to score both goals.

Canadian Team Retains Olympic Hockey Crown

By JACK SULLIVAN

OSLO, Feb. 25—(CP)—The city of Oslo finished packing away the 1952 winter Olympic Games today and found the last layer of championships decidedly Canadian.

The final event of the final day for title-seeking fell into Canada's hands. Before a jam of 10,000 cheering fans in the downtown Jordal Stadium, Canada's hockey players from Edmonton played the United States team to a 3-3 draw and retained the hockey crown the Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers won in 1948.

But the biggest crowd spectacle and the glamorous outdoor windup in this country of outdoor-sports lovers was the ski jumping chapionship of famed Holmenkollen Hill.

While 150,000 people cheered from the hillsides, Arniff Bergmann, who came from Revelstoke, B.C., to compete for his native Norway, soared to victory with two near-perfect jumps.

Bergmann left his home in Trondheim only two years ago. He went first to the United States and then on to Revelstoke, married and settled down.

Wanted To Try

As far back as last August he got the Olympic itch—to ski and jump for his old homeland. Bergmann won the Norwegian championship and moved on to the Olympic Games.

Now that he is Olympic champion—at only 23 years of age—he is satisfied. He plans to go back to Revelstoke next month and make his permanent home there.

Canada's hockey championship was forecast in Oslo even before the games opened, but the boys had far from an easy time in the final round Sunday night.

The draw with the United States gave Canada an undefeated string of seven wins and the one tie. It was the only championship for Canada in the games, and it was Canada's fifth since the hockey title was officially recognized back in 1924 and was then won by the Toronto Granites.

It looked at first as though Canada would sweep through the tournament with eight victories. Late in the first period Billy Dave, the shifty Canadian centre who fired the winning goal in Canda's 3-2 win over Sweden, picked up a pass from Billy Gibson and scored from eight feet out.

Louis Secco made it 2-0 only 16 seconds later, driving in a pass from George Abel.

March Halted

The Canadian march was brought to an abrupt halt in the second period. Johny Mulhern raced in to take a pass from Jerry Kilmartin and beat goalie Ralph Hansch.

Less than two minutes later the Canadians were caught flat-footed in their own defensive zone and Ruben Bjorman streaked down to score the tying goal.

But the Canadians began pressing and shooting, keeping goalie Dick Desmond under steady fire. In the last minute of the middle period defenceman Jack Davies skated the length of the ice and let drive. The puck bounced off Desmond's pads into a scramble. Don Gauf came tearing in, got his stick on the puck and drove a shot into the net under Desmond's outstretched arm.

The Canadians maintained their territorial and shooting advantage in the third period, but the Americans' desperate power plays finally tied the game up again — this time for good.

At 17:52 Jerry Kilmartin whipped over a pass. Defenceman Johnny Sedin was parked at the Canadian goal-mouth. He snared the puck and made no mistake, slipping it in before Hansch could move.

The Canadians, swamping the Americans with a shots-on-goal margin of 58-13, missed plenty of scoring opportunities. Dave, Gibson, Secco and playing-manager Frank Sullivan all hit the goalpost with shots.

BOBO BRAZIL, pictured above, who will attempt to take the measure of Hans Hermann in the feature bout at the Brock Tuesday night. Whether Brazil's tremendous speed and damaging head butts can offset the German's ruthless tactics and famous Prussian Squeeze is a question. One thing the fans do know: Brazil backs down from no one and will be in their battling all the way. It will be a rugged contest. Fred Atkins meets up with a newcomer, Ray Clarke in the semi-final. Pat Flanagan and Jim (the Bull) Wright start off what promises to be a torrid mat session.

LUMBERMAN—First Baseman Gil Hodges limbers up with a half-dozen pieces of specialized lumber at an outdoor batting range, Coney Island, N.Y. The large home run slugger, who smashed 40 last season, departs soon for the Brooklyn Dodgers' Spring training camp at Vero Beach.

Hiawatha Hockeyists Finish League On Top

KEENE, Feb. 25 (ENS).—In the last doubleheader of the Otonabee Rural League schedule Friday night at Keene, Assumption defeated Westwood by 12-2 to qualify for the last playoff position, and Keene, playing by far their best game of the season, handed the Hiawatha Indians their first lose of the season, 6-2. The decks are cleared now for the playoffs which will commence on Tuesday night in Keene when Downers meet Assumption at seven, Hiawatha clashing with Keene at nine in the semi-final series, both being a two-out-of-three affair, the second games of this series will go Friday next.

The peewee playoffs started Saturday morning and the Assumption lads got away to a good start when they defeated both Keene teams in a doubleheader by 5-4 and 4-1. The next games will be played at Keene rink on Saturday morning next when the Keene Flyers meet Assumption at 11 o'clock and then hook up with Eagles in the second game. This is a round-robin series and each team plays the other twice.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Selecting by vote the one considered, rightly or wrongly, as the outstanding athlete of the year, male and female, is a comparatively easy chore, for the reason that your memory isn't overtaxed in making the selection. It isn't very difficult to look over your shoulder 12 months back, and name the stand-outs, because they're still fresh in your memory.

But suppose you get involved in one of those pointless arguments, pointless because unproveable, about who was the greatest in any one sport over the years, not the year, and then your headaches begin. For instance.

Who is Mister Baseball?

Or Mister Boxing . . . or Football . . . or even Mister (or Mrs.) Racing?

What name comes to mind first when the talk turns to those sports—the all-time hero through the years?

No man or group has ever given the answer, but the arguments make the best fuel when the hot stove league opens up the damper.

The greatest names of sport are not always the finest performers. They do, however, combine ability with the most valuable asset—color.

Babe Ruth not only hit more home runs than any other man, but every move he made was news. Even to his famous stomach-ache. The Bambino was probably the most colorful figure ever to hit baseball. Many declare Joe DiMaggio a greater player, and of course there are legions who insist that Ty Cobb, with his breath-taking speed on the bases, his deadly hitting, and his daring, was in a class by himself. And he oozed color, too. To which the Ruthians retort that the Babe was a great pitcher, a catcher, a first-rate outfielder and the greatest home-run hitter of all.

Was Jack Dempsey the top figure in boxing's history? Veteran ring fans insist Jim Jeffries was a better heavyweight champ, Fitzsimmons a harder hitter, Jim Corbett more skilful, and undoubtedly that hero of the eighties, the mighty John L. Sullivan was more boisterous. Yet no one has approached the gates Dempsey attracted and few have matched the slashing fury of the colorful Mauler in the Willard or Firpo fights. Who gets the nod in boxing?

Since the dawn of football, the fans have fought over their favorites. They bring up Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian whose plunging and kicking are legendary. Jim has made virtually every all-star eleven listed. But they can't forget Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost. And in Canada they say that Lionel Conacher was probably the equal of either, and a far greater all-round athlete than Grange.

Racing has its immortals in Citation, Exterminator and Sea Biscuit. Yet most racing fans in America start and finish with one name—Man o' War. The jockey heroes will be Tod Sloan, Earl Sande and right on down to Johnny Longden and Eddie Arcaro.

Track and field has produced many great names—Olympic and world champions. Who comes first? Is it Charlie Paddock, the "world's fastest human", or Paavo Nurmi, the inscrutable Finn, or fleet Jesse Owens, the scourge of the Nazis in the '36 Olympics? Or Clarence DeMar, seven times winner of the gruelling Boston marathon?

What of golf? Is it Bobby Jones, the only man ever to win the "Grand Slam" or Walter Hagen or today's Ben Hogan. Tennis and Bill Tilden, wrestling and Frank Gotch or Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

You wanna headache? Pick 'em yourself.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Red Wings Boost Lead With 2 Weekend Wins, New York Trips Bruins 5-2

By The Canadian Press

Emile Francis, the New York Rangers replacement goaltender Sunday night celebrated his first complete week in this year's National Hockey League play with a 5-2 victory over Boston Bruins. The win pushed the blueshirts three points into fourth place ahead of Boston. The victory was Francis' second since moving up from Cincinnati of the American Hockey League as a replacement for the injured Chuck Rayner. Two others were ties. He has yet to lose a game for the New Yorkers.

Detroit Red Wings boosted their league lead with two victories during the weekend, defeating the Maple Leafs 3-1 at Toronto Saturday night, then moving into Chicago for a 2-1 decision over the tail-end Black Hawks Sunday night.

The double victory hoisted the Wings 17 points in front of Montreal Canadiens who took over second place from the Leafs by trouncing Chicago 7-0 Saturday.

Five different New Yorkers had a hand in the scoring. Hy Buller connected in the opening period, Allan Stanley added one in the middle period, Allan Stanley added one in the middle period and Jack Stoddard, Ed Kullman and Reg Sinclair clicked for the others in the last period. Johnny McIntyre and Dave Creighton tallied for the Bruins.

Take Lead

Ted Lindsay gave the Red Wings a 1-0 first period lead Sunday at Chicago while Bep Guidolin tied it up for the Hawks in the middle session. Alex Delvecchio provided Detroit with the winner at 3:52 of the final.

At Montreal Saturday night, rookie Dickie Moore accounted for three of Montreal's seven goals against Chicago while Bernie Geoffrion potted two. Floyd Curry and veteran Elmer Lach scored the others.

Harry Lumley handled 44 shots in the Black Hawk net while Gerry McNeil stopped only 22 in chalking up his shutout.

Glen Skov, Gordie Howe and Sid Abel accounted for Detroit's three Saturday goals against the Maple Leafs. Howie Meeker slid in Toronto's lone marker.

Skov's goal came when Bill Juzda was off for charging in the first while Meeker's marker knotted the count at 1-1 shortly after the final session opened. Howe rifled home the winner from 25 feet out and Abel provided the clincher after coach Joe Primeau had pulled goalie Al Rollins in favor of an extra attacker.

No games are scheduled in the N.H.L. tonight, but Detroit plays in Boston Tuesday evening.

In the other games Sunday, Indianapolis Capitals handed Hershey Bears, western division leaders a 4-3 setback, St. Louis won 4-1 over Cincinnati, and Cleveland beat Providence 5-2.

Other Buffalo marksmen were Demarco, Pete Durham, and Loren Davis. Andy Barbe, Bob Solinger and Bill Ezinicki scored the Pittsburgh goals.

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP). — This year's Olympic figure skating was not near the calibre of the 1948 competitions, Sheldon Galbraith, coach of the Canadian Olympic figure skating team said Sunday on his return from Norway.

"Barbara Ann Scott could have won. . . all by herself," said Galbraith who coached the young Canadian ice star through her triumphs for years ago. "Jeannette Altwegg, the English winner was wonderful in her school figures, but her freeskating was nowhere near that of Barbara Ann's.

"Europeans put a great deal of emphasis on the difficult school figures, but they aren't even half the points. Their free skating, although it is improving, leaves much to be desired. They're learning, but they have yet to master the techniques of putting music and skating together."

He said Suzanne Morrow of Toronto who finished sixth in the ladies' singles, looked "very good in her practice sessions, but just didn't get going in competition. Her type of skating just isn't suited to the outdoor Olympic conditions.

"Suzie is used to competing indoors where the crowd is close and she can feel their presence. Over there it was outside in a stadium seating 26,000 persons. It was just like putting a small rink in the middle of Varsity Stadium. She never did get used to it."

Britons Bank On Philip To Handle Roughest Job

By COLIN FROST

LONDON, Feb. 25—(AP)—A blond young athlete with a ready smile is settling down to the toughest job Britain has to offer. And the British people, although unsure what the job entails, are certain he'll make the grade.

The man is Philip, 30-year-old Duke of Edinburgh. The job is Prince Consort to a reigning Queen.

Philip as yet has no legal status beyond that of an ordinary husband. His role in state affairs must be largely unofficial. Even his title has prompted speculation.

Only his wife, Queen Elizabeth 11, can decide Philip's share in her great burden.

British commentators trying to forecast Philip's role have brought out the history books to see how Queen Victoria shared her job with Prince Albert. But history hasn't helped much.

Both Philip and Albert were foreign-born. Albert was a German and Philip a Greek. The similarity ends there.

Albert came to Britain a stranger, misunderstood and misunderstanding. He hardly spoke the language. Much of the country mistrusted him.

Only after his death did Britons realize that Albert's wisdom in state councils had spurred the Victorian age to prosperity, only then did they call him Albert the Good.

Has British Upbringing

Philip came to his new job well-liked by the British people. He has the right background—a British upbringing, a first-class record in the Royal Navy, a love of sport and a sense of humor that Albert lacked.

Newsreels and the press have made his smile familiar throughout the Commonwealth. His share in Elizabeth's Canadian tour last year brought new warmth—and strength—to Royalty's part in holding together the scattered British peoples.

Philip shines in the less formal Royal tasks and the good-natured chit-chat accompanying the endless hand-shaking when Elizabeth is on parade. Newspaper readrs here who followed the Canadian tour were amused by his lighter encounters.

He is a good dancer. He can discard Royal protocol when he thinks necessary.

Philip's public life now that his wife is Queen is likely to follow the pattern of the last few years. He will still be the good-humored shadow, ready to lend a quick hand when the Queenly course gets tricky.

Behind the scenes Philip is likely to run the Royal household and estates for his wife. If he does, palace sources say, he will probably shake up the costly routine of court life, little changed since Albert gave it a going over more than a century ago.

The aim will be to save money.

St. Genesius Guild Wins At Festival

MONTREAL, Feb. 25—(CP)—Presentation of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" by the St. Genesius Players' Guild of Montreal Saturday night was judged top play in the Western Quebec Regional Drama Festival.

The Genesians won the award for the first time and it entitled them to compete in the Dominion Drama Festival to be held at Saint John, N.B., April 28-May 3.

The Rev. M. Dube, director of the winning play, was also awarded the Martha Allan Cup for the best production of the week.

Sciences, Humanities Both Needed–Smith

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP)—The most pressing problem of higher education today is integration of the sciences and the humanities, Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, said Saturday night.

He told the Royal Canadian Institute that science departments of universities are faced with such a volume of specialized knowledge that the humanities are retricted.

There was a growing recognition in professional schools that a scientific education was not enough to help a doctor, dentist, architect, engineer, lawyer or nurse completely.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIV. No. 47 — MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1952

EVENING GROSBEAK BOARDERS, more than 50 birds, have been receiving handouts at the Chandler home, 416 Rubidge St., for the past seven weeks. A few of the large flock (upper photo), are shown feeding on sunflower seeds on the railing of the back porch. Mrs. V. G. Chandler (lower), who with her husband has encouraged wild-birds to feed in their yard for a long time, started the hobby to interest their son, Reginald (lower). In poor health for many years, Reginald, 12, is now an expert observer, amateur bird artist and an authority on the fascinating subject.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Disease Outbreak In Cattle Expected To Kill US Orders

Recent purchases of cattle in the Peterborough area for export to the United States will probably have to be cancelled by the action of Washington in raising import bars against Canadian livestock. That is the immediate local effect in this district of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in the Regina section of Saskatchewan as unofficially expected here. Some 40 purebred Holsteins, six of them from this county and most of the others from the Cobourg area were tested and approved, ready for delivery to C. S. Erb & Son of Middletown, Pa.

Fred W. Steinkrauss, of Smith township, has 30 head of commercial cattle, including some purebred Holsteins, ready for shipment to Ed Bowers, of Medina, Ohio.

Passed Inspection

Dr. Harry Hamilton, of Hamilton and Ford, veterinary surgeons, said all these cattle passed the strict inspection that is required in this important branch of the export of Canadian livestock across the border.

Definite information as to the period of virtual quarantine against Canadian cloven-hoofed animals was not available today.

Dr. George R. Penhall, of the local office of health of animals division of the federal Department of Agriculture, said that 25 or 30 cattle received in this area from Western Canada were being traced to their purchasers for immediate inspection. Most of them, he said, were in Victoria county, with only a few bought for Peterborough herds.

"We have to trace all animals that have been delivered through the Union Stock Yards, Toronto," Dr. Penhall said.

Serious Setback

"If the period of exclusion continues for any length of time, even six months, it will be a serious setback to many farmers in Central Ontario," Norman W. McConkey remarked.

"We have one cow that was selected for the big consignment Wolverine sale at Williamston, Mich., April 16, and I know that breeders like J. J. T. McCague, Jack Fraser and others have been making up an important consignment from this province," Mr. McConkey said. "I suppose it will be some time until we know whether these cattle can be delivered.

Will Hit West

"The ban will hit a lot of the Western Canada beef cattle men, and I know that sheep breeders out there have been delivering across the border in car load lots.

Valuable Market

In the last 10 years our Central and Eastern Ontario Holstein breeders have had a valuable market in the United States, and have built up an excellent reputation there. The extent of the back-log of cattle from this area will depend on what happens between Ottawa and Washington.

Some 35 head of Holsteins were delivered from Napanee during the first week of February, and the more eastern counties have enjoyed business that has usually had few interruptions during the year."

Dr. Hamilton said that exports from Dundas, Leeds, Glengarry and elsewhere in that section, across the St. Lawrence River, took almost the entire time of one of the veterinary men in testing.

Dr. Penhall, Dr. Harold Worton, Frank Paterson, Mr. McConkey and others have had suspicions that the reference last week to a serious infection of cattle in the Regina area might be foot-and-mouth. They couldn't even imagine how that damaging disease could break out at a central point in the western provinces.

No Experience

"We have had no experience that I remember of foot-and-mouth infection in Ontario," Mr. Paterson said, "but we all know that the temporary banning of livestock for the United States could cause a serious loss to a lot of our farmers."

Stewart Bowman whose work is outside livestock commented that restrictions against meat products, "and even the hair and hide," are enforced, so dreaded is this disease.

Canadian regulations applying to breeders are so thorough that department officials know, the movements of animals and can trace them from the records as indicated in the assignment that was sent to Dr. Penhall last week. That action of immediate inspection of cattle from the west since last November was ordered before the news of the outbreak in the Regina area was made public.

Collegiate Girl Captures Actress Award

Eleanor McBrien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McBrien, 485 McDonnel St., received the best actress award in the Eastern Ontario Secondary School drama festival at Kingston on Saturday night.

This was the third straight year for a P.C.V.S. player to win this award. Miss Joyce Beggs, who presented the guild prize to Miss McBrien, won the award two years ago in a senior drama club presentation. Last year a junior club member, Miss Beverley Johnston won the award.

The collegiate's presentation, "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden" by Thornton Wilder was placed third. Kingston Collegiate and Vocational School won the best play award with Gwendolyn Pharis Ringwood's "Still Stands the House." Napanee Collegiate Institute placed second with the "Happy Journey."

Other schools represented were Belleville, Cobourg, Brockville and Trenton.

Commends Cast

Michael Meiklejohn, drama advisor, department of health and welfare, was adjudicator. He said after the P.C.V.S. performance that the "cast had wonderful ability to flow over the footlights." He added that the players "had a sense of theatre found in few amateur groups and had a good sense of comedy."

ELEANOR McBRIEN

But the P.C.V.S. troupe lost out to Napanee who presented the same play. The Napanee performance had a better interpretation of the pathos in the play with less comedy to edge P.C.V.S. for the honors.

Mr. Meiklejohn described Miss McBrien who played the part of Ma Kirby as a "good actress," explaining that she "looked her part."

Other good qualities in her performance mentioned by Mr. Meiklejohn were: "her fine sense of humor in her part, her fine ability to project her personality. She listened to her fellow actors, an art in a good actor or actress, and she never forgot for a moment to act."

Won Supporting Roles

Bert Ross as Arthur and Margaret Martyn as Caroline were considered for the supporting actor awards which were won by Trevor Ham of Napanee and Beverley Ramsay, also of Napanee.

Ross received credit for "his fine sense of timing and clear cut work" while Miss Martyn was commended for saying her lines. But both had the tendency to over-emphasize the comedy in their roles.

Others in the cast were: Ronald Buck, Barbara Clark and Arthur Low.

Miss Mildred Bailey who directed the play commended Pauline Zacks, assistant director and stage manager, for laying the important ground work for the students' presentation. A student, Miss Zacks worked with the players helping with the lines and sound effects while Miss Bailey directed the dramatics. Gail Craig acted as a prompter for the group.

Charles Hurst Leaves City For Ottawa Post

Engineer Charles K. Hurst of the Trent Valley Canal office was given a farewell send-off on Saturday when he left to take a position with the International Joint Commission in Ottawa for work on St. Lawrence Seaway plans.

Mr. Hurst has been with the Trent staff for the past three years.

Superintending engineer T. J. Ryan gave an impromptu farewell speech on the occasion and Stanley Purser, on behalf of the staff, presented Mr. Hurst with a brief case and silver cake plate.

Born in Calgary, Mr. Hurst received his engineering degrees from the Universities of Alberta and Iowa. He worked for the Edmonton waterworks system for two years, joined the Department of Transport and was staff torpedo officer during the Second World War with the Royal Canadian Navy.

He resumed his duties with the department following the war until the present. Mr. Hurst will be an advisor to the Commission's head, General A. G. L. McNaughton.

"Merry Wives" To Open Drama Festival

The stage is set for the opening of the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival on Tuesday at the Collegiate. It is set literally, too, for the Peterborough Little Theatre, whose production of Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" opens the Festival, got its set back in place on the Collegiate stage over the weekend.

R. J. Bolton, chairman of the festival, reports that the various committee heads have everything well in hand. Arrangement for accommodation of the actors and visitors have been completed; basic stage properties for the ten plays have been accumulated; the lighting arrangements made; and the seat sale has been brisk.

Most of the season ticket holders are from the city, but there has been a good demand from outside. Demands for tickets for individual performances have been good, and 150 out-of-town visitors have already reserved seats for the week-end, Friday and Saturday performances, when Ottawa Little Theatre, and Brockville Theatre Guild are presenting full-length plays, and three other groups are doing one-act plays at the Saturday matinee.

Leonard McNeil of the ticket committee says that many good seats are still available for most performances and calls attention to the fact that Tuesday evening will be the last chance to see "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

The Mayor, Council and Board of Education are attending this performance.

Mayor H. F. Waddell will officially welcome the festival Tuesday evening.

Adjudicator Pierre Lefevre will criticize and comment from the stage on each play following the final curtain each evening.

Indians Subject To Any Laws Except Own Act?

Adjournment was made in a fish and game charge against Willis Smoke and Lou Grey of Alnwick Township. The pair were charged withtaking fish out of season but since the case came up in court several weeks ago, the matter has become more deeply involved in legal interpretations of the extent to which the Indian Act applied. Evidence last month was that the game overseer saw a canoe on Rice Lake and later saw a canoe pulled up on shore on the Indian reservation. A search of the area near the canoe revealed 17 pickerel. The prosecution conceded that when the fish were seized they were on Indian land.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, Q.C., suggested that the court should first rule on whether the accused speared the fish before proceeding as otherwise it didn't matter.

Covered Whole Case

Defence Counsel J. C. M. German, Q.C., submitted that the Indian Act covered the whole case and that non-Indians had no right on Indian land, and that included game overseers. The game overseers, unless specifically directed to do so by the R.C.M.P. or the Dominion government, had no authority to enter upon the reservation and were therefore liable to proceedings for trespass for going on Indian land and seizing fish and fishing equipment. Civil offenses, Mr. German pointed out, are dealt with by the Dept. of Indian Affairs and criminal offences under the Code and there was no jurisdiction held by the game overseers.

Defence counsel produced a copy of the Gunshot Treaty, procured from Indian Agent Adams of Peterborough drawn up at the time of George III to cover the Bay of Quinte Indians and, to quote the treaty, "the Indians are not to be deprived of their fish and game as long as the sun shines, the grass grows and the British Empire exists. . ."

"Would they be subject to provincial government law?" asked the magistrate.

"No. The law affecting Indians is found in the Indian Act," submitted Mr. German.

"This land does not front on Rice Lake as originally dedicated, but I am not going to argue that point," said Mr. Deyman. "The treaty has been abridged by the Dominion government when they passed regulations curtailing the unlimited rights of the Indians. The offense was not committed on the reservation and when the Indian is off the reservation he must be governed by the laws outside the reservation."

Mr. Deyman added that the accused were charged under a clause passed by the Dominion government and added to the provincial act.

Flock Of Evening Grosbeaks Drop In For Meals Daily

Among the city's lesser known bird watchers—and probably one of the best—is 12-year-old Reg Chandler of 416 Rubidge St., son of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Chandler. Right now he observes and feeds a sizeable flock of yellow evening grosbeaks on his pantry window, the back porch railing and in a bird feeding station. There are about 50 birds in the colony that come for meals at 7 in the morning and stay until 3 in the afternoon. They would eat all that time, too, if there was enough food available. As it is, the grosbeaks eat about eight pounds of sunflower seeds each week besides suet, congealed grease, nut and popcorn screenings.

The yellow grosbeak and its first cousin, the pine, or pink grosbeak, is a wary winter bird that rarely comes into cities for any length of time.

But this flock has been hanging around the Chandler home for seven weeks now and seem mighty satisfied with the bill of fare.

Pretty Birds

The grosbeak is a little smaller than a robin with toast-brown head and shoulders, yellow band over the forehead, underparts and top of back bright yellow, white wings edged in black and black tail.

Neither Reg nor his parents have been able to feed the grosbeaks out of their hands but they have become bold enough to peck at their food a few feet away from their hosts.

The Chandlers, seeing several are banded about the legs, have been able to read the bands. One male has two plastic bands on one leg, a black one and a white one. On the other is a metal tag reading "48-23921". Mr. Chandle says that a couple of the females are also banded.

Birds have always picked up scraps at the Chandler house, Reg can remember.

He was a blue baby and was unable to attend school until three years ago. His parents resolved to keep him occupied and supplied him with bird books of all kinds, especially those filled with lots of pictures. Mrs. Chandler admits it was her husband's idea and she thought little of it at the start. For a long time now she has become as keen about bird watching as her two men.

Summers spent at a cottage at Campbelltown on the Otonabee river provide opportunities for field and woods observations. They walk to Jackson's Park and Green Hill and watch nature with far more interest than the rest of us.

More and More

Sparrows and starlings were their first city bird visitors in 1947. White crowned sparrows came next and by last year there were white throated and song sparrows, goldfinches, phoebes, least fly catches, myrtle and Connecticut warblers and Philadelphia vireos. Robins and bluebirds are commonplace. Last spring, Mrs. Chandler recalls, they nursed a fledgling robin and dug worms for it until it regained its health and left.

Reg Chandler decided at first that he would like to become a bird artist but now since he has observed so many, an ornithologist. His room is filled with books and bird sketches and model aircraft. He is interested in anything that flies, it seems. The dining room walls are hung with no less than 25 bird prints.

There is also a cuckoo clock in the corner.

No Drink Pledge Only Part Of Challenge

A challenge broader than the abstinence pledge was offered to Peterborough United Church congregations on Sunday.

No direct mention was made of pledge cards, but they were available to church members as they left the services. The Rev. H. G. Douglas, chairman of Peterborough presbytery, said this method followed a motion made by the presbytery after the announcement of Commitment Sunday.

Only One Phase

The challenge offered to congregations was on the basis of Christian stewardship, of which temperance is only one phase, Mr. Douglas remarked.

In Toronto, the Rev. Dr. John R. Mutchmor, secretary of the general council's evangelism and social service body, said the first Commitment Sunday had a significant start.

Purpose of the special Sunday, chosen because it precedes the Lenten denial period, was for United Church members and adherents to sign a five-pledge card.

The points specifically mentioned on the card are:

1. To abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.
2. To promise not to serve such beverages in homes.
3. To promise not to invest money in breweries and distilleries.
4. To promise to help others take a similar stand.
5. To promise to use his or her vote in favor of political measures which will advance the temperance cause.

Decided Locally

Churches in various parts of the province treated the question in different ways. No set procedure was laid down by the general council of the United Church; the method to be followed was to be chosen by the various presbyteries.

Some ministers made direct mention of the cards, and asked members to return signed pledges the following Sunday. Others asked their congregations to sign and keep the pledges. Others, as in Peterborough, made no direct mention of the pledge, but placed a broader challenge before their congregations.

OTTAWA TAX RATE

Ottawa expects an increase of two mills in their tax rate which is 52.25 mills for Public School supporters and 59.9 mills for Separate School taxpayers. Mayor Charlotte Whitton, a prolific popper of ideas that get into the news, is offering $100 from her own purse to the first ratepayer that produces a suggestion that results in a saving of $10,000.

May Ask Parliament To Vote $7 Million For Culture

By HAROLD MORRISON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP) — A vast scheme for the creation of national scholarships and bursaries for some 10,000 university students is under active consideration by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Planning has devoloped so well that the Prime Minister, keenly interested in implementing recommendations of the Massey Commission on Arts, may ask parliament at the next session opening Feb. 28 for $7,000,000 to get the scholarship plan rolling.

In addition, it has been definitely decided that he will seek another $7,000,000 to continue in the next fiscal year the federal-aid-to university scheme launched a year ago.

The university-aid program still has many kinks. There has been some question whether the method of fund distribution on the basis of provincial population is the best feasible system.

Argument continues as to what type of institute of higher learning should be eligible for federal aid to ward off financial crisis threatening universities. In Quebec, for example, there was no easy agreement and Finance Minister Abbott and Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon had to head up a special commission to judge what institutions would become eligible in that province.

A Major Recommendation.

Launching of the scholarship scheme was one of the major recommendations of the 500-page report by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General-designate of Canada, and four other comsissioners. The report, considered by the government as its cultural guide to promote national unity through cultural development of the country, was placed before parliament last year after a two-year investigation of Canada's cultural achievements.

It Envisioned:

1. A total of 100 annual "Canada" scholarships of $1,000 each, tenable for four years, granted to students showing outstanding ability and exceptional promise. When the program was in full swing, 400 Canadian students would be able to attend university free.

2. A total of 250 "National" scholarships, valued at $500 each, awarded annually and tenable also for four years. These would go to "distinguished and promising" students.

3. For "able and diligent" students, in financial need, there would be 2,000 bursaries of $500 each, also tenable for four years.

4. Finally, there would be a loan fund open to all students whose work is acceptable to university authorities.

There were other scholarship recommendations in the Massey report, now also under government consideration. These include support of post-graduates pursuing studies in the fields of humanities, social sciences and law, as well as those training as musicians, artists and writers.

Some hint of the government's intentions on aid to cultural programs may be given in the traditional speech from the throne, the first Mr. Massey will read in his new role as Governor-General.

Along with the scholarship program, Mr. St. Laurent is considering the possibility of establishing the 15-man arts council which Mr. Massey recommended to direct the government's over-all cultural policies.

The council would be independent of government departments, reporting directly to parliament.

If the council is created, it still is possible that members of the Arts commission may be invited to become part-time members. The members, apart from Mr. Massey, were: Arthur Surveyor of Montreal, civil engineer; Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia; Most Rev. Georges-Henri Levesque, Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences, Laval University; and Dr. Hilda Neatby, Professor of History, University of Saskatchewan.

World Population Increases 75,000 a Day U.N. Reports

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) —The world's people are multiplying at the fastest rate in all history.

Latest United Nations world census figures indicate about 75,000 more people show up every morning at breakfast tables around the world. That means there are about 75,000 more births than deaths each day.

The U.N. population yearbook estimates about 2,400,000,000 people now live on the earth.

There's a net increase of about 28,000,000 people a year.

If this expansion continues at its present rate the world will be three times as crowded with people in 100 years, experts estimate.

Some population authorities assume man has lived on earth about 100,000 years and estimate his numbers increased only to around 200,000,000 or 300,000,000 by the time of Christ. This period would represent about 98 per cent of the man's existence, if the calculations are correct.

In the 1,650 years after Christ the population just about doubled, from less than 300,000,000 to possibly 550,000,000, the calculations indicate. This was at the dawn of "modern times," about the year 1650.

But in the 300 years since then the population has skyrocketed to around 2,400,000,000. If the estimates are anywhere near correct this means that in 300 years, since 1650, the world gained almost 10 times the number of people it had accumulated in its first 100,000 years.

Less Deaths

The U.N. report says the declining death rate is the main reason world population is increasing so rapidly.

Is anyone worrying about the increase?

Many are, and many have in the past. They ask where is all the food and all the elbow-room coming from?

Others are confident the growth rate will level off eventually.

As for the population experts, they feel their job is to count people, not feed them.

Russia Seeks To Pull Sweden, Norway Out Of Atlantic Pact

By THOMAS HARRIS.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25 — (Reuters) —Russia, using Finland as a bait, is trying to get Norway and Denmark out of the Atlantic Pact.

Soviet diplomats, over cosy lunches for Scandinavian politicians and officials, have been hinting for some time that Moscow now favors a neutral alliance between Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finland to keep Northern Europe out of any future war.

Hitherto, Russia has strongly opposed any agreement between Finland and the other three Scandinavian countries on the ground that such a neutral block would side with the West in a war.

Now she appears ready to trust the four countries to remain genuinely neutral.

It is believed that Sweden, who worked hard to bring about a neutral defensive alliance with Norway and Denmark in 1949 but failed, would welcome the formation of the four-power block advocated by the Russian diplomats.

It would strengthen Sweden's neutrality policy which is firmly supported by all Swedish political parties.

Denmark officially has said several times that she is well-satisfied with membership in the Atlantic Pact. But many Danes would feel even more satisfied in a neutral Scandinavian bloc if it could be created.

The Finns would be overjoyed to enter a neutral block with Russia's blessing and keep out of the way of any clash between the great powers.

Norway, on the other hand, has no faith in neutrality. She is firmly in the Atlantic Pact and it would take a lot to get her out of it.

Nevertheless, Russia still seems hopeful of getting Norway and Denmark out of the pact, and apparently has found an ally in Finland's Agrarian Party Prime Minister, Urho Kekkonen.

Kekkonen has made an indirect public appeal to Norway and Denmark to withdraw from the Pact through the Agrarian Party publication Maakansa.

He began by explaining that Finland's military assistance and friendship pact with Russia would operate only if Finland were attacked, or if Russia were attacked through Finland.

This is a new and freer interpretation of the pact, which also binds the two countries to consult on mutual defence measures in a war or threat of war.

Some observers here, citing Kekkonen's good relations with the Kremlin, believe Russia may have agreed to "tone down" the pact in exchange for Kekkonen's help in her anti-Atlantic pact drive in Scandinavia.

Direct Taxes Growing Source Of Funds

By The Canadian Press

The trade department, documenting Canada's economic growth in the last quarter-century, notes the growing importance of direct taxation as revenues for Canada's governments — federal, provincial and municipal.

In a 127-page survey of trends since 1928, the department estimates that total taxation—direct and indirect—has jumped to $3,868,000,000 in 1950 from $788,000,000 in 1928.

But while the percentage of indirect taxes—such as excise and sales taxes—of the country's national income remained relatively unchanged, the percentage of direct personal and corporation taxes increased rapidly.

Direct personal taxation based on personal income jumped to $735,000,000 in 1950, compared with $59,000,000 in 1928. As a percentage of national income it increased to 5.1 in 1950 from 1.2.

Pattern Changes

Direct corporation tax climbed to $901,000,000 from $45,000,000 and as a percentage of national income, increased to 6.3 from 0.9.

Indirect taxation jumped to $2,050,000,000 from $684,000,000 but as a percentage of total national income remained unchanged at 14.2.

Thus the department concludes: "Over the 22-year period since 1928 the pattern of revenues and expenditures of all governments together—federal, provincial and municipal—has been considerably altered.

"On the revenue side, it is apparent that direct taxes have become much more important. Thus, in 1928 direct personal taxes constituted only 6.4 per cent of total government revenues, and direct corporation taxes only 4.9 per cent.

"In 1950, these proportions had risen to 16.7 per cent and 20.5 per cent, respectively. On the other hand the proportion of total revenues derived from indirect taxes has declined substantially, from 74.4 per cent of total revenues in 1928 to 46.7 per cent in 1950.

"These shifts in the relative importance of direct and indirect taxes as sources of government revenue have been accompanied by large increases, in absolute terms, in the total of both types of taxes, from $788,000,000 in 1928 to $3,686,000,000 in 1950."

Plane Slides Into Sea, Takes Off Again

TOKYO, Feb. 25 (AP) — The navy today reported the strange case of a plane which slid off the icy deck of an aircraft carrier, bounced off the water, and flew.

The pilot is Lt.-Cmdr. William H. (Buck) Rogers and the plane a skyraider Guppy with a crew of three.

The incident occurred one morning this month, the navy said. Rogers jockeyed his ship onto the port catapult of the aircraft carrier Valley Forge.

Something was wrong with the catapult. Suddenly the skyraider started skidding down the ice-coated deck of the carrier with no help from the still-cocked catapult. Rogers tramped on the brakes and cut the power.

The plane didn't stop so he turned on full power. The ship dropped off the bow of the ship and hit the water with a thud. It bounced into the air and started flying.

Rogers eased the craft along eight inches above the waves. Finally he was able to gain altitude.

Then he and his crew went ahead and completed their mission.

Coal Shortage Hinders European Plan

GENEVA, Feb. 25 — (AP). — The U.N. Economic Commission for Europe predicted Sunday the achievement of Western Europe's industrial development plans will be hindered by an ever-growing shortage of coal.

A commission report on the European coal situation urged vigorous government action both to discourage the wasteful use of high-grade coal and to speed coal production. If western governments fail to tackle the problem effectively, the commission said, they will be faced with a drastic lowering of production targets or an annual drain of $600,000,000 by 1956 for purchases of U.S. coal.

"Among the many commodity shortages which have befallen Europe since the war," the report said, "the shortage of coal stands out as both the most serious and the most necessary."

The commission estimated the industrial development plans of the countries participating in the organization of European economic co-operation implied an increase in annual coal consumption of 80,000,000 tons by 1956.

Additional Gap

In the same period, the commission forecast, Western Europe's annual coal production will increase by only 60,000,000 tons, leaving an additional gap of 20,000,000 tons.

If, as appears possible, Poland cuts off her coal shipments to Western Europe, a further 10,000,000 tons will have to be found from outside Europe, thus leaving the O.E.E.C. countries with an annual coal deficit 30,000,000 tons greater in 1956 than in 1951.

In the worst case this would imply imports from the U.S. of more than 50,000,000 tons in 1956, the commission said.

Although Russia was importing nearly three times as much coal from Poland as before the war, the report said there had thus far been no corresponding decline in Polish shipments to the west.

One-fourth of all Western Europe's coal imports last year came from Poland, the commission reported, and the loss of this source of supply would be a serious blow to the western countries.

Little Change Seen In Assets Of Gas Department

From the financial statement of the gas department of the Utilities Commission for 1951, the total assets are $444,629.44. This is only a slight change from 1950, as practically no capital expenditures were made last year either for new plant or distribution system.

Total revenue was $129,080.98, an increase of 6.1 per cent over 1950, but operating charges increased 14 per cent due to expenditures on main repairs and deferred maintenance on the gas plant. This increase will continue for another year at least. It resulted in a net operating deficit of $7,231.24.

Domestic revenue decreased 7 per cent; commercial revenue decreased 24 per cent; industrial revenue increased 12 per cent, and propane cylinder filling, which was initiated this year, supplied an increase in revenue of $12,131.64.

A total of 50,493,700 cubic feet of propane-air gas was sold in 1951, a reduction of 5 per cent from 1950, but an increase of 5 per cent over 1949 figures. The average cost of production per thousand cubic feet of gas was $2.70.

2,509 Domestic Users

In gas used for domestic purposes, consumption decreased 4.5 per cent while the number of consumers decreased 7 per cent. At the end of the year there were 2,509 domestic consumers, using an average of 68 cu. ft. per month, and paying an average monthly bill of $2.32. The average revenue per thousand cubic feet of domestic gas sold was $3.02.

In the commercial division, 7,331,500 cubic feet were used, a decrease of 30 per cent from the previous year. The number of consumers remained at 215, each consumer using an average of 2,850 cubic feet per month, and paying an average bill of $6.17 per month. Average revenue per thousand cubic feet of commercial gas sold was $2.18.

In the industrial division, 20,028,600 cubic feet of gas were used, an increase of 8 per cent over the 1950 figures. The number of consumers remained the same. The average revenue per thousand cubic feet of gas sold was $1.51.

New Incentive Rates

In view of the decrease in domestic and commercial consumption, the Commission set up special incentive rates reducing the rates for gas used for automatic hot water heating and automatic space heating. This step was taken late in the heating season, so immediate results were not obtained. It is expected, however, that many customers will take advantage of these rates in 1952.

At the gas plant a propane bottle filling plant was set up, and now, through a private distributor, serves the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland. The major part of the cost of this new installation was paid by the sale of scrap metal from the old plant.

Olympics To Cost Oslo $1,540,000

OSLO, Feb. 25 (CP).—The city of Oslo estimates cheerfully it will take a $1,540,000 beating for its pains in staging the sixth winter Olympic games.

Arnljot Eng, secretary of the city financial department, said that's alright with Oslo.

He explained to a reporter the Norwegian capital will get its money's worth in two ways: world publicity and the future use of the big sports installations built for the games.

Then, too, there is the money spent in Oslo shops and hotels by the big influx of visitors. There is no firm estimate on that amount yet, but Norway is still fighting its way back from the lean years of the war and can use all the foreign currency it can get.

Eng said the city will be around 11,000,000 kroner ($1,540,000) in the hole when the games are over.

Trinity School Rolls To 8-2 Hockey Win

TCS was in command, with McDerment netting his first goal within 20 seconds of the opening whistle, but the Zetes tied the score on a goal by Meredith.

Need 7 Million To Implement Culture Plan

By HAROLD MORRISON.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP). — A vast scheme for the creation of national scholarships and bursaries for some 10,000 university students is under active consideration by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Planning has developed so well that the Prime Minister, keenly interested in implementing recommendations of the Massey Commission on arts, may ask parliament at the next session opening Feb. 28 for $7,000,000 to get the scholarship plan rolling.

In addition, it has been definitely decided that he will seek another $7,000,000 to continue in the next fiscal year the federal aid to university scheme launched a year ago.

The university aid program still has many kinks. There has been some question whether the method of fund distribution on the basis of provincial population is the best system.

Argue On Eligibility

Argument continues as to what type of institute of higher learning should be eligible for federal aid to ward off financial crises threatening universities. In Quebec, for example, there was no easy agreement and Finance Minister Abbott and Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon had to head up a special commission to judge what institutions would become eligible in that province.

Launching of the scholarship scheme was one of the major recommendations of the 500-page report by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General designate of Canada, and four other commissioners. The report envisioned:

1. A total of 100 annual Canada scholarships of $1,000 each, tenable for four years, granted to students showing outstanding ability and exceptional promise. When the program was in full swing, 400 Canadian students would be able to attend university free.
2. A total of 250 national scholarships, valued at $500 each, awarded annually and tenable also for four years. These would go to "distinguished and promising" students.
3. For "able and diligent" students, in financial need, there would be 2,000 bursaries of $500 each, also tenable for four years.
4. Finally, there would be a loan fund open to all students whose work is acceptable to university authorities.

There were other scholarship recommendations in the Massey report, now also under government consideration. These include support of post-graduates pursuing studies in the fields of humanities, social sciences and law, as well as those training as musicians, artists and writers.

Errol Flynn's Suit Opens March 17

NASSAU, Feb. 25 (Reuters)—A $224,000 assault suit brought by actor Errol Flynn against wealthy Canadian Duncan McMartin has been set for hearing March 17 before the Bahamas Supreme Court.

The court's chief justice already has arranged for some evidence to be taken in California. McMartin now is in the Bahamas and Flynn is expected to arrive shortly before the trial.

The suit is the result of an argument between the two in Nassau last March. Flynn claims McMartin struck him and that the blow was so hard his spine was injured.

Flynn also claims McMartin slapped him during an argument last October in a Nassau night club.

Prairie Grandma Fine Artist

SASKATOON (CP).—Nearly 70 years ago a young girl started training as a school teacher in St. Cloud, Minn. She brought with her from the farm four tubes of oils and the ambition to learn to paint. Fate decided otherwise and she had to teach mathematics.

But Mrs. Mary E. Cryderman never lost the desire to paint pictures. She was a wife and mother of four children before she found time to indulge in this hobby.

Now a great-grandmother — she will be 87 in May—Mrs. Cryderman still delights in painting, and is generally found working on a new creation. Nowadays she doesn't paint from nature, but contents herself with copying the works of the masters.

She has never taken art lessons. In her long life she has lived on three frontiers. The Crydermans first moved from Minnesota to North Dakota, and came to the Weyburn district of Saskatchewan in 1902.

Mrs. Cryderman still was "hungry to paint" but money was scarce in the pioneer days. She got a real start after making an agreement with her husband that she would get as much money for art materials as he put into "smokes." She says it has proved a rewarding hobby.

Accuse Liberals Overlooking Women Of Party

TORONTO, Feb. 25 — (CP). — The Liberal Party in Canada was accused Saturday of overlooking women active in the party when it confers honors and makes appointments. Mrs. Angus Gordon, convener of the Political Education Committee of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, made the accusation at a meeting of the executive.

Mrs. Gordon said this was in the main the reason the association has difficulty in directing the younger women into its membership.

"We have in the ranks of Liberal women across Canada outstanding women both willing and able to fill appointments to national and international boards," she said. She called upon Liberal women "to stand together and demand recognition of the work they have done and no longer show a willingness to be hewers of wood and drawers of water in political work."

Mrs. M. J. Poupore of Skead presided at the gathering of women representing the six Liberal districts of the province. A guest was Mrs. Douglas Blair of Ottawa, executive secretary of the National Federation of Liberal Women of Canada. She reported that a special meeting of Liberal women would be held in Ottawa in conjunction with the meeting of the Advisory Council of the National Liberal Federation expected this spring.

It was announced that the annual meeting would be held in Toronto May 29.

White Biggest Color In Hats Shown At Spring Hat Tea

White is the biggest color in the spring scene from a bird's-eye view it would seem. Just about every hat in the collection shown at the Y.W.C.A. Spring Hat Tea on Saturday had a touch of white, but the favorites of the crowd were forms covered all over with flowerlets of white violets. These hats were studded with brilliants and had little colored veils tied at the back with soft velevet ribbon to give them a vibrance.

Mrs. W. J. Gilling called attention to the highlights of the hats modelled for benefit of the viewers who numbered more than 300 at the three showings of the afternoon. She herself was wearing a most becoming creation of black straw with a big white rose placed high toward the back. Each of the Y members working at the tea also wore a new spring hat from the collection. Most of them had chosen the black or navy straws trimmed with sprays of white lilac to go with their dark winter dresses. Those who wore new spring prints were able to match them with the soft yellows and beiges that were also prominent.

Nearly all the hats were small and tight-fitting. The objective is beauty this spring and this was encouraged by much use of soft, diaphonous veiling. Several had white straw crowns and velevet brims and these Mrs. Gilling described as a "compromise between winter and spring—winter view from the front, spring view from the rear." Only one sporty number was shown—a peaked cap of Black Watch tartan with tall pheasant quill dyed to match it exactly.

Clovers dyed a tan shade were trimming on a becoming yellow straw. Mrs. Ivison Walker wore a small pink straw with a large rose spread over the crown which was lovely for her soft coloring. Miss Dorothy Roberts was smart in a white Panama bonnet brim hat with black ribbon bow placed for added height. When modelling a delightful little hat with lilac trim, Mrs. Bruce Servos wore a double spray of matching white lilacs as a corsage on her suit. Mrs. Crawford Turner showed two outstanding hats, one of grey and white straw with large white pom pom, and the other of mauve straw with purple lilacs, both designed specially for the stately type of woman.

Other models were Miss Dorothy Harle, Miss Zita Spencer, Mrs. John Buckley and Miss Dorothy Metcalfe. The showings were in charge of Mrs. Tom Cook.

Husband Wins Hat

A new spring hat worth $10 is coming absolutely free to Mrs. Victor Northcott for her husband was winner of the "guess the weight of the kettle" contest in connection with the tea. It was the copper kettle which has been given to decorate the cafeteria and Mr. Northcott put in his guess which was exactly right, as he was passsing through the lobby to go for a meal. Miss Helen Edmison and Miss Marion Pound were in charge of the contest.

A table of home cooking for sale was in charge of Mrs. B. Hoggy and her assistants were Mrs. S. Zakos, Mrs. J. Hayward, Miss Dorothy Constable and Miss Edna Rule.

The tea was convened by Mrs. Marlow Banks and she laid the serving table with a lovely lace cloth and centred it with a large yellow bowl filled with daffodils and white snapdragon, and highlighted with matching yellow tapers.

Mrs. T. J. Carley and Mrs. Charles Hurst poured tea for the opening hour, followed by Miss Caroline Littlefield and Mrs. Hugh Waddell.

Serving was in charge of Mrs. Stan McBride and was done by Mrs. O. Price, Miss Edith Miller, Miss Nancy Walsh, Miss Ruth Ann Brown, Mrs. E. A. Killingbeck, Miss Jean McIntyre, Miss Kay Calladine, Mrs. Sidney Constable, Miss Joyce Harris, Mrs. Charles Wood and Miss Marie Sporrin.

Proceeds of this tea will be used by the Members' Council for the various projects which it must support. The president, Miss Jean Hammond, received the guests at the opening, assisted by Mrs. H. T. Rehill, incoming president of the Y, and later their places were taken by vice-president Miss Annie Williams and Mrs. Walter Perks.

Miss Yvette Simoneau was taking the tickets.

Blind Teacher Teaches Blind

VICTORIA, B. C. (CP).—Miss Dorothy Stark, herself blind, has been teaching the sightless to read and write for 22 years. Local representative of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Miss Stark taught in public schools before she lost her sight.

Now she has a number of blind pupils whom she visits once a week. She leaves them plenty of homework. She says her prize pupil is a 60-year-old Victoria woman who quickly learned to read Braille in English and then in French.

Miss Stark uses two methods. For younger and more alert students there is the Braille system, involving different arrangements of six dots. For older pupils who have lost the finer sense of touch she uses the "Moon" system, employing raised letters.

After teaching the reading of all types of works—Latin classics, romances, mysteries and the Bible she trains them to read time on clocks and watches.

She says it is easier to learn to write than to read. The course for Braille runs more than three months and "Moon" can be taught in about three weeks.

Of Pioneer Emily Families Couple Married 50 Years

Children of Emily township pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ruth, Chemong Road, Tuesday will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The 50 years of marriage will be celebrated quietly, the couple entertaining relatives and friends at an open house.

The couple were married at the bride's home by the Rev. H. B. Rowe and witnessed by her brother and sister.

Mrs. Ruth is the former Dinah Lowes, daughter of Jacob and Dora Lowes who were among the first settlers of the seventh line of Emily township. Mr. Ruth's parents were George and Martha Ruth, also pioneers in Emily, near Fowler's Corners.

The Ruth's spent almost all their married 50 years on the Ruth homestead where Mr. Ruth was born. There they farmed until 11 years ago when the elderly couple moved into Peterborough and retired.

In comparing the children of today with those 50 years ago Mrs. Ruth said that the children are just "as good today as they were then."

"The children nowadays do everything as we did. There's not much difference in children in this modern age."

To the newly married couples Mrs. Ruth recommended that they end any arguments with a mutual agreement, each taking turns at seeing the other's point of view. In that way their marriage will run more smoothly.

Their five children are: Oswald, Emily township, Edmund, on the homestead, Mrs. Belva Braithwaite, Peterborough, Mrs. Leta Gardner, Peterborough, and Mrs. Marjorie Irwin, Lindsay. They also have eight grandchildren.

"Hot Flashes" Stopped

or strikingly relieved in tests by doctors!

• If you're miserable from the "hot flashes," and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life"—you may be suffering unnecessarily!

For, in tests by doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering—in case after case! Complete or striking relief.

Yes! Research has proved Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern in action . . . has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change"!

So get Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or new, improved Tablets. Both are grand, too, for functional pains and "weak" feelings of monthly periods.

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those awful "heat waves"!

DOROTHY DIX

Selfish Young Wife Wants Only Money From Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: Last summer I married a boy against his parents' wishes. He was hurt by their disapproval, but married me anyway. Wanting to make a good impression, I had a big church wedding for which I went deeply into debt without telling my fiance. I also had other debts. I promised him that I would save his allotment checks so we would have a nest egg, but, of course, had to use the money for my bills. I have a good job, but between paying my debts and living, it takes all the money I make or get from him. Now I have admitted my debts, as an honorable person should, and asked him for his savings to help clear them. I also know that his parents have some bonds of his, on which they are co-owners. Am I not entitled to these, too? His parents refuse to give them to me, but I feel I should insist on getting them.

PEARL M. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly no advice I could give would please you; all I hope is that your young husband can get out of your clutches while he still has a shirt to his back. I do hope, however, that by showing merciless hunger for money which will drive many young girls to dishonesty and worse, some gullible young serviceman may be saved the fate of your husband. Too many girls are marrying today solely for the allotment check, which represents money for a good time and no responsibility entailed.

Your Actions Dishonest

So you acknowledged your debts "as an honorable person should." Why, you don't even know the meaning of the word honor. Every step you've taken has been dishonest, sly, deceitful. Marrying while you had debts was dishonest. Adding to these debts for a big wedding just to make an impression was deceitful; marrying the young man against his parents' wishes, and in fact against his own judgment, was not the action of an honorable person. You have shown not one evidence of decency in your entire treatment of your husband. He has been badly stuck in his acquisition of a wife.

Naturally you know by this time what I think of the bond situation. You have absolutely no right to them, especially under existing circumstances, and if his parents have any sense at all they'll keep the bonds tucked safely away in a safe deposit box. Even Junior shouldn't be trusted with them; picking you for a wife proves his lack of judgment. He'll improve with age and experience, probably. However, I'm afraid you won't. To you money will always be the prime requisite of life regardless of whose life you wreck to get it.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of people in their forties having a child? I say they are too old, because at that age children will make them nervous. Also, younger parents are better companions for a child, and a youngster will be more proud of his parents if they are young.

DOT.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are taking quite a job of judging on yourself, Dot. If a couple has attained the age of 40 without having children and feel they want a child, that is their business, and as an outsider I wouldn't hazard an opinion on so personal a matter. Your objections are purely relative, anyway. While there is no doubt that younger people are physically, and usually emotionally, better equipped to become parents, it is not a hard and fast rule. Some women at 20 are more nervous than many at 50. If older parents take on the job with conscientious awareness of the responsibility, there is no reason why their offspring should be less proud of them that he would be of younger parents. We can't turn back the hands of time, and to have a wanted child at 40 is better than not having one at all. With today's longer life expectancy the child has a good chance of being well established in life during his parents' lifetime.

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother loves to have me brush her hair at night, for about twenty minutes. I dislike doing it, as I feel I could be doing something with my friends at that time. I am 12.

JESSY V.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't you think this small favor is little enough to do for your mother in return for all she does for you? Having her hair brushed helps mother relax after a trying day; many people find nervous tensions and headaches relieved in this manner and I'm sure you don't really begrudge the service.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Soup-Making Requires Skill Hot Filler On Cold Nights

Soup is such a health- and money-saver that I don't know which of them it serves the best, but it is likely health.

I serve soup because (1) I like it; (2) (and this is its most important function) it is the ideal dish in which to conserve ALL of the minerals from vegetable waters, ALL of the bones and edible scraps from dinner. (3) It's a hot filler. I like this feature on cold nights, especially when the meat for dinner is sliced from a cold roast.

I may be sticking my neck in a noose, but have to report (in case anyone gives a hoot) that we have not had any colds in our house this winter — and we're not stuck up in any ivory tower either. We mix with germs and infections on intimate terms! Remember Marianne's in nursing training and Pete's in high school with 1,560 other inmates.

I think the conserved vegetable minerals in soups, extra booster rations of fresh wheat germ, and fortified cod liver oil and dozens of oranges and grapefruits per week are the answer to this coldlessness.

Aformula for homemade soup is almost impossible, for I never make it the same way twice. But this is close:

Homemade Vegetable Soup

(For B. D.)

Buy a fresh soup bone, but don't pay over 15 cents for it. Wait until you have chicken or roast beef bones leftover. Add 2 quarts cold water and start it simmering. Meanwhile in a small amount of butter or oil saute gently ½ or 1 cup each finely cut carrots, celery and onion. If desired, turnip may be added to this. Saute until delicately browned then add 1½ cups diced potatoes. Cook for 2 minutes. Turn this into the kettle with the soup bone and water. Add 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ bay leaf, cover and simmer 3 or 4 hours. One-half hour before serving time, add ¼ cup washed raw rice, ½ cup chopped parsley, 1 20-oz. tin tomatoes, and if any cut up the meat which was on the bones. Taste for salt and pepper. If your soup seems insipid add 1 10-oz. can of condensed vegetable or beef soup. There is no shame to this. It is the trick of a smart cook. (Why even I do it!). MSG is another face-saver for soup-makers — 1 teaspoon will work wonders.

Minestrone

I promised this to "B. D." too.

One cup dried beans, 1½ tablespoons chopped onion, 1 chopped stalk celery, 1 clove garlic chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, ¼ cup olive oil (or butter), 1 cup tomato pulp, 1 cup chopped or shredded cabbage, salt, pepper, 1 cup cooked macaroni or spaghetti. Soak beans overnight. Add 1½ quarts water and simmer until tender, adding more water when necessary. Saute onion, celery, garlic and parsley in olive oil until golden brown. Add tomato and cabbage. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Bring to boil and add to beans. Add macaroni. Simmer one-half hour. After serving in large bowls, sprinkle with grated old cheese — preferably Parmesan. This is known as "food, drink and warm clothing" in Italy—and should be thick—served with a scoop, Rector says. It's a rib-sticker.

Expect Fewer Night Sittings With Next Session Of Commons

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP).—The House of Commons, seeking to improve its own working conditions, is expected to come to a final decision on hours shortly after the new session opens Feb. 28.

The expectation is that the Commons will adopt a schedule giving members Wednesday and Friday nights off, leaving only three night sittings a week—Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. That was the schedule with which the House finished up last December, after experimenting with various combinations of hours for two months.

The old hours appear definitely to be on the way out. Under them, the chamber sat daily — Monday through Friday—from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m., with a dinner break from 6 to 8 p.m., but Wednesday evenings were free in the early stages of each session.

These hours, adopted during the 19th century, drew a lot of complaints. Year after year members called for revision, suggesting that 11 p.m. was too late to finish work, especially when they must be back in the morning for committee meetings.

Nothing was done until early last fall when a special committee representing all parties met and suggested several combinations of hours be tried on an experimental basis.

First, the chamber sat a week from 1:30 to 7 p.m. daily without a break. The members didn't like that; it was too long a stretch. Besides, many didn't know what to do with so many evenings off.

Then they tried a week with only three nights off, but that schedule, too, had some unpopular quirks.

Most Popular Schedule

Finally the chamber agreed to finish out the session with these hours:

Monday, Tuesday and Thursday —2:30 to 10 p.m., with a dinner adjournment between 6:15 and 8 p.m.

Wednesday—2:30 to 6:15 p.m., with no evening sitting.

Friday—2 p.m. to 6:15 p.m., with no evening sitting.

Those hours weren't approved 100 per cent.—one member protested from the floor they were "a bunch of tommyrot"—but they were the most popular of the three schedules. They probably will be made permanent with one small change—that the house rise at 6 p.m. for dinner instead of 6:15 p.m.

Because the new hours were valid only for the fall session, the house will meet under its old hours —3 to 11 p.m.—when the new session starts. A decision on the new schedule is expected to be taken within the first week or so.

Along with the change in hours, the special committee also made several other suggestions aimed at speeding the business of Parliament. One, which may prove unpopular, is that the limit on speeches by private members be shortened to 30 minutes from the present 40 minutes.

The committee's report was crowded out in a last-minute rush of business and thus died with the fall session, but the Government may ask that it be revived and debated in the new session.

$40,000 Prize Happy Shock To Lucky Marmora Waiter

MARMORA, Feb. 25 (ENS). — "It was a shock," said Frank Leal.

But it was a pleasant one. Mr. Leal had just been told he had won a furnished "dream home," complete with car, in a draw held by a veterans' organization in Niagara Falls.

Still non-committal about his plans for the future, Mr. Leal, a waiter in the Royal Hotel here, said he'd have to think things over for a while.

Mr. Leal, a father of five grown children, bought the ticket from Marmora Barber A. M. "Sally" Jones. The draw was originally scheduled for Dec. 28, and since then Mr. Leal had forgotten about it. The ticket, wrapped in an American $2 bill, had been put away since he bought it. And although Mr. Leal is not superstitious, he says he now has a more friendly feeling for the black cat that has visited the Leal home for the past few days.

Over the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Leal and Mr. and Mrs. Jones drove to Niagara Falls to look over the prize, worth an estimated $40,000. The furnished house and new car were given in the draw by unit 300 of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans.

Mr. Leal, who is 56, served overseas in the First World War with the 21st Battalion, and later was well known as a baseball pitcher in the district. He was a member of the Ontario intermediate championship team from Deloro in 1926. He is also an ardent angler and hockey fans.

Massage Heart 18 Minutes, Starts Again

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP)—A case of a man whose heart stopped beating and was massaged by hand for 18 minutes before resuming under its own power was disclosed today.

The medical rarity occurred at Santa Monica hospital Feb. 14. The patient underwent the originally planned stomach-ulcer operation Saturday.

The doctor said George Martz, 47, is not only holding his own but has an excellent chance of recovery.

The unidentified doctor said Martz was given a spinal anaesthetic for an ulcer operation. The heart stopped beating. An incision was made in the chest and two ribs were broken to make room for the surgeon's hand.

The massaging produced an artificial heart beat, 50 to 60 times a minute for 18 minutes. Then the natural heart action resumed.

Unable To Find Use For Niagara Mansion

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 — (CP). — An official said today the government has not been able to find a use for a mansion at Niagara Falls, given it a few years ago by the widow of Sir Harry Oakes, multi-millionaire mining man.

He said the government has been discussing with Lady Oakes the question of returning the estate to her, but the matter has not been decided finally.

The $250,000 "Oak Hall" and 10 acres of land were donted by Lady Oakes with a view to development as a cultural centre. The official said it had not been possible to work out an appropriate project at a reasonable cost.

Film Festival Draws Capacity Crowds

The 1952 Peterborough Film Festival was such a success that members of the sponsoring organization, the Film Council, are already looking forward to expansion in 1953.

William Graff, secretary-treasurer of the council said to-day that the size of the audiences that attended the sessions at Queen Mary auditorium Friday and Saturday nights warrants plans for either moving to the P.C.V.I. auditorium or making it a three-night session in 1953.

Capacity audiences attended both nights this year.

Newfoundland Scene, a film by F. R. Crawley of Ottawa, showing various features of Canada's tenth province, including seal hunting and whaling, was the highlight of the Saturday night session.

Two other films which also were received with high approval were Top of the Ski World and The Tanglewood Story. The first of the two was filmed at the ski site of the 1952 Olympic Games.

The Tanglewood Story portrayed student life at the famous summer music school at Tanglewood, Massachusetts. The film was made even more enjoyable by the presentation of music by the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Koussevitzky.

Kingston Trims Kin Kids 7-5

LINDSAY, Feb. 25 — (ENS) — Lindsay's Kin Juniors were given a surprising set-back here Saturday night when they took a 7-5 lash'ng from the lowly Kingston Vics in the third game of their semi-final Eastern Junior B playoff round. The Kin kids carried the play for the first two periods and built up a comfortable 5-2 lead going into the final frame when the Vics exploded for five goals, unanswered by the locals. The Lindsay club won the league championship and the Kingston team ended up in last place. So far Lindsay has beaten them once, tied them once and lost one in this round of the playoffs.

In second period, the Vics came to life on a goal by Chevrefils, assisted by Reid. N. Dysart, Kin winger, flashed the red light a few minutes later while the Vics were short-handed. Three minutes later, Redmond put his club back in the game again when he scored on a shot from the corner that first caught the goalpost and caromed in the net.

In the third period, the visitors pounded in five goals by Hegarty, Vallier, Reid, Gerow and Redmond to make the final score 7-5 for Kingston and tie the teams up with three points apiece.

Safe Crackers Foiled At Food Market

HAMILTON, Feb. 25 —(CP)— Safe crackers made an abortive attempt to blast a safe in a food market early today. They were frightened off before they could set off the charge.

Police said there was sufficient homemade nitroglycerine in the safe to cause considerable damage to a city block.

Apparently they fled when a police cruiser investigated a report that three "suspicious men" were hanging around the area.

In their haste, the yeggs spilled some of the explosive on the floor near the safe.

Police said they found a Sudbury newspaper at the scene.

Y Volleyballers Win 3, Lose One

Peterborough Y.M.C.A.'s volleyball ball team won three and lost one Saturday in Toronto as the Peterborough - Toronto Intermediate Volleyball League played the first of two round-robin series.

Fraser Wade's crew lost their one game to the Kodak Company's sextet 15-11, but evened the issue with the Toronto team with a 15-11 victory. The Peterborough Y romped to 15-8 and 15-12 victories over a team from the University of Toronto.

The teams will renew the battles in Peterborough on March 8 in the second round-robin series.

"I feel sure that we can take them here," said Coach Wade, adding, "We'll have the home court and likely a stronger team."

Howard David and Lloyd Ash sparked the Y entry to its three wins Saturday with powerful spiking. They were set up by Errol Hanbidge, Ken Kingston and Fraser Wade. Others taking part were Barney Dundas, Bill Lewis and Jerry Bryett.

The victor in this league will play off with the winner of Toronto's eight-team league, including the Latvians, Estonians and the Ukrainians. These teams play weekly to 350 people at the Central Y.M.C.A. The winner of the European - Peterborough playoff will enter the Ontario finals against the Hamilton - Niagara Falls districts winner.

Kills Sleeping Wife Over Divorce Plan

DETROIT, Feb. 25 —(CP)— Frank Lolle, 28, got out of bed Sunday, picked up a hand axe, and with one powerful blow, cracked open the skull of the wife who had been sleeping beside him.

She died instantly. He ran screaming into the street in front of their home and hailed a police car: "I am the one. Go on inside."

Lollie had only this explanation: "As I woke up I kept thinking that my wife had told me last week that she was going to get a divorce." He is held on a charge of first degree murder.

Little Change Seen

Renewed 84 Joints

In the distribution system 84 pipe joints were renewed. In all these joints the rubber gaskets had been rotted by the liquids in the old manufactured gas, and the propane-air had dried the joint out and hardened the sealing sludge. All joints repaired were over 35 years in service.

Thirteen new gas services were laid: two were relaid; and 26 repaired. Three hundred and forty stoves and water heaters were connected. One gas furnace was connected.

3 Vehicles Damaged When Two Collide

One collision resulted in another at Mark and Robinson Sts., Saturday afternoon.

A car driven by George J. A. Hill, 716 Stormont St., travelling west on Robinson St., and a truck going south on Mark St., collided in the intersection.

The impact swung the rear end of the truck, driven by N. N. Faulkner, 167 Aylmer St., around, and Faulkner lost control of it momentarily. It was headed for a tree, when he applied his brakes, and the truck swung around, and struck a car owned by R. J. Miller, 180 Mark St., which was parked in a laneway.

All three vehicles were damaged considerably.

Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Y's Men Guests Of Friday Club

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Friday Night Club had as guests members of the local Y's Men's Club.

Following dinner there was a spirited sing-song, led by Y's Man Bill McFarlane. Soloist Mert Knox sang two selections, "When the bell in the lighthouse rings ding-dong" and "Hats off to the stoker". Jim Abraham accompanied Mr. Knox.

Members of the Y's Men's Club executive were introduced by their president Joe Barnard.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Charles Richmond, who has spent many years as a missionary and pioneer in East Africa and is, at present, the minister of the Anglican church in Omemee.

Mr. Richmond spoke about East Africa as he has seen it putting particular emphasis on the fact that he feels that the British are having their last chance to remain there and to prove to the African people that the various racial and religious groups can live together on an equal cultural basis.

If this challenge is not met, the result, he feels, will be ruination for the British in this colony such as is taking place in the Suez. Mr. Richmond has seen the answer in the Christian message and he is confident that the democratic way of life, based on Christian truth, can triumph over this complex problem in East Africa as it does in other places if all are willing to live harmoniously together regardless of racial or religious differences.

Old Manuscript Chaucer's Work

CAMBRIDGE, England, Feb. 25 (Reuters)—A university research expert says a manuscript which has lain in a library here for 400 years is an unknown work of Geoffrey Chaucer, author of "The Canterbury Tales."

If so it will be "priceless," said Dr. Derek Price. It is a scientific work entitled "Equatorie of the Planets," describing the construction and use of a large calculating instrument.

The work was in the library of Peterhouse, said to be the oldest college in Cambridge. It was originally an anonymous work and was later ascribed to Simon Bredon, an Oxford astrologer.

Price was given permission to take the work apart, page by page. He discovered Chaucer's name written on the cover under a piece of binding. The manuscript is handwritten and is being compared with samples of Chaucer's script.

Rev. Ernest Odling Peterborough Burial

The Rev. Ernest Codling, who died Friday at his London, Ont., home, will be buried Tuesday at Little Lake cemetery. He was in his 69th year.

Mr. Codling will be buried in the Craft family plot at Little Lake, the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews, George Street United Church, officiating.

He was at one time chairman of the Presbytery of the United Church and also president of the Ottawa Conference Ministerial Association. Twice he was commissioner at the general council of the United Church.

He leaves his wife, the former Almina Perry Crafts; a brother, Arthur Codling, of England; and a sister, Mrs. W. T. Smith, also of England.

Three Plead Guilty

A trio of weekend inebriates appeared in police court today on drunk charges.

William Spencer, 67, Lakefield, Harry Gordon, 39, 5 Wolsely St., and Thomas Connor, 24, 266 Aylmer St., all pleaded guilty.

They were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Pakistani Diplomat Confers In Egypt

CAIRO, Feb. 25—(Reuters)—Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan of Pakistan today met high Egyptian officials and discussed closer co-operation among Moslem countries.

Sir Zafrullah first called on Egyptian premier Aly Maher Pasha. The Pakistan minister is understood to be using his influence to urge Britain and Egypt toward a new understanding that will both satisfy Egypt's "national aspirations" and ensure adequate defence of the Middle East.

The Pakistani diplomat later conferred with Azam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League. Azzam Pasha said their talks would be "fruitful for all eastern countries".

"Hit-and-run drivers cannot expect to get off on suspended sentence," declared Magistrate W. R. Philp today in finding Kenneth Downer, 458 Bolivar St., $60 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Downer pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident in order to escape civil or criminal liability.

The accident occurred December 2, and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said that while Downer had been suspected of being involved in the accident, the circumstances only came to light during the weekend.

"He had a quarrel with his girl friend, and it was while they were making up at the police station and trying to get the charge withdrawn that a statement about the accident was obtained from Downer," Mr. Bradshaw said.

"He was driving his girl friend home and panicked and beat it," said Mr. Bradshaw. "That may be understandable in the case of a 16-year-old girl, but the car had been hidden for a period of three months, and he has made no attempt to come forward and explain."

After Magistrate Philp fined Downer $60 and $2.50 costs or two months, he asked him for his licence to record the conviction on his driving permit.

"I haven't any licence," replied Downer. "That's why I didn't stop."

Worthless Cheque Given For Suit

Burton H. Young, 25, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to two charges of false pretences in police court today. He was remanded one week for sentence.

Young agreed with the evidence as stated by crown attorney John A. Bradshaw. Mr. Bradshaw said that Young gave a worthless cheque in payment for an overcoat which he obained from a George St. clothing store in October.

"I'm guilty of signing the cheque, but it was a suit not an overcoat", said Young. The charge was amended and he pleaded guilty.

The second charge alleged that Young obtained $20 in cash from William Young, no relation, and gave another worthless cheque, on the same trust company.

He said he left Peterborough the day he obtained the suit and money. Friday night, Young was arrested by constable Vic McConnell.

Don't Like Architecture

FLORENSE, Italy, Feb. 25 — (Reuters)—Thousands of Florentines demonstrated Sunday against architectural bad taste in the reconstruction of their war-damaged city. Artists and writers led a protest procession bearing such slogans as "Florence, we could not save you from destruction but we will save you from reconstruction."

Junior Ski Club Visits Bethany

Some 115 elementary and high school students hopped the ski train Saturday and paid their first visit to the Peterborough Ski Club's Bethany playground.

The boys and girls were grouped into teams of seven under senior ski club members.

Leaving the C.P.R. station at 10 a.m., the train stopped at the McGill farm and from there the students were taken in cross-country fashion about three-quarters of a mile to the ski grounds, arriving at noon.

Out of a field of 21 boys, Gerald Wood easily won the 1,000-foot giant slalom course with a time of 43 seconds, while Joan Townsend, with a time of 51 seconds, won the girls' race in a field of 12.

Toby Westbye, director of the ski school, said today, "Some of the times were exceptionally good considering that for most of the youngsters this was their first experience on a big hill with a real slalom course."

In charge of the open house were Otto Laderach, Don Dennison, Jack Sackville and Mr. Westbye. Other senior ski club members were: Tom Ashby, Ted McCaig, Karl Duffus, Tony Siedel, Waddy Waterman, Dave Fanning, Ian Blaiklock, Cyril Monkman, Cy Glover, Robin Collins, Dave Johnson, Bill Davidson, Brian Brett and Camille Cochand.

Die For $2 Robbery

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Feb. 25 — (AP)—Joseph D. Chambers and Edward J. Bryant, both 28-year-old Philadelphians, were executed early today in the electric chair at Rockview Penitentiary. The two had been sentenced to death for the fatal beating of Joseph Saturn, 60-year-old wine dealer, in a robbery that netted only $2.

Like Investigate Morals

RAND, England, Feb. 25 (Reuters)—The Rev. Reginald Gaul, rector of Gant, Sunday night urged that a commission be appointed to investigate the declining morals of British clergymen. "There are more lapses in the morals of our clergy today, than ever before in the history of the church," Gaul said.

Two Accidents Bring Charges

Two car drivers involved in accidents durihg the weekend appeared in police court today.

Norman McIlmoyle, 36, 33 Armour Rd., pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and also to having liquor in a place other than his residence.

He was fined $50 and $2.50 costs on the impaired charge and $15 and $2.50 costs on the liquor charge.

Patrick Joseph Ryan, 27, Douro township, charged with drunk driving did not enter a plea and was granted an adjournment until March 3.

The accident McIlmoyle was involved in occurred on Water St., Saturday night.

He was driving a pick-up truck south on Water St., when he was in collision with a north bound car driven by Clair A. Sisson, Lakefield, just south of Anson St.

The two vehicles collided head-on, and both were damaged considerably. Mrs. Sisson who was riding with her husband, received a bump on the forehead and a cut on her knee.

A nearby resident told constables Arthur Beardsmore and Harold Andrew who investigated, that he saw McIlmoyle take a case of beer out of the truck.

In court today, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw submitted a summary of the evidence and said that the officers did not think McIlmoyle was drunk, but that he had been drinking.

Ryan was arrested and charged with drunk driving, after he ran into the rear of a car driven by Joseph R. Hickson, 1 Stewart St., shortly after midnight Sunday.

Both cars were going east on Lansdowne St. Hickson said he had stopped at the George St. intersection and waited for the light to change before making a right hand turn. He was almost straightened out he said, when the car driven by Ryan struck his right rear fender.

Constables M. D. Traynor and Reg. McMillan investigated.

Soldier Asks Pen Term Goes To Reformatory

COBOURG, Feb. 25 (ENS). — Ronald Cartier, A.W.O.L. from Camp Borden, was sentenced to two years less a day in the reformatory on each of two charges of false pretenses, terms to run concurrently, when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Cartier was found guilty of obtaining goods over the value of $25 from Alex Rutherford of Colborne and a car from Fitzgerald Motors, Smiths Falls. He has an extensive record.

"Would you make that a penitentiary term?" asked the accused.

"You are the second in recent weeks to ask for a penitentiary term instead of the reformatory. I don't know what your reason is unless it is because you may have boasted that you wouldn't be brought back to the reformatory. Whatever it is, you are going to the reformatory again," said the magistrate.

Francis McKee of Baptiste, Ont., appearing on theft charges, was remanded a week for sentence when he appeared in court Saturday. He was charged with breaking into the school house of S.S. No. 19 in Cavan Township and with stealing a truck from William Shorey in South Monaghan Township.

Mercurys Clinch Playoff Berth By Drubbing Brantford 10-4

By The Canadian Press.

Owen Sound Mercurys clinched a berth in the Ontario Hockey Association senior playoffs Saturday by drubbing Brantford Redmen 10-4 while Hamilton Tigers—their only rivals for the fourth and final playoff spot—bowed 5-2 before the cellar-dwelling Sarnia Sailors.

The victory moved Mercurys into a third-place deadlock with Brantford. Tigers, in falling before Sarnia for the first time in 10 starts, finished only three points out of contention for post-season play.

Mercurys close out the season with a postponed game at Sarnia tonight.

Stratford Indians hold down first place in the six-club circuit and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen fill the runner-up slot.

In O.H.A. Junior A play, a Sunday afternoon game that saw Toronto Marlboros and Guelph Biltmores battle to a 3-3 tie, held the Marlies to their three-point margin over Bilts. A 9-2 Saturday night win over the tail-end Oshawa Generals gave Toronto its three-point edge.

Irish Rally

The other half of the Sunday twin bill at Maple Leaf Gardens—witnessed by a record crowd of 13,056 fans—saw Toronto St. Michael's rally for a 4-2 victory over Oshawa while at Windsor, the sixth-place Kitchener Greenshirts edged the ninth-place Spitfires 7-6.

Other Saturday night games gave Barrie Flyers a 9-5 win against Waterloo Hurricanes while Galt Black Hawks bested St. Mike's 5-3.

At Owen Sound, Tom Burlington scored three goals for Mercurys and Buck Forslund clicked for two. Mike Bukacheski, Johnny MacDonald, Bill Allum, Paul Parker and Ray McCallum scored one each. Bud Kemp scored a pair for Brantford. Bill Russell and Bob Gragagnola added the others.

Bill Gardiner, John Lardner, Val Federonick, Johnny Sheddon and Ollie Haddon divided Sarnia goals. Paul Miocinovich and Gordie Peebles blinked the light for Hamilton.

Andy Bathgate led Guelph's Sunday attack with two goals, Ken Laufman, the league's top scorer, banging in the other. Wally Maxwell, Parker MacDonald and Steve Karrys scored for Marlboros.

Bill Lee, Murray Costello, Ron Wallace and Neil Buchanan were the St. Michael's Sunday scorers. Herve Dejordy and Bob Attersley scored for Oshawa.

Gainst Four Goals

Eric Nesterenko led Marlies' Saturday with four goals while Chuck Lumsden scored two. Danny Poland, Jack Bionda and Wally Maxwell added the others. Bob Holden and Herve Dejordy scored for Oshawa.

Doug McKenney paced Barrie with three goals while Ron Stewart, Chuck Wood, Fred Pletsch, John Martan, Ken Mohns and Hilly Menard added singletons. Ron Murphy, Ken McNeil, Don McIntosh, Paul Oliver and Charlie Brooker tallied for the losers.

Tommy Fyles and Jim McBurney each scored two goals for Galt while Jim Conacher added the other. Ron Wallace, Jim Logan and Bob Sabourin clicked for the St. Mike's squad.

Sunday at Windsor, Orv Tessier led the Kitchener attack with three markers. Ed Edmundson tallied twice. Red Novak and Joe Ingoldsby added the others. Joe Zorica, Bill Skov, Bob Brown, Don Craven, Bill Watters and Bill Robertson were Spitfires' scorers.

Mounts And 4th Line Post Bush Loop Wins

MILLBROOK, Feb. 25 (ENS)—Mt. Pleasant, in taking the first of last week's twin bill, practically erased Millbrook's playoff berth hopes. The men from the mountains, firmly entrenched in top spot, added further insurance with their 8-2 victory. Hubbard in the Millbrook goal was bombarded with rubber all evening and had to be good to keep the score out of box car figures. The line of Handley, Wright and Lunn went well for the locals with Dracup, Jamieson, Lowes, Bryans and Armstrong netting the Mt. Pleasant goals.

In the second tangle Fourth Line finished stronger than Bethany in a game that was as close as the 8-7 score indicates. Bethany kept feeding passes to their ace scorer, Ross Magill, who was wearing the proverbial antelope's wings as he zoomed in on the Fourth Line citadel. When he notched his fourth counter early in the second period he became the target for special attention from the Liners who managed to keep him off the score sheet for the balance of the game.

A hard angle drive put a bulge like a senator's midriff in the Fourth Line netting but was ruled no goal. The turning point came when Reg Edmunds, who with John Burn was turning in a colossal chore defensively, was sitting out a high sticking penalty. Incidentally, it was handed out by brother Don Edmunds who forgot it was brotherhood week. McDowell and Walling cashed in on the one-man advantage to forge into the lead that was grimly retained.

McDowell again led the liners' attack with four markers, while Agnew was in on two and Ed. Hutchison and Walling singles. Magill, Brown with a pair, and Burn scored for Bethany. "Bump Ahead" signs could have been posted in both defensive areas as weight was tossed around freely. Walling, a Peterborough junior, making his first appearance in the Bush League, was heard to remark after: "The biggest difference is that they hit you harder in this league."

C.R.U. Broadens Blocking Rule Rejects Two-Game Cup Final

By WILFRED GRUSON.

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP).—The Canadian Rugby Union, always on guard not to let Canadian football get too like the United States game, cautiously lowered the barrier a little Saturday.

It provided some of its critics with further ammunition for their contention that it is too anxious to adopt American features when it decided on the most drastic rule change in the C.R.U.'s recent history.

It broadened its rule on blocking to permit running interference by backfielders and linemen on kick-offs up to the line from where the ball was kicked. At the same time it rejected a proposal for a two-game Grey Cup final.

The decisions were taken at its 62nd annual meeting which ended Saturday. The change in the blocking rule was a major victory for the west which for years has always advocated the opening up of the game by this method.

Spectacular Runs

Most delegates said the kick-off blocking would provide for more spectacular runs. The west failed in its bid to have the runing interference apply on all types of kicks but its delegates said they probably will try again at next year's annual meeting at Edmonton in March.

Two changes in the important rule were adopted. The meeting voted 6-3 to increase the number of imports from seven to eight. The Ontario Rugby Football Union and the non-operative Western Intercollegiate Union opposed the increase but joined with the other leagues to classify United States players as non-imports if they have resided in Canada for four successive years, even though they may not have played football each year.

The two major leagues, the Big Four Union and Western Canada Conference, were defeated by a 5-4 vote in another attempt to gain voting control in the C.R.U. The minor groups—the O.R.F.U. and Quebec Rugby Football Union and the Western and Eastern Intercollegiate Leagues—lined up together to reject the proposal which they said would have made them "rubber stamps" for any action taken by the major leagues.

The minor leagues' delegates acknowledged, however, that the Big Four and Western Canada Unions must have a freer hand in running things that solely affect them, such as the Grey Cup and imports and agreed to set up a committee to look into this.

The committee will also consider the possibility of eventually eliminating the Eastern Canada final. A proposal to wipe it out immediately, expected to be one of the most contentious points of the meeting, was not discussed because the necessary two weeks' notice was not given by any league for the necessary change in the constitution.

A number of other playing rule changes were adopted. Free substitution will be allowed to enable players to enter the game after any play. The "Karpuk incident" of last season resulted in a stronger rule to prevent players or other persons dashing on the field to stop play.

The penalty for such an infraction will be a touchdown if it is obvious one would have been scored and if not the offending team will be penalized half the distance to the goal line, with the non-offending team getting three downs regardless of the amount of time remaining in the game.

Change To 15 Yards

On the occasions when the ball goes out of bounds it now will be placed 15 yards in from the sidelines instead of 10 and when a team has too many men on the field, it will be penalized 15 yards for each extra man but no longer will it have to play shorthanded for three minutes for each extra man.

The question of the shovel pass and whether forward passes which don't cross the line of scrimmage should be made legal will be studied by a committee.

Hockey's Big Seven

Bogart Thinks Oscars Silly Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25 (AP)—Humphrey Bogart, who long has snickered at academy awards, now admits he wouldn't mind winning one. But he still thinks Oscars are silly.

"My idea about the awards haven't changed any," said the actor, nominated for one of Hollywood's grand prizes. "But my position has.

"You see, this isn't the first time I have been nominated. I was up for the awards for 'Petrified Forest' in 1936 and 'Casablanca' in 1943. Then I was under contract to Warners and I didn't give a hoot. But now I have a financial interest in my picture ('The African Queen'). If I win an Oscar, it means more money for the picture. And I was never a man to sneer at money."

He remarked that he still thought that acting can't be rewarded the same as events in a track meet.

Best Part Counts

"It's not a matter of who is the best actor," he commented. "It's a question of who gets the best part. The guy who wins the Oscar is the guy who is cast the best. Certainly Spencer Tracy is still as good an actor as he was when he won his awards in 1937 and 1938.

"I still think the only way to judge acting on a competitive basis is to let all of the actors have a go at 'Hamlet,' and may the best man win. Of course, you'd uncover some pretty funny Hamlets."

Bogart added that he would be the most surprised man in Hollywood if he should win this year.

Bogart said he has been enjoying his nomination. He received many wires and letters of congratulations, including those from studio bosses Dore Schary and Darryl Zanuck. "That's a good sign," he said. "Maybe they'll give me some jobs."

College In Small City Has Many Advantages

TORONTO, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Principal W. A. MacIntosh, of Queen's University, Kingston, said Saturday night that going to university in a small city such as Kingston has many advantages.

"Only 10 per cent of our students come from Kingston," he told the Toronto branch of the Queen's Alumni Association. "The great bulk of our student body is living away from home and that, to my mind, is one of the excellent things about a small university city. Going to university should be something more to a pupil than turning down his home street to go to high school and up it to go to university."

U.N. Relief Agency Supports Koreans In Winter Months

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 25. (CP)—Winter has not been as hard on Korean civilians as was feared. Mild weather and an energetic relief program are almost sure to keep Koreans —most of them—alive until spring. But the margin is narrow. Food is at a bare subsistence level, though enough to prevent starvation. Everyone is under some kind of roof. Many of the millions of refugees are billeted in private homes, the rest in camps. Only a few live in caves.

Lack of Clothing

There is not enough clothing, although supplies have improved. One in 10 refugees must stay indoors to keep warm, but there have been few cases of serious illness or death from exposure.

Long-neglected peat bogs are helping to overcome a shortage of fuel.

The record of the United Nations Civilian Assistance Command, working through government agencies of the Republic of Korea, is such that I found no refugee, who did not feel everything possible is being done to help him.

The relief program has worked largely because the ground warfare has been static. Major operations would have sparked new refugee movements and dislocated the distribution of supplies.

Big Improvements

The United Nations still has no "disaster relief" organization after more than 18 months of war experience. Its policy is to use an emergency as a means of educating Korean administrators in the problems of civil government. However, vast improvements have been effected since last summer when hundreds of thousands of North and South Koreans were evacuated to rear areas which were not prepared to receive them.

Said one C.A.C. official:

"The work of C.A.C. has improved a thousand-fold since last summer. Now there is good leadership and administration at the top. We've been able to do a job in the field and are so much happier now that we are able to do something constructive."

Not Complete Mobilization

But the Korean government has not mobilized its total resources—except manpower—for the struggle involving its own life. There is no control of essential materials and commodities are not rationed —not even rice. Nor will the government accept responsibility for the care of refugees and evacuees.

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer in Korea, has completed a two-week survey of conditions among the civilian population during the Korean winter. This article is the first of a series based on interviews with United Nations, Korean Republic and civilian sources.)

All relief grains are supplied by C.A.C. and must be imported. C.A.C. buys no Korean rice lest inflation be stimulated.

The result is that in Korea, Asia's premier rice-producing country, the Korean grain is plentiful in the open market but does not figure in the ration. Korean refugees are fed United States and Thailand rice, United States beans and Canadian barley. Refugees are too poor to buy in the open market, and even workers do not earn enough to buy enough for their needs.

One in three Koreans is a refugee. For the rest, enough rice costs three times what a man earns in a month.

Everyone is short of food. But almost all are getting enough to keep them alive.

Surgical Miracle Saves Lives Of 8 Men With Heart Ailments

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP): — There were nine with the bad hearts—five women and four men. All were victimes of rheumatic fever.

For all, the outlook was partial or complete invalidism, or death.

Then on two days, Oct. 26 and Oct. 27, a surgeon opened all nine hearts. He thrust his finger inside, felt and studied the bad heart valve. With a knife blade that slipped forward along his gloved finger, he cut, opening the damaged valve wider.

Today, five of those men and women have returned to work. Two more will return to work soon.

The eighth is sick in hospital, ill with a different disease. The ninth died about two months ago from a new attack of rheumatic fever, not related to the operation.

All had the same trouble. Rheumatic fever scarred and damaged the valve between the two left chambers of the heart. This valve was narrowed, nearly closed.

Fresh blood, coming from the lungs, collects in the upper left chamber or auricle of the heart. Then it flows down through the valve, into the lower chamber or ventricle, there to be pumped out to all the body.

The narrowed valve dammed the blood back, congesting the lungs, causing shortness of breath, weakness. Blood murmured through the valve. The upper chamber swelled, was weakened.

Drs. Charles P. Bailey, T. J. O'Neill and R. P. Glover of Philadelphia perfected the bold valve operation several years ago. A hole is made in the wall of the heart, the exploring finger thrust in, the damage felt, and the valve cut to make a normal opening and valve. Theirs was the first successful operation of its kind inside the living heart.

Last October Dr. Bailey and Dr. Kenneth Keown went to Kansas City, to demonstrate the operation to chest surgeons and heart specialists there.

Nine times Dr. Bailey operated, on men and women whose color was grey, whose bodies were thin and weak.

Within a week, all nine were sitting up part of the day, eating well, feeling better.

Mind Is Su! Of Lesson-Sermon

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." Selections from the Bible included the following from Romans 11: 33, 34: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out. For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," included the following: "Mind is God. There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown. We can have but one Mind, if that one is infinite. We bury the sense of infinitude, when we admit that, although God is infinite, evil has a place in this infinity, for evil can have no place, where all space is filed with God."

CANADA CONTRIBUTES—Jean Lesage, Liberal Member of Parliament for Montmagny L'Islet and Parliamentary Assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson, signs Canada's pledge for a contribution to the fund for operation this year of the United Nations Expanded Program of Technical Assistance. Mr. Lesage is president-elect of the second Technical Assistance Conference which met in Paris. Mrs. Anne Phillips of the U. N. Department of Economic Affairs is at left. Canada will give $850,000 if the total contribution for the year reaches $20,000,000, less if the target figure is not reached. This is a United Nations photo.

Labor Gov't Made Atomic Bomb, Kept It Secret

LONDON, Feb. 26. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today that the Labor government succeeded in making an atom bomb for Britain but failed to inform parliament about the development. Churchill spoke in the House of Commons after a blistering Labor attack upon his foreign policy. Herbert Morrison, former foreign secretary, accused Churchill of making belligerent statements, endangering world peace and the chances of reaching a Korean truce.

Churchill, in referring to the atomic bomb, said "quite a new atmosphere was created" when he informed United States officials of developments here during his Washington visit last month.

"I was not aware until I took office that, not only had the Socialist government made an atomic bomb as a matter of research, but that they had created, at the expense of many scores of millions of pounds, the important plant necessary for its regular production.

"This achievement is certainly a real advantage to us."

Within the last few days the cabinet has announced Britain will conduct experiments with atomic weapons in Australia this year.

Asks If Policy Changed

Morrison resumed the debate, broken off by the death of the King, with a demand to know whether the Prime Minister's speech to the U.S. Congress represented a change in British policy in the Far East. He accused Churchill of speaking with different voices in Washington and London. In Washington, the Prime Minister had given the impression Britain fully would support the U.S. in any vast extension of the Korean conflict to Communist China. In London he had said there was no change in British policy.

Morrison described these as "wooly" statements and demanded to know if there was any shift in British policy on China.

Churchill replied:

"I made it plain a month ago that I was opposed to action that would involvs us or our allies of the United Nations in war with China. I have never departed from this view in any way publicly or privately."

Churchill then said the Labor government had kept news of atomic developments from parliament, and added:

"There was no reason why parliament in time of peace should not have been made fully aware, not of course of the technical details, but of large-scale new departures in policy adopted on so grave a matter."

Elderly Hermit Found Dead In Douro Shack

Provincial police are trying to locate the relatives of an elderly hermit, Ford Lindsay, believed to be 76 years old, who was found dead Monday afternoon in a shack in Douro.

He is believed to have been fatally stricken while going to bed or just getting up. He was partly dressed and lying across the lower end of his bunk.

Dr. Herbert Young, coroner, said it was impossible to say how long Lindsay had been dead. When discovered Monday the body was frozen stiff in the unheated room.

Some bread on the table was stale, indicating he may have been dead for several days. Money was also lying on a nearby table.

Natural Causes

Dr. Young attributed death to natural causes and said there will be no autopsy and no inquest.

Lindsay lived in the basement section of a house, built up to foundation level only, on the farm of Tom Heffernan of Lakefield. He kept to himself pretty well and was reticent about discussing his personal affairs, neighbors say.

Occasionally he cut wood to earn some pocket money.

Off and on he lived on the Heffernan property for 18 months, preferring to stay there by himself than live with relatives.

Recently Mr. Heffernan noticed that Lindsay was in poor health and advised him to move somewhere else, but the elderly man refused.

He is believed to have been married and had a family. OPP Constable Wallace Mohns is investigating a report that he has relatives in Belleville, Cavan and Lindsay, including a nephew in Peterborough.

The body is at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield.

Triplets Arrive Without Help

GOOSE BAY, Labrador, Feb. 26—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. here is anxious about the health of three prospective recruits—triplets born at Rigolet to Mrs. Bernard Way two days ago and flown out to Grenfell Mission by helicopter.

The normal population of the little fishing village—25—took a healthy jump when the three newers, two girls and a boy, arrived without medical help. Rigolet is 100 miles northeast of Goose Bay.

The air force first heard of the triplet birth when LAC. Robert R. Graham, a member of the air force amateur radio system, picked up a message from fellow Ham Bill Thompson of Rigolet.

The R.C.A.F. couldn't land an aircraft at the village, so the U.S. Air Force provided a helicopter and crew to take MO. Flt.-Lieut. Eric Ramsay, to the scene Sunday.

The doctor dangled all three on his knee during the 80-minute flight to the Grenfell Mission hospital at Northwest River, 30 miles from Goose Bay, where proper facilities were available.

Special Precautions Taken For Robber

BARRIE, Feb. 26 (CP)—Special precautions were taken Monday when Lawrence Shirley, 22-year-old convicted bank robber, was returned to Simcoe county jail from Kingston. Seven policemen armed with sub-machine guns were detailed to the guard.

The precautions followed rumors that an attempt would be made to free Shirley, who with Frank Watson and Leonard Jackson, is charged with the robbery of the Bradford branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. He is to appear here with Watson for judgment. Shirley is serving a 12-year term in Kingston for his part in a Toronto post office robbery last fall in which one man was shot and killed.

ABLE TO STAND TRIAL

CORNWALL, Feb. 26—(CP)—Dr. C. S. Tennant, provincial psychiatrist, testified he is certain Elias Meek, 21-year-old farmhand is capable of standing trial for the murder of Mrs. Allan Alguire, mother of four children.

Arrives In Britain

Predict Alexander May Have Rough Time In New Post

LIVERPOOL, England, Feb. 26 — (CP)— Field Marshal Alexander came home today to Britain, to an Earldom and to a peacetime post as exacting as the military tasks he performed in wartime.

The retiring Governor-General of Canada, summoned from abroad to take over the Defence Ministry in Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government, arrived in Liverpool aboard the Cunard liner Franconia.

He is one of three Field Marshals to hold ministerial rank in British history. The other two were the Duke of Wellington and the Earl of Kitchener.

In London, The Daily Mail predicted the new defence minister may have a rough ride when he takes over the portfolio from Churchill.

"Parliament has an instinctive distrust of famour soldiers as ministers— dating back to (Oliver) Cromwell," The Daily Mail said.

As an Earl, Alexander will not sit in the House of Commons. Appointment of still another peer to government has already aroused criticism from the opposition Labor party.

In an interview on arrival, Lord Alexander spoke to reporters of his six "happy and interesting" years as Governor-General of Canada.

He said he has some new ideas to bring to his job but would have to wait to see what his organization was like. He would start in "right away."

Alexander, an Ulsterman, will take over the London home of General Sir Gerald Templer, another Ulsterman, who recently assumed command of the war against the terrorists in Malaya.

The Alexanders have a country home in the rolling Buckinghamshire hills, between Amersham and Chalfont St. Giles, which will be rented or sold.

Lord Alexander will dine with Churchill Wednesday.

Ask Germans To Pay Two Billion

Draft of New Pact Sent To Bonn For Final Approval

LISBON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The Big Three western powers and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenaur have agreed West Germany should contribute 11,250,000,000 marks ($2,677,500,000) to western defence in the next year.

An official source said today a draft of the new agreement had been sent to Bonn for final approval by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government. The agreement was drafted Monday night by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, State Secretary Dean Acheson, and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, who stayed on here after the closing of the Atlantic Pact parley to settle some outstanding German and Austrian questions.

The ministers and their top advisers met again this morning. They also invited in the Benelux ministers to keep them informed.

Before them Monday night was a message from Bonn in which the federal government said it was ready to accept the figure of 11,250,000,000 marks as the size of its defence contribution. The amount had been recommended by top Allied planners who were called in to measure Germany's capacity to pay.

Some Difficulties

But difficulties arose about the precise wording of the terms and form of the German contribution.

The ministers spent nearly three hours Monday night preparing the text of the agreement, then sent it to Bonn for Adenauer's approval.

If and when it comes out, the agreement will be announced simultaneously in Bonn, London, Paris, Washington and Lisbon.

The German contribution for the 1952-53 period is expected to cover precisely:

Propose British Quit Canal Zone

CAIRO, Feb. 26 (AP) — The Independent newspaper Al Ahram says today Egypt in negotiations with Britain starting Saturday will propose a period for withdrawal of British troops from the Suez Canal zone.

She also will propose that a number of British military experts train Egyptian forces to take over the Suez base and that Britain supply arms and equipment, the newspaper says. The account adds:

The military proposals will be contained in one of three notes. A second will propose a plebiscite in the Sudan to determine whether that Upper Nile country unites with Egypt or becomes independent. It will suggest a provisional parliament and a provisional cabinet with British and Egyptian advisers to rule under a United Nations Commission's supervision in the transitory period. The present British Governor-General would be displaced.

A third note will propose conditions under which Egypt would participate in a Middle East defence organization and its relations with the U.N. and such regional defence systems as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

B-29 Plane Explodes Northwest Of Guam

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26—(AP)—Radio reports from Guam today indicated a B-29 weather plane exploded 150 miles northwest of Guam today.

A fragmentary dispatch filed as radio communications with the mid-Pacific island closed for the day, said the number of survivors was undetermined. Some were seen in a lifeboat.

The plane was on a routine weather reconnaissance flight when engine trouble developed and it exploded 150 miles northwest of Guam.

A B-29 has a normal crew of around 11.

GRATEFUL PARENTS, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nemeroff, were re-united with their 3½-year-old daughter Saturday after she had been kidnapped from her home the previous evening. The child was found walking along a Montreal street after one of the city's greatest manhunts since 1948. A 16-year-old youth who claimed he wanted money, is being held and will be arraigned today.

Reds Refuse To Cut Russia

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 26. (AP)—Communists today "categorically rejected" an Allied proposal that would ban Russian supervision of a Korean truce. The Allies had proposed that four neutral nations police the truce instead of six. This would cut Norway off the United Nations list and Russia off the Red nominations. "We cannot consider it," said Chinese Col. Pu Shan. Staff officers also remained deadlocked on the number of ports of entry each side should be allowed during a truce. The Allies now propose six, the Communists five. Another group of staff officers devoted an entire session to minor differences in phraseology on arrangements for exchanging prisoners of war.

Stalling Charges

As truce talks adjourned until Wednesday, each side accused the other of stalling.

The U.N. command made its compromise proposal on neutral supervisors Monday in an effort to get around the newest block to ending the fightin in Korea.

It would limit supervising nations to Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

"The point is not the number of members on the neutral nations supervisory commission", Col. Pu Shan said, "but it is the question that one side cannot give reasons for objecting to the nominations of the other side".

What he meant was that the Communists could name any nation they wanted to the commission, so long as it was not actively fighting in Korea.

The Allies have told the Reds the nominations of each side are subject to approval by the other; and that Soviet Russia is not acceptable because the Red Korean army is trained, advised and supplied by Russia.

Urges New Taxation Deal To Curb Ottawa Spending

TORONTO, Feb. 26. (CP)—A new deal in taxation which would "throttle down" federal government spending was urged today in the legislature by John Robarts (PC-London). A redistribution of federal, provincial and municipal tax fields is needed, Mr. Robarts said in a speech prepared for delivery, as he made the traditional motion for an address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

His motion was seconded by another back-bencher, John Root (PC-Wellington North), who praised government hydro and highway policies.

The two speeches opened the Throne Speech debate, which gives members a chance to speak on whatever topic they wish. The debate will continue through the first few weeks of the session.

Mr. Robarts said he felt the province could reach a taxation agreement with Ottawa that would recognize the needs of municipalities.

"The key to our problem is in the hands of Ottawa, and if there is not in that quarter a realistic and indeed early approach to solution, it is not unlikely that something approaching disaster will face our municipalities, and indeed our provinces."

Stronger Police Branch

Mr. Robarts also urged a stronger police branch "to deal with the law-breaking minority that infests our highways." It might soon be necessary to enforce a closer control on the mechanical condition of vehicles to ensure safety on the highways.

He praised Labor Minister Daley and his department for averting a strike of gas-workers in Toronto that would have been a "disaster" and for helping to bring about settlement of the Toronto Transportation strike and the recent Ford strike in Windsor.

Both Mr. Robarts and Mr. Root noted the "resounding vote of confidence" given Premier Frost in last November's election.

Search Widens For Student

QUEENSTON, Feb. 26—(CP)—The search for Violet Pollock, missing 20-year-old Grade XIII student, was extended today but a theory that she may have eloped with a neighbor "blew up" when the youth returned home.

George Turner, 17, who lives a half-mile from the Pollock fruit farm which overlooks the Niagara River, had been missing since Saturday afternoon, the same time Violet left her home.

For a time, it was thought the two might have gone away together.

Britain Will Provide Third Of NATO Planes

LISBON, Feb. 26 (Reuters) — Britain will provide at least one-third of the force of 4,000 aircraft that the Atlantic Pact is planning to build up this year, an authoritative source said today.

Britain will also furnish the largest armored force to the Atlantic Pact armies on the continent, the source said. This would include the three armored divisions now in Germany.

He added that Britain's £20,000,000 share in the $500,000,000 program for construction of new pact airfields and communications centres, will be contributed in the form of equipment rather than cash. This would prevent a further drain on Britain's exchange resources.

Steward's Jacket Helps Man Bluff Way To Free Trans-Atlantic Trip On Luxury Liner

LE HAVRE, France, Feb. 26 (Reuters)—Lucien Curty, 53, bluffed his way through a free Transatlantic round trip to New York by wearing a steward's jacket when he got on and off a luxury liner, it was disclosed in court today.

Curty boarded the Ile de France here Jan. 4. Once aboard he hid the steward's jacket.

He spent the nights on a deck chair on the promenade deck. When asked whether it was not too chilly, he replied he had asthma and his cabin was "too stuffy." He solved the food problem by buying sandwiches in the bar.

When the liner arrived in New York, Curty put on his white jacket and passed United States immigration officials.

He started looking for a job but no one wanted to hire him. With his savings gone, Curty decided he would return to France. He waited for the Ile de France, put on the white jacket, and got aboard again.

Last Thursday, Curty again drew out his steward's coat but this time French police detained him as he lingered on the gangway at Le Havre.

He was sentenced to one month in jail.

Fresh Cases Reported In Regina Area, Order Quarantine Extended

Indicate U.S. Extending Embargo For Canada On Grains and Vegetables; Taggart Cancels Trip To Washington

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. (CP)—Federal government officials disclosed today that they are questioning an immigrant as the possible source of the foot-and-mouth infection that has struck the Regina area. The man, whose identity has not been disclosed, is known to have worked on the farm of Leonard Waas, about 40 miles from Regina, where the first outbreak of the dreaded livestock disease was reported Nov. 26 last. Meantime federal government officials announced that fresh cases of dreaded foot-and-mouth disease have turned up in the Regina area, forcing a widening of the rigid quarantine thrown about the Saskatchewan capital 10 days ago.

Hopes dimmed that the Canadian government might be able to persuade the United States to ease an embargo clamped Monday on shipments of Canadian livestock and meat.

A dispatch from Rouses Point, N.Y., disclosed that U.S. customs authorities already are blocking shipments of Canadian grains and some vegetables—a move that likely will spread across the 4,000-mile Canadian-U.S. border.

R.C.M.P. Investigates

Official sources declined to indicate where the immigrant had been located or to say from what country he had emigrated. Europe long has been plagued with the disease.

Nor would the R.C.M.P., which announced that it is co-operating with the Federal Agricultural Department, comment.

It merely said that it has joined the department in an "intensive effort" to locate the source or sources of the infection and that the inquiry has not proceeded far enough to warrant a public statement.

Meantime, official quarters here heavily discounted suggestions that the outbreak of the infection had been the result of sabotage or "Communists."

"That sort of talk," said one official, "only makes it more difficult to us to pursue our investigation."

Civil Service Rackets Charged By Paper

TORONTO, Feb. 26—(CP)—A Toronto paper says today in a story from its Ottawa correspondent that "a wide range of rackets" flourishes among civil servants working in the federal government printing bureau.

The story asserts that certain employees act as loan-sharks, bootleggers, bookies and peddlers of contraceptives and suggestive literature to other employees.

It says: "So closely guarded have been the nefarious activities of a large group of the employees that even the branch heads are unaware of what is happening."

It adds that "the whole thing is a closed corporation" with those engaged in it dealing only with other employees of the bureau.

River Ice Cuts Output Of Town's Hydro

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 26 — (ENS).—Damaged racks in Campbellford's powerhouse water intake ducts today caused a temporary shortage of power, although consumers didn't notice any change.

Loose ice from the Trent River caused the damage, which at first was thought to be serious but was later found to be relatively light. Power from Ottawa is being used to make up the shortage.

Campbellford is one of the few Ontario municipalities that produce all their own power.

Last Old Prospector Dies At Age Of 102

TORONTO, Feb. 26 (CP) — John Angus Montague, 102, well known in Northern Ontario and one of the last of the old prospectors, died here Monday.

Mr. Montague lived at Cobalt since its founding, and was one of the first at the Mann Ridge strike, north of Cobalt in 1900.

He won and lost several fortunes during his lifetime of work in base metals, silver and gold. He was manager of the old Hart mine, now known as the Castle property and also managed the Silver Diadem.

Born in England, he came to Canada in 1886.

Youth Arrested In Kidnapping To Be Arraigned

MONTREAL, Feb. 26 (CP). — Sixteen-year-old Robert Patenaude, held in the kidnapping of a three-year-old girl, will be arraigned in social welfare court today.

The announcement was made Monday night by chief judge Ephrem Filion, who said he has not decided whether Patenaude will be remanded to criminal court. The social welfare court is the name of the juvenile court in Quebec.

Judge Filion also said there could be no decision regarding a mental examination until the arraignment.

Police said Monday they would charge the accused with abduction and breaking and entering.

Maximum penalty for kidnapping in Canada is 25 years.

In police line-ups, Patenaude has been identified as the man who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nemeroff and made off with their child, leaving a note behind demanding ransom of $50,000.

That was last Friday night. The youth was picked up, and the child returned to her parents Saturday morning as they walked along busy St. Catharine street, less than 12 hours after the little girl had been abducted.

Change-over Begun In Korea

TOKYO, Feb. 26—(CP)—First steps toward effecting the change-over between units in Korea and those coming from Canada to relieve them have taken place.

Advance parties from the 2nd Battalions Royal Canadian Regiment, Royal 22nd Regiment, and 2nd Regiment Royal Horse Artillery and "C" Squadron of the Lord Strathcona Horse have left Korea for Canada. The change-over will be completed in June.

The parties now en route to Canada will arrange to take over quarters and equipment from the units now holding them and which are scheduled to leave for Korea shortly.

In charge of the parties are Maj. Jack Peterson, St. Thomas, Ont. (R.C.R.), Maj. Ben Lacasse, Montreal (Royal 22nd), Maj. Jack Orton, Shilo, Man., (R.C.H.A.) and Capt. Ken Kennedy, Halifax (Lord Strathcona Horse).

Atlantic Alliance Strengthened

Latest U.S. Weapon Soon To Be At NATO's Disposal

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—(CP)—The latest and previously-unused weapons of the United States will soon be at the disposal of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the New York Times says today.

Where the weapons will be kept, how many there are and how they will reach their destinations, must remain a guarded secret, the Times says in a dispatch by Benjamin Welles from Lisbon.

But the very fact that such terrible engines of war, and particularly of retaliation, were virtually at hand, is of great significance to the strength of the Atlantic Alliance, the story says.

Also considered of great military and political significance in Lisbon was the fact that U.S. production of these arms had reached the stage where the U.S. government can widen the area where it stored them.

It was known that a few senior ministers of the British government now are anxious to set up with the U.S., a joint strategic air command.

Now there was at least good reason for the establishment of a joint board to plan strategic air operations wherever war might necessitate them.

Britons, who played a vital part in the development of atomic energy, wanted more to say in the use of British territory by the U.S. and the planning of future air operations.

There was every reason to believe that this pointn was brought to President Truman's attention by Churchill in their recent talks and that after hard bargaining, great concessions were made in points of view of the two countries.

Ottawa Asks Ontario Hold Works Plan

Fear Frost Move Might Increase Inflation, Shortages

TORONTO, Feb. 26. (CP)—The Ontario government has a large public works program on tap but is delaying it at the request of the federal government, Premier Leslie Frost told the Legislature Monday. He said Ottawa feels such activity might increase inflation and step up competition for supplies of materials needed for other purposes.

He made the announcement in reply to J. B. Salsberg, the Legislature's only Labor-Progressive (Communist) member, who asked the government to do something to help "thousands of unemployed persons." Mr. Salsberg represents St. Andrew riding in Toronto, one of the cities with an unemployment problem.

Mr. Frost said the unemployment in the case of men able to work is due to "very largely artificial" reasons, such as federal credit curbs and the defence program. He said federal officials expect that after April 1, more men will be at work than ever before.

Higher Surplus

The public accounts report said the government had a surplus of $37,182,032. Premier Frost, who also is provincial treasurer, in his budget speech last spring forecast a surplus of $22,974,000. He said Monday that revenue from corporation taxes was heavier than usual.

From the $37,182,032 surplus, a total of $21,698,350 was transferred to sinking funds for debt reduction and a small amount was put aside for maturing railway aid certificates. This left a final surplus of $15,483,682.

Total assets of the province were estimated at $877,653,901 at the end of the year and the net funded debt was $582,717,500. Net unfunded debt was $104,734,611.

In the discussion on unemployment, Welfare Minister Goodfellow said the government's policy was that unemployment relief for men able to go to work was not the responsibility of the province or municipalities. The unemployment was caused largely by factors over which the federal government had control and Ottawa was the only government with the taxing facilities and administrative machinery to relieve the situation.

THE CANADIAN ARMY didn't have any casualties on exercise Sun Dog Three, carried out in the Ungava Bay region of Northern Quebec with R.C.A.F. assistance. There were few cases of illness so the medical officer for the exercise, Major Paul H. Bazinet, Montreal, devoted a great deal of time to assisting the Eskimos. Here the M.O., who is stationed at Eastern Command headquarters at Halifax, gives an injection to Uliak, infant son of Nangreegiak who looks on with concern.

V.O.N. Observes Special Week To Explain Work

The Victorian Orders of Nurses is carrying out a campaign to let the people of Peterborough know what service the V.O.N. performs in the city as part of their observance of V.O.N. week, Feb. 25 to March 1.

In addition to a special broadcast on CHEX Thursday evening when Wilson Gemmel, president of the V.O.N. board of directors, will outline the work of the order in the city, spot broadcasts during the six days are also being presented.

Pamphlets and information have been sent to churches, service clubs and other organizations in the city.

A display has been set up in the window of Walker's Store with an illustrated story of the V.O.N. work.

The highlight of the week will be the V.O.N. annual meeting to be held at the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday afternoon. The guest speaker will be Douglas C. Currey, M.D., D.P.H., director of St. Catharines-Lincoln Health Unit.

Will Be 1955 Before Germans In NATO Army

BONN, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP) —Allied officials said today that the Atlantic army will have to wait at least until 1955 for the 12 German divisions it counts on to help defend the West.

Despite the green light given the European army by the Atlantic allies at their Lisbon conference, these officials said that recent political developments, especially in France, have set back the previous timetable calling for combat-ready German troops by 1954.

The sources here explain the situation thus:

The Germans will need two full years from the starting point to call up, arm and train 300,000 to 400,000 men to serve with the six-nation European army.

The outlook now is that not a single German soldier will be drafted before early 1953.

Government May Change

Nor do these prospects for German manpower for western defence take into account a possible change in the West German government. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-rearmament coalition faces an election fight in the summer of 1953 with the bitterly anti-rearmament Socialists.

The Socialists warned last weekend that they would continue to oppose German participation

Paid Into Funds

About all of the German contribution—less 1,000,000,000 marks ($238,000,000) earmarked for Berlin and internal security—will be paid into the funds of the European Defence Community.

In turn E.D.C. will pay the expenses of the British, United States, and French troops in Germany. It will also pay for the equipment Germany is to get from these funds.

The ministers also turned their attention today to the problem of getting the Russians to quit stalling on an independence pact for Austria.

In addition, they studied, American proposals for taking off some imporant wraps which still remain on German war industries.

Accidental Carrier

The authorities may be working on the theory that the immigrant may have unintentionally brought the infection to this country in his clothing. The disease is caused by a persistent, long-living, hard-dying virus known to be transmitted in that manner.

Regina dispatches quoted Mr. Waas as discounting suggestions that the disease may have been transmitted to his farm by feed or other animals. All feed given his animals prior to the outbreak had been grown on his farm and no new cattle were brought in.

All 37 head of cattle on the Waas farm have been infected.

Two More Farms

Word of the new western outbreaks came from J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who said the infection has been uncovered on two farms in the Regina district town of Elmsthorpe.

It now joins the nine other municipalities that have been brought into an iron-clad quarantine. All are within a radius of 35 to 40 miles of Regina.

U.S. Embassy officials here said there is a possibility the U.S. may consider extending its embargo to include Canadian grains. The Rouses' Point Dispatch tended to confirm this.

At Rouse's Point, Dr. L. E. Bruncher, U.S. general agricultural representative, said the American ban imposed Monday includes hay and straw, grasses, rice, wheat and other grains, and legumes, such as peas and beans. These are in addition to livestock and meat and their by-products.

Mr. Taggart cancelled a proposed trip to Washington to confer with American authorities on Canadian measures to eradicate the disease.

He said: "There are good reasons for the cancellation, but I cannot make them public."

Prices Fluctuate

In the wake of the U.S. livestock and meat embargo and restrictions on movement of live cattle from western points, prices began fluctuating in the east.

At Montreal and Halifax beef prices were reported climbing as a result of the possibility that available western supplies may decline.

Western cattle men predicted a decline in beef prices in the West, unless farmers held back their cattle from market. There were no reports of any immediate rush by farmers to cash in on their stocks.

In the infected area, slaughtering of animals is expected to start today. Officials in Ottawa said only cloven-hoofed animals would be destroyed. There would be no slaughtering of horses, dogs or cats.

Consideration was given to the possibility of changing Western restrictions on the outward movement of livestock, but while plans were drafted, they likely will not go into effect for many weeks.

No livestock can be moved out of the stockyards of Prince Albert, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw. Cattle from Alberta can move eastward if there is no stop-over in the restricted area. There are no restrictions on the movement of Alberta cattle and meats westward to British Columbia.

Forecast Ontario Loss

Experts in Ontario forecast losses of up to $5,000,000 for Ontario livestock breeders who lose their U.S. markets. They forecast no meat shortage since most of Ontario's consumption is filled from home-grown herds.

Quebec agricultural sources foresaw similiar serious losses. Hog dealers and breeders likely would be hardest hit by loss of U.S. markets. The eventual effect on retail prices was unpredictable.

Canada's Military Program Big Debate For Commons

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP)—The government will throw another bigger-than-ever defence bill at parliament shortly and then open a two-way inquiry into how it is spending all those billions of dollars.

The cabinet may be asked, too, why it is seeking a reported $2,200,000,000 for the new fiscal year starting April 1 when its estimates for this fiscal year were $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 too high.

At any rate, with two main avenues of approach, the opposition is bound to make the miltary program one of the big topics of inquiry and debate at the session starting Feb. 28.

In the house itself, members will have the opportunity to probe into the defence estimates for the 12 months starting April 1, estimates for a sum which will make up much more than half the entire Federal expenditures for that year.

In the new defence-expenditure committee, which barely began sittings before the last session concluded, members will have an opportunity to question how the government spent roughly $1,400,000,000 on defence in this dying fiscal year and why it originally asked in the estimates for several hundred million dollars more than that and didn't spend them.

Between them, the two openings should lead to comprehensive statements by the government on the progress of the three-year military program, on what Canada is doing in Europe and Korea and in what ways the program is lagging.

Production schedules of CF100 jet fighters, of radar, of warships all are reported lagging, offering the opposition a chance to inquire why.

The new committee is presided over by Lt.-Col. David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) who early in the Second World War enlisted as a private in an infantry battalion while he was Mayor of Windsor.

The aim is to confine inquiries to a study of past spending, to keep it away from an appraisal of government policy. Experience in the past with such committees indicates that Col. Croll will be faced fairly soon with a decision that will strike the borderline between the two.

The committee is one the Progressive Conservatives have sought for some years and the importance they attach to it is signified in the presence of their leader, Lt.-Col. George Drew, among its members.

So far the chief witness at the few 1951 hearings was C. M. Drury, deputy defence minister, with Max MacKenzie, his counterpart in the defence production department as No. 2 man. Whether other leading figures such as the chiefs of staff will be called remains to be seen.

More Plan Trips Through Local Agents

More and more Peterborough people bent on travelling about the world are using city travel agencies, but there are still a large number who go to the big cities to get the same or not so good service.

City agents say that besides giving the same fast accurate service as the large centre travel agencies, they are also able to give travellers a personal service that is missing in large cities.

By personal service agents mean that people who, for one reason or another, do not like to call on downtown offices, may get preliminary information by phone followed up by personal interviews in homes.

It was also pointed out that city agents give the traveller small personal attentions all through their trips that is missing in agencies where they are not known.

To cinch their buy-at-home services argument they ask why community people persist in out-of-town travel shopping when the same customers expect their share of business in the district.

Youth Arrested

Release Confession

Police made Patenaude's seven-page confession public Monday and said he admitted the abduction, saying he only did it to "frighten her parents."

His story continued as follows:

He worked for Nemeroff, owner of Paramount Leather Goods, for 15 days he watched the Nemeroff home. Friday night he checked to see if the family was home, then seeing the family car was gone, he sought entrance by the front door and, when the maid failed to recognize him climbed up the back stairs of the duplex.

He found the back door open and went through the house to the maid's room, his face masked by a yellow scarf. He ordered 25-year-old Alice Lachanace, to dress the child.

"She (Barbara), was crying all the time," said the youth.

"I told her we were going to see her mother and she stopped."

According to his own story, Patenaude selected the clothing for the child and handed her a pet doll. Then he taxied away from the Nemeroff home and spent the night in a hotel room with the child. He put her to bed, he said, and slept beside her, fully clothed.

Train Hits Car 2 Dead, 1 Hurt

WINDSOR, Feb. 26—(CP)— A speeding Canadian National Railways passenger train took the lives of two persons late Monday and seriously injured another when it crashed into an automobile stalled on a level crossing at suburban Tecumseh.

Dead are Mrs. Sarah Olding, 41, and Mrs. Ethel Cook, 30, both of Windsor Mrs. Olding's daughter, Sally Lillian, 15, suffered extreme shock, a possible fractured right arm and lacerations.

Hospital attendants said the girl is "resting comfortably," but, because of the nature of the shock she received, is in "serious" condition.

The bodies of the two women were badly mutilated. Wreckage was strewn 200 feet along the right-of-way.

Stock Market Prices Decline On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 26—(CP)— Stock market prices declined steadily and a wide list of golds, oils and metals attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,461,000 shares.

Papers, refining oils and manufacturing companies led industrials lower while steels weakened steadily. Utilities, agricultures, constructions and miscellaneous issues held gains and losses in balance.

Base metals dipped sharply as Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, United Keno Hill and Waite Amulet posted losses ranging to about 75 cents. Estella, Pend Oreille and United Asbestos eased pennies.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains about three to one. Canada Southern, Gridoil, Pacific Petroleum, Canadian Williston, Sapphire, Scurry and Husky traded steadily lower.

Senior golds sagged. Dome and Lake Shore dipped fractions while Malartic eased pennies. Secondary issues posted a broad majority of penny losses.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Feb. 26 — (CP) —The United States dollar today opened at 1/32 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $1.00 1/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78¼, also unchanged.

Ontario Liquor Spending $46 Per Person In 1951

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—Ontario citizens spent roughly $46.75 each for beer, liquor and wine during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1951, with about $24.45 per capita going to the three levels of government.

Provincial Secretary Welsh, who also is chief liquor commissioner, tabled the annual report of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario in the legislature Monday.

The report showed total value of sales at $210,473,812.

Total sales showed an increase of 6.9 per cent, or $13,683,638 over the 1950 total of $196,790,174. The 12-month period covered by the report was the first to exceed $200,000,000 in the province's history.

Net profit to the province was $41,194,386, compared with $39,780,787 for the previous year. This was made up of a net trading profit of $29,778,523, compared to $28,364,007, and $11,415,862 profit from permits, fees, taxes and fines, compared with $11,416,780 for 1950.

The three governments split a $110,000,000 melon, compared to $102,800,000 for the previous year. The municipal governments took roughly $3,000,000, leaving about $77,000,000 as the federal government's share.

Law Breaches Up

The statistics show breaches of liquor laws are up roughly 9 per cent over the previous year, but while the population may not have been wise about the quantity consumed, it appeared to be tending toward the imported brands. Sales of domestic beer and wine dropped, while imported brands of beer zoomed as much as 28.9 per cent. Percentage increase in sale of imported spirits was greater than percentage increase in sale of domestic spirits.

Convictions for misuse of alcohol showed an increase of more than 4,000 over the previous year, with a total of 50,904, compared with 46,785. Jail sentences were meted out to 16,744, compared to 13,877 in the previous year. Convictions for driving while intoxicated were 1,663, compared to 1,213 in 1950, while breaches of Liquor Control Act numbered 892, compared with 806.

Consumption of domestic beer dropped from 1,708,065 gallons in 1950 to 1,530,762 gallons last year, a decrease of 10.6 per cent. Consumption of imported beer jumped 28.9 per cent from 23,174 gallons in 1950 to 29,865 last year.

Total sales from liquor stores were slightly higher at 6,474,501 gallons, compared with 6,426,699 for the previous year. There was a decrease of .03 per cent in sales of domestic beer from breweries and brewers' retail stores, gallonage figures being 68,266,273 in 1950, compared with 68,245,566 last year.

In the western defence system "under present conditions," even if they take over the government next year. They have demanded immediate elections.

Although the Germans are free to make preparations now for recruiting troops, they cannot put men into uniform until:

1. The six West European nations—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg—complete the draft treaty for the European army.
2. The six parliaments ratify the treaty.
3. The German parliament approves a separate conscription bill.

Four C. Of C.'s To Represent Kawarthas At Cleveland

Preparations for the Kawartha Lake District booth at the Cleveland Sportsman's Show are well underway.

Four district chambers of commerce and one tourist association will represent this district at the show to take place in Cleveland, Ohio, March 28—April 6.

This year the Kawarthas have been fortunate i ring a booth just inside the main entrance of the hall. This means that everyone attending the show will pass by the Kawartha booth.

Enlarged Exhibit

The district's 1952 exhibit will be enlarged to include the floor space of two booths. The highlight of the booth will be a map of the Kawartha district, four feet by seven feet which will be illustrated in attractive autumn colors. The lakes will be made prominent with lights shining throuhg a blue plastic material. Approximately 26 pictures will tell the story of what the Kawarthas have to offer to the American tourist.

In outlining the plans for the exhibit, Don Kingdon, assistant manager of the Peterborough chamber explained that each end of the booth will be of imitation log siding and the background of all the picture displays will be imitation pine wallpaper.

The total floor space of the booth will be 25 feet long and eight feet wide.

10 At Booth

The personnel for the booth will be made up of two delegates from each of the five organizations taking part. Each delegate will be at the show for five days.

The value of publicizing the Kawarthas in the United States is shown by the 1951 Peterborough clearing house figures. A total of $850,000 in American money was cleared through Peterborough banks during the three summer months last year. In addition many of the American tourists coming to this district changed their money for Canadian money at the border before coming into the country.

The four chambers in the district taking part in the show are Bobcaygeon, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and Peterborough. The Rice Lake Tourist Association is the fifth organization participating.

2 Youths Fined For Fighting

"These fights are becoming too numerous in our public places," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said in police court today and urged Magistrate W. R. Philp to fine two youths more than the minimum for causing a disturbance.

"I would ugre you to impose such a penalty as to be a warning to others who go out to these places, full of Dutch courage, and thereby interrupt and frighten others," added Mr. Bradshaw.

Arden Dracup, of Lakefield, pleaded not guilty to causing a disturbance at Brookside dance pavilion early Saturday morning but was convicted and fined $15 and $6.75 costs.

After Dracup had been found guilty, the other man involved in the fracas, Raymond Lester, 336 Reid St., pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

Lester protested that Dracup should be made to pay for tearing his sweater. Magistrate Philp replied that it appeared to be repaired satisfactorily and that Dracup's two black eyes and bruised face would counterbalance the torn sweater.

A second charge against Lester, of obstructing O.P.P. Constable Russell Pollard by giving him a false name when Constable Pollard was investigating the fight was dismissed.

Magistrate Philp said that his interpretation of the section Lester was being charged under was that some physical form of obstruction was necessary. Mr. Bradshaw did not press for a conviction and Magistrate Philp commented that there may be other charges for which Lester could be prosecuted.

NATO AT WORK—The ninth session of the North Atlantic Council now meeting at the Portuguese parliament building in Lisbon has been described by its chairman, Hon. Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Minister for External Affairs, as of "critical importance." For the first time Greece and Turkey were represented as full members of the council. In this photo, Dr. Paulo Cunha, Foreign Minister of Portugal, (standing at rostrum), makes his welcoming speech to the Council. Seated above the rostrum is Mr. Pearson. Leading delegates occupy the crescent-shaped row of chairs facing the rostrum.

Lawyer Gives Opinion On Women As Jurors

COBOURG, Feb. 26 (ENS) — The matter of women jurors came up at a bar association meeting addressed here by J. J. Robinette, Q.C. of Toronto, during the course of his talk on presentations of legal argument. Mr. Robinette discussed the differences in conducting jury and non-jury actions and quite naturally someone asked Mr. Robinette what he thought about the effect of women serving on juries.

Mr. Robinette must have had his tongue in his cheek when he replied that one result might be that more women would be convicted. The tongue was still there when he added that women jurors would not make their decisions logically—something of a "I don't know why, but he is guilty" method.

"And they'll be right," was the quick retort from a lawyer's wife present at the meeting.

Mount Pleasant Women Hold Supper

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 26 (ENS).—A good crowd attended the supper under the auspices of the Women's Institute held in the W.I. hall Friday evening.

Carr, Ralph McLean, Harvey Downer, Mrs. I. Lowe, Ellen Morden and Bob McLean, Eric McLean, Barry Fee, Mrs. S. Tully, Jim Armstrong, Mrs. L. Handley, Mrs. J. Armstrong, L. Port Arthur Mayor Worried About Money

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 26—(CP) —Mayor C. W. Cox, outlining the rising cost of borrowing money, Monday night told city council it no longer is easy to sell large blocks of city bonds.

He said alternatives were that the city borrow through banks at interest rates rising to five per cent, or obtain money from United States interests at four per cent. However, American money was payable in American funds and, although there was a probability of the Canadian dollar staying on par with the U.S. dollar, it was a gamble.

He said he agreed with Education Minister Dunlop that unless Boards of Education curtailed their expenditures, they would bankrupt municipalities.

Lindsay Midgets Win Series, Beat Napanee

LINDSAY, Feb. 26—Lindsay qualified for the OMHA midget "B" semi-finals by walloping Napanee Pringley, 8-2 here Monday night. The win gave the locals the round by a 14-5 count.

Centre Doug Pearson paced the locals with three goals. Bob Vickery, Bill Hennessey, Pete Carveth, Rolly Cory and Bob Growden added the other tallies. Geo. Dale and Tom McAlister spoiled Geo. Kenif's shutout attempt with third period tallies. Morley Perry was outstanding in the net for the outclassed visitors.

Farm Problems Told To Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 26 — (ENS)—Rotarians here heard a discussion on farm problems by George McLaughlin, of Oshawa, at their Monday noon luncheon in the parish hall.

Mr. McLaughlin said the farmer is the only man who buys in the retail market and sells in the wholesale. He is the last man to get the advantages of rising prices, and in some cases also the first. The middleman takes his profit regardless of rising or falling prices.

The farmer, said the speaker, is to a great degree himself responsible for this situation. In making a profit there are three fundamental factors to consider—price, quantity and cost.

The farmer, regardless of long-run conditions, was prone to jump into the production of a commodity because of the high prices prevailing. If enough farmers do this, high prices were automatically lowered and no one but the farmer is to blame.

Often too anxious to spread out, the farmer tries to do many things instead of doing a few things well. Mr. McLaughlin said that there would be better quality commodities produced if the farmer was interested in taking one product all the way from the production through to the consumption stage. Planned production, along correct lines according to the suitability of the land itself, and an interest in the distribution angle of farm products, would improve both price and quality, he said.

He suggested that if the farmers of Canada do not do more than half a job, as they are doing now the masses of Europe and Asia will sooner or later try to do it for us. An international marketing board would do away with all problems of surpluses and be a great factor for peace, said the speaker.

Mr. McLaughlin was introduced by Lindsay Anderson and thanked by Bob Bateson.

Motorcyclists Form County Club

COBOURG, Feb. 26 (ENS) — Motorcycle fans from all over Northumberland and Durham counties met here to form a motorcycle club, with one of its objectives being to promote safe and sane driving by all members. Through the actions of some foolhardy bike riders, the general public did not take any too kindly to motorcyclists, including bike owners who drive with noisy exhausts, it was pointed out at the meeting.

Ed Oldfield of Cobourg was elected president of the club. Oldfield is a veteran dirt track rider who has raced in events across the border. Vice-president is Lyle Chapin of Cobourg, secretary, Dick Hart and treasurer, Ken Sweet, all of Cobourg. The executive has not all been elected but so far the members are Bill Bolton of Port Hope, Vic Piper of Cobourg, Charles Mahoney of Campbellford.

Drug Addiction Increasing In Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 26—(CP)—The Federal Health Department, without giving any figures, said today that narcotic addiction is on the increase among Canadians. As is the case in the United States, some of the addicts are teen-agers.

In its report for the fiscal year ended last March 31, the Department said:

"Addiction is known to have increased during the year, partly due to the availability of substantial quantities of heroin which have been smuggled into the country, and partly to general high levels of prosperity and consequent increased earning power of addicts and potential addicts.

"It is known that little if any of the heroin imported for medical requirements has been diverted to illicit use, yet enforcement officers are continuing to encounter substantial amounts of this drug.

"The ease with which it can be obtained illegally, combined with its satisfying addition properties, has resulted in heroin to a large extent replacing opium and morphine in illicit traffic."

Replaces Opium

Most of the narcotic traffic is centred in British Columbia. Of 360 convictions obtained in the judicial year ended Sept. 30, 1950, 173 cases were in British Columbia.

"In contrast, there has been very little narcotic addiction uncovered in the Maritime provinces, said the report. "A marked increase in the number of cases in Alberta has occurred; 45 as compared to 23 in the previous year.

"There was no increase in the number of females associated with illicit transactions, with the ratio of male to female convictions remaining at about five to two.

"There does, however, appear to be a lowering in the average age of new addicts; a number have come to the attention of enforcement officers who were in their early 20s, and some in their teens."

Fined $15, Costs

Murray Styles, 579 Aylmer St., entered a written plea of guilty in police court today on a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence.

He was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

Campbellford Glee Club Stages Concert

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 26 — (ENS)—The Glee Club of Campbellford High School presented its first full length concert on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, culminating many weeks of preparation by the staff and students. This was one of the highlights of the year in the school life and was enjoyed by capacity audiences in the school auditorium on both nights.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Irene Stephen, showed poise and ability as they gave a finished performance of a program that consisted of solos, duets, trios and numbers by the Junior and Senior Glee Clubs.

Among the many and varied selections was a group of sacred numbers, which seemed to impress the audience with their simplicity and sincerity. A colorful presentation was the Folk Song Fantasy in which gay peasant costumes and folk dances combined with songs of many lands to make a picturesque scene.

Following the Friday evening performance, the Literary Society sponsored a dance, with George Potter and his orchestra providing the music.

Break Tradition

OXFORD, England, Feb. 26—(Reuters)—Oxford University has decided to break with its examination tradition of removing a distinction between men and women students. Formerly men and women had been given oral examinations in separate groups—the men first and the women following. Now all will be in one group and will take the tests in alphabetical order.

A Serious Livestock Condition

Foot-and-mouth disease has broken out among western cattle for the first time since 1870. Livestock and public health authorities throughout the world regard the disease so seriously that very drastic measures are immediately taken to quarantine infected areas. It is crippling to cattle, and even fatal; the virus can also infect sheep, goats and swine, and may be passed to humans. It moves very rapidly and strikes hard. The only sure way to control the disease is to prevent the movement of animals or carcasses from infected areas, and to slaughter all cattle that are diseased. A quarantine has been set up around Regina, where the disease was first noticed. An embargo has been put on movement of cattle east and south of Winnipeg. The American government has closed its borders to Canadian livestock shipments.

* * *

It is too early to say whether the authorities will be successful in preventing the spread of the disease west to British Columbia and east into Manitoba and Ontario, through the embargo on cattle and pigs in Saskatchewan. Only the most severe measures will be effective. A few infected carcasses or animals on the hoof which might get into other parts of Canada could make the disease epidemic. The more it spreads (even articles and places soiled by infected animals can transmit the virus) the more difficult and costly it is to eradicate. The last serious outbreak on this continent was in Mexico in 1946. The Mexican Department of Agriculture had to slaughter a million head of cattle—a tenth of the cattle population. An outbreak in Germany in 1892 resulted in compulsory destruction of the cattle on 150,929 German farms.

* * *

The United States is understandably sensitive to the disease; for it was from Canada that foot-and-mouth first spread to the U.S. in the 'seventies. It was a costly import to wipe out. Today, should the disease cross the border, the control measures would be enormously expensive of money and beef and dairy products. So it is that the United States has put an embargo on all shipments of beef from Canada, and not only beef from Western Canada. The embargo may be maintained for a year. The United States is going to run as few risks as possible, after its lesson from Canada in the 1870's and its recent lesson from Mexico.

* * *

The economic effect of the American ban on Canadian beef and hogs will be heavy, for Canada's livestock trade with the U.S. amounted to $130,000,000 last year. If the disease spreads in Canada and the embargo continues for a year or more, Canada's livestock trade will be crippled. It will be crippled anyway, if foot-and-mouth disease spreads out of Saskatchewan. Thousands of animals would have to be slaughtered, and it would be several years before herds could again be built up.

* * *

The effect on beef prices in Canada will vary with the extent and intensity of the disease. If it is confined, and the U.S. embargo continues, the only market for Canadian beef will be Canada. Thus there would be an over-supply, which would depress prices. If the disease ravages herds in many parts of the country there would not be enough beef and dairy products to supply even the domestic market. Thus prices would rise.

* * *

There is no need for farmers to panic. So far only about 500 animals are known to have been infected, and these were on only 24 different farms and yards. Experts have been busy for the last week identifying the disease and quarantining animals. There is good reason to hope that the progress of the disease through herds will already have been arrested.

Defending Europe For 300 Billion Dollars

The master plan for the defence of Western Europe is fast taking shape. Included in General Eisenhower's NATO command, under which a Canadian brigade is already serving and to which other North Atlantic Treaty nations are committed to send troops, will be the new European Army of two million men. According to unanimous decisions made at Lisbon last week, the forces under General Eisenhower will be so integrated that they will all wear even the same kind of uniform.

The plan is to build a defensive wall of troops, guns and planes across Europe from the Bosphorus to the Arctic. On the ground will be 45 or 5 divisions, to be doubled by the end of 1954. There will be a vast network of airfields, fighter bases, barracks and lines of communication criss-crossing western Europe. The plan will cost more than $300,000,000,000, but the North Atlantic Treaty Council, meeting in Lisbon, consider it a sound investment to preserve European security from Communist attack. Canada has a $225,000,000 mutual aid budget to help arm and feed these defence forces (as well as to supply airmen and ground troops), but it is expected that this budget will be raised by another hundred million dollars.

These are the paper plans which the NATO Council confidently expect to be put into operation. There are difficulties of trade, raw material supplies, integration of command, national appropriations for the common defence, and the actual supply of troops yet to be overcome. France and Germany, for instance, are not at all agreed on the number of troops and the amounts of money each should provide. There is also the problem of the constitution of the European Army, which is scheduled to take the largest part in ground troop assignments. Germany does not want to pay as much as other nations think she should. France does not want German troops under German command. Despite Mr. Winston Churchill's leadership in the formation of the Council of Europe and his advocacy of European union, the Conservative Government no more than the late Labour Government, wants to put British troops into the European army. British troops are serving under General Eisenhower's NATO command, but as British formations. France wants to see Britain committed to the European Army as she herself is.

The plans are laid. The men, guns, planes and money are to be required. It is fantastic that less than seven years after the war the western world should be rearming at a spectacular and frightening rate, at a cost of 300 billion dollars. Has civilization gone mad; or is the non-Communist world in such peril that only this type of madness can save it? Never in peacetime will the world have seen so vast and costly an array of arms as NATO is building. It should be enough to scare even Russia. It scares us.

Welcome To The Drama Festival

The Eastern Ontario Drama Festival begins this evening; His Worship the Mayor will extend the official welcome of the city to the event and the contestants it brings with it, but we hope that our unofficial greeting will not come amiss.

A drama festival is unlike any other sort of contest within our experience; it is rather like a race in which horses, donkeys, chickens, panthers, gorillas and anything else classifiable as an animal is welcome to try its luck. Tragedies, comedies, mystery plays, melodramas, classics and plays of no literary worth may all compete against one another, and the award goes to whichever contesting group does the best job of the play it has undertaken. The task of judge in such a contest is an exceedingly difficult one, and it is rendered more difficult by the fact that he has to explain the reasons for his decision to the contestants and to the audience. The festival here has an unusually distinguished group of plays, including works by Shakespeare, Shaw, Synge, Tchekov and Giraudoux. No such collection of plays of the first rank has ever been seen in Peterborough before, in the course of a single week.

Drama festivals on this scale are peculiarly Canadian. There are competitive festivals elsewhere, of course, but not on the lines of the Dominion Drama Festival, of which the Eastern Ontario Festival is a part. People who sigh for something of a cultural nature which is distinctively Canadian should not miss this chance to see a festival.

"Cultural" is a word we dislike, for it suggests that which is uplifting without being enjoyable. But anything which gives people pleasure is part of their culture, and the drama festivals give pleasure; if they did not do so they would not have been in existence, and growing stronger, since 1932. We commend this particular form of pleasure to the people of Peterborough, who have not had it on their home ground before.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Wild ducks have been seen in Sault Ste. Marie, which is thought to be a sign of an early spring. Of course it could be a sign of stupid ducks.

Some British newspapers hail the abolition of identity cards as a blow for liberty. Don't worry; the cards will be back just as soon as some future government gets the shivers.

The Scotch Whisky Association has raised its export price by five shillings a case, which means that our L.C.B.O. will have to pay $11.68 for it. Past experience suggests that this will mean that the $60.60 which the Government charges the consumer for a case will be raised by at least ten dollars. Whatever became of that cry—"For control and not for profit"—which was heard when the Government took over the liquor business?

Great Poet, Foolish Man

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

THOSE who celebrate today's 150th anniversary of the birth of Victor Hugo by an act of recollection and tribute will surely do so with diverse and contradictory notions.

* * *

VICTOR HUGO died less than seventy years ago, yet he seems as remote from ourselves and our time as the mythical heroes of Homer or the Norse sagas. He would be inconceivable as a product of the Twentieth Century. Consider, to begin with, his unflinching and invulnerable self-satisfaction. Doubt and guilt are the ubiquitous spirits of our own time, laying chilly fingers on the napes of all our serious poets. "Do I dare to eat a peach?" reflects the aging hero of the young Mr. (T. S.) Eliot, and these troubled self-investigations fill the thin pages of our modern bards. It is doubtful whether Victor Hugo knew the meaning of the word doubt, any more than the Nelson of a child's history book knows the meaning of the word fear.

* * *

HE started to thunder forth at the age of twenty—a royalist then, mourning the deaths of royal dukes in irreproachably pompous verse. In 1827 he was converted to romanticism and republicanism, and became at once the loudest and most eloquent mouthpiece of the new movement. Under the bourgeois monarchy of Louis Philippe, Hugo was His Majesty's Opposition, honoured, indeed cossetted, by the regime yet ostensibly suffering martyrdom for his offended principles. In 1845 he was created a peer of France, and entered the political arena with a firm, vigorous but curiously ineffective step. Seven years later he was opposing the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon by addressing the troops in the Place de La Bastille from a four-wheeler. They failed to pay him the attention which his reputation warranted, and Victor Hugo spent the next nineteen years as a baleful exile in Guernsey. But he returned on the fall of his "Napoleon le Petit" in 1870, and the last fifteen years of his life were spent in unrelieved glory, swooned over by admirers who could never, even at their most ecstatic moments, fully satisfy his appetite for adulation.

* * *

WAS the funeral at last enough? In accordance with his dying behest, his body was enclosed in a pauper's coffin—yet it lay in state for a night under the Arc De Triomphe and was buried in the Pantheon! His obsequies were symbolic of his grotesque and histrionic mind.

* * *

COULD any career, either in its general sweep or in its astonishing particulars, be more unlike the life of the Twentieth Century poet? It happened—it seems as if it happened by some fantastic and farcical accident—that Victor Hugo was a magnificently eloquent poet, a master of technique and vocabulary and a virtuoso of the emotions. When Andre Gide was asked to name the greatest of all French poets, he answered with a sigh: "Alas, it was Victor Hugo". The sigh remains, for there can seldom have been a great writer who was so trivial, pompous and uninteresting a man. There are many apocryphal stories which illustrate his complacent fatuity. On one occasion, after his final return to Paris, we are told that Hugo was sitting enthroned among his disciples when one of them modestly envisaged the day when the street outside would be renamed the Rue Hugo. Hugo disdained to comment. A more enthusiastic admirer predicted that the whole area would become the Quartier Victor Hugo. Again there was no movement from the sage, and a desperate accolyte then proclaimed that Paris itself would be known as Hugonopolis. Hugo looked up from under his daunting eyebrows and said, with grim approval, "That will come, young man! That will come!"

In fact, he was an ass, and none the less so for being a very great poet as well.

* * *

WHAT interests us now is not the character of the man, not even, perhaps, the quality of his splendid verses and voluminous prose, but Victor Hugo's astonishing stature as a public figure. It is this which makes him so remote from us. "France", he wrote, with his usual restraint, "will see my torch flame in her darkness". And the point is that he was accepted at his own valuation. When he fulminated against Napoleon the Third from his Guernsey exile, Hugo was by no means a figure of fun; his influence was formidable, and his imperial enemy was fully aware of it. Hugo the Prophet was neither profound nor far-seeing, but he was a prophet if only because he and the public were agreed on his prophetic role.

* * *

HIS message was confused, self-interested and banal, but his thunderous eloquence compelled the attention and respect even of his enemies. And in this he was peculiarly a prophet, for he seemed to be filled with the resounding word of God, rather than to have himself composed his verse by the exercise of a personal skill. He was a force in nineteenth-century France, and he is still a force in our own time, in spite of our own time.

* * *

AND it would be churlish to forget the value of his achievements. When his "Hernani" was performed on the Paris stage in 1827, the whole of literary France was engaged in the nightly conflicts which were fought out in the auditorium. A dying classical tradition was entrenched in the theatre, and it was Hugo who led the forces of the new romanticism against it. The life and freedom of the arts was at stake—and by his overwhelming victory in the theatre Hugo saved them. Without that successful crusade in the 1820's the great 19th-century renaissance of French literature would have been impossible. Without his tireless eloquence during the next half century, the new literature might well have failed and faded for lack of nerve and inspiration. He was a foolish man and a trivial prophet but he was a great poet and a great poetic influence.

THE IDEA

"I've come to mend the tap you wrote about," said the plumber to the woman who answered the door.

"But we didn't send for you."

"You're Mrs. Green?"

"No, Mrs. Green left here two months ago—before we moved in."

The plumber turned to his boy. "Would you believe it, Bill? Fancy sending for us to do a job and then moving!"

SCHOOL BUS RUSH

Sir: I would like to, if I may, use just a little space in your paper to express my opinion regarding the Monaghan Rd. South bus service.

I most heartily agree with everything "A Daily Standee" said recently in your paper.

I am a student and would like to give a student's viewpoint of the situation. We have, thanks to the generous Bus Company, a school bus in the morning. But, at noon hour, most of us get home, via bus, by about 12:15. The next bus, which comes at about twenty to one, gives us hardly enough time to eat lunch and run to the bus-stop. Then, the next bus, which comes at 1:15 does not get us to school in time. What we need is one, little, old bus that will come at about 1 o'clock, just as in every other part of the city!

I am afraid that if we do not get a noon hour school bus, there will be many teenagers with stomach ulcers, due to the terrible rushing.

Thanking you for this space, I am,

A SOUTH-END TEEN-AGER

SAYS TIMBER BYLAW DICTATORSHIP

Sir: Might I be granted space in your valuable paper to voice my attitude regarding the proposed Legislation the County Council is at present considering Re: The prevention and supervising of the cutting of small or any timber for that matter on privately owned farms.

To me a bylaw of that nature is something bordering on dictatorship. It seems to me to be of a nature that one wonders at a body of August Gentleman representing the municipalities would assume a policy of Legislation that would render hardships on any one class of people or would do anything to deprive them of their independence.

For example: Take the price of beef today and the anticipated scarcity it will be in the near future. Supposing the Council were to pass a bylaw prohibiting the killing, selling or disposing of any young cattle in anyway under three years old, and anyone breaking that bylaw would be fined say $50.00 on 1st. conviction and second conviction $100.00 plus three months in jail.

Wouldn't any of your members of the County Council who are farmers shout? There would be a howl that would reach to High Heavens, yet the poor farmer or family who has nothing but a wood lot to make a living from, to sell a few cords of wood to buy a hundredweight of flour, or to pay his taxes, or any of the other hundred and one necessities of life, if that privilege is taken from him? Is he not in much worse condition than the farmer would be?

If the County Council wishes to really do something to preserve our forests, is there not some other method of procedure which the council could pursue?

If I might be allowed to suggest one method. Suppose the Council prohibited the cutting or commercializing of trees for decorating, such as Xmas trees etc. I think I am safe in saying that if the practice was stopped there would be a saving of between ten and twenty thousand trees annually in our county alone. Did you ever think of it in that light?

Thanking you,
T. E. PEARSON

FORESEES SPONSORED MOVIES

Sir: Your correspondent of a few days ago who decried the introduction of advertising "trailers" in a local movie house is certainly taking a narrow view of what may well be a revolutionary movement in visual entertainment.

Why, this is only the beginning. Your disgruntled moviegoer doesn't seem to realize that we stand on the threshold of great things. It should not be long until a joyous arrangement is worked out between motion picture distributors and advertisers to bring us the sponsored movie. A local or national advertiser could sponsor an entire movie program. Advertising messages would be delivered from the screen at the beginning and end of the program, and the feature presentation could be interrupted for a fifteen-minute photographic discourse on the sponsor's product. The audience would even be privileged, as few audiences have been, to see the singing commercials they have heard and pondered for so long.

And, of course, these sponsored programs would be free (like radio) and the entertainment medium of movies would be thus extended to a far greater audience. Motion pictures would at last be within the reach of everyone, and this would be adequate compensation for such small inconveniences as program interruptions and blocks-long lines at the movie houses.

Just think of the possibilities. The fact that we moviegoers now pay to see advertising on the screen is trivial compared to the obvious advantages of the sponsored program to which this experiment could ultimately lead.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. The Lord shall send the rod of thy strength out of Zion: rule thou in the midst of thine enemies. (Ps. 110: 1, 2.)

* * *

Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free . . . Verily, verily I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death. Then said the Jews unto him, Now we know that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou sayest, If a man keep my saying, he shall never taste of death. Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the prophets are dead: whom makest thou thyself?

Jesus answered, If I honour myself, my honour is nothing: it is my Father that honoureth me; of whom ye say, that he is your God . . . Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad. Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

Jesus said unto then, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am. (John 8:31, 32, 51-54, 56-58.)

Not Just A Symbol

(Brantford Expositor)

This newspaper has already remarked on the quite astonishing precedence given in United States newspapers, regardless of their political stripe, to the news of the lamented death of King George and the accession of Queen Elizabeth. In a recent editorial, some quotations from headlines were given, taken at random. It remained for at least one New York tabloid to fill its front page entirely with the traditional words, "The King is Dead: Long live the Queen!"

All this bespeaks the deep and abiding friendship and understanding properly and naturally existing between the two great English-speaking nations. The sentiments underlying these manifestations in the popular press are, of course, appreciated and reciprocated. But it is especially gratifying to find a newspaper with the influence of The New York Times making this discerning observation:

"The popular conception of the English monarch as a rubber stamp, a mere figurehead, is far from the mark. It is true that 'the sovereign reigns but does not govern,' that his constitutional powers are few, that he is the servant of his people, not their master. So will it be with Queen Elizabeth, but there is a great deal more to be said, a great deal more to do. It is not so much the manifold duties, the example that has to be set, the traditions that must be carried on; it is rather the long, subtle painstaking job of becoming the centre and focus, the amalgamating point of everything for which Great Britain, the British people and the Commonwealth stand."

NO TROUBLE

He was screwing up his courage to propose but was at a loss for appropriate words. At last he managed to stammer: "W-would you help me to spend my salary?"

"Why, of course," she replied brightly.

"I—I mean for ever," he continued.

"Oh, it won't last as long as that," she assured him, with a smile.

Seaway Backers Testify At Hearing

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—(AP)—Importance of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and Power project to United States defence was stressed anew today at a Senate Foreign Relations committee hearing.

The committee, which began the scheduled week-long hearing Monday, planned to continue calling proponents of legislation to authorize the project.

Lt.-Gen. Lewis A. Pick, Chief of U.S. Army engineers, was one of the witnesses ready to appear. Pick originally had been scheduled to be heard Monday, but extensive questionings of the first two witnesses left no time for the General's testimony.

John D. Small, chairman of the Munitions Board, and secretary of the Interior Chapman led off for the proponenents. Both recited familiar arguments as to the need for the project.

Each emphasized that the waterway—providing access to the Great Lakes for ocean-going shipping—would be important in U.S. plans to expand steel production.

The waterway, its proponents say, is needed to transport high-grade iron ore economically from Labrador to the midwest steel-producing centres.

May Have To Migrate

Without such a source of supply, Chapman said, the steel industry might be forced to migrate eastward when present U.S. deposits run out. There have been forecasts that this will occur in 20 years or less.

The Foreign Relations Committee, on three previous occasions, reported favorably on legislation to authorize the project. Canada has announced readiness to go ahead with the project with or without the U.S.

But the committee's recommendations have always been rejected by the Senate. The last such occasion was in 1948.

The position of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, Republican presidential aspirant, in supporting the Seaway was viewed by some as heightening the bill's chances of success.

Taft and Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is seeking the Democratic Presidential nomination, are among co-sponsors of a new proposal by Republican Senator George Aiken of Vermont. This would finance construction of the dual-purpose project through the issue of $485,000,000 in bonds to private investors by a Seaway Corporation.

ALAS POOR DOBBIN — Bruce, a seven-year-old milk-wagon horse, looks longingly at another victim of the mechanical age. He is stopped at the horse-trough at the corner of Wellington and King streets in Hamilton. The trough will be removed because traffic lights were installed at the corner. There's no time now for horses to pause on a hot summer's day to drink—it would hold up traffic.

Not One Child Social Liability Record Of Orphanage

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

More than 1,000 orphaned children of Peterborough and district have been provided a home at St. Vincent's Orphanage since it was organized 50 years ago.

This large house on London St., operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph is often forgotten by citizens of Peterborough. Perhaps there are some who do not know it exists.

But what would happen if this institution closed down.

The orphaned children in the city and district who are now in the orphanage would become public charges. Every citizen would be called upon to pay many times the present cost of operating this home in taxes.

Devoted Lives To Work

St. Vincent's Orphanage is operated at a much lower cost than any government or civic institution of its kind could be administered. There are no salaries paid in the orphanage. The Sisters who are in charge have freely devoted their lives to this work and as a result it has the minimum of administrative costs.

In 1951, the orphanage operated at a cost of little more than $12,000. If it were a civic institution with six salaried employees (the number of Sisters at the orphanage), the minimum administrative costs would have been more than double that amount.

What has this institution to offer Peterborough's parentless children?

First, it provides shelter and food, but perhaps even more important it provides an environment of emotional security through the capable work and understanding of the Sisters. As a result these children are later able to take their normal place in society.

Given Normal Home Life

If possible, the Sisters find the children foster home where they will be given a normal home life.

While at the orphanage the children are provided with toys and other recreational equipment. The orphanage is equipped with an infirmary and has the services of a practical nurse.

During its 50 years of operation the orphanage has achieved an enviable record. Of the many children that have been attached to it, not one has become a social liability or offender. Many of them are now in professions, leaders in industry and other occupations. Three former orphanage boys are in the Canadian Navy.

The type of service this orphanage provides in the community should speak for itself. But unfortunately it is often forgotten. At this time the orphanage is asking it be remembered through the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, March 7 to 15.

Last year St. Vincent's orphanage receive $4,300 from the community fund.

At present, the government grants received by the orphanage are far from adequate for its operation.

It is only contributions received through the community fund that makes the services of this institution possible in Peterborough.

Striking Bookbinders Accept Agreement

TORONTO, Feb. 26—(CP)—Fifteen Toronto printing firms have reached an agreement with the striking A.F.L. Bookbinders Union and will go back to work today.

The strike of the 1,500 bindery workers was originally called to enforce demands for parity between men and women in the trade on cost-of-living provisions in a proposed agreement.

The agreement provides an hourly increase of 27½ cents for men and 20½ cents for women and a union shop. This will boost pay rates to $1.95 and $1.10 respectively. The union had earlier agreed to settle for 23½ cents for men and 12½ cents for women.

GREEK PRINCESS—Princess Alice of Greece, mother of the Duke of Edinburgh, visited Montreal following a tour of the United States on behalf of the Sisterhood of Martha and Maria, a charitable foundation which she sponsored in Athens. Princess Alice was scheduled to go to London to visit her son and Queen Elizabeth.

Schoolgirl Bride Says Mother Drops Charges

LANARK, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Marjory McGonegal Lalonde, 15-year-old schoolgirl bride, said Monday her mother now has given consent to her marriage to a 43-year-old salesman who had been charged with abducting the girl.

Marjory said authorities are dropping the charge against John Lalonde, whom she married secretly Feb. 7, and they are going to move into a home of their own right away.

"We're all very happy", said Marjory, in an interview at the home of her mother, Mrs. Elwood McGonegal.

The young bride said her mother had given a signed consent to the marriage last Saturday. It is expected the abduction charge against Lalonde, a village salesman, will be formally withdrawn in court at Perth today.

Marjory said Monday that, though her mother wanted her to continue her schooling, she's going to give that up for a housewife's role.

Censure Motion Defeated In U.K.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (Reuters).—The Conservative government defeated an attempt Monday night by the Labor opposition to censure Winston Churchill's son-in-law, Supply Minister Duncan Sandys. The vote was 250 to 203.

Socialists accused Sandys of forcing the resignation last week of Steven Hardie, millionaire Socialist, from the chairmanship of Britain's state-owned steel industry board.

But Sandys replied that Hardie resigned because he had been out-voted by his colleagues on the board.

The quarrel centred on the raising of the average price of steel by £4 a ton, announced Monday.

Hardie contended it should have been met by government subsidy to help avoid inflation.

Several Municipalities Increase Tax Rate

By The Canadian Press

This is the season when municipal representatives ponder the the perennial problem of striking a tax rate for the year.

Oshawa councillors worked out a rate of 47.5 mills—an increase of only half a mill over last year. Estimates for 1952 total $2,590,675.

In Niagara Falls city councillors added five mills to last year's rate and struck a rate of 36 mills.

Toronto's board of control, faced with a possible five-mill increase, still is hacking at departmental estimates in an attempt to bring the rate down.

$15,000 Bursary Plan Effective This Year

TORONTO, Feb. 26 (CP) — A $15,000 bursary program shared by six Ontario universities and senior colleges will again be effective during the academic year starting in the fall of 1952, the Atkinson Charitable Foundation announced today.

The University of Toronto will receive $4,000; Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario, $2,500 each and McMaster University, University of Ottawa and Carleton College, $2,000.

This year 54 Ontario students are being assisted under the plan.

There are no restrictions placed on the awards as to whether they go to men or women students or as to the nature of the studies.

Bar Doctor Practising Around Oshawa Area

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP)—Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan of the Ontario Supreme Court Monday upheld an agreement which barred Dr. Russell Alexander Gill from practising medicine in or near Oshawa for five years.

Dr. Gill, an English surgeon, signed the agreement when he came to work in the Medical Clinic in Oshawa on a one-year contract. The case was brought to court when the Clinic charged that Dr. Gill violated the agreement by practising within five miles of Oshawa after he left the Clinic.

Mr. Justice McLennan said the agreement was reasonable and not against the public interest. He assessed damages of $573 against the doctor.

He said the Clinic operators could reasonably assume that Dr. Gill, in his one year on their staff, would acquire knowledge of clinic patients that could be used to the detriment of the Clinic.

Agree In Principle On Tunisian Autonomy

TUNIS, Tunisia, Feb. 26 — (Reuters)—France has accepted in principle internal autonomy for this North African territory, it was authoritatively reported Monday.

But the plan depends on stage-by-stage reforms aimed at increased Tunisian participation in local government. This may involve setting up a new parliament to take the place of the present Tunisian Grand Council—a legislature of equal French and Tunisian membership.

Count Jean de Hauteclocque, resident-general who recently returned from Paris with new instructions, Monday conferred with the Bey of Tunis and Prime Minister Mohammed Chenik. The talks were against a background of several weeks' recent nationalist unrest in the territory, including riots and arrests.

Advise Caution

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Four Toronto doctors have advised caution in the use of ACTH and Cortisone for the treatment of inflammatory eye diseases. In the Treatment Services Bulletin of the Department of Veterans' Affairs and the Canadian Medical Association Journal, the doctors warned there is evidence that the use of Cortisone may prolong acute inflammation and delay healing.

Regina Veterinarian Spotted Outbreak

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP)—A Regina veterinarian, identified only as "Richardson," spotted the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in South Saskatchewan and reported to government officials.

Dr. Thomas Childs, Canada's chief veterinarian, immediately rushed to Regina from Ottawa to make an "on-the-spot" investigation.

Tissue from the infected animals was shipped to the nearby Hull, Que., agriculture department laboratories, where Sunday Dr. C. A. Mitchell, the department's chief animal pathologist, confirmed the infection to be foot-and-mouth disease.

About a dozen animals were used in the Hull tests. These now have been destroyed in an incinerator.

Urge Defence Orders Given Hard-Hit Areas

TORONTO, Feb. 26—(CP)—The greater Toronto Joint Board of the Textile Workers Union of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) said Monday that Federal government policy of letting defence orders to the lowest bidder is putting a premium on low wages.

James Whitehouse, Textile union education director, said the government should place orders in area where the industry is hardest-hit rather than in localities that are notorfious as low-wage areas.

The joint board called on the government to require contractors to pay not less than the Provincial average wage for the branch of the industry for which the tender is made.

Jailed Year For Fraud

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Kenneth D. Law, 32, charged with 11 counts of conspiracy to defraud the post office, Monday was sentenced to one year by Magistrate Tupper Bigelow. Law, confessed leader of a $6,000 fraud ring, was given an additional three years' suspended sentence, concurrent with the other 10 charges. Evidence showed the offence involved listing more parcels than were actually delivered and splitting proceeds with his partners.

Important Project

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Talking in class is good for pupils, Dr. John R. Seeley, University of Toronto sociologist, said Monday night. He told a meeting of parents that "bull session" conducted in schools of suburban Forest Hill village among students from Grade V to Grade XIII were on a level that ". . . put to shame adult groups whom I've heard discuss the same topics in fuzzier and muddier ways." Most of the students regarded the project as an experience in thinking.

SEATTLE, Feb. 26—(AP)—A Korean airlift plane, outbound for Tokyo with 42 military personnel aboard, blew its tires in an emergency landing Sunday night at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, Northwest Airlines announced Monday night. No one was injured.

The four-engine DC4, chartered to N.W.A. for the Airlift by Delta Airlines, was forced to put down on the short, 4,500-foot Dutch harbor runway because of bad weather along the Aleutian chain and a power failure at Shemya.

Reds Work In Detroit

DETROIT, Feb. 26—(CP)—A former F.B.I. undercover agent said Monday Detroit is a focal point in the United States for the Communist party. Richard O'Hair, F.B.I. spy in Detroit Communist circles from 1942 to 1946, told the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities that there were some 1,500 Communist party members active in the city six years ago.

Explain Discrepancy

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Fred S. Quirk, treasurer of the Canadian National Exhibition, will be called back from his vacation in Florida to explain a discrepancy in figures received by a special C.N.E. committee looking into contracts with amusement operators. Robert H. Saunders, first vice-president of the C.N.E., said after a meeting Monday that "information we were given was not correct."

Kingston Beats Petes, 11-9 In Overtime Contest To Tie Eagles For Second

Kingston yanked out an 11-9 O.H.A. senior "B" overtime win against the Petes here last night to climb into a second-place group tie with Eagles. They scored no less than four goals to Petes' two in the prolonged extra inning. The time clock stopped twice to stretch the overtime stanza perhaps several minutes more than the usual 10-minute heat. Several hundred fans viewed a speedy, close game in which the K's came from behind to tie it in the third chukker and again came from behind in overtime to win out. It was clean enough except for some rough stuff shown in the second period. Ron Horton and Gabby White tangled and got in some slashing before getting the heave-ho from the game with match penalties for attempting to injure. The same period saw Don Floyd given a misconduct for grabbing the referee to argue a Kingston goal was scored with too many men on the ice. The ref maintained he didn't see it, and allowed the goal.

SCORES A PAIR — Chum Fryia scored a pair of goals in a fine effort for the senior "B" Petes here last night, but Kingston took the 11-9 tilt in overtime.

Four-Goal Guy

George McGregor turned in a starry effort for the winners with four goals—including the tying and winning ones in overtime—and an assist. Cliff Aitken, Jerry Larmer and Don Murray notched two apiece for Kingston, a single going to Clint Tinkess. Three assists each were chalked up to Bud Goodfellow and Sammy Mulholland, two each to Gabby White and Myra Bender, and one to Tinkess.

For the Petes, Chum Fryia, Earl Leonard and Freddy Garvey each lit the lamp twice, singles going to George Steele, Arn Dugan and Jack Mortimer. Don Floyd helped on three, Gus Leonard, Fred Garvey and George Steele on two each, and Junior West, Arn Dugan and Curly Mason one apiece. Both goalies were plenty busy throughout in an open game, and both stopped a flock of hot ones.

An Early Lead

Mason and Latimer went off early for high-sticking and Steele scored on Gus Leonard's corner passout. Later, Dugan tallied on a push-up from Mason and Gus Leonard. With Sweetman away for holding, Garvey made it 3-0 in close from Floyd. It was a speedy, clean heat.

Garvey got the air for holding in the second but was back when Larmer's rebound beat Harding, White and McGregor starting the play. Earl Leonard got that back on a screened shot, with Garvey and Floyd getting assists. McGregor batted in White's rebound next and then Mortimer pushed one home on Dugan's pass. Horton and White tangled to draw match penalties as they tried to club each other. In addition, Horton got minors for slashing and cross-checking, and White one for slashing. Fryia followed soon for cross-checking and McGregor's angle shot from Mulholland caught a corner. Fryia returned and Larmer got a goal on an angle drive. Petes argued they had too many on the ice but it stood, and Floyd drew a misconduct out of the deal. All were back at the end.

Kingston Rallies

McGregor got in fast with Tinkess and Bender to score in the third, and Aitken tallied on a breakaway with Goodfellow's pass up. Fryia then got in for two neat ones, Steele helping on both, and West in on the second one. Kingston drove hard and finally tied it up when Tinkess slapped the disc in at the crease edge on Goodfellow's pass. Latimer served a hooking penalty but the Petes couldn't cash in on it, and the game went into overtime.

Petes pressed to start the extra inning, but McGregor broke away with Goodfellow's pass to dent the hemp. Play was held up shortly when the clock stopped for two or three minutes. It finally got going again and Earl Leonard tied it up from Garvey on a screened shot. The latter galloped through a minute later with Floyd to sink what looked like the winner. But Kingston drove hard the rest of the route to rattle in three. Atken's hot shot tied things again on a pass from Mulholland. The latter's rebound was rapped in next by Murray at point-blank range, and Murray added one for good measure from Bender a little later. The Petes were ganging up hard at the gong. Teams:

Kingston: Goal, Anderson; defence, Goodfellow and Latimer; centre, Murray; wings, Mulholland and Aitken; alternates, McGregor, White, Larmer, Sweetman, Bender and Tinkess.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, E. Leonard and Jopling; centre, G. Leonard; wings, Steele and Fryia; alternates, Garvey, Collins, Floyd, Dugan, J. Mortimer, West. Horton and Mason.

Referee, M. Walsh; linesman, E. Woodcock.

LAST-MINUTE GOAL — Billy Dawe fires the winning goal with 20 seconds remaining in the game won by Canada 3-2 against Sweden in the Olympic hockey series at Oslo. The victory—Canada's sixth straight—came Friday. Saturday they defeated Norway and Sunday tied 3-3 with the United States to win the Olympic hockey honors. Dawe's shot went into the net when the puck went over Swedish goalkeeper Tord Flodquist's hand (shown at right). At left is Swedish defenceman Erik Johanssen.

Otonabee Downs Lakefield 6-4

KEENE, Feb. 26 (ENS)..—The The Otonabee Combines downed Lakefield 6-4 here last night in a lively E.P.H.L. opener for the three-game semi-finals, next one being Friday in Lakefield. Lakefield drew five of the nine penalties in a rather clean tussle.

Lakefield tied it on goals by Birch, Henry and Knox, the latter and Wilford having an assist each. Heafield scored in the third from Cowie, but Calberry tied it up from Hockaday. Keene pulled their goalie twice and Lakefield once in the final two minutes of play. Whalen notched the winner, and then Heafield hit the empty net to make sure of it with seconds to go. Teams:

Combines Ousted

BANCROFT, Feb. 26 (ENS). — Pickering midgets waltzed through to a 12-1 win over the Coe Hill-Apsley Combines in a midget "D" playoff game in Bancroft arena Saturday night. The win gave Pickering the round by a total of 25 to 2.

With one of the best teams to be seen in town in recent years, the Ontario midget "D" champions of 1950-51 had a heavy, fast-skating, smooth-passing and cool-headed outfit that outclassed their lighter and younger opposition.

However, the Coe Hill-Apsley team, handled by Ken Foreacre and Bill Houle, played a game that gave the few fans their money's worth. In their team are many youngsters who are still bantam age and practically every player has still two years or more of midget hockey. It was a well-coached aggregation that looked better than the score showed.

Tucker made the only goal for the Combines while McKee 4, Remmer 3, Pearson 2, Rudat, Comport and Beamer scored for Pickering.

It is expected that Percy Skitch of Lindsay, will bring down a strong rink on Wednesday evening to give Dr. R. Clark's British Consol's rink a good workout.

To our members—ladies and gents—keep Wednesday night open. It's a big social evening in honor of our boys who leave on Thursday morning for Winnipeg to play in the MacDonald-Brier bonspiel. Let's turn out in great numbers and give these boys a real send-off.

We have two bonspiels coming up. The men's vice-skips' next Saturday and the annual mixed rink bonspiel for the Sturgeon Trophy the following Saturday. Get busy, get up a rink and enjoy the fun.

Today's yarn:

A rather callow youth, just starting out on his career of dates, remarked to the girl: "I went out with a nurse yesterday."

"Never mind, dear," replied the girl. "Perhaps in a year or two your mother will let you out without one."

Local fans detest the German's ruthless tactics and arrogance and will be pulling hard for the colored giant Brazil to cut him down to his size and pull out a win. The semi-final sees Fred Atkins take on the newcomer Ray Clarke while the opener will feature Jim (the Bull) Wright and Pat Flanagan. The largest crowd of the season is expected to see the towering Hermann in action.

Those N.H.L. Oldtimers who dished up such an interesting puck exhibition here two weeks ago do a good job in raising money for charity. They have some three dozen invitations to play in other Ontario centres this season and next winter. However, we can't help feeling that they're taking chances by playing while past their prime. Chances of heart attacks. Abbie Rose collapsed and died at an oldtimers' ball game here in 1945 while playing second base for the Petes of former years against the C.O.B.L. oldtime all-stars. He was 50 at the time. Doug. Brennan of the N.H.L. oldsters is 55 and Lionel Conacher 52. Besides, hockey is a more strenuous sport.

* * * * * *

Phil Stein told us that a doctor at their Bracebridge game told 'em they were all crazy to be playing. Dave Kerr said he thought they were taking chances, too. Dit Clapper maintained that goalies and defencemen past their prime weren't risking as much as forwards in such exhibitions. We also asked Lionel Conacher how he felt about it. "Well," he said thoughfully, "I think most of us realize that risk and we pull up in time before anything snaps." But he admitted older athletes shouldn't overdo it. Doug Brennan scoffed at the thought of ticker trouble, saying: "I'm in fine shape yet and could play once a week in these oldtimers' tussles without hurting myself."

* * * * * *

Watch That Old Ticker

Maybe so, but doctors don't advise middle-aged men to do too much heavy work. Like pushing stalled cars, or an extra amount of snow shovelling. Better watch the heart, they say. Yet these former pro puck stars are over the hill in condition and years. They are in many cases overweight and soft since hanging up their skates. So, aren't they likely to have heart trouble, too, by over-exertion in hockey exhibitions? Sure, they were great athletes once, but time does catch up to all of us. We don't believe any athlete who is old as athletic ages are reckoned should go in for strenuous exercise in any line of sports. That's true of non-athletes, too. After all, we can't laugh off the numerous cases of coronary thrombosis today.

* * * * * *

Some of these N.H.L. ex-aces argued with us afterward that they weren't extending themselves. But they weren't kidding anyone who saw 'em. Old pros still hustle when they get out there on the ice and they still like to show rivals and the fans that they're pretty good yet. They hustled plenty in that game, Chuck and Roy Conacher even feuded seriously in one period. Charlie later tossed the kidding Larry Aurie out of his hotel room and offered to take on Hal Cotton for joshing him 'cause his side lost! Sure, they take it seriously. Great competitors yet, they don't spare themselves even in these oldtime exhibitions. Swell guys, but we're inclined to feel that it's their funeral. Remember Abbie Rose.

Do Or Die For The Links

Belleville Hawklets tangle with the local Oddfellows at 8:30 tomorrow (Wednesday) night in Civic Arena. It's the fourth game of their best-of-five O.H.A. junior "B" group semi-finals. A Hawklets lead this important series two games to one, the Godfrey gang will simply have to grab this decision or else hang up their skates for the season. A win for the Links, of course, will force a fifth game, which would be staged on Quinte ice. So, this may be the last local appearance of the hustling young Oddfellows. It's bound to be a streamlined fighting fixture, and should draw the biggest junior hockey crowd of the season. Come on, boys, stick in there!

* * * * * *

That was a rather weird senior "B" affair here last e'en. It wound up 11-9 for Kingston, with no less than six goals in the overtime period. Clock stopped in the extra session, and confusion reigned for a spell. K's would have protested, had they lost. They drove hard in the last half of the game to come from behind in a hard-fought fray and grab off the verdict. It puts 'em in a two-way tie with Eagles for second slot, and the schedule winds up this week. McGregor notched four goals for them, while Mulholland and Goodfellow were handy helpers all through. Garvey led the losers at bat, a lot of 'em being in on the scoring. Horton and White tried to clobber each other with clubs in the second and drew match penalties. Yeah, it was quite a tilt. We hear $500 changed hands at one clip on this game.

Gordie Howe Cinch To Take Scoring Title This Year

MONTREAL, Feb. 26. (CP)—Big Gordie Howe of Detroit, with at least one goal a game for eight consecutive games, was tabbed by National Hockey League statisticians today as the man who appears to have the 1951-52 scoring title virtually clinched. With 35 goals and 29 assists, Howe is six points ahead of Montreal's Elmer Lach whose forte is assists—45. Back of Lach are Ted Lindsay of Detroit and Don Raleigh of New York, tied with 48 points each. Next come Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens with 44—25 of them goal points—and Sid Smith of Toronto and Johnny Peirson of Boston with 43 points apiece.

Howe is far in front for goals. Geoffrion's 25, along with a similar tally for the ailing Maurice Richard of Canadiens, is the closest goal mark to the Detroit winger. Lach, with 45 assists is tops in that department and during the last week established an N.H.L. point record for scheduled play of 192 goals and 358 assists. This shattered the record previously held by Bill Cowley, former Boston Bruins, 548.

N.H.L. Record

Lach's 358 assists in 12 seasons of play also is an N.H.L. record.

Detroit remained at the top of the league standings with 81 points but Canadiens pulled ahead of Toronto and into second place with 64 points against Toronto's 62. New York Rangers now hold down fourth place with a three-point edge over Boston and Chicago Black Hawks occupy the cellar.

Detroit's Terry Sawchuk leads all goalies in shutouts with 11 and in goals-against with 101 against in 57 games for an average of 1.77.

The bad man of the league: Boston's Gus Kyle with 119 minutes in the penalty box. But Toronto, with 656 minutes, is the most penalized club.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Harry Greb's three-year reign as world's middleweight boxing champion ended 26 years ago tonight when he was beaten by Tiger Flowers of Atlanta in 12 rounds at New York. Flowers, the first Negro to hold the title, lost it the same year to Mickey Walker, and died not long afterwards.

Shift In Skiing Upsets Olympics

OSLO, Feb. 26 (CP). — A shift in skiing dominance from Sweden and Switzerland to Norway and Finland upset the balance of power in the 1952 winter Olympic games and gave the host Norwegians a runaway victory.

When the sixth—and largest—winter carnival under Olympic auspices closed Monday night, Norway had scored 125½ points in the unofficial, but traditional, scoring table that allows 10 points for a first place gold medal, five points for second and then 4-3-2-1 for other placings in the first six.

The United States, with its best balanced team in the history of the winter games, was a surprisingly strong second, but its total of 89½ was a long way behind Norway. Canada was 10th with 18½.

Four years ago, at St. Moritz, less than 14 points separated top-of-the-table Sweden and the fourth place Americans. Sweden scored 79 points, trailed by Switzerland with 71, Norway with 69½ and the United States with 65¼.

This time— leaving out hockey which didn't count in the 1948 totals—Sweden managed only 25½ points and the Swiss 21.

The change from the deep, heavy snows of the Alps to the thinly-covered treacherous, icy slopes of the Norwegian mountains cost the Swedes and Swiss dearly. Also Norwegian determination to win their own games was not to be denied.

Powell Leads League With 87 Points

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP). — Ray Powell of Providence Reds, virtually assured of the American Hockey League scoring crown, has his sights trained on the goal-getting and assist titles.

The veteran centre leads the league with 87 points and also tops the circuit in goals with 34 and assists with 53. No player in the league's history has ever led all three scoring departments in one season.

Jackie Hamilton of St. Louis and Steve Wochy of Cleveland are tied for second place in the scoring race at 68 points apiece. Wochy also is second in goals with 33 and Hamilton in assists, 46.

Goalie Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh is in the van for netminding honors. Mayer has the best goals-against mark, 2.48 and has the most shutouts, five. Pete Durham of Buffalo is the penalty leader with 156 minutes in the box.

Sarnia Clips Owen Sound 9-5 As Black Hawks Crush Waterloo

By The Canadian Press.

Ontario senior hockey moved into the showdown stage last night with post-schedule playoffs starting in Northern Ontario and the schedule winding up in the south.

In the north, Sudbury Wolves took a one-game lead in their best-of-seven Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A semi-finals at North Bay by edging the Black Hawks 3-2 while cellar-dwelling Sarnia Sailors closed out the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A season at home with a 9-5 win over third-place Owen Sound Mercurys.

In Junior A O.H.A. play, the third-place Galt Black Hawks stood firm in Waterloo with an 8-3 decision on the eighth-place Hurricanes.

Frank Ringler, Gord Heale and Lorne Smith tallied for the Hawks.

George Gosselin, Vern Gardiner and Rolly Beauchamp paced Sarnia's attack with two goals each while Bill Shedde, Harry O'Connor and Don Emms added the others. Owen Sound scorers were Bill McComb with two and Harry Kazarian, Ray Leckie and Bill Allum with singles.

Jim McBurney, Bill McIntosh and Jack Switzer were the best for Galt with two goals each. Tony Poeta and Alfie Horne added the others. Roger Maissoneuve scored all three Waterloo goals.

DIAPER LEAGUER — Two-year-old Lonny Rogers, garbed in a San Francisco uniform, grabs a king-sized mitt and joins the Pacific Coast League team's screening camp workouts. Lonny was told to come around again in 20 years.

International League Opens On April 16

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP). — The International League will open its 69th season April 16 with all eight teams seeing action.

Opening day will find Montreal at Syracuse, Ottawa at Buffalo, Toronto at Baltimore and Rochester at Springfield. The northern teams will stage their openers a week later.

The April 23 pairings are: Syracuse at Montreal, Buffalo at Ottawa, Baltimore at Toronto and Springfield at Rochester.

The schedule released today again calls for 154 games.

Four of the teams will have new managers. They are: Harry (The Hat) Walker, former National League batting champion, at Rochester; Frank Skaff, at Ottawa; Jack Tighe, at Buffalo and Don Heffner at Baltimore. Hold-over managers are Walt Alston, Montreal; Joe Becker, Toronto; Bill Kelly, Springfield, and Bruno Betzel, Syracuse.

Skaff, a former star at Baltimore, has managed in the Philadelphia Athletic farm system the last few years. The A's recently purchased the Ottawa franchise from New York Giants.

Pass Physical Tests

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP). — Both Fitzie Pruden of St. Catharines, and Chico Vejar, who meet in Friday's main bout at Madison Square Garden, were given certificates of physical fitness Monday at the offices of the New York State Boxing Commission. There was some feeling in boxing circles that the 4 to 1 odds on Vejar, New York University arts student, were out of line.

Accuse Alberta Of Paying Hidden Racing Subsidy

By The Candian Press

The Alberta government has been accused of providing a hidden subsidy to stimulate interest in horse racing and betting.

Liberal leader J. Harper Prowse, the opposition leader, said in the Legislature at Edmonton Monday the government had paid such a subsidy for the last nine years and that it amounted to $538,000.

The province levies a five-per-cent tax on all money bet through pari-mutuels and pays a commission to track operators for collecting it. Mr. Prowse said such organizations as the Edmonton Exhibition Association and the Calgary Stampede Asssociation were permitted to retain one-fortieth of the tax as a commission.

"But when the James Speers Corporation, which conducts fall and spring meets in Calgary and Edmonton, collected the rents on meets under their sponsorship, they were permitted to retain 50 per cent of the tax as a commission for collecting it."

A special committee of the Legislature Monday recommended that compensation to injured workmen be boosted from 66 2/3 per cent of a man's wages to 75 per cent.

Share With Citizens

Niles Buchanan, a C.C.F. member of the Saskatchewan Legislature, said in the throne speech debate at Regina that when oil become important in his province —"and as long as the C.C.F. is in power"—the citizens are going to benefit. He said that in the neighboring province of Alberta, the ordinary farmer and laborer has not become better off because of Alberta's oil-fostered prosperity.

Action to solve the Doukhobor problem was urged in the British Columbia Legislature by Walter Hendricks, a Liberal. A committee has been considering it for two years. The fanatical Sons of Freedom have held the Kootenays in terror periodically for the last 50 years by outbreaks of arson and bombings.

At Winnipeg, Agriculture Minister F. C. Bell advised Manitoba farmers to withold cattle shipments rather than try to sell them on markets where prices had fallen as a result of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan. He said he thinks it will be "some months" before an embargo on cattle shipments from Winnipeg to Eastern Canada will end.

A public works program came in for discussion in the Nova Scotia Legislature. Premier Macdonald said his government has spent $65,000,000 on public works since 1949 and such projects as a Canso causeway and a Halifax-Dartmouth bridge are still to come during the remaining two years of the program. He answered opposition charges that the $100,000,000 public works plan launched three years ago had been "scrapped."

Booming Exports Turning Germans Against Arming

By JACK HENRY

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Feb. 26—(Reuters)—German industrialists who helped to build Hitler's war machine now are reluctant to back post-war rearmament because it will harm their exports.

Rearmament in western countries, particularly Britain and the United States, helped West Germany to expand her export markets in 1951, a record post-war year for German foreign trade.

The association of plastic manufacturers admitted that West Germany tripled her plastic exports in 1951, partly because rearmament in the United States and Britain caused a reduction in their exports.

Economic authorities say the rearmament programs also benefitted German exports of electrical goods and appliances, some kinds of machinery, fine mechanics, optics and precision tools.

Machinery exports, for instance, reached a record $560,000,000 last year, or almost twice as much as in 1950. Totol production in 1951 also set a post-war record.

Exports of electro-technical goods, in which Germany was the leading country before the war, doubled in 1951 compared with 1950 and brought West Germany to third place among world exports, behind the U.S. and Britain but ahead of France.

Fear Slump

The longer rearmament is deferred in West Germany while Britain and the U.S. devote more and more of their resources to it, the better chances German exporters have of strengthening their position abroad.

German industrialists generally rgard the rearmament drive as a short to medium-term affair. They fear that armament export orders, as distinct from exports of civilian goods, might leave them with idle production plant when the rearmament boom ends.

Rearmament would not hit West Germany's export markets hard if she could get additional raw material allocations, mainly wool, cotton and non-ferrous metals. But, economists say, if more countries go in for rearmament, available raw material supplies will have to be even more tightly distributed.

West Germany at present is carrying out minor foreign rearmament orders, mainly for Britain.

Believe Lumber Industry Has Hit Peak

By The Canadian Press

There is a strong feeling among operators that the Maritimes, lumbering more than 520,000,000 board feet a year, have reached capacity production.

John Bigelow, director of the Maritime Lumber Bureau, noted this Monday in a conversation with The Canadian Press. Last year's production was only about five per cent more than 1950.

"And there is nothing in sight to indicate that any more will be produced in the current season," said Mr. Bigelow.

"A good many operators think we now are at peak—or capacity—production. Normally, when prices are high there is a corresponding boost in production, but that has not been happening in recent years."

Extremes of weather played a large part in driving up costs in both years. At present, shoulder-deep snow is hampering many crews and some operators are thinking of quitting cutting until spring.

Brought Losses

In 1951, mild weather and abnormally small snowfalls caused lost time and soft roads—conditions of high cost. In 1952, mild weather was followed by record snowfalls—again conditions of high cost.

"Had it been an ideal winter, the chances are the operators would have had a very successful year," Mr. Bigelow said.

Some operators had a "very bad year" in 1951. Prices are higher than at any time in history, but costs are also higher.

"The operators find themselves chasing the prices as before," said Mr. Bigelow.

Production now was about 30-35 per cent below the wartime peak.

The United States, which bought heavily in 1949-50, hung back last year, forcing prices down and taking less than 80,000,000 board feet, 11 per cent less than the previous year. The Maritimes competed with Quebec and Ontario for the American market.

The United Kingdom took 60,000,000 feet in 1951, an increase of 20 per cent. In 1952, the U.K. will take about half that figure, unless there is a drastic change in the dollar situation, Mr. Bigelow said. An exoprt of pit props will also be made to the U.K.

Ireland's import from the Maritimes increased more than 10 per cent last year to 20,000,000 feet, a figure that was expected to be nearly doubled this year.

The domestic Nova Scotia-New Brunswick market will probably account for a steady 65,000,000 feet.

Retrial April 21

HULL, Que., Feb. 26—(CP)—The re-trial of Rheal Leo Bertrand, 37, Ottawa man charged with the murder of his wife, is expected to start here April 21, Avila Labelle, Hull Crown attorney, said Monday. His original trial was halted last week by the death of Mr. Justice Valmore Bienvenue, who suffered a heart attack while delivering his final address to the jury.

Cut Estimates

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Board of Control Monday cut nearly $100,000 from the estimates of two city departments in an attempt to stave off a predicted five-mill increase in the city tax rate.

Canadians Can Expect To Live Longer

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP)—Canadians, with the hazards of infectious diseases largely overcome, can look forward to longer lives.

The Federal Health Department estimates that if Canadian boys and girls survive their first year of life they can, on the average, look forward to about 68 and 70 years of life, respectively.

At the turn of the century, the life expectancy of Canadians was about 52 years. By 1931, the situation had improved to a point where males, surviving after their first year, had a life expectancy of 64 and females of 65 years. In 1941, the expectancy was 66 for males and 68 for females.

The life-expectancy figures were among those included in the department's report for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1951.

The report contained these highlights:

1. Despite the increase in life expectancy, Canada is still a "young" nation, with 70 per cent of her population under the age of 40.

2. Birth and marriage rates have dropped from their post-war peaks and the divorce rate has increased to 37.7 per 100,000 of the population—a rate four times greater than that of 20 years ago.

Chief Killers

3. Heart and arterial diseases are the chief killers, causing 24.7 per cent of all deaths in 1950.

4. Cancer is another major cause of death—it caused 17,000 deaths in 1950, or more than 14 per cent of total deaths.

5. About 41 out of every 1,000 live births still fail to survive the first year of life, but the maternal mortality rate has declined to 1.1 from 5.8 for each 1,000 live births in 1950.

6. Poliomyelitis, usually considered a summer disease, showed through an outbreak in Prince Edward Island that it can strike in fall and winter months.

7. Acidents rank first among the causes of death through school age to about 40; during 1950 motor vehicle accidents took 2,261 lives and other accidents 5,277, a total of six per cent of all deaths.

8. The tuberculosis mortality rate has dropped to 22 from 87.7 per 100,000 population in 1921.

9. The T.B. rate among Indians is 399.6 per 100,000 compared with 549.8 of 1947 and 480.1 of 1948.

10. Canada has an estimated 625,000 sufferers from arthritis and rheumatism, "but some improvement may become evident in the future as a result of the increasing availability of cortisone and ACTH."

More Drug Addiction

11. Narcotic addiction is on the increase, and some teen-agers have appeared among the new addicts.

12. The program of national health grants is helping the provinces to improve their medical and treatment facilities.

The report contained a review of the activities of the family allowances division of the department. The review, tabled in the Commons during the fall session of parliament, showed that more than $1,561,773,766 has been paid out in family allowances since they were inaugurated in 1945.

Various references were made to the use of new drugs against diseases, formerly fatal in many cases.

Respiratory diseases still rank among the chief causes of death, said the report, "but their incidence has been rapidly declining since the introduction of the sulpha drugs and antibiotics."

49 Diphtheria Deaths

Despite the fact than an anti-diphtheria vaccine is available, there were 49 deaths from the disease in 1950.

Multiple sclerosis, a baffling disease for which no cure has yet been found, causes about 200 deaths annually. The disease causes a form of paralysis of the muscles.

"One of the greatest health problems today is presented by mental illness," said the report. "While it is difficult to assess the full extent of mental illness in the population various estimates have appeared which suggest that as high as 50 per cent of illness may be attributable to this cause."

Will Investigate German's Case

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 — (CP). — Justice Minister Stuart Garson on Monday night said he is taking up with military authorities the case of Johann Neitz, a former German sailor now serving 20 years in prison for shooting a Canadian soldier.

Mr. Garson said he took up the matter following his recent European trip with Finance Minister Abbott. While in Hannover, a group of German journalists approached him about a parole for Neitz.

He wasn't able to go into the case fully at that time, but asked the journalists to write him with details, he said. They did and asked for a parole.

Mr. Garson said he initiated the investigation, but has not yet had a report on it.

Neitz was sentenced to life imprisonment for shooting the Canadian during an attempt to escape from a prison camp. His sentence was commuted to 20 years.

(A report from Hannover Monday night said the German-Canadian Society has asked Mr. Garson to parole Neitz, who, the society said, saved two Canadian airmen from drowning during the Second World War.)

ADJUDICATOR READY

Pierre LeFevre, adjudicator for the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival which starts tonight in the collegiate auditorium, arrived Monday to be ready for the five-day session.

BEAR STILL DOPEY

The bear at the Filtration Plant zoo stirred himself enough from his winter's sleep to take a look around a couple of days ago, but today he is back asleep. No spring yet.

EARLY GROUNDHOG BAGGED

While out rabbit shooting in Smith township on Monday, Glen (Red) Wannamaker, of Lakefield, nailed one while his dog killed an early groundhog that was taking the winter air. Perhaps the earliest, and certainly the first one, reported having been taken this season, Red thinks.

FIRE IN UPHOLSTERY

Fire that started from a welding torch destroyed the upholstery of a car that was being serviced today at Lillico Motors, Water St. N. The car was owned by James K. Campbell, 612 Armour Rd. Garage employees used extinguishers to quell the flames and firemen completed the job with a hand pump.

CONDITION STILL SERIOUS

Ivan Brown, Ottawa truck driver, who was hurt in a collision Saturday night with a slow moving train three miles east of Havelock, is still in much the same condition in hospital, officials report. More X-rays will probably be taken, but it is believed he has a fractured spine and a fractured skull. Monday his condition was described as serious, but not critical.

LUCKY TORONTO DRIVER

Robert Taylor, 21, of 602 Lonsdale Ave., Toronto, escaped with nothing worse than a bruised knee Monday after his car went out of control on Highway 7, knocking off three guardrail posts and a telephone pole. Taylor was coming east toward Peterborough when he lost control at the Chemong turn and clipped off the three guardrail posts and the telephone pole, continuing on for another 140 feet into the "Y" at the intersection. He also knocked down some snow fencing. Damage to his car was $400. O.P.P. Constable Tom Armitage investigated.

Police Get $500 C-O-L On '51 Salary

Escalator Clause Adds To Salary As Living Costs Rise

City police and the Police Commission Monday afternoon reached an agreement on policemen's salaries for 1952. This ends negotiations on a six-point brief submitted by the Peterborough Police Association Jan. 24.

Basic salaries will remain the same. But there will be a lump cost-of-living bonus of $500 to each man in the bargaining unit (i.e., everybody below Chief Constable John Thompson in rank). Also an escalator clause: 55 cents a week for each two-point rise in the official C-O-L index, based on the Jan. 1 index figure of 191.5.

The C-O-L will come down one per cent for each point below 189.8. This lag in reducing the C-O-L was arranged because the police did not get the benefit of the 1.7 rise in the index between October and the end of the year.

Last year adjustments in the C-O-L were made quarterly but this year they will be monthly.

Basic Salaries

Following are basic salaries for members of the bargaining unit:

4th class constable	$2,500
3rd class constable	2,600
2nd class constable	2,700
1st class constable	2,850
Patrol Sergeant	2,975
Sergeant	3,075
Detective Sergeant	3,200
Deputy Chief	3,600

The only change in basic salary was for the deputy chief. He got a $200 increase because both the Police Commission and the three-man bargaining committee felt his salary was far below what it should be.

Mayor Hugh Waddell said it was policy this year not to raise the basic salaries. Other employees paid by city taxpayers were watching the results of the police negotiations, he said.

Ahead of Others

Both Mayor Waddell and Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., said they thought the new salary schedule "fair" and that it brought Peterborough into the forefront so far as comparable cities were concerned.

A first class constable now gets $2,850 basic; the $500 C-O-L bonus bringing him up to $3,350, plus 55 cents a week for each two points over the Jan. 1 index figure of 191.5.

Included in the bargaining unit are 37 men. The total expenditure of the Police Commission on salaries (not counting Chief Thompson who also wants an increase) is $18,700. This does not take into consideration any increases in the C-O-L during the year.

After five years' service police become eligible for service pay. This varies between 10 and 50 cents a day.

Other Points Settled

Other points of the police brief that were settled:

The work week remains at 44 hours. The committee asked for 40 hours.

Three weeks' holidays for men with more than 10 years' service. Previously they had to have 15 years' service.

The Commission granted the requests for two pairs of boots annually for constables, patrol sergeants and detectives; also permission for "night sticks" to be issued to all members of the force.

The bargaining committee suggested one pair of summer trousers and one pair of heavy trousers as the annual issue, instead of two heavies. The first year two pairs of summer trousers would be issued.

Chief Thompson, an observer during the three meetings while the police negotiated, thanked Mayor Waddell and Magistrate Philp for their hearing. "I think you have been fair and patient and gave the men all the consideration you could," he said.

Magistrate Philp said that the late Judge S. L. Smoke (until his death the third member of the Police Commission(had frequently remarked that relations between the Commission and the police had always been amicable.

This feeling remains, said Magistrate Philp.

The three-man police committee consisted of Eldon McDonald, Douglas Farthing and Harold Andrew.

It's A Joke, Mom!

Father thought it was very funny. Mother wasn't at all amused. A two-year-old daughter, playing about while her mother was doing the weekly washing Monday saw her opportunity to enliven things when her mother took some clothes outside to hang up. The moppet dragged a chair over to the door and jammed it under the handle. When her mother tried to get back, she was locked out. She couldn't budge the door and had to plead with her daughter some time before she was let in out of the cold. Sent outside to play, the youngster fell in the mud and ruined her clothes. "She's just got a sense of humor, dear," said father.

Club, Company Protest Costs Paving Dropped

Protests of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds and Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club rubbed off the job list of City Engineer Chalmers last night the paving this year of McDonnel St. from Park St. to Monaghan Road.

As a substitute for rounding out a season's program, it may be Park St. south from Lansdowne St. to the river, or possibly another go at Romaine St.

Lawn bowlers wrote the finance committee last night that they had a long frontage on the south side of McDonnel St. That would involve the bowling club in an item of expense for the advantages of having the street paved past their summer property.

Dominion Woollens likewise have "extensive frontage" on McDonnel St. C. V. Merritt, general manager, wrote the council expressing the objections of the company to further taxes being added when the company was trying to keep the plant operating at capacity.

Drop All Paving?

Ald. Harold Rehill suggested that all municipal paving might be struck from the projects this year, in view of the circumstances.

"Why pave?" asked Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

Mr. Chalmers said there were too many streets of low class or rating in comparison with the total mileage of thoroughfares.

Ald. T. D. Miller said the attitude of recent councils was that the only way to get more of the city's streets paved was to do so much a year.

The reference to Romaine St. recalled the campaign of their residents against the paving of the long block from Park St. to Monaghan Road, several years ago, on the ground that the cost of street paving, especially for heavily travelled roads such as Romaine has become, should be paid for out of the general funds, and should not be charged, in part, to frontage property.

Subsequently a member of the Ontario Municipal Board told several residents of Monaghan Road that they could not be holding up the progress of the city.

Don't Force Issue

Mayor Waddell: "It has been the policy of the council not to force the issue."

City Engineer Chalmers remarked that part of the Ontario government's subsidy had been applied to the city's part of the cost of street paving.

A motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart and Mayor Waddell recommended that the McDonnel St. block be left off this year's program.

Streets remaining on the proposed paving program are: Charlotte St., from Monaghan Road to Gordon Ave., Monaghan Road from Elm St. to McDonnel, Albert St. from Park St. to Monaghan Road, Monaghan Road from Braidwood to Riverside Drive.

Also the resurfacing of George St. from King St. to C.P.R.

Hydro Refund Of $23,692 For Utilities

Municipalities Get $2½ Million; Rate To Stay Same

Peterborough's share in a $2,520,899 refund to municipal hydro electric systems will be $23,692, Ontario Hydro chairman Robert Saunders announced today in Toronto.

At the same time, Mr. Saunders said he believed no general increase in rates to municipalities will be necessary this year.

Mr. Saunders, who was speaking to a joint meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association, advised municipalities to use the refunds to rehabilitate their local systems rather than for rate reduction.

Used By Utilities

Utilities manager Ross L. Dobbin, attending the Toronto meeting was not available for comment, but the usual practice in Peterborough has been to use refunds to repair and maintain the local system.

Steam power—high cost power—would be used in tremendous amounts by the end of this year, Mr. Saunders said, and he could not promise "that we shall be able to maintain present interim rates when forced to use steam power."

Commenting on the refund, he said: "Notwithstanding the tremendous increases in labor and material costs, the demands of last year which tax our resources to the utmost, allow us to return an amount which compares very favorably with the past seven years."

In the "13th bill" clean-up of accounts for 1950, the hydro refunded $2,883,826, which was $362,927 more than the 1951 refund.

Refund figures for other district municipalities are: Kingston, $46,592; Bowmanville, $17,363; Oshawa $101,062; Lindsay $9,632.

Mr. Saunders announced these refund figures for individual municipalities:

Ottawa, $18,503; Brockville, $19,280; Carleton Place, $4,066; Kingston, $46,592; Barry's Bay, $1,019; Bowmanville, $17,303; Kemptville, $4,072; Lindsay, $9,632; Oshawa, $101,062; Peterborough, $23,692; Renfrew, $11,815; Smiths Falls, $15,489; Collingwood, $3,888; Erin, $1,981; Huntsville, $1,983; Midland, $4,709; Owen Sound, $25,425; Brantford, $22,248; Chatham, $11,376; Dundas, $7,408; East York township $45,470; Etobicoke township, $51,467; Galt, $36,842; Hamilton, $71,117; Kitchener, $58,642; London, $46,109; North York township, $96,573; Scarborough township, $61,320 Sarnia, $62,605; Toronto, $592,431; Windsor, $91,984; York township, $45,846; Woodstock, $17,810; Fort William, $31,271; Port Arthur, $79,719.

$500 Attic Fire Drives Out Family Of Eight

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 26 (ENS)—Smoke from an attic fire drove a Trent River family of eight from their home early today.

Damage to the frame bungalow owned by Mr. and Mrs. Morrey Levesque, was set at more than $500, mostly caused by smoke and water.

Mr. Levesque smelled smoke about 4 a.m. and roused his wife and their six children. They fled the smoke-filled building in their night clothes.

Telephone Alarm

Neighbors, alerted by telephone turned out in numbers to help the Levesques remove their belongings from the house. The Havelock fire brigade arrived on the scene within half an hour of the discovery of the fire.

Aided by the neighbors, the fire brigade turned lines of water into the attic and doused the blaze.

Because of the fire brigade's speedy work, the fire was confined to the attic, although rooms below were damaged by smoke and water. The building is partly covered by insurance.

Cause Unknown

Mr. Levesque said he had no idea what caused the fire. Wiring in the house was in good shape, and there were no stove pipes running through the part of the attic where the fire started.

Mr. Levesque is a carpenter, and the bungalow is located on a side road known locally as Pig Lane. The children are: Goldie 15, June 11, Roger 8, Rodney 4, Karen 2, and Jennifer 1.

Largest War Memorial Armour Hill Needs Plaque

Peterborough's largest war memorial—Armour Hill—has belonged to the city for only 15 years, but in that short time many have forgotten the organization that deeded the hill to the city. Many more have not heard of it. A group of Ashburnham women, who banded together before the First World War as the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham, kept their society together long enough to raise the money to buy the 38 acres of land that make up the hill.

Bought In 1923

They bought the hill in 1923 from the Armour estate, and for the next 14 years held teas and bazaars and other social functions to raise money to reforest it and build a road to its summit.

Not long before the League bought the hill, the land was offered to the city for $3,000 by Peck, Kerr and McElderry, solicitors for the estate. A vote was held, and the voters turned it down by a 200 majority.

The League—never with very many members—had a few hundred dollars as down payment. They canvassed former Ashburnhamites for donations, and raised the rest with teas and bazaars, as they did later to gather money for tree planting.

For several years after they bought the hill, their money was short, and they had to let the hill out for pasture. By 1926, their financial standing was again reasonably healthy, and they began, cautiously at first, to buy seedlings for the hill.

Mrs. R. H. Parsons, president of the League from 1914 until it dissolved in 1937, remarked "They were no bigger than pencils. I was sure those seedlings wouldn't live, but by the next year they were almost all healthy."

Contour Plan

For a plan of planting the hill, R. H. Parsons, former city engineer and husband of the League's president, drew a contour plan of the hill and forwarded it to H. J. Moore, then of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

From the contour plan, Mr. Moore drew up a planting plan, which showed where the different kinds of trees should be planted. In May, 1924, the government supplied the League with 6,000 Scotch pine and 2,000 jack pine trees.

Mr. Moore, who designed the gardens at Niagara Falls, came to Peterborough to supervise the planting. In 1925, 4,000 more trees—half white spruce and half deciduous trees — were planted, making a total of 10,000 evergreens and 2,000 deciduous trees.

In the years that followed, before the hill was formally presented to the city, city council voted an annual grant large enough to pay taxes on the land. Had the league been unable to get the grant, it seems doubtful that they could have carried on with their memorial.

Annual taxes were in the neighborhood of $200 on the 38-acre hill, and the League had all it could do to raise money for a caretaker, tree-planting and road-building on the hill.

Two Fires

Everything was not always rosy for the women who made up the League. Twice fires broke out on the hill, destroying trees. In one of these blazes, 850 trees were destroyed.

At one time, members of the League considered a monument for the top of the hill, but it was decided that the hill would be a monument in itself, and none other was needed.

In 1937, when Armour Hill was presented to the city, the original executive was present to sign over the deed. All four are still alive and residing in Peterborough.

They are: Mrs. R. H. Parsons, president; Mrs. Gus Hay, vice-president; Mrs. Terrot Glover, treasurer; and Miss Elizabeth Scott, secretary.

The remaining members of the League feel there is only one job left for them to do on the hill. They still have a little more than $100 in the bank and they want to put a plaque somewhere on the hill to tell people who gave Armour Hill to the city.

When this is done, it will be the last of their endeavours. The Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham can sit back and admire a job well done.

Tempers Short Fists Fly At CGE

The squabble at the C.G.E. plant between the U.E. and the I.U.E. has got off to a fast start. This time they're saying it with punches as well as leaflets.

Monday noon the highlight was a scrap at the Albert St. gate with two rival union leaders working each other over with their fists.

Art Hunter, business agent for Local 524, U.E., and Fred Hannah, I.U.E. organizer, traded punches and today both are sporting shiners and bruises.

Last week there was also a tussle outside the gate with one man receiving a cut on the face after being thrown to the ground.

Bitterness between the two unions has existed since the fall of 1949 when the ranks of the production workers were split. Some remained with the existing bargaining agent, Local 524, U.E.; others joined the right-wing I.U.E. which received the official blessing of the C.I.O.

First Bid Failed

A bid by the right-wingers for certification failed after a much-publicized hearing by the Ontario Labor Relations Board here in Peterborough.

Last year the I.U.E. tried again. After a bitter campaign for the allegiance of the 3,600 production workers, the O.L.R.B. ordered a vote.

The U.E. won 1,909 to 1,582, and so remained the bargaining agents.

A couple of weeks ago the I.U.E. said they had been encouraged, after an initial testing of the plant, to make a third bid for certification. So once again the production workers are being canvassed to determine which union they prefer.

If first signs are any indication it will be a rough campaign. During the other two campaigns there was plenty of abuse, both printed and verbal, but next to no physical violence.

This time it may be different.

$278,000 Street Work To Be Done In City

According to the reminding hands of the clock over their new building, city council is becoming old fashioned. It was nearly midnight when most of the members were heading for home or a late coffee after a long session of the board of works, followed by a short special sitting of the council.

Main item was the approving of a proposed expenditure of $278,000 on street work, for reference to the Ontario Department of Highways.

That estimated total is slightly less than last year, City Engineer Chalmers said.

A resolution directed immediate payment of the $40,033 operating deficit at Civic Hospital last year, plus $18,500 a month to cover operating costs this year.

Council Deciding To Tear Down Old City Hall?

"That means a tentative decision to tear down the old city buildings?" Ald P. J. Anglesey queried at the board of works meeting last night.

"It sounds like a move in that direction," said the chairman, Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

Council tried to sell the property in recent months, but failed to attract a bid. Several people are interested in renting parts of the building, City Clerk Outram said.

For the information of the council, Mr. Outram estimated that demolition and parking use would provide the city with an annual revenue of $7,079.47 from the additional 57 meters that could be set up on the building's site.

Total revenue of 151 meters on the city squqare would be approximately $18,754 a year.

Pay of Be Paid?

As to wrecking the building Ald. Graham believed that a bid of $2,000 might be obtainable from a demolition firm. Council was dubious of getting any wrecking money, but that was just another opinion.

Property committee of which Ald. H. S. Longhurst is chairman, has been assigned the responsibility of recommending a course of action. Present indications suggest demolition, followed by metering for enlarged parking space right in the centre of the city.

It was suggested Monday night that heads of departments be advised to look through the old premises, and find out whether any of the material can be used in their work. Ald. Gillespie said there was the possibility of transferring a furnace to the city garage, formerly the sanitation department's horse barns, to make it suitable for winter use.

Weigh Scales

Another detail is disposal of the weigh scales. One suggestion proposed that some of the fuel dealers be designated by license for a new system of providing weighing accommodation.

Ald. Miller expressed his opinion that "the city won't get a bid until everything we want is taken out." And it was also said that wreckers might not be interested if there was nothing salvagable except some bricks and timber.

Ald. Miller's motion referring the enquiry to the property committee was seconded by Ald. Graham.

Woman's Nose Broken At 2nd Hockey Game

MILLBROOK, Feb. 26 (ENS)—Seeing her second hockey game, Mrs. Weston C. Fallis, 79, of Millbrook, suffered a fractured nose and severe facial cuts Monday night when hit in the face by a hockey puck.

Mrs. Fallis and her husband were attending a game at Millbrook-Cavan Memorial Arena, between Scotts Corners and Bailieboro.

Mrs. Fallis was sitting with her husband in the front row of seats at the south end of the rink. There was a scramble by the boards and the puck flew up to hit her in the face, breaking her nose, but not her glasses.

Spectators Earl Armstrong and Melville Black carried her to the players' dressing room, where they bathed her face, and telephoned Dr. M. E. Hobbs. They took her to the doctor's office shortly after.

From there she was taken to Civic Hospital.

100 Enjoy Girls' "Fiesta" Presented By St. Luke's Aux.

Putting emphasis on their study of South America, the Girls' Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church Monday evening staged a gay and colorful "South American Fiesta." More than 100 enjoyed the evening, there being quite large representations from St. John's and All Saints' Churches present.

Feature of the entertainment was a colored film with commentary covering a complete tour of the South American countries and brief glimpses of Pan-America and the larger Caribbean islands. The scenic grandeur of the mountainous continent with outstanding natural beauty spots and its ultra-modern resort spots and cities as modern and as busy as any in the world had been well pictured. However, only the fringes of the country were shown and only the gay, civilized life, with no mention of the people of the vast interior where missionaries are endeavoring to penetrate.

The film is available through Anglican Church headquarters since all mission groups of the church are this year studying South America. But it was shown here last evening only because the rector made a fast trip to Toronto for it during the afternoon, when he discovered that through an error it would not arrive for several days. Exhibits of native handicraft were also provided.

Program, decorations and the refreshments were all in South American style and were arranged and presented by Miss Anita Mason and the 12 girls of her auxiliary, with assistance from the Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Gilling.

They opened by singing the South American songs, "Tango Gozo," "Sares Ponda" and "Cielito Lindo," and after each they went over the words and tune slowly so that the audience could join. Following the film they presented the "Raspah Dance," and with a bit of coaching had their audience pushing back the chairs and joining in the fun which ended with a conga line and a parade to the kitchen doorway for plates of food.

The menu consisted of bean a la concoction, Mexican green salad, hot corn salad and corn bread. After this was served coffee with banana cake, and cookies topped with South American nuts.

A real fiesta scene was acquired with each of the guests wearing a flower in her hair, as well as a name tag. The flowers were all made by the girls and handed out by Hilary Powell. Diane Pearse took the tickets and Beverley Pollock and Marilyn Vint assisted the guests to check their coats and hats. Auxiliary president Elizabeth Cutmore received and Eleanor Biddle ushered.

Eleanor Watson was pianist for the songs and dance. The other girls taking part were Lois Biddle, Helen Walker, Rosalyn Stevenson, Betty Macdonald, Barbara Bonney and Betty Merrett. All were dressed in bright print skirts and cotton blouses, some with bright colored sashes at the waist, and they wore flat-soled sandals.

Husband Allergic To Work Lets Wife Support Family

DEAR MISS DIX: How can a lazy man be made to work? A friend of mine is married to a man who works a week or two and lays around for a month or more. There is plenty of work to be had but he's always looking for something "out of season," so he has an excuse for not doing it. He has three small children. The wife has a small income and has to support the family. He is perfectly healthy, but is tired from sitting around doing nothing. He could help clean the house, but is too much "man" for that. His wife has to worry, even works out a little when she can get a baby-sitter. I think she should get a job and let him take care of the children and do the housework. Maybe he would wake up.
A PLUMB DISGUSTED FRIEND.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your indignation is readily understandable; one of the really revolting sights in life is to see a healthy man taking life easy while his wife works her fingers to the bone bringing home the bread. No man with the slightest vestige of self-respect could watch his wife struggling to carry on at home, caring for babies, then going out to work for a few dollars to provide him with the necessities of life.

Has No Decency

What appeals can one make to such a person? He has no decency, no love for his wife or children, nothing but a vast selfish ego, so pervasive that it shuts out all other human emotions. Nothing means anything to him, but his own comfort; an easy chair to loll in all day, food prepared and all but fed to him. If his long-suffering wife is satisfied to cater to his sloth and gluttony, there is absolutely nothing her family and friends can do about it.

Supporting such a husband is a luxury; if a wife feels entitled to the indulgence, such is her responsibility. Of course, her placid acceptance of the double role of bread-winner and homemaker strips her of respect, too. No self-respecting woman would allow herself to be so imposed upon, nor would she deprive her children of the things they need to pamper their lazy father. The money handed out to him for personal spending alone would mean the difference between necessities and comforts for her youngsters.

Perhaps your friend will get fed up with her parasite husband one of these days and take matters into her own hands. She can make him get out and work if she has the determination, but if her backbone has been replaced by a complacent streak, the best intentions of her well-wishers will be of no avail. With stubbornness as her only defence, she will battle the world to keep her husband in ease and comfort — if that's the way she wants it. Her price will be ultimate respect of her children; when they realize what an inadequate pair they picked for parents, they'll set out pretty fast to get for themselves the things denied them by a bad home environment.

DEAR MISS DIX: Next year I am to be married to a man who has been in the army four months. For the past month I haven't heard from him at all, and he is not overseas. I haven't accepted any dates since he's been away, but am wondering if he is being equally true. UNDECIDED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since your fiancee is still in this country, and has not written you for a month, you have grave cause to doubt his sincerity. Don't begin going out with other boys until you have written him to that effect; let him know that his silence makes you doubt his continued interest, and since you don't want to wait around forever, you're going to go out with other boys. If he still ignores your letters, better consider the engagement terminated.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young divorcee of 23. I was married for a year, and have been divorced five months. I am very unhappy, and though young men ask me to go out, I'm only more miserable when I accept the invitations. Do you think I should force myself to go out with them, or stay home with my feelings?? RUTH.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your divorce, apparently, was a great emotional shock and only time will heal your wounded feelings and restore your normal balance. Forcing yourself to go out with other men just to try to forget is no good. You make yourself and your companion both miserable. Staying home alone is not good for you either. Why not stop marking time and get busy with a new project? Take a course in something you like to do, or acquire a new talent, such as painting, ceramics, sewing, knitting or any work that requires concentration and effort. Merely attending lectures won't do the trick; your mind has too much chance to wander. You need something to keep you very busy. A little social service work will also help.

Omemee Girls Stage Frolic

OMEMEE, Feb. 26 (ENS). — The Omemee High School Girls' Gym Frolic, sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Club, entertained an interested audience for more than two hours Friday evening in Coronation Hall.

Marion Murray, club president, addressed the audience, thanking them for their support and introducing the guest artists, who were to assist in the musical numbers, after which the program proceeder unannounced.

Exercises by juniors, exercises by seniors and tumbling performances spoke of long hours of persistent practice under the direction of their P.T. instructor Mrs. George Stephenson.

The juniors' Scandinavian dances and Negro soft shoe dance were attractive as were "Varsovienne," "Sailors' Hornpipe," and "Vienna Waltz," by the seniors. "Texas Rangers" by five senior girls was cleverly done with a spectacular repeat performance with lights out, all that was visible being the rhythmical movements of their luminous lariats.

The entire club presented a humorous skit called "Posture College" in which wrong postures were immediately corrected and seniors modelled for the benefit of freshettes.

Musical numbers included duets by Joan Saulter and Joan Whitmore and by Eileen Zufelt and Ruth Morrison and Hawaiian guitar music by Mrs. Ethel Cochrane of Peterborough and five of her Hawaiianettes.

Mrs. Frances Williamson was pianist for the club performances. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used by the club for equipment.

Fleet Olney Women To Flip Flapjacks In Famed Race

By MARY BURNETT

OLNEY, England, Feb. 26—(Reuters)—Women of this Buckinghamshire farming village are putting finishing touches on their pancake-flipping skill for a pancake - tossing race tomorrow against a team of American women in Liberty, Kans.

The race—in which women run a 415-yard course flipping pancakes in a frying pan—originated here in 1445 and is held every year on Shrove Tuesday, traditional pancake-eating day.

This will mark the third year in which the Kansas women—racing over a course in their home town similar to the one here—have competed and this time it may be a three-way contest.

The third team would be Russian women who were invited to take part in the race as a gesture of international goodwill.

"We've openly invited Russian women to join in and the offer is still open", said the vicar of Olney, Rev. Ronald Collins.

The race became trans-Atlantic in 1950 when the Kansas women after hearing about the race challenged the Olney girls.

So far the British women have won the trophy, a silver model fry-pan, all three times.

Similar Course

The course over which the race is run here stretches from the village pump to the church porch. A similar course has been laid out in Liberty.

Both races start at the same time—five minutes before moon.

Judges on each side confer by trans-Atlantic telephone after the races have been run, and then the winner is announced.

Champion still is 20-year-old Mrs. B. Maynard who won the 1950 race in one minute, 10.4 seconds as Miss Florence Caccow.

She is running again this year and has high hopes she may break her record.

The rules have slightly altered this year. Previously the women had to toss their pancacks three times during the race but that meant at the finish the pancakes were hardly recognizable.

So this year they'll be tossed only at the beginning and at the end of the race.

"It's not a new kind of cigar—I just happened to drop it when he came by!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serve Waffles or Pancakes Handy Recipe During Lent

This will reach you when it is about time for you to be eating the Shrove waffles that I am describing today. Never mind — the recipe will be handy all during Lent and I have special word from the Shrove Tuesday authorities that waffles are an acceptable substitute for pancakes. Since eggs are waffles' strength and my weakness, waffles and I are going to be close companions for the next six weeks. Want to tag along?

Shrove Waffles

Two eggs, 2 cups sour milk OR buttermilk, 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, ½teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons very soft shortening or oil OR use instead of the sour milk or buttermilk ½ cup skim milk powder and 1 2/3 cups water and 1 tablespoon sugar and omit the soda and increase the baking powder to 4 teaspoons. Sift together all of the dry ingredients used (this includes the skim milk powder if used). Beat the eggs and beat in the milk or water and soft shortening. Beat in the sifted dry ingredients until batter is smooth. It is very thin. Pour onto hot waffle iron covering only 2/3 of surace at centre. These are light crisp, air and downy. Lovely waffles, even good warmed over in the waffle iron. When maple syrup prices are out or reach, try corn syrup.

Oatmeal Pancakes

Let soak together for 10 minutes 1½ cups ready-to-cook rolled oats (the 5-minute kind) and 2 cups buttermilk. Beat in ½ cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon each sugar, soda and salt, 2 beaten eggs. This is a thin batter too. Bake on seasoned griddle. To keep pancakes hot, place between folds of warm towel in warm oven.

I have not put down any special amount of vegetables. I use the odds and ends of the garden produce. I peel tomatoes and cook in open kettle, as if to just plain can them. Peel and add veg. and cook until done, put in sealers, add acid and seal. This keeps very well as the acid in the tomatoes keep the veg. . . . my children are howling for their breakfast, the three-year-old wants dressed, the seven-year-old wants to know if his elbows are clean, the ten-year-old wants me to help her find one shoe, so I guess I will close or my happy home won't be so happy any more. It is 7 a.m..—Mrs. Ross A.

ANSWER: More power to you, Mrs. A. May your good nature carry you through many difficulties ahead. One cup bran contains 100 calories; don't ask your 7-year-old to eat cooked carrots—let him have them raw. They are much better for him as long as he chews them well. Wonderful for the eyes; remember the Air Force eats them by the bushel. Now I have a question. Will you please watch exactly what you put into this marvellous sounding soup next summer and then send me the ingredients. Tell me times too. And what is the acid you speak of? Were his elbows clean?

6—In Memoriam

EDWARDS—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Charles Edwards, who passed away Feb. 28, 1950.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden,
Sheltered from sorrow and pain,
Safe in Gods wonderful keeping,
Until we shall meet him again.
—Sadly missed by son Russell, daughter-in-law Pearl and grandchild Judy.

McINTYRE—In loving memory of Mrs. Jean McIntyre, who passed away Feb. 26, 1951.
And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Always remembered by daughter Mabel and family.

MONCRIEF—In loving memory of Earl, who left us so suddenly two years ago today, February 26, 1950.
It's lonesome here without you Earl,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
If I had all the world to give,
I'd give it, yes, and more,
To hear your voice and see your smile
And greet you at the door.
So you who have a father,
Cherish him with care,
You'll never know a heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.
—Ever remembered by his wife, Leona, and family.

Chinese Reds Charge Nuns Ate Babies

HONG KONG, Feb. 26 — (Reuters)—Five European Roman Catholic nuns have been expelled from Communist China after being accused at a mob trial of "eating the flesh of babies", Catholic authorities said here today.

The nuns were accused in vague terms of causing the deaths of 120,000 Chinese orphans. There were 42 children at their orphanage when the Communists took it over last year.

The Sisters, who arrived here last Friday from Chengtu in the western province of Szechwan, said they were kept under constant guard by Communist soldiers in the servants' quarters of their orphanage.

The nuns said they were forced to stand with heads bowed as the "trial" wore on for hours.

After each charge was made the spectators were called on to raise clenched fists and shout "We must avenge our children".

Charge Babies Eaten

One orphanage employee claimed the nuns "ate two babies a day when they were fat and three a day when they were skinny".

She accused them of "plucking out the eyes of the children to make medicine", giving sick infants medicine which was only flour, and eating luxurious foods while the orphans got scraps.

Three former orphans, all girls, were threatened with imprisonment if they refused to accuse the nuns at the trial, the Sisters said. Only one consented to appear, however, and the trial was postponed 15 days because the Communists had difficulty in finding accusers.

The nuns, who crossed the border from China into British territory last Friday, belong to the order of Franciscan Missionaries of Mary.

Brother And Sister ChosenBestSwimmers

TORONTO, Feb. 26 (CP) — A brother and sister from Vancouver have been chosen as Canada's outstanding swimmers of 1951.

Mrs. Edna Worth, secretary of the Canadian Swimming Association announced today that Gerry McNamee, 18, has won the Sir Edward Beatty trophy as Canada's outstanding swimmer in 1951. His 21-year-old sister, Kay, was named winner of the Beatrice Pines trophy.

The C.S.A. secretary also announced that Archie McKinnon of Victoria was selected coach of the Canadian swimming team which will go to the summer Olympics in Helsinki, Finland, next summer. Earlier Percy Norman of Vancouver, coach of the McNamees, was named but because of business pressure declined the offer.

McKinnon's name will be submitted to the Canadian Olympic Association for approval.

MUSICAL MISS — Sheila Richards, 11, of Claresholm, Alta., came 2,000 miles to compete at the Kiwanis Music Festival in Toronto. She had troubles at first. The young cornetist lost all her luggage. Her plane was twice forced back from landing at Minneapolis because of bad weather. At Detroit she missed her plane while looking for her luggage. She finally reached Toronto by train. Then Lady Luck smiled. A department store supplied her with new luggage and clothing; she placed second against six boys in the cornet solo class under 12 years and finished third against 11 boys in the under 15 class.

Robt. McMullen Bethany Native

BETHANY, Feb. 26 (ENS). — Robert McMullen will quietly observe his eighty-ninth birthday on Wednesday.

Born in Bethany, he has lived here his entire life. His parents, the late David McMullen and Mary McMahon were of the first pioneer settlers in this community, taking up their homestead on the farm property now owned by Clarence Neals.

Mr. McMullen attended the first school in the village, which has long since been torn down and as he grew up, he continued to farm with his father. On his father's death, he took over the management of the property, where he continued to live until 28 years ago, when he retired from active work and moved across the road from his original home.

His memories include so many of the improvements and inventions that are now taken for granted: the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the district, the telephone and hydro. Perhaps the greatest change is the road past his home. It is now 7A Highway. The construction work during the summer, eliminated some dangerous curves but cut through his old farm property. His chief lament is the cutting down of some large shade trees which were planted by his father "But I suppose it will make a better road and be safer for people. Cars go so fast now; too fast. . . you can't even see who is in them."

He recalls the building of the churches in the village. His parents were ardent supporters of the early Methodist Church and Mr. McMullen followed in their footsteps. He has held many offices in the old Methodist Church, later the United, and is at present an honorary elder. Failing health leaves him unable to attend church services, much to his regret.

A severe cold kept him in bed for several weeks lately, but when visited on Sunday, he was much improved and longing for spring to come so that he could get outside once more. "It's been a long winter. I guess when you get older, time seems longer."

Mr. McMullen thinks people do not have to work nearly so hard now as they used to. Modern machinery is a wonderful help on the farm. "Perhaps, if I hadn't had to work so hard when I was young, I wouldn't be so tired now."

He never married. His sister Sarah shared his home with him until her death two years ago. Mr. and Mrs. William Rowan then purchased the house. Mrs. Rowan is a niece of Mr. McMullen's and she and her husband lovingly care for this grand old gentleman, who is respected and admired by everyone in the village and who join in wishing him a very happy birthday.

PROF. W. R. FRASER, of Montreal, became the claimant to the world's checkers championship recently when he defeated J. D. MacFarlane, English checkers champion of Montreal, in a 40-game series for the world's combined opening championship. Fraser, who is the Canadian checkers champion, will make an official claim to the world's title.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

St. John's Holds 23rd Annual Banquet

An overflow attendance we enjoyed at the 23rd annual parents and sons' banquet held in St. John's parish hall last Friday evening as once again Scouts old and new joined over the festive board. The tables were gaily decorated with the Scout colors of green and gold.

The chairman, the Rev. J. A. Purser, introduced Mayor Hugh Waddell who gave a brief message of thanks and encouragement to St. John's as a group and Scouting as a whole. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson expressed his appreciation for the progress shown in the working of the group.

Scouter Fred Ford introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Pat Blagrave, pointing out that Mr. Blagrave had been in the Cubs and Scouts at St. John's when the group was just getting on its feet.

The speaker outlined what was behind the starting of scouting, giving a brief history of events in our founder's family and boyhood life wherein the seed of Scouting was planted to be given full life in 1907. Quoting Cecil Rhodes, he said "If we could instill into the minds of all men the spirit and love of Scouting, there would be no worry of wars."

A short campfire program was held at which the Cubs and Scouts demonstrated some of the work with the Seal patrol having the patrol corners on display. Ross Reid and Sixer Calhoon were presented with their swimmer's badges by Akela Don Ferguson and Ross was also presented with six sixers' stripes confirming his promotion to that rank and George Boucher received his seconders' stripes as assistant to Ross. Jim Baker gave a piano solo. Among those at the head table were Scouter and Mrs. Fred Ford, Diane Ford, Peter Ford, Scouter and Mrs. Ed. Pinn, Mr. Purser, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baker and Bob Baker. Also present were Scouters Don Ferguson and Gail Koster of St. John's, Scouter Mrs. Hatton, Pete Dominik and Mr. Hatton from Sacred Heart. And former members of the troop, Alex Chivas from Trenton, Les Groombridge, Don Metheral (now Scouter at George St.), Jim Hooper and Mrs. Hooper, Jim Brown, Rex Rose.

The Ladies' Auxiliary were in charge of cooking and tables under the able leadership of Mrs. B. Baker with Mrs. P. A. Martyn and assisted by Mesdames C. Barton, H. A. Lemmings, R. R. Ford, R. W. Crocker, B. G. Calhoun, A. Barber, J. A. Sherk, E. Pinn, Dunford.

These ladies were ably assisted at the tables by young ladies who volunteered their services as follows: Misses Pat Martyn, Ruth Floyd, Carol Calhoun, Geraldine Perks, Josie Hendren, Phylis Wilshaw, Carol Caldwell, Joan Smith.

George St. Reports

Good attendance has been noted at the Pack during the last few weeks the average being around the 30 mark with three leaders in charge. Paul Bowman was accepted into the Pack as a new chum whilst Ralph Gatfield and Garry Sexsmith were invested into the world wide brotherhood of Scouting. Several tests were passed—Hopping and leap frog by J. Balwin, B. Black, S. Dainard, D. Henwood, A. Jones, and B. McLean. Union Jack: Max Sexsmith, Denis Brown; Sommersault: J. Baldwin, D. Barton, B. Black, S. Dainard, D. Henwood, A. Jones, B. McLean, B. Vance.

In the troop, emphasis was placed on Tenderfoot and Second Class work with Terry McKinney coming through with just one test short of his Tenderfoot being completed, Dick Frise passed compass work. We were glad to welcome into the Scout movement Bob Carter and wish him good hunting.

Action At St. James'

During the past week several boys passed tests in the Pack but no names received. Billie Ball started out on the jungle trail a full fledged Cub when he was invested into the Pack as well as Fred Stanbury, Dale Cinnamon and Paul Cinnamon all three of whom were promoted to the rank of seconders.

At Trinity

The boys were busy at the last meeting of the troop with Mr. Phillips taking estimations with Gary Hancock, Peter Chown, Jack Freeman, Ron Cooper, Ted Spearin. Model for pioneering was also taken by Scouter Stan Howden, Scouts Peter Chown, Bill Henrys, Jim Elliott and Teddy Spearin passing.

Conference Reminder

This affair is but four weeks away now. Time passes quickly and no doubt the committee in charge will soon be enquiring as to the numbers planning to attend from Peterborough. Notify your commissioner now in order that arrangements can be made for bus service, etc. Conference with brother Scouts at Cobourg, March 22. Join the fun.

Paper Drive

Peter Moore, president of the local association reports that some 70 tons paper were collected last week and we send out a big thank you to all who made the drive possible especially to those who so kindly donated trucks for the work.

Reports

Those reports are slow coming in from the group—just remember—this is your column—use it—send your reports to 296 Rogers Street or leave at the Customs House or failing that phone 3067.

Blames Housing Conditions For Juvenile Delinquency

TORONTO, Feb. 26—(CP)—The Rev. W. G. Berry of the United Church of Canada today blamed housing conditions for family break-ups, juvenile delinquency and other social problems.

Low rental housing will have to be subsidized before there is a sufficiency of it to remedy the serious situation, Mr. Berry told the annual meeting of the church's Board of Evangelism and Social Service.

"Not only are more houses needed but roomier houses," said Mr. Berry, secretary of the Board.

Thte Rev. Homer R. Lane of Saskatoon, assistant secretary, said the prairies are experiencing another migration—the drift from country to town—bringing marked changes in our life and culture."

Dr. Lane said that in the west 10 years of relative prosperity have brought an over-emphasis on commercialized sport.

Too Much Pleasure

"Many people have made pleasure the end of life," he said. "This leads to attempts to commercialize Sunday and in other ways to destroy the values inherent in true recreation.

"Gambling practices, especially in Winnipeg, have received publicity, and some curbing, by The Winnipeg Free Press' exposure of the 'bookie' business. Recently the union of Manitoba municipalities voted almost unanimously in favor of a resolution calling on the Provincial government to legalize hospital sweepstakes and lotteries."

Dr. Lane said this was in apparent blissful ignorance that such action is beyond the province's power, as well as being socially, morally and economically unsound."

Sees Danger Signal

The Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the church's general council's Evangelism and Social Service Group, said the United Church should urge External Affairs Minister Pearson "to make haste slowly" concerning any change of world policy "dictated by Washington to meet U.S. political emergencies at home in this presidential voting year."

Dr. Mutchmor said Canada "should oppose further alienation of the peoples of Asia and Africa."

Recent heavy Communist voting in South India was a "danger signal" to be heeded. It showed that continued support of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Party by Washington was a mistake that threatened world peace just as much as Britain's efforts to continue what he termed her colonialism tactics caused trouble in the Middle East.

First Infection Reported In November

REGINA, Feb. 26 — (CP). — The first cattle infection in the Regina area, where an outbreak of the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease was disclosed Monday was reported last November 26, it was learned here Monday night.

The report came from the farm of Leonard Waas, about 40 miles from Regina, when Mr. Waas called Dr. H. Richards, Indian Head, Sask., veterinarian, concerning a sick animal.

Dr. Richards, ill at that time, did not visit the farm, but prescribed by telephone for what he thought might be a case of indigestion. When the animal did not respond to treatment, Mr. Waas informed Federal Health of Animals authorities in Regina. This was on November 30.

Dr. H. V. James of the Division Office in Regina visited the farm to examine the animal and the farm was placed under quarantine.

The sickness in the Waas cattle apparently was at first diagnosed at stomatitis, not the foot-and-mouth disease.

Since that time all 37 cattle owned by Mr. Waas have been infected, but they now are reported recovering.

Mr. Waas discounted suggestions that the disease may have been transmitted by feed or other animals. All feed given the animals prior to the outbreak was grown on the Waas farm and no cattle had been brought in.

Confer On Scheme For Japs Buy British

TOKYO, Feb. 26—(Reuters)—British trade envoys conferred today with Japanese officials on a scheme for Japan to buy British instead of United States goods so as to reduce Japan's top-heavy bank roll of sterling currency.

The Britons outlined a wide range of British products which Japan could import as one means of balancing up the lop-sided trading account between the two countries.

Goods Japan wants from Britain and British Colonies include cotton, oilseeds, timber, planes, automobiles, chemicals and second-hand ships.

Charge Dental Work Done Without License

LINDSAY, Feb. 26—Russell D. Perrin of Toronto was remanded Monday on the charge of performing dentistry acts for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtney of Toronto, without having a license. A charge of dental equipment in his possession, not being a member of the Ontario Dental Association, was dismissed.

Perrin also faces the penalty of having failed to pay a court fine in Lindsay of $500 in 1942 when he was found guilty of practicing without a license.

Civil Liberty No. 1 Casualty

TORONTO, Feb. 26—(CP)—Civil liberty is the "number one casualty of the garrison state," Dr. J. R. Mutchmor of the United Church of Canada said today.

He told the annual meeting of the Church's Board of Evangelism and social service that at the present time Canadians "are witnessing a variety of encroachments on civil liberties."

Some University professors who a few years ago did not hesitate to express considered and helpful judgments on current affairs were silent today.

Radio commentators were a colorless lot.

Few pulpits were phophetic and "an even smaller and ever diminishing number dare to refer to international matters."

Another current problem was the plight of the poor, said Dr. Mutchmor who is secretary of the Board. If the United Church was to "save its soul from middle-class snobbery and smugness, it must do more for the poor."

Too Much Sneezing So Shipping Delayed

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26 — (CP)—A cargo of bone meal which made some longshoremen sneeze so hard they developed nose bleeds is blamed for a tieup of dry cargo shipping in the Philadelphia port area.

Some 4,000 members of the International Longeshoremen's Association (A.F.L.) were idle for the second day today in a strike resulting from demands for premium pay for handling cargo classified as obnoxious.

Union officials claim such classification should have been given the 40,000 bags of bone meal which started the dispute that led tot closing of Hiring Halls Monday.

Bone meal is ground bone used to manufacture poultry feed and fertilizer.

A management spokesman claims the workers violated an agreement to arbitrate disputes over cargo classification.

Find Poliomyelitis Winter Disease Too

OTTAWA, Feb. 26—(CP)—Poliomyelitis, once considered a summer disease, has shown that it can attack children in fall and winter months as well.

The Federal Health department in its annual report, issued today, said that an outbreak of poliomyelitis followed an unusual pattern in Prince Edward Island in the fall of 1950 and the winter of 1951.

Usually the disease disappears with the first frost. In Prince Edward island the first case appeared during the week of Sept. 9 and cases were reported each week until the end of January, 1951.

In all, 79 cases were reported—more than 2½ times the previous five-year-annual average of 30 cases for the province.

SINGAPORE, Feb. 26 (Reuters). — Communist terrorists are believed to have started a fire which caused $16,000 damage to a Chinese - owned rubber factory here Monday. Lindsay Police Win $50 Raise By Arbitration

LINDSAY, Feb. 26—(ENS)—Lindsay's first case of arbitration came to a conclusion Monday night. As a result of the arbitration board's recommendations, members of the Lindsay Police Force received an additional $50 raise.

The board, made up of Finance Chairman Ald. Lloyd Burrows, president of the Lindsay Police Association Constable Percy Mark, and Judge John A. McGibbon, chairman of the board, met Friday afternoon for over two hours and again on Saturday for well over an hour. In a letter to the council, Judge McGibbon gave his recommendations.

Originally, the policemen requested $2,400 as a starting yearly salary for a probationary constable with a $3,000 top for first class constable. At that meeting they were given a $200 across-the-board increase. A few days later, they announced that they would take it to arbitration. As a result, they received an additional $50 to make starting slaries $2,250 and their top man $2,750.

Fire Chief M. Wylie also requested a raise at Monday night's council meeting. In a letter, Chief Wylie requested a $1,000 raise. Taken aback at the request, council gave him a raise of $250 a year to bring his salary to $2,250 plus an apartment rated at $75 monthly.

Nearly all other town departments requested raises. Men on the board of works requested a 15-cent-an-hour raise, and had their pay hoisted 2½ cents to bring their hourly rate to 90 cents.

Town Clerk W. R. Allely's salary was raised from $4,000 to $4,200; Police Chief Arthur Webster's was raised from $3,300 to $3,600.

Considerable discussion took place on the method of cleaning sidewalks in the town which cost taxpayers $1,500 last year. "This mode of cleaning is antiquated," said chairman of the board of works Reeve R. Butler. "Thousands of cities and towns are not doing it. We have a heavy metal covered plow, horse drawn. It does a poor job and costs a lot of money. Each year, the price goes up and the service comes down."

Council decided, tenatively, to buy a tractor plow but requested the press to make a survey of taxpayers asking their feeling on cleaning their own sidewalks in front of their property.

A letter from ex-town engineer Robert Mitchell disclosed that he was suing the town for his back salary. Mr. Mitchell, who suffered a heart attack almost a year ago, was carried on payroll until last December at a partial salary, until asked to resign by council.

Two more policemen were also requested in Police Chief Webester's annual report. No action was taken on the request.

Maid Goes Home Had Enough

MONTREAL, Feb. 26—(CP)—Alice Lachance, a shy country girl of 19, is going back to the farm.

Blue-eyed Miss Lachance, eyewitness of last Friday's kidnapping of three-year-old Barbara Nemeroff, was quizzed by police almost 12 hours, following the abduction.

She found the experience so upsetting, she said today, and is going back to her parents' farm at St. Luc in Dorchetser county. She was employed as a maid by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nemeroff only six weeks.

She was alone in the house with Barbara, and asleep in her room, when the abductor gained entrance to the home. He ordered Alice to dress the child, threatening her with violence if she made a sound.

When she was certain the kidnapper was gone, she telephoned police and was brought in for questioning until the child and the abductor were picked up Saturday.

"When Barbara was found", Mr. Nemeroff said, "I broke the news to Alice myself at headquarters. She collapsed. She cried. All she wanted to do was go back to the country".

Endicott Quoted Blaming U.S. For China Delay

SAN FRANCISCO ,Feb. 26 — (CP)—Peiping Radio has quoted the chairman of the Communist-led Canadian Peace Congress as saying that Canada was "on the point" of recognizing Communist China two years ago but "strong pressure" from the United States prevented it.

The Red radio last Thursday and Friday broadcast an interview and a speech by Dr. James Endicott, of Toronto, congress chairman. Endicott, who spent 22 years in China as a missionary before returning to Canada 4½ years ago, arrived in Peiping two weeks ago with his wife. They plan a two-month tour of China.

Dr. Endicott's broadcast statements were picked up here by the Associated Press listening post.

According to the broadcast, he told 200 members of the Chinese People's Institute of Foreign Affairs that "American economic power and control in Canada are one of the great difficulties for the Canadian people's peace movement."

"Our government was on the point of recognizing new China two years ago, for example, and it is generally reported that strong pressure from Washington prevented it."

Making Strides

He said that "Canadian peace partisans" are making giant strides to achieve peace. "We have received about 300,000 names (for a five-power peace pact). We sent 23 delegates to the Sheffield and Warsaw Peace Congress.

"The premier of one province has publicly declared that the people of Saskatchewan are not prepared "to send their sons to be slaughtered in foreign fields to bolster up discredited regimes."

"The Canadian people are now beginning to suffer economic hardship as a result of war preparations. They are becoming disturbed lest they be forced to assist in another series of colonial wars against long-suffering and long-exploited colonial people. We will always guard our right as Canadians to determine our own destiny without dictation or interference from abroad."

The broadcast said Dr. Endicott spoke in fluent Chinese and his address was warmly acclaimed.

In the interview the broadcast said Dr. Endicott was "genuinely surprised" at the progress made in China under the Communist government. "The unity and strength of the Chinese peoples is everywhere evident," he was quoted.

Bancroft Triumphs

BANCROFT, Feb. 26 (ENS). — Overcoming a two-goal deficit Bancroft Pontiacs came from behind to win the third of their semi-finals with Madoc in the Hastings - Addington Hockey League by a score of 9 to 3 here, as 1,100 paid to see the game.

Big Joe Kavanagh was back for the game and his presence meant as much to Bancroft as the addition of Rocket Richard or Ted Kennedy. A physical and health education student at Queen's University, Joe, one of the mainstays of the championship team of 1950-51, gave the team that added touch that paid off in the second and third periods.

For two periods Jack Hatch was a regular whiz in Madoc's net as he was stopping double the number of pucks that came in McGhee's direction. At 19:24 in the second Elwood Brough tied the game and his brother Norman made it one up for Bancroft at 19:59. From then on Jack was in hot water up to his ears.

In the third period Bernie Shapiro and Don Tanner were changing lines at practically every whistle, and this strategy of keeping them fresh and fast in the final frame paid off with five additional goals while Durant's men went scoreless.

Madoc's scorers were Goodchild, Reynolds and Fred Nickle, while N. Brough 5, Delyea 2, E. Brough 1, and D. Maxwell 1, counted for the Pontiacs.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Monday night in Toronto that the hearing dealing with Toronto defenceman Gus Mortson's alleged kicking of New York Rangers' Hy Buller, had been adjourned until Wednesday in New York.

Mortson appeared before Campbell Monday night after being given a match penalty Feb. 19 for what referee George Gravel called "deliberately trying to injure Buller." The game ended in a 3-3 tie.

Also attending the hearing were Joe Primeau, Hap Day, referee Gravel and N.H.L. referee-in-chief Carl Voss.

Elmer Burkart, 34-year-old manager of Ottawa Athletics, thought Philadelphia A's were "darn fools" to buy the Ottawa International Baseball League franchise, he told a service club in Ottawa Monday. But later he changed his mind about the purchase from New York Giants. One factor was that advance seat sale was double last year's when the Giants fielded Ottawa's first International League club.

Coach Carl Voyles of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four Football Union Monday in Hamilton expressed the opinion that the weekend ruling allowing eight United States imports, could break the back of some Canadian clubs. "That additional expense of the other import may well prove just too much for us to bear. . . Instead of eight imports, the Canadian Rugby Union should have worked in reverse and chopped them to five. Then we could concentrate on developing Canadian players."

With 23 prospective playing members for the 1952 season, the St. Catharines Cricket Club will enter the John Ross Robertson trophy competition for the Canadian cricket championship. A. E. More Dancing Might Help Cut Divorces

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26 (AP).—The dancing champions—Marge and Gower—offer this advice to help stop the rising divorce rate: husbands should take their wives out dancing more often.

The couple have certainly made dancing pay dividends. They think that foxtrots and waltzes can prove profitable for any wedded pair.

"Why should romance stop after marriage?" argued Marge. "A boy and a girl dance their feet off when they're courting. As soon as they step before the preacher, they give up dancing entirely. It never occurs to them that dancing could be just as much fun after they're married."

"The most romantic thing a couple can do is dance," Gower countered. "There's no other way they can get so close."

Dubs Can Learn

What if the husband's foxtrot is the kind that might be considered grounds for divorce?

"There are plenty of dance schools that could cure that," Gower replied.

Although they spend a good many of their workday hours dancing, the champions still like to flit around the dance floor when they go out at night.

"I enjoy nothing more," said Marge.

Increased Rates For Power Said Possible

TORONTO, Feb. 26 — (CP).—A possible increase in hydro-electric power rates was discussed Monday by the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association and the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities at their annual conventions here.

Ross Strike, second vice-chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, told the O.M.E.A. that the St. Lawrence seaway would produce the cheapest power that Ontario could generate even if the United States did not take part in it. U.S. participation would reduce the cost of power, he said.

D. P. Cliff of Dundas, president of the O.M.E.A., said the power commission is selling power at lower rates than in the 1930's, and demand is increasing. Generating capacity now was being taxed to its utmost to meet demand and pay operating costs without increased rates.

Hydro should have a 10 per cent reserve of generating capacity to meet a possible dry year, he said. The logical source of new energy was the St. Lawrence project

There would inevitably be an increase in hydro rates and they might well be put up in the near future to provide a reserve for plant expansion.

Korean Economy Out of Line Rice Costly Cotton Cheap

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 26. (CP)—The "Land of the Morning Calm," as Koreans call their country, is driving economists crazy. For years they've been tought that plentiful commodities for which there is small demand sell cheaply. Not this year in Korea. Rice is the staple food and a standard medium of exchange in this country. The 1951 crop was 75 per cent of normal despite the war. The markets are fat with it. The people aren't buying: one-third are on relief and the rest can buy only one-third of what they need.

But the price of rice is soaring. During the last two months it has gone up 20 per cent. It costs more than five times as much as last spring.

An then there's cotton. When a commodity is scarce and in great demand, prices usually go up. Now cotton is expensive in Korea but by no means as expensive as it should be by Korean standards.

Korean economists say their economy is stable when one large mal (20 litres) of rice costs as much as one pil (40 yards) of cotton. Right now rice is seven times more expensive, though no raw cotton is being imported for civilian use and almost all weaving capacity is being used for army uniforms.

Three Factors.

Simply, the topsyturvydom is caused by three main factors:

1. Failure of the Republic of Korea to mobilize and control its economy, to gear itself economically for war.

2. The United Nations policy of scaling relief to what it considers the "budgetary capacity" of the Korean government.

3. The Korean Republic's trading on the conscience of the United Nations and trying to avoid civilian unrest by making the refugee problem a U.N. worry.

Shoes are an instance. Koreans prefer their own type made of rubber and shaped something like an Indian canoe.

Shoe factories were restored, the U. N. Civilian Assistance Command imported 3,000 tons of raw rubber and turned over almost as much reclaimed rubber to the industry. Now shoes are on the market by hundreds of thousands.

(Editor's Note: This article is one of a series dealing with winter conditions among civilians in war-torn Korea. It is based on a two-week survey by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces.)

Get Western Boots.

But refugees are issued the much-more-expensive or ill-fitting, donated castoff footwear. Why? Because:

1. The government will not buy the shoes for the refugees.

2. C.A.C. doesn't insist that the government buy the shoes because they aren't "within its budgetary capacity" and also lest government purchased in a free market cause inflation.

3. C.A.C. won't buy them either, because of the same inflation argument.

On the other hand, reverting to rice, C. A. C. says it isn't particularly keen to see a rice-rationing system. Officials say privately that the government hasn't storage and distribution facilities for implementing a controlled program, and enforcing one would mean strengthening a police force already undesirably strong by democratic standards.

Amid all this, with poor civilians and refugees suffering from both sides, "hands off" policies Republic of Korea government employees and the Korean armed services are living better than ever before.

They get their rice cheaply from government warehouses. They are allowed to buy, at special prices, the textiles left over from government orders.

C. A. S. economists say much privileged citizens are eating at least twice as much as in normal times, though the government says that's not true. But the ordinary civilian is having a thin time this winter.

U.S. May Ease Embargo On Canadian Livestock

Cured Meats Likely Be Approved

Disinfection Centre Now Set Up Put Trucks Through

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. (CP) — The Agriculture Department today intimated that the United States embargo on Canadian livestock and other products may be eased.

The embargo was imposed as a result of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in South Saskatchewan.

A department statement quoted "American authorities" as saying the U.S. foot-and-mouth disease regulations against Canada will be applied "for the present," but that "some changes in these regulations may be made because Canada is well-started with experienced veterinarians to carry out control measures."

Officials disclosed previously that they had hoped the American embargo, applied across Canada, may be eased to apply to products from the infected area only.

Must Wait

"Until more is known concerning the extent of the outbreak and other factors," the department said, "no immediate indication can be given as to the duration of the embargo."

The department said it was possible that the U.S. may permit imports of Canadian dressed poultry under regulations made by the U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry.

It believed it may also be possible to ship cured and cooked meats into the U.S., under specific U.S. regulations, as well as animal by-products. However, different treatment will be given each of the products before being allowed across the border.

Meanwhile, the department said that reports from Regina are that all sick animals in the infected area are being investigated, but so far no new cases of foot-and-mouth disease have been established.

Destination Centre

The departmental report from Regina said that a disinfection centre has been established and all trucks carrying livestock products to the city are being directed through it.

Equipment supplied by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Program is being used to provide animal burial grounds. The numbers of qualified veterinarians reaching Regina are increasing day by day. U.S. and Canadian animal pathologists are standing by in Regina to give assistance.

In Ottawa, federal officials sought clarification of the action reported to have been taken by British Columbia and Ontario to ban the movement in their provinces of Western livestock in order to prevent a possible spread of the disease.

Seeking clarification of the American embargo, the depart-

Halifax Uneasy

HALIFAX, Feb. 27. (CP)— A conference to discuss the loading of explosives aboard ships here will be held by representatives of city council, the port authority, the naval authority, shipping interests, organized labor and the shipping committee of the Halifax Board of Trade. The loading of explosives, which have increased since the beginning of the Korean war, has caused much uneasiness among citizens here. Last week a ship loaded with ammunition was involved in a minor collision in the harbor.

Say Franks Declines NATO Post

Indicate Pearson May Reconsider Refusal To Act

LONDON, Feb. 27. (AP)—An informed source said today Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador to Washington, has declined the post of secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The North Atlantic Council Monday invited him to accept the job.

The informant said Franks revealed his reluctance to accept the job in a telegram sent to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in Lisbon, scene of the N.A.T.O. Council meeting.

It is considered possible that Eden will ask him to reconsider. Franks is said to be anxious to return to private life after his term of duty in Washington.

At Ottawa, it was said Franks definitely refuses the job. External Affairs Minister Pearson is expected to reconsider his stand against taking it himself.

No Comment

Mr. Pearson's only comment here this morning as chairman of the N.A.T.O. Council of Ministers was that he has not yet been notified of Franks decision but that he expects to hear later today. He said he still hopes Sir Oliver will take the job.

He declined to comment further.

It was learned, however, that Mr. Pearson was offered the job at Lisbon but was one of those who wanted Franks to have it. If Sir Oliver can't be talked into taking it, Mr. Pearson is expected to reconsider his own position because he is known to take a serious view of the job's importance to Western defence and security.

Search All Trains For Immigrant Believed In Ontario

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. (CP)—The R.C.M.P. appealed to Canadians today to help locate a German immigrant farm worker, suspected of carrying the foot-and-mouth disease into Canada. The immigrant, identified as Willi Bruntjen, a German who speaks no English and doesn't know he's wanted for examination and questioning, was last located at Port Arthur Tuesday. The R.C.M.P. immediately informed the Agricultural Department that it had located the man and would bring him to nearby Hull, Que., laboratories for inspection. Then the man disappeared. The R.C.M.P. said it had no details of the disappearance.

"All we know," said the R.C.M.P., "is that he got on a train, probably at Port Arthur or nearby Fort William, Tuesday and headed east towards Toronto or Montreal."

The R.C.M.P. had no idea what train he had taken. But it was taking no chances. A two-province manhunt has been launched with all trains moving eastward from Port Arthur to Montreal being searched.

Watching Hotels

In addition, railway stations in Manitoba and Ontario are being watched and hotels and rooming houses checked.

Bruntjen, described as a tall, well-built man, between 25 and 30 years of age, apparently does not suspect that he is wanted for questioning. There is no charge against him.

The R.C.M.P. said when last seen, he was wearing a grey topcoat and was hatless. He has dark brown hair.

"We would appreciate the help of Canadians in helping to locate this man," the R.C.M.P. said. "Anyone finding him should get in touch with the nearest detachment of the R.C.M.P."

"The R.C.M.P. informed us Tuesday afternoon that the man had been located and was being brought to the laboratories," a spokesman for the department said today. "Now we've just got the information from the R.C.M.P. that the man still is missing."

Bruntjen worked on the farm of Leonard Waas, four miles north of McLean, Sask., where the first foot-and-mouth infection was reported Nov. 26. The immigrant was employed there from Nov. 18 to 21. He later went to Winnipeg.

The R.C.M.P. does not believe that the disease was brought into Canada with the deliberate plan of infecting Canadian cattle. However, there is the possibility that the virus may have been brought into Canada on the immigrant's clothes, or effects.

Purges Czechs Gottwald May Share Fate

(Editor's Note: This dispatch casts new light on the situation in Czechoslovakia. The information in it has been obtained from a responsible source by William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst who is on a tour of European areas adjacent to the Iron Curtain. The AP has been unable to obtain first-hand news in Czechoslovakia since its correspondent, William N. Oatis, was jailed by the Czechs last April.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

ROME, Feb. 27 (AP)—Klement Gottwald, president of Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia, occupies a shaky throne. He may be out of it within two to six months.

This is the opinion of a reliable source from inside that Iron-Curtain country. The informant adds that Gottwald may attempt to flee the country to escape the fate of those he himself has purged.

The informant, who cannot be quoted by name, outlines the Czechoslovak situation this way:

Lagging production angered the Soviet Union, which was draining off Czechoslovakia's wealth. Russia ordered a shake-up. Gottwald, to save himself, was forced to purge persons who might have been—and in fact had been—his own allies. Rudolf Slansky, now in jail and charged with attempting to murder Gottwald, was one of these.

On Spot Himself

Now Gottwald himself is on probation. If the monthly reports of Czechoslovak production do not show a decisive upsurge, Gottwald is in serious trouble. If the six-month production figures should still be below Soviet demands, Gottwald is finished.

All sources agree that the Czechs are getting poorer every day, except for the ruling Communists and a select group of workers.

Informants in Yugoslavia insist that Czechoslovakia is the weakest link in the cominform chain. But there is little hope of an uprising.

Struck By Car Child Dies Week After Accident

COBOURG, Feb. 27 (ENS) — David Brereton, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brereton of Port Hope, died today in the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, the result of injuries received when he was struck by a car Feb. 20.

The boy was standing on Toronto St., Port Hope, waiting for traffic to pass. He watched a southbound car pass and then walked into the side of a northbound car when he stepped off the pavement.

Apparently he did not see the northbound car, driven by George S. Buchan of Bowmanville.

He was taken to Toronto shortly after the accident with a fractured skull and an injured left arm and leg. He never fully regained consciousness.

Port Hope police say no charges are being laid against Buchan. Constable Tom Fortner investigated the accident.

Allow TV Sets To Cross Border

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. (CP)—Television sets have been added to the list of things Canadians returning from the United States may bring home under the $100 exemption clause, a customs official said on Tuesday.

The sets, as in the case of small radios which can be brought back under the clause, must be valued at $100 or less and carried in the baggage—not shipped separately. The $100 clause only applies to Canadians who have been in the U.S. 48 hours or more.

The official explained that television sets had been banned previously because they didn't come within baggage regulations. However, with the production in the U.S. of cheap, table-type models, it was decided to bring the regulations up-to-date.

Former Dictator Dies In Greece

ATHENS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Gen. Theodorus Pangalos, 73, who was military dictator of Greece in 1926 with powers which even included shortening women's skirts by two inches, died today.

He staged a fake plebiscite to win election to the presidency after he became military dictator and abolished the constitution.

Revolutionaries led by Gen. George Kondylis overthrew him in 1927, jailed him in a Turkish fort on Crete and kept him there under charges of high treason. He was freed 23 months later by Prime Minister Sophocles Venizelos without being tried.

10 Top U.S. Fugitives Include Teen-ager

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) —The F.B.I's "most-wanted" list was revised today to include a teen-ager, the youngest person ever placed among the 10 top U.S. fugitives.

He is 19-year-old Kenneth Lee Maurer of Detroit, sought for the bludgeon deaths of his mother and 11-year-old sister last November. The bureau describes Maurer as a shy youth of good appearance and pleasing personality.

Maurer went on the "most-wanted" list as a replacement for Willie Sutton, long sought for bank robbery in Brooklyn and captured Feb. 18.

Massey To Be Sworn In In Colorful Ceremony

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. (CP)—Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey will be sworn in Thursday as Canada's first native-born governor-general with all the traditional ceremony that surrounds the installation of the sovereign's personal representative. The government, disclosing the details of the ceremony Tuesday, issued an official program which closely parallels that of the installation in 1946 of Mr. Massey's predecessor, Field Marshal Lord Alexander.

Massey will wear the colorful uniform of the Governor-General's office when he opens parliament Thursday.

First Since 1939

It will be the first time since 1939, when the late Lord Tweedsmuir then presided at the parliamentary openings as Governor-General, that the uniform has been worn by a holder of the vice-regal office. It has been presented to Mr. Massey by Lady Tweedsmuir.

In the intervening years, the two suceeding Governors-General —the Earl of Athlone and Field Marshall Lord Alexander—were high-ranking military officers and, by custom, wore their service uniforms.

Mr. Massey will not wear the uniform when he is installed in the Senate Chamber Thursday morning. He will don it only for the parliamentary opening at 3 p.m.

It is of dark blue cloth, with silver trimmings on the coatee and a broad strip of silver cloth down the trousers. The cuffs and collar are backgrounded with scarlet cloth and the silver shoulder epaulettes bear the rose, thistle and shamrock of the United Kingdom and the Imperial Crown.

Mr. Massey will wear Wellington boots with spurs, a silver sword, a cocked hat with white swan plumes and a cloak.

22 Vacancies

As parliament meets, it will find five vacancies in the Commons and 17 in the Senate, some of them created by the deaths of sitting members since parliament concluded its special fall session late in December.

The Commons standing:

Liberals 183, Progressive Conservatives 45; C.C.F. 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal two; Independent four; vacant five; total 262.

The Senate:

Liberals 77; Progressive Conservative eight; vacant 17; total 102.

The speech from the throne, expected to run approximately 1,400 words, is the parliamentary vehicle through which the government announces its legislation program for the session. It traditionally is secret until read to the Commoners and Senators assembled in the Senate Chamber, but some inkling of its contents already is known.

It is known, for example, that the administration intends to proceed with the controversial annuities bill which got some study last fall but was sidetracked by the heated debates over resale price maintenance. This measure raises the ceiling on federal annuities to $2,400 a year from $1,200.

There also will be legislation resulting from the report of the Royal Commission which spent two years studying Canada's transportation problems. Several bills based on that report were adopted last year.

Cement Plant Has Flash Fire

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 27 (CP).— Considerable damage was caused when a flash fire broke out Tuesday in two cement storage tanks under construction at the Canada Cement Company's Point Anne Plant, three miles east of here.

The blaze destroyed scaffolding, tarpaulins and straw used to protect the tanks while building is in progress.

Union Asking Higher Taxes

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Reuters).— Britain's trade union leaders today called for higher taxes to help the country through the economic crisis.

They urged that the "standard" tax rate be raised to an even 50 per cent of earnings after initial allowances for low incomes and dependents. This would mean an increase of sixpence to bring the rate to 10 shillings in the pound.

The increase would hit hardest at the upper middle classes. Most manual workers earn too little to qualify for the standard tax rate.

The proposal, from the general council of the 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress, has been sent to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Richard Butler, as a suggestion for his budget on March 11. Such an increase would bring in about £900,000 a year.

The scheme would affect a man with a wife and two children only if he earned more than $2,000 a year — well above the national average. If he earned less, he would pay at sub-standard rates rising to 25 per cent of earnings.

Cattle Trade At Standstill

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP). — Cattle trade on the Ontario livestock market came to a standstill today in the wake of confusion resulting from the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

Only 280 head of cattle were received at the market today but a heavy carryover from Tuesday brought the total on hand to 2,680. There were no early sales.

Although the federal government banned shipments of livestock from the west into Ontario Tuesday at the request of Premier Frost of Ontario, meat shipments were not affected.

Carcass beef is still coming into the Toronto area and local packing houses are filled. They have stopped all buying both on the livestock market and from country drovers.

Much of the carry-over stock was not of good quality because some farmers and drovers, said to have "become panicky" are shipping unfinished stock.

A report from Kitchener said one packing house could buy top-quality cattle for as much as two cents a pound less than yesterday's market price of 29 cents.

British Envoy Visits Suez Headquarters

CAIRO, Feb. 27 — (Reuters)— Sir Ralph Stevenson, British Ambassador ot Egypt, who in three days will formally meet Egypt's Prime Minister to renew Anglo-Egyptian negotiations, today visited British military headquarters in the Suez Canal zone.

He was to confer at Ismailia with service chiefs, including Generals Sir Brian Robertson and Sir George Erskine. Political observers here attached significance to this trip.

(In Ismailia, the ambassador's visit was officially described as "a routine meeting with service commanders.")

A British Embassy spokesman here Tuesday night described the Anglo-Egyptian relations as "back to normal." Diplomatic contacts had been resumed and a "healthier atmosphere" prevails.

The independent newspaper Akher Lahza said today that "British forces will begin to evacuate the Canal zone as soon as the Anglo-Egyptian talks show signs of success." The presence of the British garrison guarding the Suez zone has been a major sore spot since Egypt cancelled her 1936 treaty with Britain last October.

Fundamental Basis

The British Embassy spokesman Tuesday night emphasized that the four-power proposal (by the U.S., Britain, France and Turkey) for a Western-sponsored Middle East defence system, with Egypt participating fully as a founder-member, "remains a fundamental basis for settlement of outstanding Anglo-Egyptian differences."

Egyptian service experts, according to the pro-government newspaper Al Ahram, are studying steps to follow the British evacuation and trying to decide how long such evacuation would take. A target of one year has been mentioned unofficially.

The newspaper added that the "Egyptian experts are studying the co-ordination of defence lines in the Middle East."

Gets 20 Years For Robbery

BARRIE, Feb. 27 (CP).—Lawrence Shirley, 22-year-old convicted bank robber, today was sentenced to 20 years in penitentiary for his part in the $4,200 armed robbery of a Bradford bank last July.

Shirley now is serving a 12-year term for his part in a Toronto post office robbery last fall in which one man was shot and killed. The sentences will run concurrently.

Frank Watson, 26, also charged with the robbery of the Bradford branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was acquitted.

A third man wanted for the robbery in which police said three men scooped up the cash in two minutes and fled in a hail of bullets, is still at large. Leonard Jackson escaped from Toronto's Don Jail some time ago.

Rescue Four Men After Plane Explodes

GUAM, Feb. 27 (AP)—A U.S. navy tanker rescued four of five airmen who bailed out of a B-29 weather plane when an engine exploded 150 miles northwest of Guam Tuesday. Search is still on for a fifth man.

Five others probably died in the explosion.

The four survivors are aboard the tanker Tombigbee, due to reach Guam early Friday.

Will Impound C.N.E. Books

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP) — Mayor Allan Lamport said today he will apply for a blanket injunction on all affairs of the Canadian National Exhibition.

His statement followed an announcement Monday that Fred S. Quirk, C.N.E. treasurer, would be called back from his vacation in Florida to explain a discrepancy in figures received by a special committee investigating C.N.E. contracts with amusement operators.

Elwood Hughes, general manager, said a difference of $2,000 involved in the "wrong information" was "obviously a clerical error."

Today Mayor Lamport said he will ask the city solicitor to seek an injunction to restrain the C.N.E. executive from access to C.N.E. books until a private audit has been made.

Sign Agreement

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 — (CP) — Canada has signed an agreement with the United States Armed Forces to simplify procedures for placing of U.S. military orders in this country. The agreement, similar to the one that existed between the two countries during the Second World War, is seen here as a preparation for increased military orders in Canada.

Five In One Family Perish In Fire

MONTREAL, Feb. 27 (CP). — Five members of a family died early today when fire swept their home in nearby Ville Ste. Pierre.

Dead are: Hugh Morton, 71; Marion Morton, 65, his brother; Mrs. Maria Morton, 42, Hugh Morton's daughter-in-law; Sheila Morton, 13, her daughter; Rita Morton, 8, another daughter; a third daughter escaped from the burning house.

The cause of the fire is unknown. An inquest will be held.

Mrs. Morton's husband, Robert, who was working as a power plant supervisor at Pine Falls, Man., flew to Montreal today when his surviving daughter advised him of the tragedy.

CoronationStone Back In Abbey

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Reuters).— The Stone of Scone is back in Westminster Abbey, Prime Minister Winston Churchill said on Tuesday in the House of Commons, but this time a burglar alarm is installed.

It is hoped it will still be there under the coronation chair when Queen Elizabeth II is crowned.

Churchill was asked whether opinion of Scottish authorities had been consulted before the stone was replaced in the abbey. He replied that the Queen had approved the move.

The stone created a furore Christmas Day, 1950, when it was spirited out of the abbey by a group of young Scottish nationalists.

Queen Holds Investiture In Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Feb. 27—(Reuters)— The Queen, dressed simply in a black frock set off by a pearl necklace and diamond brooch, today held the first investiture of her reign in the state ballroom of Buckingham Palace.

She conferred knighthoods and other awards on more than 100 persons.

Following the same ceremony as her father before her, the Queen stood in front of twin gold-and-crimson chairs of state. The Duke of Edinburgh stood beside her in naval uniform.

Top decoration presented was a Victoria Cross to Pte. William Speakman of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. The citation said Speakman, though seriously wounded, led charges against withering machine-gun fire in Korea last November, fighting an overwhelming enemy force to a standstill.

In battle-dress jacket and tartan trousers, the six-foot, six-inch soldier stepped forward, towering over his Queen.

She pinned the V.C. below his other ribbons, spoke to him for a few minutes and shook his hand.

Fifty-six new knights knelt in turn before the Queen, who dubbed them lightly on shoulder with a state sword.

Other men honored for bravery in Korea, Malaya and other overseas theatres stepped up one by one to receive their awards.

McCloy Warns Allies:

Halt German Nationalism Or Disaster

BONN, Germany, Feb. 27 (CP) —John J. McCloy, United States high commissioner, today predicted "general disaster" unless reviving German nationalism is halted.

He accused most of West Germany's political parties and even some cabinet ministers of fostering he revival.

In his quarterly report to the U.S. state department, McCloy spotlighted the emergence of Neo-Nazi parties which, he said, intend to "discredit and destroy parliamentary democracy" in West Germany.

He warned of the "potential danger" from the Socialist Reich party, strongest of the extreme right wing Nazi-style parties.

The party, known as S.R.P., is most influential in lower Saxony, where there are many refugees from East Europe. Its leaders are Fritz Doris, a former Nazi, and General Otto-Ernst Remer, who helped frustrate the plot to kill Hitler in 1944. The West Germany government has asked the constitutional court to outlaw the party.

Ultimate Aim

"There is no doubt that their ultimate aim is to discredit and destroy parliamentary democracy in Germany," McCloy said.

"They invent scandals and rumors among the democratic parties and parliamentary leaders, and dub anyone who opposed Hitler a traitor. The villify the Allies and seek to distort allied policy and the genuine desire of the western powers to bring Germany back into the community of nations as a democratic partner."

McCloy said the danger of the extreme right was not critical, and at least in the case of the S.R.P. does not constitute an immediate threat to the federal republic. But the S.R.P. organizational centres dotted over the country might at a later date expand and grow should the political climate become suitable for their development.

"Most of the established political parties have been stocking the merchandise of nationalism," he said. "Individuals or circles and, in a few cases, even the controlling elements of an entire state political organization have expressed highly nationalistic sentiments...even some federal ministers have not been above such actions."

Confidence Vote Won By Churchill

Secret Document Disclosures Confuse Labor Party

LONDON, Feb. 27. (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill won a House of Commons confidence vote on his foreign policy Tuesday night after asserting his pledge of "prompt, resolute and effective" action in Korea only continued policies set last May by the former Labor government.

He disclosed also that the Labor regime of Prime Minister Attlee secretly set up a plant for regular production of atomic bombs and had produced an atom bomb.

Churchill won the confidence vote 318 to 285, a margin of 33 votes. Liberal Party backing swelled his nominal Conservative edge of 14 votes.

His revelations on Korean policy and the atom bomb came, Churchill said, from Cabinet documents which he had no chance to see until his Conservative Party ousted the Laborites in last October's general election.

Foments Anger

His disclosures brought confusion and anger among Labor members. This may sharpen the division between such moderate leaders as Attlee and Herbert Morrison and the left-wing faction led by Aneurin Bevan.

The confidence vote came on a Labor censure motion accusing Churchill of making secret military pledges to President Truman. Labor critics charged these pledges were hinted when Churchill promised in a speech to Congress in Washington last month that Britain would take "prompt, resolute and effective" action if a Korea truce were reached, then broken by the Communists.

Denies Making Secret Pact

Churchill denied making any secret agreement with Truman. He said Attlee's government reached a secret military understanding with the United States last May to take joint action "outside Korea" if Communist planes badly blasted U.N. forces from Chinese bases.

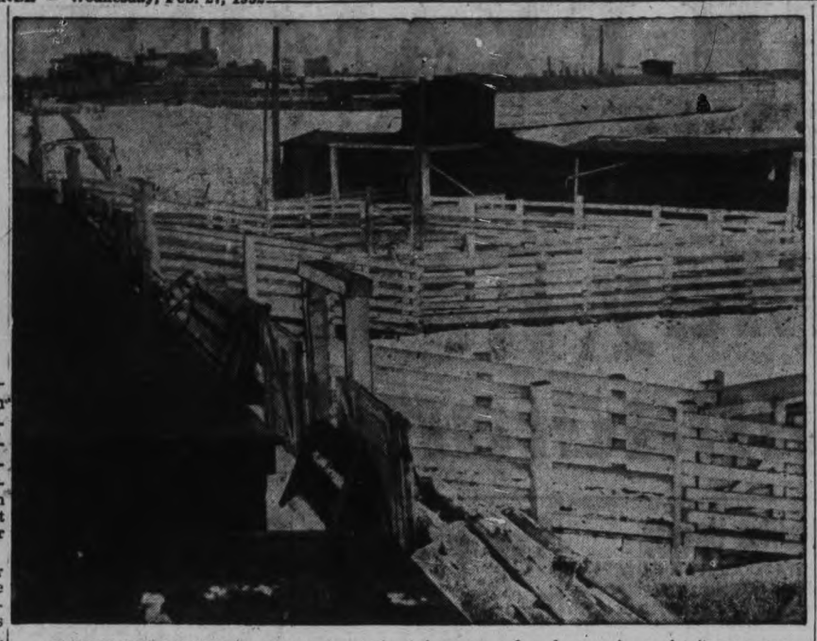
Churchill said Attlee was justified in making such arrangements and added:

"We conformed in principle to the policy of our predecessors, and, indeed, in some respects, it might be said that we did not commit ourselves even as far as they had done."

Bevan denounced Churchill for what he called cowardly disclosures of Cabinet secrets and demanded, without success, that animals will be shot by R.C.M.P., covered with unslaked lime and buried. The first grave—200 by 60 feet and 10 feet deep—was dug on the farm of Konstantin Haun where 40 cattle caught foot and mouth disease.

Owners of diseased cattle will be compensated by the federal government at between $40 and $100 a head plus allowances for the carcass value.

Quick clean-up or early control of the outbreak appeared unlikely to federal officials although Dr. Kenneth Wells, associate chief veterinarian for Canada, said in Regina there is a possibility of it "before the spring break-up."



EMPTY STOCKYARDS—Regina's stockyards are empty as a result of a ban on the movement of cattle in the district because of a foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in southern Saskatchewan. Infected herds are being rounded up and slaughtered.

Shove POW Question Aside

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 27. (AP)—Staff officers tentatively agreed today to drop the question of voluntary exchange of prisoners of war back into the laps of a truce sub-committee. They have settled all prisoner-exchange details but this key issue and one minor translation problem. The translation was to be ironed out Thursday. The sub-committee of armistice negotiators tentatively was scheduled to take over again Friday. A second staff committee headed toward a similar stalemate over Communist insistence that Soviet Russia help supervise the truce. Col. Don O. Darrow told the Reds they "appear to be more interested in arguing the merits of the Soviet Union than in reaching an armistice agreement."

Will Reject Proposal

North Korean Col. Chang-Chun-san said the Communists would "categorically reject" any Allied proposal to sidetrack Russia. He said the only solution was for the U.N. command to accept the Red nomination of the Soviet Union, Poland and Czechoslovakia as neutral nations to help police a truce.

"Until such time," Chang said, "there will be no progress in these negotiations."

Until the Russian question cropped up, the main truce supervision stumbling block was whether the Reds could rebuild airfields.

No Progress

The same staff group made no progress toward agreeing on the number of ports of entry for supplies and troops during an armistice. The Allies propose six, the Reds five. Both figures are compromises.

Communist charges that the Allies are using germ warfare were heard in Panmunjom outside the truce tent.

The charges, repeated regularly for four days over Red radios, also drew first official note from an Allied spokesman. In Seoul, a U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said:

"It is not true as far as this headquarters is concerned. We have at no time or in any place engaged in any such activities."

Unofficially Allied officers said Red charges indicated epidemics, perhaps the bubonic plague, were sweeping North Korea and the Communist propaganda machine was trying to blame it on the U.N. command.

Trading on cattle was at a virtual standstill with buyers holding out to the uncertainty of marketing throughout the country. There were no early cattle sales. On Tuesday prices were $2 to $3 lower than Monday in very slow trading.

A few calves sold early at about $2 lower than yesterday. Some good vealers made 33-34 and common and medium 20-32.

Polish Family Now Reunited

MONTREAL, Feb. 27 (CP). — Josefa Fermanowicz, a Polish immigrant whose newly - arrived family has been seeking him here for six days, has been located and will join his wife and three children soon.

Travellers' aid authorities said the man was located in a lumber camp north of Maniwaki, Que. He didn't know his family had reached Canada.

So remote is the lumber camp that Fermanowicz is being picked up by snowmobile.

Unable to speak English and without funds, the Fermanowicz family was looked after by travellers' aid officials. Montrealers, hearing of the plight, showered them with money, food, clothes and toys for the children.

Mrs. Furmanowicz never lost hope that she would find her husband.

"I know we'll find him," she said. "It is wonderful to know we have so many unknown friends."

Noted Lawyer Dies In Britain

LONDON, Feb. 27—(AP)—Sir Patrick Hastings, known as the "last great showman of the British courts," died at his home Tuesday night. The noted lawyer and playwright was 71.

Sir Patrick won fame and fortune as advocate in many of Britain's principal court actions. Other lawyers found him so eloquent to the jury, so cutting to difficult witnesses that they said "his tongue is half silver, half acid."

He won a $125,000 verdict from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for Princess Irina Yousoupoff, who charged that one of the company's films suggested she was assaulted by the "Mad Monk," Rasputin.

Writing plays was his relaxation, a profitable avocation.

He turned out six hits, including "The River" in1925, "Scotch Mist" in 1926, and his biggest success, "The Blind Goddess."

Ill health forced his retirement from the law four years ago.

Hastings was a Labor member of parliament from 1922 to 1926 and was Attorney-General in 1924 in Ramsay MacDonald's first Labor government. He was knighted the same year.

194,391 Settlers Arrive During 1951

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. (CP)—Canada brought in 194,391 new settlers during 1951 in her biggest immigration flow in 38 years.

The influx, 1½ per cent of the population, was the heaviest since 400,000 arrivals were admitted in 1913. It far outstripped the 73,912 of 1950 and was well above the previous postwar mark of 125,414 in 1948.

Immigration Minister Harris, diclosing the 1951 figures to the National Advisory Council on Manpower, indicated a high rate of immigration would be continued for the next few months at least.

He expressed belief that the rate of arrivals could be based on an expectation of continued buoyant economic conditions for Canada.

The 1951 total of immigrants was made up of 114,786 workers —adding about two per cent to the working force—and 79,605 dependents.

More Germans

Germans provided the largest single racial group—32,395, compared with 5,825 the year before.

The British Isles total increased by 134 per cent, going to 31,370 from 13,427. Of that number, 19,109 were English, 9,201 Scottish, 2,506 Irish and 554 Welsh.

Continental Northern Europe supplied 71,872 prospective Canadians, jumping 321 per cent from 17,060 in 1950. Next to the Germans, the largest single group from that area — 19,130 — were Netherlanders.

Italians accounted for 24,351, jumping from 9,059 and leading the way among racial origins outside the United Kingdom and the northern continent.

Some of the other major 1951 totals included: Poles, 12,938; Ukrainians, 6,804; Danes, 4,613; Finns, 4,130; Yugoslavs, 4,144.

Most of the immigrants went to Ontario, which absorbed 104,842.

ment said it had received a dispatch from Washington giving these details of the embargo.

1. Shipment into the U.S. of live cattle, sheep and swine and fresh killed or frozen meat from these animals is prohibited.

2. Hay and straw for feeding material, bedding or similar purposes are subject to quarantine at port of entry for not less than 90 days, and must be handled as directed by U.S. authorities.

3. Animals glands, organs and similar material used for pharmaceutical purposes can be exported to the U.S. if the material is in tight containers and conforms to other specified regulations.

The B.C. and Ontario action virtually placed a freeze on the movement of livestock out of the prairies.

The sealing-off of the prairies was a less-intense form of quarantine than that in 10 municipalities around Regina. In those areas, agricultural officials will slaughter 1,015 cattle, 190 hogs and 140 sheep infected with the easily-spread disease.

Agricultural officials here said the situation was a national crisis. That may mean price support for beef as part of the federal plan to meet the crisis.

Taking No Chances

In Victoria, British Columbia's Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman announced the exclusion of all animals which might carry foot-and-mouth disease. Premier Frost of Ontario announced in Toronto the federal government took similar action on movement of Prairie livestock into Ontario on the province's request.

Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in Victoria such action would be "nonsense." It would persuade American authorities to keep the entire U.S. border closed indefinitely.

Sharp fluctuation in beef and pork prices were expected by officials here as a result of the embargoes. Heavy buying of beef in the United States to fill Ontario and British Columbia needs also was expected at prices that would probably be higher than those prevailing in Canada.

The Maritime Provinces also depended on Western beef. They likely will seek supplies on United States markets with a sharp price increase a likely result.

Dig Giant Graves

Meanwhile, in Regina and adjacent communities, giant cattle graves were being prepared for the slaughter victims. Diseased Churchill produce the actual documents to prove his statements.

The Prime Minister said he still is convinced the U.N. would make a mistake to start a war with Communist China and "few adventures could be less useful or fruitful" than to launch defeated Nationalist Leader Chiang Kai-shek on a new mainland war against the Reds.

Furious uproar broke out on the Labor benches at Churchill's disclosure the Labor government established a plant for regular production of atomic bombs and produced the bomb which is to be tested this year.

Churchill accused the Labor Party of keeping the secret of the atomic bomb plant with "Machiavellian art" so it could accuse the Conservatives of warmongering during the election campaign.

Children Asked To Contribute Penny-A-Day

With permission of the various school boards, all schools in the city and three in the suburban area Queen Elizabeth, St. Alphonsus and St. Anne's are participating in the "Penny-a-Day Drive" as part of the community chest campaign.

The first collection is on Friday and continues each day during the following week, or this compaign one week in advance of the drive in the city. Results of the collection in the schools and it is hoped $500 will be raised and will be presented at the opening dinner of the campaign.

Parents are invited to assist principals and teachers in this extra chore by urging their children to earn the pennies they give and to remember to take at least one penny next Friday and each school day the following week. The daily earning of a penny, and the daily remembering to take their penny to school as their gift can be a real lesson in good citizenship.

Because the number of pupils vary in school rooms and in schools, no attempt is made to contest one room or one school against another.

Only once in the past has the "Penny-a-Day" Drive fallen below its objective and with more pupils in the schools now, it is felt that given a little encouragement at home—"Penny-a-Day" Drive will again meet or beat its $500 objective and be the first section of the Community Chest Drive to go over the top.

Industrials Weak Prices Drop Sharply

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP). — Industrial prices dipped sharply today in early afternoon stock market dealings while other sections weakened steadily.

Industrials, golds, base metals and western oils opened irregularly as mixed support checked yesterday's decline. Within the first hour, however, support weakened and prices sagged.

Steels, refining oils, banks and manufacturing companies led industrials lower while constructions, foods, textiles and miscellaneous issues weakened steadily. Retail stores bucked the trend with a scattered list of fractional advances.

Base metal losses outnumbered gains about four to one. Anacon Lead, Chromium, Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, Noranda, Quemont, and United Asbestos posted losses ranging to about $1.

Western oils declined steadily in active trading. Anglo-Canadian, Calnorth, Gridoil, Home Oil, Okalta, Scurry, Commonwealth Petroleum and North Canadian traded lower.

Senior Golds were unchanged but secondary issues—Campbell, Pioneer, Sladen and Laluz—eased pennies.

Ask Earlier Closing Of Cocktail Bars

TORONTO, Feb. 27 — (CP). — Earlier closing of cocktail bars and other liquor outlets and a ban on liquor advertising were asked by the Ontario Temperance Federation in a brief presented to Premier Frost today.

The brief also asked that a local option vote be required in all communities of less than 50,000 population before cocktail bars are permitted to open. Those are the terms of the present regulations, but the request was based on an unconfirmed report that the government plans to do away with the requirements for a vote.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Feb. 27 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 1/16 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.00 1/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78⅝, up ⅛ from Tuesday.

Missing Nurse Located In New York

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—Lieut. Elizabeth Sansom, Canadian army nurse reported missing, found and missing again between Dec. 25 and Jan. 6, has been found, the army said Tuesday night.

A brief statement said the 26-year-old nurse was located in New York and would be returned to her Stanley, N.B., home. Miss Sansom "appears to have been a victim of amnesia."

She disappeared after boarding a train at Kingston, last Dec. 24. She was presumably going to spend Christmas with relatives at Sherbrooke, Que., but never arrived.

A search was started and army authorities here reported Jan. 5 that Miss Sansom had been found in good health. But the next day the statement was denied.

In Touch With Parents

The army explanation was that the previous announcement was "based on information believed at the time to be thoroughly reliable but which has since proved unsubstantiated."

The army said Miss Sansom was in touch with her parents by mail. When her parents informed the army, Capt. Margaret Dewar, matron of the Kingston hospital, was sent to New York to locate the girl.

The army announcement said Capt. Dewar will accompany Miss Sansom to her parents' home "shortly" and Miss Sansom will remain there "until she returns to duty."

Teachers End Strike In N.S.

SYDNEY, N. S., Feb. 27 (CP)—Nova Scotia's first teachers' strike ends today.

Cape Breton County's rural and village teachers decided Tuesday to return to their classrooms under an agreement granting them a $100 cost of living bonus plus another $100 for married men. It allows them to make up lost teaching days, thus safeguarding their seniority and pension qualifications.

The 243 strikers walked out Jan. 31 to back up demands for a $300 yearly increase, taking some 5,500 students from school.

Antigonish rural and village local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, however, is still on strike, involving 94 teachers and about 2,000 students. They walked out Feb. 18 when similar demands for $300 yearly increases were rejected by county council.

The Cape Breton local also asked the N.S.T.U., the education department and municipalities to form a commission to study the teachers' salary problem.

The teachers struck when county council rejected salary demands and referred them to provincial officials.

The province reiterated its stand that such increases are a municipal responsibility and the municipalities claimed they could not afford any increases.

Market Vendors Hold Meeting

Federation of Agriculture is sponsoring a meeting of local market vendors Friday at 8 p.m. in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

City council once tried to bring together the farmers and gardeners who sell produce on the market to consider changes and improvements which were then possible. Five or six people were interested enough to attend, and there was no evidence of willingness to co-operate with themselves or anybody else.

That was the turning point of the attitude of the council toward the market. If enough vendors attend the meeting Friday it is likely that their problem of market site will be discussed with particular reference to Morrow Park and the city's property on George St. at Rink St.

Alberta Expects Beef Price Drop

CALGARY, Feb. 27 — (CP) — Housewives can expect a drop in the price of beef about next Monday, a spokesman for the retail trade said here Tuesday.

He pointed out the current drop in producer to wholesaler beef prices would come into effect about that time. For the rest of this week retailers will be paying high prices for the beef which was purchased by the packing houses before the announcement that foot-and-mouth disease had broken out in the Regina area.

Today prices at the stock yards ranged from $1 to $2 lower following similar setbacks Monday. The run of cattle was very light as producers held back to let the market solidify.

Directors of the Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association will meet here Saturday to review the implications of the outbreak.

File 6 Charges Against Doctor

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 27— (AP) — The Connecticut Medical Examining Board Thursday filed six charges of "unprofessional conduct" against Dr. Donald F. Gibson, 50-year-old physician recently freed of a manslaughter charge in the death of an elderly woman patient.

Five of the charges related to the treatment of this patient, 74-year-old Elizabeth M. Ayres, of Danbury, whose property, estimated to be worth nearly $100,000,, passed to Dr. Gibson when she died. She had shared her home with him and had made him joint owner of her property.

The sixth charge related to the death of Frank C. Wetmore, of New Milford, husband of Dr. Gibson's present wife, Ann, 40.

The charge said Dr. Gibson operated on Wetmore in 1948 "in such a manner as to have hastened or caused" his death.

The board will hear the charges March 27.

Real Estate Man Loses Civil Suit

COBOURG, Feb. 27 (ENS) — An action brought by William E. Cooper, real estate agent, against Fred J. Cochrane, both of Cobourg, claiming $3,500 commission for sale of $75,000 worth of real estate, the defendant having refused to complete the sale, was dismissed by Judge M. A. Miller in a county court judgment handed down this week. No costs were awarded the defendant.

Judge Miller pointed out in his finding that the defendant relied in part on a clause in the agreement between agent and owner which said it was understood that the transaction deals with Mr. Cochrane exclusively and that the defendant meant therein that his wife would get nothing from the purchase price of the property for dower rights, "whereas the fact is that his wife insists on her right to dower."

The judge found that the clause in question, although written on the back of the printed form of the agreement, was a part of the agreement. In view of the clause the sale was not carried through and the contract was not binding, the judge ruled.

Water Pressure, Anchor Ice Damage Town's Hydro Plant

CAMPELLFORD, Feb. 27 — (ENS) — Where are the metal racks that protect the Campbellford power house generators from being clogged up with refuse carried into the forebay? That's the question that town employees are asking as they labor to repair damage caused by anchor ice which crushed the large metal grates and caused them to disappear.

Workmen and officials of the local public utilities commission hope the missing racks will not suddenly show up entangled in the generators and other delicate machinery in the confines of the powerhouse itself. The racks are in all probability somewhere on the bottom of the forebay in about 28 feet of water.

A few nights ago the powerhouse had to shut down because anchor ice piled up in front of the racks, allowing only a trickle of water to pass through to the generators. The powerhouse continued to operate on the water that was already inside.

Finally all the water had been used up creating an area of low pressure inside the plant. Outside, the water continued to rise, held back by the wall of anchor ice on the racks. Something had to go.

Metal Beams Groan

With loud groans from the twisting metal beams supporting the racks, and rushing of the suddenly released wall of water, the racks disappeared. The power plant had to shut down until things got back to normal.

Some day soon the local plant, supplying the town with all its power, is going to have to close down while workers remove the remainder of the the damaged racks and install new ones. This could take weeks, during which time the town will buy power from Ottawa, as it has had to do on some occasions in the past.

A number of years ago the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission undertook to install one generator in the plant. They agreed to put the machinery in and to purchase at the regular rates, power generated by it. In this way the town would be able to pay for the generator through the sale of power to the hydro. At that time, the contract called for a man to be on duty at all times to break up the anchor ice as it formed against the racks. This was done, and the generator continued to generate and everybody was happy.

Iced Up Again

Then, for some reason, ice began to form on the racks in the forebay and caused temporary stoppage until steps were taken to remove it. Finally, a few days ago, the racks got tired supporting the extra weight and let go with a loud roar to disappear from sight.

Anchor ice is caused by water moving through the racks, which are below freezing temperature. As the cold water strikes the colder racks, a coating of ice forms and gradually builds up until there is a solid wall of ice, which becomes thicker and thicker.

Workmen have erected a temporary log boom across the forebay to steer surface flotsam and jetsam to one side, away from the turbines If any of this brush and other floating articles happened to get into the machinery, serious damage would result.

There is some talk afoot at present, that the H.E.P.C. is going to install another generator in the local plant, located about three miles above the town, and will take all the power it generates for a specified number of years, then turn the unit over to the town, as it did previously. This however, has not been confirmed.

How long the power plant will be out of operation when the new racks are installed is not yet known, but a similar undertaking at Healey Falls, a few miles north of the town, on a much larger scale, took the H.E.P.C. four months to complete, but that was many years ago. Modern methods could do the job in less time than that.

Stop-logs will likely be placed in a dam above the present plant and the water level near the power house could then be reduced greatly so that workmen could replace the racks, which extend from a few feet above the surface of the water through the entire 28-foot depth of the forebay, where they are anchored in concrete.

No decision has yet been made as to when this job will commence.

Doesn't Know Why Kings Date From Norman Times

LONDON, Feb. 27 — (CP) — An authority on royalty said today he can't understand why Britain dates her kings from William the Conqueror, 1066.

Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's Peerage, said if he had his way the first would be Egbert, King of the English from 802 to 839, or Edward the Elder, son of Alfred the Great and ruler from 901 to 924.

"It's a bit of a mystery why we start from 1066," Hankinson said in an interview. "Before that, of course, there were the seven kingdoms and before that the tribal kings."

He has written to professors of history at several universities and to the Royal Historical Society, but nobody can suggest any better reason than that William was the first "undisputed" king.

Hankinson doesn't accept this because, he says, Edbert obtained allegiance from the other English kings of his day while Edward the Elder was acknowledged king of all England, the other kings being reduced to Earls.

As for Queen's, Hankinson is emphatic that Elizabeth II is the sixth ruling sovereign on the distaff side. He doesn't count Lady Jane Grey —some credit her with reigning nine days —or Boadicea.

Hankinson said he has received letters from Canada suggesting Boadicea should be included but he thinks they're out of line. Boadicea, who goes back to Roman times, was merely Queen of the Tribe of Iceni with sovereignty over Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex.

Toronto Area Banks Robbed Of $166,546 In 14 Months

TORONTO—(CP)—Last Nov. 4, a quiet, family man slipped over the wall at Toronto's Don jail and disappeared.

He was Edwin Alonzo Boyd, 37, of nearby Pickering. Neighbors said his hobby was landscape gardening. Police said his business was robbing banks.

When he fled the Don jail—along with two other men—he was awaiting trial on at least six bank-robbery charges.

Sixteen days after Boyd's escape, three men robbed a west-end bank of $4,100.

Since then there have been four other bank robberies in the Greater Toronto area.

The latest was Friday, Feb. 22 when three men captured employees of a suburban bank as they arrived for work, tied them up in the basement, and coolly looted the vault of $50,000.

A similar method was used Jan. 3 when two men stole a sum estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000 from another suburban bank.

In between, on Jan. 25, three men dropped in on an east-end bank and withdrew $15,000 without making a withdrawal slip.

In the last 14 months bandits have "taken" Toronto area banks for $166,546. Eight robberies occurred in the Greater Toronto area in 1951.

Eyewitnesses have used terms varying from "false-faced" to "monkey-sized" to describe the bandits who have operated "with football-team precision" and in "a gentlemanly manner."

Police blame at least half of the robberies on Boyd. And a veteran Toronto police officer, Inspector James Warren, is certain that Boyd was the "brains" behind the most recent one.

Boyd, now dubbed Canada's No. 1 bank robber, was caught with another man shortly after a north-end bank robbery last Oct. 26 in which $12,800 was taken.

He was arrested in his own panel truck. In it, police found a complete makeup kit. Police said Boyd disguised himself with makeup, smeared lipstick on his eyelids, bloated his cheeks with cotton.

The first bank robbery in 1951 occurred Jan. 22 when four men took $9,500 from an uptown bank. Two men were arrested the next day.

On Feb. 27 two armed men walked into a bank in Pickering and escaped with $2,200.

A lone gunman got $4,917 from a North York bank—the same bank where one man took $2,265 Sept. 9, 1949.

Boyd Suspected

Police charged Boyd with both these holdups. Four other robberies were laid against him later.

During the summer months, bank bandits seemed to take a holiday.

The next in Greater Toronto happened Sept. 1 with the robbery of a North York bank of $8,029 just before closing time.

Before the month was over, on Sept. 31, police foiled a yegg trying to crack a vault in a downtown bank.

The next robbery was the one Oct. 16 following which police captured Boyd.

On Dec. 30, three men, one armed with a Sten gun, robbed a suburban Leaside bank of $35,000.

Ontario's Biggest Surplus

This will be Premier Frost's ninth consecutive year as Provincial Treasurer that he will announce a surplus. For the fiscal year just ending the surplus totals $37,182,032, according to the public accounts tabled in the Legislature on Monday. It is the largest surplus that Ontario has ever had.

* * *

The large surplus means several things. It means that the economy of the province is buoyant: business has boomed in Ontario, as elsewhere in the country. It means that the Provincial Treasurer and his Government of which he is the head, have managed the business of government well. Any firm that ends the year with a profit of 37 million dollars must be said to be doing well—for itself at least. Perhaps it has been charging the consumers too much; perhaps the Ontario government has been taking too much out of Ontario people's pockets in direct and indirect taxes.

* * *

The huge surplus is a sign of the expanding spheres of Provincial Government activity, as well as of the growth in Ontario's wealth. Premier Frost will have delivered nine budgets when he brings the present one into the Legislature. The Honourable Richard Harcourt delivered nine Ontario budgets also; the first in 1891, his last in 1899. The total expenditure of the Province during all those nine years amounted to less than the present Ontario Government's surplus in one year. Mr. Harcourt's nine budgets accounted for ordinary expenditure of $34.9 million all told; Mr. Frost's present surplus is $37.2 million.

* * *

Critics of big Federal Government surpluses must apply the same criticisms and with equal sharpness to the Ontario surpluses. If you are a Conservative you cannot pat Mr. Frost on the back when he reports a very large surplus and say "Well done"; and turn ferociously on Mr. Abbott and the St. Laurent Government for their big surpluses. Mr. Frost's surplus this year was unplanned in the Budget in the same way that Mr. Abbott's surplus was not budgeted for. Further, both Governments get their revenue—and surpluses—only from taxation, direct and indirect. Because the Federal Government is the largest taxing body it comes under more criticism than the Provincial Government. It should be remembered, however, that a great wad of money which the Federal Government collects in taxes goes to the Provincial Government; in other words, it is to some extent a collecting agent for Provincial Government revenues. Then of course Mr. Frost's Government has its own large taxing fields, though these (like the gasoline tax) are less obvious to the taxpayer than income taxes directly levied.

* * *

The large Ontario surplus should dispose the Provincial Government kindly towards more generous treatment of municipalities whose expenses are mounting, whose tax fields are limited to levies against property owners, and whose mill rates are soaring while municipal officials struggle to meet the bills. A Provincial Government should not sit comfortably on top of a large surplus while municipalities groan under mountains of debt.

Let's Know The Facts About It

According to a report from the Federal Health Department, drug addiction, and the taking of heroin in particular, is on the increase in Canada. In the light of the revelations made last year about drug addiction in New York, it is not surprising to learn that many of the new addicts are young people.

This being the case, is it not time that more authoritative information about drug addiction was made public? For many years this habit has been surrounded by legends; it is very widely believed that people who take drugs on a few occasions become addicts and cannot break the habit, though we understand that this is not the truth. It is also widely believed that taking drugs is immediately weakening to the will and the moral character, although we understand that this, also, is untrue. Is it not time that the foolish, romantic and macabre notions about drug-taking were dispelled?

Nobody doubts that drug-taking is a bad habit, and because the sale of narcotics is illicit it leads addicts into the society of criminals. There is nothing to be said for drug-taking. But it might help people who are already involved if facts, rather than romantic fancies, were made public about the effects of drug addiction. What are particular drugs likely to do to the body and mind; how long must they be taken before addiction is formed; what are the chances of cure, and how can it best be achieved? These are the things the public ought to know.

One of the most terrifying things about drug addiction is the cloud of ignorant superstition which surrounds it. Let us know what the truth is about it, and we shall have gone a long way toward checking an evil which appears to be on the increase.

No Peer In Rideau Hall

When the Right Honourable Vincent Massey is sworn in as Governor-General of Canada on Thursday morning, he will not only be the first Canadian Governor-General; he will also be the only untitled Governor-General Canada has ever had. Rideau Hall without a Peer! Why, as bad as Versailles without a King—the pomp and circumstance, the gardens and galleries, without the title that should attend them. Surely the Government (now disposed to allow the Dominion to be called a Realm) could relent its prejudices against titles for this supreme position and petition Her Majesty the Queen to grant the Governor-General a style in keeping with his rank as Viceroy.

Long ago another native Canadian had the opportunity of becoming Governor-General: Sir John A. Macdonald. As Arthur Blakely points out in the Montreal Gazette, by the end of the fourth session of Canada's first Parliament (April, 1871), many prominent Conservatives and even many Liberals felt that Sir John should become Governor-General when Lord Lisgar's term ended within a year. It would be, they thought, a fitting close to a great career which had culminated in the achievement of Confederation.

Sir John quashed the idea because he said he was too fond of the hurly-burly of party politics to retire from it. Had he decided to accept the position, and had Queen Victoria and her Government offered, it is certain that Sir John would have been created a peer. Even though he never occupied the position, his second wife Lady Macdonald was made a peeress in her own right shortly after Sir John died in 1891. The Queen who could have written in her own hand a touching letter of condolence to Lady Macdonald— ". . . the loss of your dear distinguished husband. I wish to say also how truly and sincerely grateful I am for his devoted and faithful services which he rendered for so many years to his Sovereign and this Dominion. It gives me much pleasure to mark my high sense of Sir John Macdonald's distinguished services by conferring on you a public mark of regard for yourself as well as for him . . ." this Queen would not have been averse to Sir John's becoming Canada's first native Governor-General, and to his being made a Peer of the Realm.

"Pink, Mink and Stink"

Since the United States is the most important nation in the world, certainly that part of the world outside Russian rule, the election of a new President is important to outsiders. More than other countries beyond the American borders, Canada will see the developments of the election platforms and propaganda intimately. In case some of our readers have missed the first planks of the Republican election campaign, we point out that the three main issues which the Republicans are concocting are, first, the alleged presence of Communist sympathizers in the Government; secondly, the corruption of some Government officials who have done favours to businessmen in exchange for gifts like fur coats; and thirdly, the links between the big criminal gamblers like Costello and Democratic Party leaders like William O'Dwyer, former mayor of New York.

These three string along into a pretty good Republican slogan of Three C's: Communism, Corruption and Crime. But the American genius for simplification and catch-ear phrases has shortened these three C's into "Pink, Mink and Stink". So already the Republican campaign has become colourful and odorous.

The propaganda is self-multiplying. President Roosevelt (a Democrat) used a phrase in his historic inaugural address in 1933, when the Depression had deepened into economic and social chaos: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." Now, so the Republicans say, President Truman is privately using the phrase, but with a slight emendation: "The only thing we have to fear is fur itself". The Republicans gleefully play with 'fur'. The White House is fur-warmed. The Fair Deal policy of the Democrats has become the Fur Deal. Roosevelt's Four Freedoms have been replaced by Truman's Fur Freedoms: to fur is human, to *fur*give divine. Republicans concede that the Democrats are not without *fur*tue; they are *fur*square and *fur*thright. If angered by these exacerbating slogans, Mr. Truman may be expected to become *fur*ocious.

The Canadian audience to the American election scene, being on the sidelines, will be able to extract the utmost fun without having responsibility for any of the issues; fortunately for themselves, Canadians do not have to vote in American Presidential elections.

Who Rules Rome?

By CECIL SPRIGGE in Rome

SERIOUS fissures have developed in what remains of the so-called "Front of the Eighteenth of April", the Government coalition which won the general elections of 1948 against the Communists, thus opening a new era of Italian history.

Communists and Fascists are watching developments with delight. For the Fascists this is marred only by their own internal squabbles, which have once again ranged the Mussolinian diehards against the heirs of those Fascists who at the end followed the rebellion of Ciano and Grandi. There is no visible fissure in the Communist ranks, the small rebellion of the deputies Cucchi and Magnani having drawn off, a year ago, all the discontent that was ready to come to the surface. There is perhaps some safety—though also great danger—in the readiness of Communists and Fascists to fight each other.

* * *

THE present events are disquieting because municipal elections are due in Rome, Naples, and the regions south of them, in May, and general elections must follow at the very latest ten months or so after that. The results of the municipal elections in Upper and Central Italy, last summer, showed a sharp advance in the Fascist and in the near-Communist (but not in the Communist) vote, at the expense of the main Government party, the Christian Democrats. Of the three small Government parties the Liberals, a traditional party of law and order, alone did well. If the coming Southern municipal elections and especially those in Rome, which now has a precariously-poised Christian Democrat Mayor, accentuate this development, of which both the Communists and the Fascists have high hopes, Christian Democracy and with it the whole prevalence of moderate and liberal ideals in Italy will begin to look like a possible loser at the general elections.

* * *

AT THE 1948 general elections Christian Democracy got just one half the votes, and over half the parliamentary seats, independently of its allies who jointly added another tenth, but whose moral support counted for much more than that. The Communists and their friends got nearly a third of the seats. The Fascist vote was then very small—no index probably of its future prospects, though these are complicated by the frustrating alliance of the causes of Fascism and Royalism.

* * *

THE Premier, Alcide De Gasperi, now in his seventh year in the post, has the high ambition of once more leading a coalition of the Christian Democrat and the three small parties (Liberals, Republicans, Social Democrats) to victory over the anti-Constitutional extremists at both ends. But to do so he must in the first place be able to present his own party to the little three. The longer the distance of time from 1948 the harder this has become. Only the Republicans, smallest of all (nine parliamentary seats) have remained with the Christian Democrats in the Government. Liberals and Social Democrats have moved into a position of opposition on certain questions, though holding their constitutional type of opposition quite distinct from that of Communists and Fascists. In the last resort, however, they have been felt to be potential reserves for De Gasperi's policy of moderation, tolerance, and, in a non-party sense, liberalism.

* * *

FOR the municipal elections a very ingenious electoral law was worked out to enable the constitutional parties to club their votes together and thus earn collectively a premium given to the largest single block of votes, but at the same time to keep them entirely distinct so that the small party voter need never feel that his vote was getting merged in that of the Christian Democrats. A small party voter could, in fact, profit as against Communists and Fascists by being part of the biggest group, and yet maintain his fully independent party allegiance. Even this arrangement, however, required a measure of coordination between the constitutional parties. This was still possible last summer, but for some time now it has been doubtful whether the biggest of the small three (the Social Democrats with 34 Deputies) would repeat it this Spring. Their left wing, partly consisting of recent converts from fellow-travellerism, has held all along that the Party should offer itself as an entirely independent quasi-revolutionary, though anti-Communist, Marxist Party.

* * *

DEVELOPMENTS inside the Christian Democrat Party this January and February have made it much harder for the Liberals and even the Repuolicans, let alone the Social Democrat Party, to associate themselves with it in the future. The big party, in fact, has made life exceedingly difficult for the only major figure in it whom the small parties trust—de Gasperi—and it shows signs of falling under the influence of hot-blooded clericals whom the small "lay" parties suspect of wishing to lead Italy along ways similar to those of Salazar's Portugal or even Franco's Spain. The small parties are demanding guarantees which the big party, if only for prestige, is indignantly refusing.

* * *

THE personages whose recent behaviour has caused such stirring among the "lay" parties and encouraged the Communists to make a new bid for winning back men like Saragat to an attitude of benevolence are not formally members of the Christian Democrat party, but great figures in the Roman Catholic Church. The Head of the Church himself, in launching this month a crusade for the religious revival of Rome, did so in accents reminiscent of those of the nineteenth-century Popes when they were fighting for the retention of the temporal power. Dr. Luigi Gedda, a close friend of the Pope, a renowned medical man and still more renowned propagandist, was recently named by the Pope to preside over "Catholic Action", the great organisation of the devout laity. He followed this with a demand in his daily paper for the colouring of the life of Rome, "in all its aspects", with the hue of religion as suits a Holy City. This would in any case have disturbed men who learned at school or from their grandfathers that Rome was won for Italy in the teeth of Papal opposition.

* * *

BUT Gedda's article fell into a pre-electoral context—and this raises the question: what is happening to the provision of Mussolini's Lateran Pact, now part of the Republican Constitution, which precludes the Church from entering the political field? (Where this field begins and ends is naturally much disputed). Secondly, it fell into the context of Dr. Gedda's unconcealed contempt for De Gasperi's liberalism, tolerance and keenness on combining with "lay" parties for political ends. But worse than all—in the "lay" view—was a sermon by the Jesuit revivalist Father Lombardi, broadcast by Vatican Radio. Father Lombardi, if he did not actually defend Fascist roughs for trying to prevent a former political exile, Professor Calosso (now Social Democrat deputy) from lecturing at Rome University, certainly used words which very nearly called Calosso a traitor for using the B.B.C. microphone to advocate Italian repudiation of Fascism and its war. All strong anti-Fascists were outraged, including, probably, many Christian Democrats.

But meanwhile, de Gasperi is, in Parliament, at the mercy of sections of his party which are suspected of feeling more allegiance to Gedda and other Church figures than to their Premier. From time to time he suffers defeats when the Chamber votes in secret ballot. It is perhaps the nastiest political situation of the long series from which De Gasperi has hitherto always managed to extricate himself.

INTERNATIONAL CAMPAIGN BUTTON

Letter To The Editor

DEPLORES MR. DUNLOP'S ATTITUDE

Sir: Congratulations on the fine editorial on "Red Herring In The Three R's" It was one of the most straightforward and sensible pieces of writing on this controversial issue which I have read anywhere. Congratulations too, on the High School Student's Protest. I am clipping these and sending them with a note to the Minister of Education. He may be a Cabinet Minister but he most certainly needs to know the reactions of editors, students and others who would rush into print and have enough gumption to put their "beef" into words. In the last few days I have heard a large number of parents bewailing Mr. Dunlop's proposal to cut down on music and art and athletics in the school curriculum. Perhaps your leadership will spur them into action.

I wish your mail . . . and Mr. Dunlop's mail might become swollen with loud cries against this so called "reform" . . . I don't call it a reform . . . I call it a return to the darkness of the middle ages.

Do we parents want our children at school to be educated for living or merely be prepared to earn a living? This it seems to me is the crux of the problem. If our whole aim is a graduate who can hold down a job at a certain wage we are merely pagan materialists. Every parent and every teacher and every educationalist must think not only of today but of to-morrow. We must ask ourselves what will be the product in the future of our policies in the present?

Has Mr. Dunlop ever read: "Man does not live by bread alone?" Fine music and art feed the soul of man. They answer in part his hunger for beauty. The right kind of athletics minister not only to man's body but to his character as well. Games at school (which take place outside of school hours) build a scholar's body and promote character growth too. Athletics produce not only sturdy physiques but promote a love of good sportsmanship.

Here in Peterborough some of the finest pieces of education take place outside of school hours. As a parent I want so say a warm word of appreciation for the Art classes in the YWCA and in the library, for the Boys' and Girls' Section of the Public Library, for the Public and High School orchestras, and for the school and church Choral Groups.

At the last Home and School Meeting of Central School, PCVS girls' double trio sang. This was a very great treat. Mr. Curtis, in his excellent address, made a quotation which Mr. Dunlop and every teacher and parent might well remember. These are the words of Dr. James Murcele, Teachers' College, Columbia University: "Music is the one school activity which has a carry over and which leads to enrichment of lives in later life. A taste and love for music lead to better living in the future. Music can mould the habits of a nation."

I wonder in how many hundreds of homes in Ontario Mr. Dunlop's pronouncement caused consternation. Here is what happened in one household:

A grade seven boy was hastily looking at the morning paper at noon. He began to read the Minister of Education's plans for the boys and girls . . . and he was horrified and angry with what he read. Immediately, waving the paper in one hand, he sought his nearest parent:

"Did you read this? Is this guy Dunlop ever cuckoo? He says Music and Art and Athletics are Frills! How did he ever get to be a Big Shot? Can he really do what he wants to? Is this going to make a difference in my school?" When his mother was a bit vague in her efforts to reassure him . . . when she didn't know how much change this might mean . . . her son said,

"Mother you can't just sit back and let this happen. What are you going to do about it?"

Well there is one child's reaction . . . What are we as parents going to do about this? If through inertia we do nothing about a foolish proposal which threatens the growth of our own youngsters and destroys an appreciation of our cultural heritage, we are failing children. If in our Home and Schools we "pass the buck" because this is linked with politics, we should be hot on a campaign for reform. Matters of education should not be tossed about to strengthen any one party. We should take a long look at the Examiner's suggestion that Mr. Dunlop is trying to divert the people's attention from the Hope Commission report.

Mr. Dunlop is concerned about the Communist menace. Any discerning "Red" might well snicker up his sleeve at a government which spends a vast sum of money and a great deal of time on research into education . . . and then when the experts produce a colossal document like the Hope Commission Report, that same government is strangely lacking in eagerness to act on this report. Does Mr. Dunlop think that the people of Ontario can be treated in this infantile manner and fooled by his cries of "Wolf! Wolf! Music, Art and athletics are ruining our schools!" I trust we are not that dumb . . . or indifferent. Let us shower Mr. Dunlop with protests, just as strong as we can make them, out of our own experience, on this matter. This is important . . . let us do something about it!

Sincerely
EVELYN MATHEWS

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works? . . . And they were offended in him. But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house. (Matt. 13: 54, 57.)

* * *

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick . . . . And the apostles, when they were returned, told him all that they had done. And he took them, and went aside privately into a desert place belonging to the city called Bethsaida.

And the people, when they knew it, followed him: and he received them, and spake unto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need of healing. (Luke 9: 1, 2, 10, 11.)

* * *

And it came to pass, as he went into the house of one of the chief Pharisees to eat bread on the sabbath day, that they watched him. And, behold, there was a certain man before him which had the dropsy.

And Jesus answering spake unto the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath day? And they held their peace. And he took him, and healed him, and let him go; and answered them, saying, Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the sabbath day? (Luke 14: 1-5.)

Seeking Parity With U.S. Steel Wages

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP) — Wage negotiations aimed at establishing a guaranteed annual wage and parity with United States steel industry wages have been opened between the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and two of the "big three" in Canadian steel.

The union now is negotiating with the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton and Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation of Sydney, N.S., where existing agreements expire April 1. The contract with Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie expires May 1.

Exactly how large a raise will be asked by the union is not known. Steel wages in the United States now are in dispute between unions and companies and a special wage stabilization board is expected to rule on the question.

Existing labor rates in Canada are $1.36 an hour at Algoma and Stelco and $1.32 at Dosco.

A national committee has been set up to work on the wages clause sought in a new contract. It will consist of C. H. Millard, Canadian head of the steelworkers; J. C. Nicholson, director for Quebec and the Maritimes; John Mitchell, director for Ontario and the West; and two nominees from each of the local unions.

The union has often sought industry-wide negotiations, which is opposed by the three companies.

Some 16,000 steelworkers in Canada will be affected by the results of the negotiations here.

PAT CONROY, newly-appointed Canadian labor attache at Washington, was honored at a trade union reception given by Histadrut, Israel's labor federation, at the Labor Zionist Centre in Montreal. Young Actress Enjoys Exciting Life

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27 — (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, who has crowded more into two decades of living than most women accomplish in a life-time, is celebrating her 20th birthday today with her husband, Michael Wilding.

She is one of those gals who come along every few years to keep Hollywood an exciting place. Among her predecessors have been Mabel Normand, Jean Harlow, Lupe Velez, Lana Turner, Ingrid Bergman, Rita Hayworth and Ava Gardner.

Liz first showed her potentialities five years ago. Studio workers, who remembered her as the little girl in "National Velvet," turned their heads as she walked through the commissary. They were startled to learn that the little girl had suddenly developed into a georgeous woman.

She was anxious to catch up with the bobby-socker roles she was given and with her publicity as a lover of animals. The biggest thrill in her young life was when she was given her first grown-up role, as Robert Taylor's wife in "Conspirator." The picture was made in England, and it was then that she met her present husband.

Covering Liz Taylor's romances has been a hectic struggle. There was her first big romance with football star Glenn Davis. They shaped up as an all-American couple, and she waited for him while he was overseas in the army. But when he returned, the thrill was gone.

Then came her whirlwind romance and engagement with Bill Pawley. When that was punctured, Liz began to feel the sting of public censure. People snickered or clicked their tongues at her "engagements," and she was upset by the criticism. But not for long.

Nick Hilton, the hotel heir, was her third romance. Liz and Nick were wed May 6, 1950. They were divorced eight months later. Liz sniffled that young Hilton cared more for the gambling tables than her on their European honeymoon.

And now Liz is again honeymooning in Europe. But the honeymoon will be cut short when Liz returns here for her next picture. The studio has titled it "The Girl Who Had Everything."

Mann Reunion Draws 130 Family Members

Mann.

This is Mr. Mann's first visit home in more than 40 years. Guests were present from Toronto, Oshawa, Lakefield, Peterborough and the surrounding district.

Charles E. Moore was chairman for a short program. Community singing was led by Lillian McGregor. Piano solos were played by Miss Doris Mann of Oshawa and Mrs. Harold Lewis. Walter Garbutt gave a speech. Items on the program were family quiz presented for the Mann family by Burritt Mann and for the Braden family by Mrs. William Blewett Mrs. Christine McKibbon presented a history of the Braden connection.

Black Market Babies Hearing Begins

MONTREAL, Feb. 27—(CP)—Dr. Leon Azoulay, alleged head of a ring dealing in black market babies, appeared in court Tuesday for preliminary hearing and was confronted by an unmarried mother who said the doctor had delivered her of twins and paid her $150 for them.

Dr. Azoulay was ordered for voluntary statement Friday. The name of the mother was withheld.

The mother testified she had paid Dr. Azoulay for treatment given her during her pregnancy and that when the twins were born he urged her to give them to him for adoption.

She said he had promised that they would go to good parents and had her sign what he said were adoption papers. The papers were in English, which she could not read, and the doctor would not give her a copy—he would not even let her keep pictures of the babies, she said.

Herman Buller and Bill Dutka are charged with Dr. Azoulay with "depriving an unmarried mother of her babies." The hearing is continuing.

Minister Appeals To Women For School Donation

WARKWORTH, Feb. 27 (ENS). — The Women's Association of Oak Heights United Church met Thursday at the home of Mrs. L. Tucker with an attendance of 28.

Mrs. L. Tucker, the president, opened the meeting. Mrs. Jack Potter was devotional convener. Mrs. A. P. Sayles gave the scripture reading. Mrs. J. Potter gave the topic "God's Love".

Mrs. L. Tucker presided over the business period. The minutes were read by the secretary Mrs. Alvin Pratt.

It was decided to have the hour of meeting set for 2 p.m. The Birthday Box is to be used again as one means of raising funds, also baking sales, as formerly are to be held at the meetings, with Mrs. Bruce Porter, Mrs. C. Ferguson and Mrs. L. Tucker volunteering to be the baking sales committee for next month.

A visiting committee was appointed, composed of Mrs. Clarence Ferguson, Mrs. Gordon Pratt and Mrs. Alvin Pratt.

A donation of a quilt top was received from Mrs. W. E. Bonney of Thamesville, a former member of the W.A., and Mrs. Bruce Porter combined, the material being furnished by the former, with the latter doing the sewing. Mrs. George Beatty offered to have the quilting done at her home.

The Rev. H. G. Lester in a sport report from the Presbytery held this week at Cobourg, spoke in regard to the building of a school for training women for United Church work and asked for aid in raising $250 from the circuit.

Mrs. Archie Ferguson, the treasurer gave a report of the financial standing of the Association. Mrs. A. McMurdo as program convener announced the following numbers: reading entitled "Top Secret" by Mrs. B. Porter; Mrs. D. Langford led in a quiz contest and Mrs. Clarence Ferguson gave a piano solo "The Black Hawk Waltz"

Hated German Mat Victor Against Bobo Brazil As Negro Butts Ref Gotter

Hans Hermann, the hateful German, won the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena last night before a good-sized crowd when Bobo Brazil was disqualified in the last round for butting Referee Sammy Gotter. Each had previously taken one fall, and the popular Negro looked like a winner in the deciding session until, angered at interference from Gotter, he forgot himself and twice butted the arbiter, who promptly and angrily disqualified him.

The towering Teuton scaled 275 pounds to Bobo's 248, and was stronger. He also used more illegal tactics and he infuriated the fans by his strutting, disdainful manner. He slapped Bobo around, pushed the referee aside, gestured at the crowd and called booing ringsiders "swine." Reminded between bouts of his 10-stitch back gash and broken nose he received in a recent London mat riot, he snarled: "It took about 25 swine to do it!"

Won The First

Hermann won the first fall in 20 minutes, with his "Prussian Squeeze," and Bobo remained in the ring at intermission to recuperate from the semi-choke unconscious hold. Hans demonstrated his strength first, till Bobo clamped on a full nelson he couldn't shake. There were some lively spots of grappling, and some straght mat stuff shown. The lighter Negro—who had the fan support—found his best weapon against the powerful and unscrupulous German was the head butt, and he bothered the squarehead plenty with that. However, Hans finally got him on the ropes and applied his squeeze to get the fall.

Bobo evened it up 15 minutes of grappling later with a head butt from outside the ropes and a flying tackle over the hemp and onto Hans for the spread as fans roared. The towhead had thrown Bobo out of the ring and tried to keep him out with feet and fists, despite warnings and counts from the referee. Brazil caught him suddenly with that hard head of his to the noggin, and that was that. Earlier, Bobo got in a good touch with a punishing body scissors, but Hans eventually broke it after a lot of guttural grunts. He caught Bobo then and hurled him through the strands and tried hard to hold him out, but it was no go.

All Out Of Ring

After five minutes of hot going in the final frame, they all wound up outside the ring amid the standing fans. Brazil had become plenty angry at roughing along the ropes by Hans and started in to butt in earnest. When they resumed inside the ring, he aimed head butts with punches and had the big German groggy. The rather dazed referee also climbed back in later and tried to break them up just when Bobo was beating Hermann. The Negro went berserk and butted Gotter down twice and kept after Hans. The referee, when his head had cleared, hopped up and hoisted Hans' hand to indicate he had won on Bobo's disqualification. The crowd was burned up, but Hans and the ref beat a hasty retreat from the vicinity.

Atkins A Winner

An Australian beat a New Zealander in the semi-final, but he was lucky enough as rugged Fred Atkins, 247, found in tangling with newcomer Ray Clarke, going 230 pounds. The latter was downing him regularly with flying tackles off the ropes, when Atkins got in a blow to the side of the head that stunned Clarke briefly. It was long enough for Fred to clamp on his rolling headlock and rock him around to pin his shoulders for the count. Clarke was popular as he bored in plenty and played it open with slams and tackles, after a stiff armlock. Atkins used his fists and feet in corners and generally roughed it up and got away with plenty before the end of a lively bout, which came in 23 minutes.

Popular Pat Flanagan won the prelim when Jim (the Bull) Wright was disqualified in 26 minutes. Wright went 251 to Pat's 230, and he was villainous all the way. He used his fists plenty and pounded him out of the ring, but Flan bounced right back and Pat smacked Jim's head into the turnbuckles, then tossing him outside. Wright used the ropes well for leverage, despite warnings, and kicked and punched. He finally had Pat in a corner and was whaling away with fists and feet, refusing to heed the ref's warnings or count, and Gotter disqualified him to the fans' loud approval.

Five Teams In Cage Hunt At The P.C.V.S.

P.C.V.S.'s Garnet and Grey basketball teams will be in the thick of C.O.S.S.A. and Ontario playdowns for at least a month yet. There are five teams still hunting championships in both playoffs.

Only one girls' team, the Garnet and Grey senior, who easily romped through their league, is carrying the school colors. This year the lassies have a bye into the semi-finals while leagues from Lindsay and Bowmanville battle to declare a winner.

The girls will not see action until late next week, then in the C.O.S.S.A. quarter-finals. If Audrey Hustwitt's girls win that series, they'll enter the final tournament in Toronto on March 15.

Three of the boys' teams: the seniors, junior "A" and "B" will be acting a double role.

Coach Bev Gouldings seniors are also the schools entry in the Ontario junior playdowns. After a close series with Oshawa Central, the Garnet and Grey are waiting for a two-game series with Lindsay Collegiate, likely to begin Friday night in Lindsay. The winner there goes into the C.O.S.S.A. finals Toronto, also on March 15.

But the most important series in the next two weeks for the senior "A" cagers is the Ontario junior semi-finals with St. Catharines Stars. The senior-juniors ousted Oshawa Irish in easy fashion, then were to meet Queen's University, who backed out.

Meanwhile the Stars, a mixture of Niagara Falls and St. Catharines players, well-known to collegiate teams, have been noted in cage circles as giant killers.

Last week they numbed Toronto when they swept a junior series from the Toronto champions, the Cottage Comets, a highly-rated cage quintet. The Stars lost the first game 44-39 but copped the series in the second game 44-38, for a 83-82 count on the round.

Two-Game Series

The Stars and the Collegiate entry will likely open the two-game points-to-count series on Saturday in St. Catharines, with the return game at P.C.V.S. a week later. Last year the Stars edged the Garnet and Grey out of Ontario play by four points.

This year Coach Goulding has one of the youngest senior teams in his years at P.C.V.S. Although they are in the Ontario junior age bracket, there are four players, Lionel Hempstead, Jim Hendry, Murray Grafstein and Larry Cunningham, still of juvenile age.

Mr. Goulding stresses the fact that the seniors are in Ontario play just for practice for the C.O.S.S.A. series. So far they have proven equal to opposition in that bracket.

Jack Cullis' junior teams are sitting back waiting for action. The junior "A" squad will enter a Lake Ontario series with Oshawa Central a week Friday for the right to play in the C.O.S.S.A. tournament March 15, in Toronto. A week Saturday the same team, under the juvenile rating, will begin Ontario playoffs with a Toronto team at P.C.V.S.

If the "A" cagers win the Central series, they may have to play three games on March 15. There will be the C.O.S.S.A. semi-final and final, then the return game also with Toronto on the same night.

Jack Cullis' second junior team will now await the Ontario midget tournament at P.C.V.S. on March 29. They will be playing against the Niagara-Toronto district winner and the representatives from Simcoe-Grey.

That same Saturday will see the Ontario bantam championship at stake at P.C.V.S. with a second tournament. Then Bev Goulding's bantams will be playing against teams from Windsor, Toronto and Simcoe-Grey for the honors.

Scott's Corners Win

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 27 (ENS)—The second game of the final series of the Millbrook-Cavan District Midget League at Millbrook resulted in a score of 5 to 4 for Mount Pleasant against the Scotts' Corners boys. Local goals scored: Jerry Blodgett (2), Bill Minnie (1), Gerald Minnie (1).

Goalkeeper was Jim Seymour. Assists went to Howard Johnston, George Fair, Lionel Chretien and Mel Stevens.

As was previously agreed, the combined score of the two games last week would decide the winning team to meet the winners of Peterborough county.

The score of the former game was 9-4 for Scotts' Corners, so the combined score was 13-9 for Scott's Corners.

L. Vincent Leads

L. Vincent rolled high single of 297 and D. McArthur top three of 743 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League. Curtin's 2,978 was best pinnage, and Arcos hit high game of 1,112. The blind score of 592 went to I. Buckton with 593. Cardinals blanked Sevenaires, Curtin's took Dickson's 3-0, and 2-1 wins went to Aces over Collis, Black's against Bassel's, and Marines over Arcos.

Good singles included: E. Thompson 284, D. McArthur 280 and 258, M. Selkirk 272, J. Brockley 267, B. Kay 263, B. Akers 253 and P. Hawthorne and G. Millien each with 251. Neat triples were: M. Selkirk 709, B. Morrow 691, G. Milliken 682, M. Knights 670, B. Castle 662, and L. Vincent 653.

IRISH ORIGIN

The game of handball, still a popular exercise, originated in Ireland about the 10th or 11th century.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Could be curtains tonight for the junior "B" Oddfellows here. They play Belleville Hawklets at 8:30 this p.m. in Civic Arena. It's the fourth of their best-of-five group semi-final series, and the Quinte crew has won two and lost one so far. If the I.O.O.F. pack can take it tonight, the series is squared and will be settled on Quinte ice next Monday night. Winner then meeting the survivor of the Kingston-Lindsay sawoffs in group finals. But if Oddfellows fail this evening, they're through for the year. So, they'll certainly be giving it every ounce they have and a swell playoff scrap should result. One rating the biggest junior puck crowd of the season.

Petes are off to Kingston tonight for their last road trip of the senior "B" schedule. Then they tangle with Eagles here Friday in the last listed joust of the schedule. Whether or not that replay of Nov. 19 betwixt Eagles and Petes will be necessary early next week remains to be seen. If it affects the standing sufficiently, it will be replayed. Eagles had beaten the Petes that night but the game was protested, and ordered replayed at schedule's end, 'if needed. At the moment, Petes have first place clinched, but Eagles and Kingston are tied for second place, with Belleville on the bottom. K's and Hawks have a Friday fixture, too, to wind things up. Playoffs will most likely start next week, semi-finals being best-of-five.

Local O.M.H.A. Games

Three O.M.H.A playdown jousts on tap in Civic Arena tomorrow e'en. Kingston and St. Peter's clash in bantam play at 6:30, followed by Kingston midgets vs. Martin-Hewitt, the nightcap putting Belleville juves in against Outboard Marines. These are second round "A" provincial playdowns to open two-game series, goals counting. Return tilts on Quinte and Kingston ice early next week. Some swell puck chasing may be seen in these clashes as the boys set their sights on Ontario titles. Come out and give them a hand. Empress Wolves must continue along the bantam "B" path, the O.M.H.A. has ordered, instead of in "C" company. On account of enlarging their territorial draw.

Baz O'Meara of Montreal writes: "Rocket Richard has gone into business. He and a partner have set up a factory to manufacture an unbreakable hockey stick. Canadiens will try it out in practise. The blade is made of fibre and silk. They say you can fire a shotgun bullet into the handle and it won't break the stick. Frank Patrick also has an unbreakable stick on the market. His flail is making headway among the youngsters. The Rocket and partner figure they have something really attractive." Yes, it would be a great boon to puck clubs to be able to buy really unbreakable sticks, as half a dozen or more weapons are broken every game, and it sure runs into a lot of money in a season. Local O.H.A. clubs will agree to that.

They All Hate Hans

It's no wonder the London, Ont., mat fans mobbed Hans Hermann recently after a bout there. The big German is a real rabble-rouser. Struts, snarls, wrestles extra rough and illegally, pushes refs around disdainfully and calls ringsiders "swine" when they boo him. He had hundreds of 'em hating him last eve at the Brock Arena, but he won the main bout over Bobo Brazil just the same. Bobo got burned up and butted Referee Sammy Gotter, who was interfering as Brazil had Hans set up for the main fall, and that tore it. The ref disqualified Bobo and beat a hasty retreat, along with Hans, through angry fans. Quite a brawl it was. Also a hot semi-final when Atkins won o'er Ray Clarke. And Flanagan took a popular win over Wright in the prelim.

St. Peter's junior basketeers are off tonight for Port Perry in their return playoff game, and it should be a tight fit. Postponed girls' jousts of Feb. 15 will be worked in this Friday to wind up their schedule, Normals vs. Lindsay at 8:10, followed by Neill's vs. Black's. Loop semi-finals on next week. Return L.O.B.A. lasses' playdown tussle at 7:15 p.m. Saturday in the Y.W., first one last night in Whitby resulting in a 54-23 victory for Towne Togs, skippered by Phil Macks. Series winner goes against the Falls-Toronto victor in the next round. Joan Dunk topped Togs easily in scoring. No word yet on P.C.V.S. hoop action later this week.

Togs Get First In Series From Whitby

Phil Macks' Towne Togs started in the women's Ontario intermediate basketball playdowns with ease Tuesday night. The Togs opened a two-game points-to-count series with the Whitby lasses, winning 54-23.

The return game will be Saturday at the Y.W.C.A. at 7:15 p.m. and another easy win is expected. The Togs will then move into the next round against the Niagara Falls-Toronto districts' winner, likely Montgomery Maids.

This year, eight cities have representatives in the women's intermediate playdowns and Northern Ontario has set up a women's league to contest the all-Ontario title for the first time.

The Togs two years ago won intermediate Ontario honors in a rough battle with Stratford by a few points on the round. Tuesday's game was the first appearance in provincial play since then.

Follow Pattern

This year the Macks' girls have a definite offensive and defensive pattern to follow and they did just that in the Whitby game. They employ a working game up the floor with a network of passes, ending in layup or short field shots.

Pauline Stewart, Marj Owen and Joan Dunk easily carried play up the floor, Stewart setting up plays, and Owen, both setting up and scoring. Joan Dunk with one-hand shots reaped a harvest of points, 19, with a barrage of shots from the top of the keyhole.

Defensively the Togs employed a zone defence and Whitby could not break through at any time. Meanwhile the Whitby girls threw up a man-to-man defensive curtain which was easily pulled down by Togs after the first quarter.

Togs jumped to an early 8-2 first quarter lead, then romped to a 25-8 score at half-time. They kept up the pressure in the third quarter for a 38-19 score, finally finishing with 15.

After the first quarter when the Peterborough cagers were figuring out means of breaking the man-to-man defence, Togs were told to apply the scoring breaks. They could have rolled up a higher scoring but settled back to practising passing.

Gloria White, armed with an effective one-hand hook shot from well out on the court, proved deadly for this game, netting 16 points with that shot. Her shooting was the only way Whitby could get around the zone defence.

Lineups—Blacks Towne Togs (54)—Rumble, Stewart 5, DeWarga 8, Gillen 4, Raper 6, Dunk 19, Owen 8, Batley 4, McIlhagga.

Whitby (23)—Bloomis, J. Gordon, Peters 4, G. White 16, June Stewart, M. Gordon, Moore 2, Didyady, Fenner 1.

LITTLE BROWNIE—A midget will not get to bat for the St. Louis Americans this season, but that doesn't mean little fellows are out. Three-year-old Ralph Orlandella got a batting lesson from Rogers Hornsby when he showed up in a Browns uniform during the early training at El Centro, Calif.

Accuse Canada Of Cheating

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP).—The Soviets have accused the American and Canadian Olympic hockey teams of a "behind scenes deal" by which the Edmonton Mercurys "threw" their last game with the Americans, thereby permitting the United States to win second place in the winter games.

(Canada and the U.S. played a 3-3 tie in their last game in the Olympic competition at Oslo. The draw gave the Mercurys the hockey championship and jumped the Americans from fourth to second place in the tournament. The tie also clinched second place for the Americans in team honors with 89½ points.)

The Soviet press stated this morning that the "behind-scenes deal was so evident that even the bourgeois Norwegian press was forced openly to make declaraticns on it."

The Soviets charged the alleged "deal" was aimed at keeping Czechoslovakia out of second place in the hockey competition.

Howe Scores Winning Goal As Wings Edge Bruins 4-3

By The Canadian Press

Those fans who argue that Gordie Howe is the greatest right-winger in the National Hockey League added fuel to their fire in Boston Tuesday night when the 23-year-old native of Floral, Sask., scored the winning goal with less than two minutes remaining as Detroit Red Wings edged the Bruins 4-3. Howe, the League's leading scorer, potted the winner at 18:46 of the final period for his second tally of the night. In scoring the pair his 36th and 37th of the season—and assisting on another, he boosted his season's N.H.L. point total to 67—nine more than runner-up Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens.

Tuesday night's victory moved Detroit 9½ games out in front of the second-place Montrealers while the loss leaves Boston three points behind the fourth-place New York Rangers.

The game was played before only 4,049 fans, the smallest Boston crowd in more than 24 years. However, it took place in the smaller Boston Arena after a wooden awning collapsed earlier Tuesday at Boston station ripping away some of the brine pipes in Boston Gardens, located above.

The Wings took a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Alex Delvecchio and Ted Lindsay. Real Chevrefils put Boston back in the game at 6:41 of the middle session but Howe's first marker was scored two minutes later.

Deadlock Issue

Two more Boston goals by Johnny Peirson and Red Sullivan before the period ended deadlocked the issue. Howe's second tally late in the game provided Detroit with its winning edge.

Third-place Toronto Maple Leafs move into New York tonight for a game with the fourth-place Rangers.

The Leafs, who haven't won a game in their last six outings, will be operating under manager Conn Smythe's scrutiny for the first time since Feb. 10. He has been vacationing in Florida for the last few weeks.

Toronto may use rookie Jim Morrison, recently acquired from Boston in a trade for Flem Mackell, back on defence. Originally working on the blue line, Morrison had been moved up to centre upon joining the Maple Leaf organization at Pittsburgh in the American Hockey League.

The Rangers will be without the services of forward Jack Stoddard, out for the remainder of the season with a broken wrist. Stoddard suffered the injury when he collided with defenceman Jim Ross during a practice yesterday.

The Rangers obtained Stoddard in a December trade with Providence of the A.H.L.

Mexico City Open Barred To Snead

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) — Sam Snead said Tuesday that Horton Smith, president of the Professional Golfers' Association, has forbidden him to play golf in the $10,000 Mexico City Open later this week.

Snead said he received a telegram at his winter home here from Smith, who is in Baton Rouge, La., preparing for the P.G.A.-sponsored Baton Rouge Open, also later this week.

"Smith told me by wire that I wouldn't be allowed to play in Mexico and I've had to cancel my plane reservations and the arrangements I've made with the folks down there," said Snead.

Snead said that apparently Smith felt he should play in the P.G.A.-sponsored tournament regardless of other plans.

Smith could not be reached immediately for comment.

Biltmores Closing On Marlies Subdue Spitfires In 4-3 Win

By The Canadian Press.

Sudbury Wolves moved two games up in their best-of-five Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A finals Tuesday night when they defeated North Bay Black Hawks 6-3 before 4,000 rowdy home fans.

Twice fans and players mixed in the trigger-tempered tussle. One fan had his cheek split by Sudbury forward George Delefice when he jumped on the ice to back up verbal threats. Police quickly broke up a repeat performance during the second period when they ejected another invader off the playing surface.

Twelve penalties were handed out, three of them going as majors for fighting.

Two games were played in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race Tuesday night.

With the circuit fast approaching its final week, the runner-up Guelph Biltmores' 4-3 win against Windsor Spitfires loomed as the most important of the two, the victory moving the Bilts but a point away from the league-leading Toronto Marlboros.

In Fifth Place

The other Junior A clash saw Kitchener Greenshirts climb into fifth place in the 10-team loop with an 8-5 decision over Waterloo Hurricanes.

Ron Castelane and Darell McLaughlin paced the Sudbury attack with two goals each while Durno Rondino and George Delefice added the others. North Bay marksmen were Vic Jackson, Chick Cecchini and Don Hogan.

Dean Prentice, Bill McCreary, Aldo Guidolin and Ken Laufman divided Guelph's goals while Joe Zorica, Bobby Brown and Ron Craven scored Windsor's.

Bill Collins scored three of Kitchener's markers with the rest going to Jim Joyce, Joe Ingoldsby, Vip Candido, John Holowaty and Orv Tessier. Neil Armstrong, Bill Oliver, Jim McNeill, Paul Maissonneuve and Joe Chircoski scored for Waterloo.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, tabbed as the man to clinch the National Hockey League's individual scoring race, now is closer to making that prediction come true.

Howe scored two goals and assisted in another Tuesday night to bring his total to 67 points — including 37 goals which is tops in the league.

He leads second-place Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens by nine points. Lach leads the assist column with 45.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit, who picked up two points Wednesday, is third with 50 points—21 goals and 29 assists. He tops fourth-place Don Raleigh of New York Rangers by two points.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.

Resume Hearing In Mortson N.H.L. Incident

By MEL SUFRIN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (CP). — Sentiment appeared to be in favor of forgetting the whole thing today as President Clarence Campbell resumed the National Hockey League investigation of last Thursday's Buller-Mortson incident.

Gus Mortson, Toronto Maple Leafs' defenceman, was under suspension for attempting to kick Hy Buller of New York Rangers in a game at Toronto last week.

Buller, for one, was reported to have told Campbell he didn't think Mortson was really attempting to injure him—the action for which the Leaf player was fined $100 and suspended. The Rangers appeared equally willing to let the matter drop.

Likely Settled

However, as Campbell explained in a telephone interview, it is customary for such cases to be disposed of at a time when the two teams involved are playing as will be the case tonight when the Rangers and Leafs clash here.

The question to be decided today was whether further action would be taken against Mortson or whether he would be cleared to take part in tonight's game.

Attending today's meeting, a continuation of the hearings which began in Toronto, were Campbell, Mortson, Buller, New York manager Frank Boucher and George Gravel, who refereed the game in which incident occurred.

Boucher said Tuesday that the Rangers have not pressed for any additional punishment for Mortson. He read a telegram which Buller had sent to Campbell at the request of the N.H.L. president, in which he described the incident.

Buller's telegram said he was carrying the puck and collided with Mortson as he reached the blue line. Both players fell.

Have Bad Luck

"He gave a half-hearted kick as he got up and it did not injure me and it did not seem to me that it was an attempt to injure."

Actually, the Rangers had more important matters to worry about than that of a week-old incident in which no one was injured.

With regular goalie Chuck Rayner already sidelined for the season by a torn cartillage, the Rangers Tuesday lost right winger Jack Stoddard when he suffered a broken wrist in practice.

Coach Bill Cook plans to alternate Jim Conacher and Reg Sinclair on the first line with Edgar Laprade and Ed Kèllum in place of Stoddard.

Thus far the Rangers haven't appeared to miss Rayner greatly, cheifly because replacement Emile (The Cat) Francis has been filling in well with the help of a tight defence.

Still Time Left To Reverse Spread Of Reds

"In spite of the fact that four-fifths of the world may yet embrace Communism, there is yet time for the Western World to reverse the trend."

This statement was made Monday by the Rev. Robert Oliver of Clarkson at the Rotary luncheon meeting. Mr. Oliver addressed the club on behalf of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews and in place of the Rev. Richard D. Jones, who was ill.

"All men are brothers," Mr. Oliver said. "Physically, intellectually or psychologically, no race, color or creed can claim any superiority."

No Charity.

The speaker explained that impoverished millions in the troubled areas of the world do not want our old clothes, our loans or our charities. They simply want our standards of living. Unless the Western World alerts itself to remove social injustices from our own communities and sincerely devotes itself to a program of enlightment and alleviation of suffering of Eastern countries, future generations are going to suffer greviously from the poison of communistic totalitarianism.

The following guests attended the meeting: Dr. William Arnup, Rabbi Jacob J. Eisen of Beth Shalom Synagogue, Toronto; Rabbi J. Mayer, the Rev. F. Grant of St. John's Parish; the Rev. D. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church; Mrs. Harold E. Dunford, Local Council of Women; Mrs. S. Moldaver, Peterborough Chapter of Hadassah, Isadore Black, Fred Overend, Don Kingdon, William L. Graff, Dr. Robert Pow.

FOOD IS SCARCE—More than 1,000,000 Koreans are on relief—one of the results of warfare in their country. The United Nations Civilian Assistance Command is helping to meet the problem. Still, many are hungry though few are starving. Lunch at this Seoul orphanage is a bowlful of milk and barley balls. There's not much more for breakfast or dinner.—(CP from National Defence).

Bank's Parsimony Hinders Revamping Korean Industry

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 27. (CP)—There's one thing about a Korean—give him a chance and he does his best to look after himself. Last summer in Seoul province there were 2,000,000 refugees, evacuees and local needy on direct relief—three hops of rice a day, which makes about three fistsful of boiled rice.

Today there are only 855,000 Koreans on full relief and 200,000 receiving partial help. Relief rolls have been halved.

The others are caring for themselves within the limits of a shattered, crazy economy. Most are billeted on farmers, paying for room and rice by helping on the land. Some are in partly-rehabilitated industry, others have been absorbed into the armed or civilian services.

Sparked by the United Nations civilian assistance command much of the province's industry is in a position to resume some production. Buildings have been patched, where possible plants have been made workable, and a number of firms are employing some of their former staffs.

(Editors Note: This article by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, is one of a series on living conditions for civilians in the war-torn Oriental country.)

Says the commanding officer of the C.A.C. team in the province:

"We have factories ready to begin production if only the bank of Korea would loan the funds to buy raw materials, but it won't.

"C.A.C. helps certain industries which can help the war effort or civilian reconstruction, such as a wire-drawing plant that now is producing electric cable for the utilities. But we have more plants in operation than we can provide with materials.

Varied Production

"In this area we're producing shoes, aluminum ware, glass, ceramics, the glazed paper Koreans use for windows, pharmaceutical supplies, cast-iron products, some steel parts for automobiles. We're turning out needles, textiles, some rayon cloth, the heavy waxed paper used for floors, and rubber battery-boxes."

He said money-lenders are trying to get a stranglehold on the new economy by putting up funds "at exorbitant rates."

"They charge up to 20 per cent a month—and there's no law against it.

Industries using materials available locally are making out best.

Brick and stone factories are about to begin work.

"We're trying to get them going as quickly as possible to help in next year's rebuilding program. We also are getting machinery to reopen Seoul's stone quarry. That will put a lot of people to work." Seoul's waterworks are restored and there is enough electricity for Seoul's immediate needs. Street cars are running again.

If only the bank would put up the money more of the unemployment problem could be licked, the C.A.C. commander said.

Retail Price Wars Undercover, Concealed From General Public

By WALTER BREEDE, JR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (CP). — Are retail price wars flaring up again in the United States?

"Yes," many independent merchants report. "cut-throat price cutting threatens to drive us out of business."

"Nonsense," scoff other retail experts. "Current pricing policies are following the usual February pattern."

An Associated Press survey of retail price competition in 24 U.S. cities gives this general picture of conditions six months after the bitter price battles of last summer:

Price wars still are going on in several major retail centres. But they're being fought in a different way. It's an unofficial undercover style of warfare, concealed from the buying public but no less real and deadly than the noisy fracas of six months ago.

Why the continued price wars? Small retailers unanimously pin the blame on the U.S. Supreme Court's decision last spring which pulled the props from fair trade laws in 45 states. The court's action paved the way for price cutting of nationally-advertised brands.

Faced with heavy inventories and lagging consumer demand, many stores are reported still using marked-down branded merchandise as "bait" to attract store traffic. That's the complaint from the small independent merchants. Big stores defend the policy as one which results in lower prices to the consumer.

New Gimmicks

But even where price competition is violent, as in New York, you no longer find it proclaimed in fat black type in newspaper advertisements. Instead, merchants are resorting to the "unadvertised special," with reductions on branded products that may range from 10 to 50 per cent below the manufacturer's list price. The price is lowered from day to day, quietly and without fanfare. How much it is lowered generally depends on what the competitor across the street is doing.

Then there are the fat trade-in allowances paid by some dealers. And the dealers who later give the customer back the old range or refrigerator he traded in.

In many cities discount houses do a thriving business in nationally-advertised refrigerators, rugs, toasters and television sets at substantial reductions from manufacturers' list prices.

A top merchandising executive of one of New York's biggest department stores confirms that unofficial competitive price-cutting is in full swing, particularly in the Herald Square area where Macy's and Gimbels slugged it out last summer. But the New York merchandising moguls—remembering what happened in the summer—would prefer to avoid another open war, he says.

Featured in New York's "unofficial" price war at present are small electrical appliances, long-playing phonograh records, sewing machines, cosmetics, drugs and books.

Items like refrigerators and television sets are being sold at substantial discounts in hastily-rented lofts and warehouses by dealers who have sprung up overnight.

Teaching As Vocation Topic At Selwyn W.I.

SELYWN, Feb. 27 (ENS). — Teaching as a vocation was the topic of an address given by D. Beatty, guest speaker at the February meeting of Selwyn Women's Institute.

Mr. Beatty, teacher at S.S. 9, Selwyn, explained the new modes of teaching, and discussed the responsibilities of both teachers and parents to the child in the elementary school.

Mrs. W. Nicholls introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Mrs. G. Fitzgerald.

The program also included a bird contest, led by Mrs. Fitzgerald and a spelling match conducted by Mr. Beatty. Refreshments were served by Mrs. F. Sweeting, Mrs. K. Sweeting, Mrs. C. McIlmoyle and Mrs. Hennessey.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

You'll be surprised how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, when you try this well known recipe universally used throughout Canada. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 ounce bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine.

Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

HOW MOTHER NATURE PROTECTS FLAVOUR

Have you ever noticed how Nature protects flavours of fresh, ripe fruit? The delicate, tantalizing, delicious flavours are contained in the liquid juices. The fibres of the fruits form tiny cells that seal up these natural fruit juices against evaporation and deterioration. Ever notice that only Lushus jelly employs "Nature's own" method to bring you fruit-fresh flavour all year 'round?

FLAVOUR ALWAYS FRESH

Just as Nature protects its fruit flavours in the natural liquid juices, so Lushus jelly seals the flavour liquid-fresh in a shell of pure sugar, Shirriff's famous flavour "Bud". The Bud protects the liquid-fresh flavour at the peak of goodness 'till you make up the jelly. That is why the flavour of Shirriff's Lushus rivals choice fresh-picked garden fruit itself.

FLAVOUR CAN'T ESCAPE

You get all the flavour you pay for in Shirriff's Lushus jelly. Not one drop of the rich fruity tang can escape until you are ready to use it. The flavour cannot evaporate or fade. All seven juicy flavours are sealed up air-tight in shells of pure sugar. The "Buds" dissolve instantly in hot water to release the freshest, liveliest flavours you have ever tasted in a jelly.

GIVES YOU BETTER VALUE

No matter how you serve it, Lushus is better every way—so shimmery . . . so sparkly . . . so delicious. Yet all this Lushus goodness is yours to enjoy for just a few cents a serving. Three thousand former pupils of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of P.C.V.S. for 35 years and on its staff for 50 years, will be solicited for contributions to the Kenner portrait and Kenner Collegiate scnolarship fund in a campaign to begin March 31. An objective of $3,500 was set at an executive meeting of the Kenner Memorial committee.

Other members of the committee are: former mayor Max J. Swanston, L. W. Copp, principal of the Normal School; Mrs. G. Wilson Craw, Miss Genevieve Fowler and T. J. Allen. Principal C. S. Browne of the Collegiate is an ex-officio advisory member of the committee.

Artist Andre Lapine, 'Gentle Cavalier', Dies

Andre Lapine, well-known artist and member of the Royal Canadian Academy, died Tuesday at Minden where he will be buried.

Mr. Lapine was born in Russia, but went to Paris early in his life and came to Canada in 1918. For years he had a studio at the Malloney Art Galleries in Toronto.

Rearing horses were his favorite subject, but just before his 80th birthday he did a series of pictures on an old Ontario village on the back concessions, following the scene through spring and summer. Because of his pointed moustache and quiet courtly manner, he was known as "the gentle cavalier."

Special Committee Named To Discuss Teachers' Pay

The Board of Education has appointed a special committee to talk over the controversial matter of salaries with city teachers. This job was originally handed over to the appointments committee after the Peterborough local of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation expressed dissatisfaction with the present salary offer.

The Board this year has offered some 135 teachers in the public schools and 52 teachers in P.V.C.S. $200 each, plus a cost-of-living bonus which is expected to amount to $350. This makes an estimated increase of $550 each.

Salary adjustments for teachers in 1952, calculated on this basis, would add $115,050 to the 1952 tax bill. (The estimate includes salaries for expected additions to the staffs in the fall.) Other Board of Education employees, paid on the same basis, would get an insurance of $25,460.

Altogether Board of Education employees would receive salary increases totalling $140,510 or 3.85 mills on the tax rate.

Ask $425

The Peterborough local of the O.S.S.T.F. asked for a salary jump averaging $425 to compensate for the rising C-O-L and bring Peterborough salaries in line with those paid in comparable cities. They also wanted a basic maximum of $5,600 instead of $4,700 offered by the board.

Public school teachers groups have not indicated whether they will accept the Board's offer. But negotiations will be re-opened with all groups.

On the special committee that will do the fact-finding, and then report to the Board, are Chairman W. B. Gordon, Stanley R. Adamson, chairman of finance; and Dr. Ralph C. Honey, chairman of appointments.

Little activity has been undertaken since 1938 although there have been representatives from Peterborough in the Boys' Parliament. The present member in the Older Boy's Parliament is Dwight Fell.

Officers of the Boy's Work Board are John A. Hunter, Chairman, S. C. Laing, S. Saunders, C. M. Krug, Robert Peebles and William McFarlane, boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Choral Club Sings In Concert

P.C.V.S. Choral Club has accepted an invitation to sing at the final concert Monday at Massey Hall. The concert concludes the ninth annual Toronto music festival.

A week ago the 75-voice choir placed first in the class for high school girls' choirs and second in the open class for girls under 21 years. The Six Hits and a Miss, a double trio formed by Choral Club memers, placed second in its class.

At Monday's concert, featuring only first place performers in the festival, the choir will sing the class selection, "As Torrents in Summer," by Elgar, and also Slumber Song by Challinor.

Great Honor

"We consider it a great honor to be asked to sing at the concert," said M. J. Curtis, Choral Club conductor and P.C.V.S. teacher. "The girls are quite excited about the invitation and we hope to take the whole choir, about 81 girls."

Mr. Curtis added that he hopes a number of parents and friends will make the trip to Toronto. The friends and parents will pay the full train fare but for a large party group the fare will be reduced, probably to $3.

School Board Deals Privately With Fracas

PORT HOPE, Feb. 27 (ENS)—The public school board at the Dr. Powers school dealt privately with the complaint of one of the teachers that he had been struck by one of the older boys. Details of the incident were not made public by the board after its meeting but the board indicated that as a result of the inquiry it was satisfied that the incident would not occur again. The teacher concerned was a male member of the staff.

Merry Wives Of Windsor Excellent Says Adjudicator

Adjudicator Pierre LeFevre described the Peterborough Little Theatre production of Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" as "excellent," when he began his half-hour public adjudication Tuesday night from the stage of the Collegiate auditorium. Nearly all of the audience of 600 stayed to hear his criticisms. Mr. LeFevre said that an adjudication should be made first and foremost from the point of view of a member of the audience. "The success of a play toward the public is finally the only thing that matters, and 'Merry Wives' is essentially entertainment."

"I enjoyed the evening very much—and that doesn't always happen," Mr. LeFevre admitted with a wry smile, as he started to adjudicate his tenth cross-Canada regional festival that he has witnessed since January 14th.

The play was directed by Robertson Davies.

Falstaff Establishes Play

Falstaff is the central character in the play, Mr. LeFevre commented, and the degree to which he at once succeeds in establishing his genial roguery marks how the play must go. "There is no question that that happened tonight", he said in giving high praise to John Londerville in the role of Falstaff. "His performance had that rare quality of being completely relaxed and through this relaxation he punched away at the audience and fed them fun".

He commended the general air of lightness; the free employment of the stage; the daring use of scenery and the suggestion of improvisation. "It was like a kind of party, creating the illusion through acting and pleasure in acting". Scene changes were made by turning the painted pages in a large book which was mounted at the back of the stage. These scenes showed interiors and exteriors of Windsor, the woods and the Garter Inn.

Mr. LeFevre thought that although the play was primarily a "theatre joke", it was written by Shakespeare at the end of a long career and could not help but contain currents of emotion and varieties of tone and colour which a master dramatist must give to anything he writes. He felt that not sufficient shading and emotional variety were achieved.

Not Enough Lyricism

He cited the romantic theme of Fenton (James Scott) and Anne Page, (Jean Leach), which he felt was not pushed far enough; the undercurrent of lyricism was not realized by the two actors. Fenton was not sufficiently fresh, lyrical, arrogant and elegant. "There was not the flash of the wonderful world of youth." Anne Page, though a "lovely presence on the stage", could have "used her charms more". Their scenes were not sufficiently touching: "true, love, true poetry, did not rise to the surface."

The adjudicator felt that the

G. Matthews On Executive

Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, Tuesday was elected a vice-president of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association.

Frank H. Plant of Ottawa was elected president of the O.M.E.A. for 1952 at the annual convention.

The Association petitioned the federal government to reduce the amount of tax charged on electrical home appliances.

"The additional tax imposes an additional burden on both new and established households and merely adds to the cost of living without any recognizable effect on inflation," said a resolution from the association.

W. F. Bolton of Windsor said reductions are expected at the next session of parliament.

Defence authorities should see that proper controls are placed on the number of appliances manufactured, said the resolution. This would prevent any hampering of the defence effort.

Army Recruits 80 District Men

Since January 1 more than 80 Peterborough and District men have applied to 5B Recruiting Station at the Armouries to join the Canadian Army Active Force.

Capt. Frank Frape, officer commanding the recruiting office, said during January 43 men out of the 56 sent to Kingston for medical and intelligence tests were accepted by the army. So far this month 32 men have been sent to Kingston (there is no official report of the number accepted yet).

Increased unemployment in the city and district in January and February has caused the marked increase in recruiting. The station reports that "not one in 25 has a job" and in most cases has not had a steady job, working for three, six and nine-month periods.

The average recruit is about 21-22 years old with Grade 6-7 education. Since the recruiting opened last summer for the 27th Brigade, the station has noted the education averages Grade 7 or 8. The educational standards for the army were taken off within the past year.

Most of the men recruited in the past two months have been from the city. A number have been from the small towns such as Warsaw, Campbellford, Norwood, Havelock and Lakefield.

Progress

A three-year-old child excitedly tried to explain to a woman of the neighborhood that he had seen an airplane down low circling his part of the city. But his childish gibberish only confused the neighbor until she thought she had found the key. "Oh, you mean an airplane," she said. "No, a jet," he replied scornfully.

Marmora Iron Important As Ore Reserve

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (CP). — Iron deposits at Marmora were described as "important reserves" in Bethlehem Steel Corporation's annual report.

Present plans for the Marmora deposit include removal of a heavy limestone cap to expose the underlying ore, most of which will be mined by the open-pit method, chairman E. G. Grace said in his report.

Actual work on the Marmora deposit has not yet started, although one building is nearly completed, and bush has been cleared from 27 acres. The limestone cap, estimated to weigh in the millions of tons, is exposed, and work on it should start sometime in the spring.

The Marmora deposit is located about two miles south of Highway 7, just east of Marmora. For the past three years, people of the district have been hearing of Bethlehem's plans for the area, and waiting for operations to start.

Iron Boom in 1860s

Revival of the iron industry in the Marmora district recalled the heyday of the Blairton iron mine in the late 1860's and early 1870's. Blairton became a ghost town around the turn of the century, but before that had prospered.

Mr. Grace said in his report that "it is too early to estimate how much these operations will yield, but they are important reserves."

A Bethlehem holding in Romeral, Chile, was also mentioned as one of the company's reserves.

The report also mentions Bethlehem's plans for using Labrador ore, saying the corporation entered into a contract to take ore from there "when that source gets into operation."

Vets Protest Not Getting Square Deal

Allowances Cut When Qualify For Old Age Pension

First World War veterans eligible for the federal government's $40 a month old age pension who have been receiving war pensions and veterans' allowances are protesting that they are not getting a square deal.

Before he left today for the opening of parliament in Ottawa Thursday, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., said he was going to ask the government why these veterans are having their pensions and allowances cut.

"Quite a number of men in Peterborough who are 70 and have applied for the old age pension are greatly upset," said Mr. Fraser, "owing to the fact that before, they were receiving pensions or veterans' allowances and in every case, except disability, these pensions and allowances have been cut."

In the case of a single man, Mr. Fraser said the allowances have been reduced by as much as $10 a month, and married couples are now receiving from $10 to $20 a month less.

"They feel that because the government said it was offering old age security without a means test, the government had no business cutting these allowances and pensions."

Mr. Fraser said that in one case drawn to his attention, a veteran was receiving a disability pension and also a veterans' allowance of $36 a month. Since he applied for old age pension, Mr. Fraser said this man has had his veterans' allowances cut entirely. "Now he is only about $3 a month better off.

Although the government has been asked for an explanation before, they have not given a satisfactory answer as yet Mr. Fraser said and he intends to bring it to the government's attention as soon as possible.

Awards For Baby Pictures With Quotes Every Saturday

The Examiner plans on publishing the pick of Constance Bannister's famous baby pictures every day, starting Monday, March 3.

If the expressions do not make you smile, the babies' thoughts as she quotes them surely will. You never saw cuter baby pictures. And, what she says these babies might have been thinking, is both a caution to wise men and a grin for everyone.

But that is not all. The Examiner invites its readers to send in baby pictures. Every family has a funny baby picture. Here is your chance to dig it out. Just rummage through that old family album and pick one out. The trick is to write a witty caption implying what could have been on the baby's mind to create such an expressive picture.

Two prizes of five dollars each will be awarded each week for the best combination of photo and quote. These are the rules:

1. Pictures must be of babies not over two years old with all identity of person in picture removed.

2. Attached to each photo, or written on the back, must be a quotation implying what you think could have been on the baby's mind to create such an expressive picture.

3. Judging will be on: (1) Expressiveness of photo; (2) Suitability of picture and quote for newspaper reproduction, and (3) Cleverness of quote in bringing out good, wholesome humor in baby's pose or facial expression.

4. The winning picture and quote will be published each Saturday in the Examiner.

5. Awards of five dollars ($5) will be made each week for the two winning entries. The Examiner reserves the right to publish any or all of pictures submitted.

6. Pictures published will be only identified as to the name and address of the person submitting the entry.

7. All entries should be mailed to the Baby Photo Editor, The Examiner, Peterborough.

8. While The Examiner can assume no responsibility for photographs submitted it will, so far as possible, return all photos to senders at the close of the series, if return addresses are clearly marked on the backs of the photos submitted.

9. A grand prize of $10 will be given at the end of the series for the best photo and quote.

Character Training, Leadership Go Along With Developing Body In Program For Boys At Y.M.C.A.

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

He was just an ordinary bright-faced lad walking north on George St., with a towel wrapped under his arm.

A closer look and a passerby would see patched but clean pants and a pair of blue shorts tucked inside the towel.

Tommy was off to the Y.M.C.A. He wasn't just a member of the Y. He was taking special training in the junior leaders' corps.

Two years ago, Tommy joined the "Y" to get a bath. There wasn't a bathtub in his home. Both years he paid his membership in 25 cent installments which were earned by whatever work he could find to do.

Found Many Activities

Tommy joined the "Y" for a bath, but like the 266 boys who are members, he found innumerable activities to participate in, which were fun And although he probably didn't realize it, these same activities were building his character in such a way that he would be a better man and a better citizen in his community.

Tommy had an idea that the "Y" here in Peterborough was a glorified gym in which he could play such games as basketball, volleyball; do track and field training and go swimming. This was partially true and with 126 other boys last year, he learned how to swim. He played these games and entered other gym activities, but as time went by, Tommy learned that this youth organization was concerned with more than learning him to have a healthy body. He saw that the "Y" staff were beginning to deal with him as a whole person.

First there were clubs, such as stamp clubs and airplane clubs and clubs for instruction in painting, leatherwork, clay modelling he could join, and then came the discussion groups. In these groups every topic was introduced from parliamentary procedure to social etiquette. Tommy learned how governments operated from the federal to the civic level. And he learned that courtesy and fair play were not just words, but actions that should be applied in everyday life.

All this time Tommy's personality was developing in a way that would not have been possible if he had not become a member of the "Y".

But Tommy's development did not stop there. Soon, because of his interest and personality, he was invited to join the leaders' corps. In this group he learned the art of responsible leadership in addition to the art of co-operation.

Learning How To Dance

At present Tommy's new step is into Hi-Y activities. He is learning how to dance.

And so this boy who joined the "Y" to get a bath found a completely new life opened up to him.

What would have happened to Tommy had he not joined this organization is hard to say. However there is a slim possibility that he might have become one of the 29 members who were called borderline cases when they came to the Y during this past year. These 29 boys were not juvenile delinquents, but were taking part in activities which resulted in their being referred to the Y.

In this respect the Y may be considered as playing a preventive role. It offers these boys healthy mental and physical activity that kept them interested and busy and is developing good citizens out of what might perhaps have become a group of social offenders.

Service To Youth

The Y.M.C.A.'s main contribution to Peterborough is service to youth in the city. Serving its youth so that Peterborough will have better citizens and better leaders in the future.

Its activities are planned to help youth adjust to its environment. This is done in a general program including leadership training, teaching of skills, physical instruction and training in getting along with others in friendship clubs.

These friendship clubs, which are little publicized are considered one of the most important aspects of the Y's work. They are situated in the various outlying districts of the city for boys who might otherwise be too far away to participate in the organization's activities. Through these clubs the Y staff are able to guide activities which might be harmful into helpful and positive channels.

In 1951 there was a total attendance of 6,346 members with 1,350 non-members making use of the gym facilities for 2,318 sessions, making a total attendance of 64,749.

Camp In Summer

Camp Kawartha was again directed under Y.M.C.A. leadership for six weeks, with 154 boys for 397 camper weeks. At the same time a stay-at-home camp was conducted for those not able to leave the city, with 111 boys participating for six weeks.

But these figures only tell a part of the Y story in Peterborough. In many respects this building has become a community centre.

In addition to the regular program during the past year, 229 different organizations made use of the club room facilities. A total of 1,172 separate meetings were held, with a conservative total attendance estimate of 38,558.

Membership fees at the Y are kept low, even below cost if possible, to make sure no boy is forbidden joining because of lack of funds. As a result the Y is burdened by an operational deficit.

It is because of this deficit, resulting from service to the community, that the Y.M.C.A. is appealing for financial aid as an agency in the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, March 7 to 15.

This money is needed to carry on such a service and to give even better service in the future, which is the aim of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

In 1951 the Y.M.C.A. received $16,800.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE "pioneer" members of the Y.M.C.A., aged 8-10 years, have physical instruction, fun and games each week in Peterborough. The Y.M. section of the Canadian Red Cross and Community Chest drive is an important one. In the Above photo physical director Fraser Wade, Left, shows a small group a trick or two on the "horse"; the boys are, Left to Right, Gale Olmstead, Peter de Noble, Douglas Townsend and Wayne Montford.—Examiner Staff Photo.

Come To Canada To Make Good Now–US Banker

MONTREAL, Feb. 27— (CP)— Go to the United States to make good? Yes, says William A. Mitchell, Canadian banker who did just that, but also go to Canada.

Mr. Mitchell said in an interview Tuesday he thought that from now on the traffic of bright young men will be a two-way affair across the Canada-United States border. Mr. Mitchell, in Montreal to attend a meeting of the Canadian Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, is president of the Central Trust Company of Cincinnati.

He said there would always be Canadians leaving to seek careers in the United States. But today, "Canada is on everyone's lips," and young men in the United States are looking northward for their opportunities.

Canada has acquired a glamor and a wealth of publicity — unknown even a few years ago—and technicians, skilled laborers and business men "are aware of the opportunities of this country as never before."

Better Salary Rates

Besides becoming known, he said, Canada was also starting to attract United States brains and holding its own, to a greater extent because of an evening-up in salary rates.

He mentioned a case in point of a friend who scoured Canadian universities for specialized skills. He found the men all right, but also found United States salaries did not have the attraction they formerly held.

He said it wasn't true that the cost of living was higher in the States, but it was an inescapable fact that there was a higher standard of living below the border.

He illustrated this by saying that a business executive in Canada could make do with one automobile, but that a man in the same position in the United States felt he must have two.

For this reason, Mr. Mitchell said, a Canadian thinking of going to the States should consider that he might be richer in dollars, but find himself upable to keep up the position he had been accustomed to at home.

He said he felt, looking at the whole situation, that the two countries had reached the happy position of being able to exchange talents on an equal basis and that the old cry of the States stealing Canada's brightest young men no longer applied.

Buy British Campaign Urged As King Memorial

By The Canadian Press

A "Buy British" campaign in Canada as a memorial to the King was suggested Tuesday in the British Columbia legislature.

Maurice Finnery, a Liberal, said such a drive would be a better tribute than all the words spoken in the King's memory. He proposed that all Canadians, as well as business organizations and federal and provincial governments, buy as much as possible from Britain in preference to United States goods.

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta replied to charges that his government had paid $538,000 "hidden subsidy" to horse-racing interests. He called the charge, made Monday by Liberal Leader Harper Prowse, "scandal-mongering and gutter politics."

Mr. Prowse said the subsidy was given to the race organizations for collecting the provincial tax on pari-mutuel betting.

The premier announced that the government proposes to put a ceiling on the amount of pari-mutuel tax grant and to change the system of payment. He said the reason the grants did not show in the public accounts was that the accounts dealt in net revenues.

Drop In Sales

A liquor commission report tabled in the Nova Scotia legislature showed a $1,000,000 drop in sales since 1950. Liquor sales yielded a profit of $9,907,448 for the 16-month period ending last from the previous year but beer, March 31. Rum sales were up whisky and gin were down.

The Saskatchewan legislature voted to set up a committee to inquire into prices of farm machinery. It will look into production costs, selling prices, sales, performance, distribution and use of farm implements and repair parts.

Labor Minister S. E. Mooers of New Brunswick expressed optimism about the future of labor in his province. He said 15 of the 16 industrial disputes referred to his department last year were settled without a work stoppage.

DWINDLING THRONES

There were 20 monarchs in Europe a century ago, compared to only seven today.

No Shortage Of Manpower Expected Now

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP).—The National Advisory Council on Manpower Tuesday heard a forecast of local labor surpluses during 1952 accompanied by shortages of some types of workers.

Reports to the 29-member council indicated the probability of continued layoffs in consumer goods industries accompanied by shifts of labor into defence production, resulting in spots of unemployment.

There is not likely to be any serious shortage of manpower, the council was told in reports from the Labor Department's economic and research branch.

Tackling the winter unemployment problem, the council—set up by the government a year ago to advise on manpower—adopted a recommendation that employers try to arrange year-round work schedules to flatten out peaks and valleys of employment.

Make Suggestions

The advisory group suggested that employers:

1. Try to diversify production to avoid seasonal staff changes.
2. Locate any new plants in areas where they dovetail with the pattern of local employment.

Immigration Minister Harris said there is good evidence to support belief that immigration has been something of a safeguard against a more severe slowing up of work.

He said that:

1. In the winter of 1949-50, the number of unemployed had been higher than the likely peak for this winter, though the number of immigrants in 1949 had been 100,000 below the 1951 total.
2. The greatest number of immigrants in the government's hostels for arrivals this winter had been 3,662, and the number was declining.
3. A survey made in Sherbrooke, Que., had shown that the placement in key positions of 103 immigrants with special skills had opened up 700 new jobs for Canadians.

17 War Criminals Freed By Allies

BONN, Feb. 27 (AP).—The release of 17 German war criminals from Allied prisons was announced Tuesday. They included Kurt Gallenkamp, a former German general once sentenced to be hanged for complicity in the killing of a group of captive British troops.

Britain freed Gallenkamp and 10 others from the war crimes prison at Werl. Two are women. They were SS concentration camp wardresses Helene Kopper and Margarette Mewes.

U.S. Army headquarters announced the release from Landsberg prison last week of six Germans who had completed 10-year sentences, less remission of time for good conduct. They included Fritz Schroeder and William Kraft, convicted of taking part is the murder of U.S. fliers.

Huge Herring Catch

OSLO, Norway — (CP) — The western fisheries of Norway early in February had landed 437,100 tons of sloe herring, or 93,000 tons more than at the same time last year. American scholars studying or teaching in Norway were conducted through the factories at Aalesund, where most of the herring is converted into fish meal and oil.

THE BEARER PARTY of the King's Company, 1st Battalion Grenadier Guards, who carried the coffin of the late King George VI during the funeral ceremonies, have been received by the Queen Mother at Buckingham Palace. The bearers were each given a signed photograph which they are seen carrying in large envelopes as they left the palace.

Coldwell Fears Farm Calamity

OTTAWA, Feb. 27—(CP)—The outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan "could be indeed a calamity greater than any which has struck Canadian agriculture since the great drought of the 1930s," M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said Tuesday night.

In an address prepared for delivery on the C.B.C.'s "Nation's Business" series of free-time political broadcasts, Mr. Coldwell expressed alarm at the effect of the disease on Canadian trade.

He said his party will support a program of maintaining a proper distribution of meat products across Canada, at the same time maintaining a satisfactory floor price for threatened farm commodities.

"This may involve subsidies both to the consumer to dispose of surpluses which cannot be exported, and the maintenance of a parity price for farm products in Canada—in other words, the establishment of a national policy with these ends in view."

House Burns Four Boys Die

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Feb. 27 (CP)—Four boys—the oldest 13 and the youngest four months—died Tuesday when flames swept through their farm home about 150 miles east of here.

Victims were 13-year-old Charles McGratten and his brother Lester, 12; Ross, eight, and Glen, four months.

Three other children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McGratten escaped.

R.C.M.P., investigating the tragedy, said it is believed the fire started from one of the stoves in the two-storey frame house.

R.C.M.P. said the mother and a daughter, five-year-old Norma, are in hospital being treated for burns. Mrs. McGratten's condition is believed serious.

Lawrence, 17, and Donald, 10, escaped without injury.

The father was some 26 miles away hauling wood when the fire broke out.

Capture Bank Bandit After 3,000-Mile Flight

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—(AP)—A bad man of the air age fled a California bank robbery by transcontinental plane, only to drop into the arms of the FBI Tuesday at La Guardia field.

Federal men closed in on him to end in fewer than 15 hours a 300-mile-an-hour drama that was played out far above the clouds, aboard an airliner riding the west winds to New York.

John Richard Bayless, 36, an Alcatraz prison alumnus who dresses and looks more like a banker than a once-convicted bank bandit, tried to pull a gun when he was seized, after being tracked by radio along his coast-to-coast getaway flight, for the $19,600 stick-up Monday morning of the Hollywood branch of the Bank of America.

"Bait money" kept on hand to pass over to any one who might rob the bank, helped to trap him.

Special FBI agent Edward Scheidt said Bayless carried the bank loot in a cowhide brief case as he stepped down from a big, four-engined TWA plane at La Guardia.

The tall, bespectacled ex-convict was held in $100,000 bail for a Federal extradition hearing March 20, after he refused to return voluntarily to California.

Studied Law

Bayless said he studied law in Alcatraz and plans to act as his own lawyer.

Conviction carries a maximum federal term of 20 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

A witness caught the licence number of the gunman's getaway car, which was found abandoned later in Hollywood, a sawed-off shotgun inside.

The FBI said Bayless purchased the car under the name of John R. Bennett. They said they were able to link this name to Bayless as his alias.

A check of airlines showed that a man named Bayless boarded a New York plane, paying his fare, the FBI said, with some of the bank's 'bait money'. Agents rushed to the airport at Dayton, O., where it made a stopover. But it already had taken off again.

Bayless' description was radioed to the plane as it roared over Pittsburgh. Hostess Joyce Eileen Starr, 21, took a peek at the passengers, but most of them, including Bayless, were asleep and wrapped in blankets. The plane was dimly lit.

Just 20 minutes from La Guardia the passengers came awake with the slight switched on and shook off their blankets. Hostess Starr spotted the man in seat No. 6 and radioed a quick description of the passenger to anxious FBI agents at La Guardia.

Judge Approves Noronic Offer

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27—(AP)—Federal Judge Paul Jones Tuesday approved a $2,150,000 settlement of claims resulting from the Noronic steamship tragedy in Toronto three years ago.

Out of 575 suits filed in the fatal fire, only 10 claimants have rejected the settlement offer made by the Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd. Thirty-one others have not indicated whether they wish to approve or reject it.

Judge Jones set March 18 as the deadline for these 41 to participate in the offer or take their cases to court.

Those who have accepted by that date will present their claims to a court-appointed commissioner who will decide their share of the $2,150,000. Judge Jones indicated Ralph Vince will be selected for the job.

Originally, the steamship company said its offer would be withdraw unless acceptnance was given by all claimants. It since has agreed to settle separately with those approving the offer.

The Noronic, a luxury cruise ship, burned September 17, 1949, with the loss of 115 lives. Claims resulting totalled some $19,000,000 with $700,000 the highest amount asked.

Higher Bus Fares

KINGSTON, Feb. 27 — (CP)—Higher bus fares will become effective here March 1. City Council Tuesday night approved the new rate schedule that will price tickets at three for 25c, and a cash fare at 10 cents. The lines operated at a loss of $6,000 during October and November on the old rates.

New Loyalty Check For U.K. Diplomats

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Reuters).—Britain, which "lost" two diplomats mysteriously last May, is to institute a new system of loyalty checks on key men in the foreign service, it was announced in the House of Lords Tuesday.

The new plan will cover important posts in home departments, too, the Marquess of Reading, Foreign Under-Secretary, told the House of Lords.

He said there is no information about the two young men, Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, who left England for France last May and have not been seen since.

Reading disclosed that the authorities have not given up the hunt. Investigations are continuing, he said.

Small Surplus

TORONTO, Feb. 27—(CP)—Provincial Secretary Welsh said Tuesday the University of Toronto showed a surplus of $168.59 for the year ending June 30, 1951. In 1950, the University showed a deficit of $3,695.

Cut Estimates

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP) — Board of control Tuesday knocked a total of $324,879 from estimates submitted by three civic departments for 1952 expenditures. The parks department estimates took the biggest cut—$174,468—but the legal and traffic engineering departments were also reduced.

Robt. A. Norman Dies In Picton

PICTON, Feb. 27 (CP)—Robert Addison Norman, 95, former Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature, died Monday night. He was elected to the Legislature in 1911. At various times, he was a magistrate and town clerk here.

Mr. Norman was born in Picton 20 years after the town was incorporated, always residing in the business block on Mail St., which bears his name and which has been in the family 120 years.

Early in life he was a surveyor and a member of the party which laid out the route for the railway from Trenton to Picton. Later he operated a dry goods store. In 1893 he retired from business and entered municipal politics as town councillor.

In 1890 and 1891 he served as mayor and 45 years later at the age of 80 he again was elected to that office. A brilliant orator, his criticism at nomination meetings always drew a large attendance of ratepayers.

Originally a Liberal he joined the Conservative party in 1907 and in 1908 and 1911 was elected to the Ontario Legislature. His father, Robert Norman Sr., was the first police magistrate in Prince Edward County and held the office for half a century.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Offer Baked Finnan Haddie On Special-Purpose Menu

("The Judge Ate Finnan Haddie!")
Tomato Juice with Lemon
Baked Finnan Haddie
Hard-Cooked Egg Sauce
Tomato Fritters
Fluffy Boiled Rice
Endive and Lettuce and Radish Salad with Garlic French Dressing
Orange Cream Sponge
Orange Sauce. Coffee

DIRECTIONS: The amazing thing about this meal is that the judge ate it and appeared to enjoy every morsel. His wife told the hostess afterwards that when they were first married he had asked her politely but very earnestly never to serve him finnan haddie, for he had had enough in his youth to last an average man two lifetimes.

Baked Finnan Haddie is started by soaking the fish in cold water for 40 minutes. Drain it. Pour boiling water over and let stand 10 minutes. Drain. Have ready a baking dish which has been generously greased and then sprinkled with sifted dry bread crumbs. Place fish on these. Sprinkle with more sifted crumbs. Dot generously with butter. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for not more than 25 minutes. Test to see if it will life away from the bone at thickest part. Place on hot platter garnished with tight border of tomato and lemon wedges alternately. Pass.

Hard-Cooked Egg Sauce: One-third cup butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups hot water or fish stock (use fish stock when you serve this sauce on boiled fish), ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs. Melt one-half of the butter, stir in flour and seasonings, then gradually the water or stock until thick. Stir over low heat 5 minutes, then add remaining butter in small pieces and hot chopped hard-cooked egg. Wonderful on steamed or boiled salmon.

Tomato Fritters: These are a nuisance to make — but if you want to be a cook of chef-calibre you should make these once or twice so that you know how when you want to impress visiting royalty. They are worth all of the trouble. One 28-ozz. tin tomatoes, 6 cloves, 2 tablespoons sugar and 3 slices of onion are cooked gently together for 20 minutes. Force through sieves. To the puree add the salt and pepper. Melt 4 tablespoons butter, stir in ½ cup cornstarch, and when blended stir in the tomato puree; cook 2 minutes stirring. Stir this into 1 beaten egg. Pour onto buttered shallow pan or platter to cool. When cold cut into squares or diamonds or strips, then roll in crumbs, beaten egg (diluted with 1 tablespoon cold water) and in crumbs again. Fry in deep or shallow fat and drain. A wonderful accompaniment to any fish dish.

Orange Cream Sponge

Three tablespoons butter, ¼ cup flour, 1 cup scalded milk, 4 eggs, ¼ cup sugar, tablespoon orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Melt butter, stir in flour, then stir in milk gradually until thickened. Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored and add the orange juice and grated rind to them, and while continuing to beat gradually add the sugar. Stir in the hot mixture. Fold in the egg whites which have been beaten stiff. Turn into buttered mould and steam 35 minutes, tightly covered. Serve hot with Orange Sauce: Beat 2 egg whites stiff and gradually beat in ½ cup powdered sugar. When very stiff add ½ cup orange juice and ½ cup chopped orange sections free of membrane. Serve as soon as possible.

Is it any wonder the judge enjoyed the whole meal?

Fashion Flashes

MILDER WEATHER in some places is apt to bring out the combination of the fabric greatcoat worn over a suit or a cardigan sweater and skirt in rich colors. Emerald green monotone tweed is used for a loose coat with a capelike collar and deep cuffs of black and white tweed. Worn with this is a slim suit of the black and white tweed and a blouse of emerald green wool jersey.

✧ ✧ ✧

A GOOD BREAK is ahead in spring suits designed for juniors, for suits were never prettier. For instance, there's a suit of navy blue flannel with a detachable cape lined in red taffeta to match the undercollar of the jacket. Padded hips of the jacket emphasize the slim skirt.

✧ ✧ ✧

A NEW TWIST to luxury coats of cashmere and fine wool fleece is found in jeweled touches. A wool fleece coat, in high colors—made with a wide, flaring back and huge, turn-back cuffs to the push-up sleeves—has a club collar heavily encrusted with pearl and bugle beads.

✧ ✧ ✧

MADE TO GO with at-home leisure clothes in an Oriental motif or design, is a mule of deep golden brown velvet. The turnback toe and heel is of gold brocade in a rich, colorful, Persian motif.

✧ ✧ ✧

A NICE AND EASY way to dress up a plain sweater is by means of a small collar of felt, made with pinked edges and trimmed with tiny pearls and rhinestones.

DOROTHY DIX

Face Plenty of Heartbreak Girl Warned

DEAR MISS DIX: I am now 21 and for two years have been dating a boy three years older. Recently, in response to his ardent wooing, and with his promise that we would be married as soon as he finished night school, I lost my virtue to him. However, when he finished school, he bought a car and now is in debt for it. He has postponed our marriage until the debt is paid. He has a good job in a nearby city and comes home every weekend. During the week, when he is away, he doesn't want me to go out even with other girls. I get pretty lonesome staying home every night; I don't want to go out with other boys as I love him very much. I want to get married and am sure we could live on what we make (I also have a good job). My bank account could give us a good start. Can I believe his promises that we will be married soon or am I just kidding myself?

MARIE R. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You were very foolish to become intimate with your young man, but it's too late now for scolding. As you seem to realize your own foolhardiness, I hope you are not continuing the intimacy. If you are, you can be sure he'll take his time about marrying you.

You already have a good indication of where you stand when your sweetheart postpones marriage on the flimsy excuse of preferring a car. You are playing second fiddle to a piece of machinery. And that is only the beginning. You'll merit less and less consideration, until suddenly you'll realize everything is over between you and some other girl is due to get the wedding ring.

Set A Deadline

Make a clear-cut issue of the whole affair. Insist on a definite —and prompt—wedding date, or break off completely. And don't be lured into surrendering your bank account by further false promises. Let your boy friend pay his own debts. If he marries you and you keep your job, help out with your salary, but money in the bank is a wonderful security—and the only one you're likely to have for quite a while.

Do you realize how much you have given up already to a demanding sweetheart, with absolutely no return—not even a modicum of consideration? You're not even supposed to have a girl friend, but I'm sure the boy friend isn't spending his evenings alone while he's away. You can be quite sure his precious car isn't kept in the garage all week.

As things are now, you face nothing but a bleak future with plenty of heartbreak. Get out of this mess while you have a chance. Make a new life for yourself with new friends—boys and girls that will be dependable and honorable. All you have is a vacillating, selfish and self-centred man who will never bring you happiness.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21, and for the past nine months have been going with a boy. He is a great talker, and exaggerates grossly. I think I love him until he begins to talk, then I almost dislike him. He is also untidy and careless about his appearance; I am just the opposite. Do you think he will improve later?

M. E. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have a bad combination of faults to correct in your young man, and I scarcely think it's worth the effort. While you might shame him into a minimum of tidiness, his talkiness will probably never be overcome. Voluble talkers seem to be among the unreformables of the world. If these qualities grate on your nerves now, they'll bother you more and more—not less. Why not cast your line again in the waters of masculine availability and see if you can't come up with a better specimen?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with my fiance, but was told recently by a relative of his that he is marrying me only because the first of the sons in the family to be married will inherit the father's homestead. He has never given me cause to doubt his love, but I have been worrying over this rumor.

M.D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This yarn has a dubious touch to it; someone, I think, is out to cause a little trouble and your gullibility may make the attempt succeed. Whenever a question arises around a betrothed, the best attack is the direct one. Ask your fiance outright just how much, if any, truth there is to the story. Don't make a big issue of it; tell him jokingly that you heard this story and ask him what he thinks of it.

Elizabethan Era Will Wield Wide Influence In Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 27—(CP)—Pondering on fashion in the new Elizabethan era, British writers forecast that dresses worn by Queen Elizabeth II, like those of her ancestor "Good Queen Bess", will affect clothes trends—but on a far wider scale.

Whereas the first Elizabeth influenced only court styles, the new Queen's sense of fashion will be reflected at all levels of society.

After the Canadian tour, women in all parts of Britain and the Commonwealth discussed and envied the rich velvet coats, slim tailored suits and glittering crinoline gowns worn by Elizabeth. These were recorded with beauty of detail in such epics as the Canadian tour film "Royal Journey."

Styles worn by Elizabeth on many important occasions have been in production within the month—and sold at prices acceptable to the general public. Such things as the coat and hat she wore to leave London on her honeymoon were reproduced and sold by the hundred, on home and overseas markets.

Loves Glitter

Taking into consideration the increased elegance and maturity of the Queen's styles since her marriage, fashion writers incline to think Elizabeth will play an even greater role as fashion leader. Edna McKenna of the Daily Graphic says that styles worn during the Canadian tour may start "a revival of essentially feminine clothes."

Like her ancestor of the earlier Elizabethan era, Elizabeth loves the glittering feminity of jewel encrusted crinoline ball gowns that give a sparkle to formal state occasions. And with true feminity she shows preference for the graceful sweep of Princess lines that effectively emphasize her 23-inch waist.

The Canadian wardrobe included many such styles. One outstanding example was the olive-green velvet cloth with nipped-in waist and swinging skirt fullness.

The Queen has already set her seal on more than one current favorite. She was the first of the Royal family to wear shorter evening styles. Ballet-length dresses formed part of both the Canadian and Australian tour wardrobes.

Secret Wardrobe

In the early days of her reign, observations on the Queen's fashion sense were based partly on clothes worn in Canada. So far, the would-be Australian wardrobe remains a secret aboard the Gothic. It is expected, however, that the clothes will be flown to London for wear in June when court mourning is ended.

But the more elaborate of these styles are unlikely to be worn for some time. The summer choice is expected to feature delicate half-shades with a smattering of white and black. The Queen has shown a preference for black on other occasions than court mourning.

And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughter Alberta.

Ability Impaired Driver Fined $50

Edward Dunn, 12 Kent St., was convicted of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and fined $50 and $35.95 costs in police court today.

The charge against Dunn was laid by Chief Constable William Parcels of Norwood after Dunn was involved in an accident on Victoria St., in the village, January 21.

Dunn was driving a panel truck north on Victoria St., when he ran into the rear of a parked car owned by Erwin Payne, of Norwood.

Treated By Doctor

Dr. C. M. Scott testified that he treated Dunn for chest injuries and a bruised left knee four days after the accident.

Defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair argued that Dunn's injuries accounted for his "staggering" and being "unsteady on his feet," as described by Chief Parcels.

Dunn said he had had five glasses of beer in the Hastings Hotel a short time before but that he was used to drinking beer and it had not affected his driving. He said he did not see the truck in time to avoid the accident.

Ross Aldred, of Norwood, who was talking to Payne when the truck ran into the rear of Payne's car said there was between 15 and 20 feet clearance between the Payne car and the other side of the street for traffic to get by.

"On the evidence, I have no hesitation in finding the accused guilty of impairment," said Magistrate Philp.

Knifing Attack Brings Charge

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP). — Stano Pantusa, 40-year-old Italian immigrant, today was charged with wounding with intent to maim in connection with a knifing attack on his wife and a male companion on a west-end street Tuesday night.

He will appear in court later today to face charges of wounding Mrs. Pantusa, 33, and Carmen Versace, 24, of Ottawa.

Mrs. Pantusa is in "satisfactory" condition in hospital with severe multiple wounds about the chest and neck. Versace was cut about the face, but was not detained at hospital following treatment.

Police said they could furnish no motive for the attack. They said Mrs. Pantusa and Versace, both employed at a downtown cleaning firm, were walking along Aberdeen Street when they met the woman's husband.

The three stopped and talked for several minutes. Suddenly, police said, Pantusa whipped out a "dagger-like" knife from his pocket and started slashing at his wife and Versace.

Following the attack, Pantusa allegedly fled. He was arrested shortly after by police.

Hunger, Neglect Killed Baby

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP). — A coroner's jury Tuesday night ruled that Madeline Robert, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Robert of suburban Eastview, died Feb. 7 as a result of bronchial pneumonia, undernourishment and lack of care.

The jury recommended that the future care of the remaining five children of the family be supervised by a welfare organization.

Assistant Crown Attorney E. Houston described conditions in the home as shocking."

Seven members of the Robert family shared one room in a converted house where they lived, slept and ate. A single wood-stove in the room failed to provide proper warmth.

The family's living conditions came to light after the baby died in hospital Feb. 7. Dr. Desmond Magner testified that an autopsy showed that the baby's body was covered with sores and rashes, that she was undernourished and suffering from acute bronchial pneumonia.

The 27-year-old mother fainted in the courtroom after testifying as to the circumstances preceding the baby's death.

Public Library Asks City For $50,000 For 1952

The Board of Directors of the Public Library are asking that an appropriation of $50,000 for the library be included in the 1952 civic budget.

In 1951 the council's appropriation was $40,700.

This request for an increased appropriation arose from the increase in 1952 library estimates presented at a special meeting of the library board Tuesday afternoon. The estimates are subject to the approval of the finance committee of the council.

Expenses Up

Library expenditure estimates for 1952 show an increase of $11,347.49 over the 1951 estimates. The 1952 estimates total $60,847.49 and the 1951 estimates, $49,500.00. Total expenditure in 1951 was $50,303.10.

The increase in estimates includes salary increases, appropriation for painting and cleaning the exterior of the library building, the purchase of microfilm copies of the Examiner and a microfilm viewer and heating.

Total salary increase estimates are $6,520, an average increase of $300 to each of the 15 members of the staff of the main and branch libraries.

Following are itemized estimates of the library committee with 1951 estimates in brackets: salaries, $33,340 ($27,800); pension contribution, $1,017 ($900); books, $9,000 ($9,000); periodicals, $700 ($700); bookbinding materials, $400 ($400); printing and stationery, $500 ($500); art exhibits, $150 ($150); picture purchase, $250 ($250); records, $200 ($200); branch library, $4,575 ($5,545.)

Property Committee

The increase in the property committee estimates is $960. Following are the 1952 itemized estimates of this committee: maintenance, $2,360 ($1.400); furniture $400 ($400); fuel, $800 ($800); light and water $600 ($600); taxes $4,265 ($3,325.)

The increase in the finance committee estimates is $25. Following are the 1952 itemized estimates of this committee: travel expenses $250 ($300); public relations, $125 ($100); insurance $275 ($300); telephone $400 ($400); postage $225 ($200); sundries $400 ($400.)

The estimated receipts for 1952 are as follows with 1951 receipt estimates in brackets: balance forward, $690.86 ($476.49); City treasurer, $50,000 ($40,700); fines, subs., etc., $1,486.63 ($1,023.); interest on bonds $450 ($300); Provincial government grant $8,200 ($7,000).

Total estimated receipts are $60,847.49 for 1952 and for 1951, $49,500.

Merry Wives

theme of jealousy (Master Ford played by John Campbell) went too farcical. There was not the "sudden sombre note, slightly frightening, of a man who is so deeply jealous that he suspects wrongly—and not just melodramatically". But Master Ford's performance had "a strange reality"; if his voice were better placed "it would be a really first class performance". Mr. LeFevre thought that Ford's bearded disguise as Mr. Brook was too thin.

The two merry wives (Brenda Davies and Maralin Munro) "struck the right note between glamour and hard-bitten middle-class wives" but "robbed us of a certain amount of extra pleasure when they were alone." He criticized their lack of variety in pitch of voice.

He thought that the first act failed somewhat in its complete detail. "Many little moments could have been explained better by saying lines more clearly and by acting in the mood of the scene." For instance, it was not clear that Falstaff was broke, and why his gang was ready to abjure him.

Confident Attack

"There is no question that the presentation was as clear as a bell". Actors "attacked the text with confidence".

Shallow (Clayton Bullock) "did not find the kernel of character; he did not progress". Slender (James Gardner) gave a "clever consistent performance" but missed the "real shyness, the reason for being a sissy"—he was not sufficiently blushing and tender. Master Page (Douglas Warner) had a "good presence" but could have had "more geniality and breeziness, Elizabethan prosperity and gaiety". Corporal Nym (Gary Stevenson) "needed to be more aggressive". Bardolph (Donald Munro) was a "real, heavy dypsomaniac"; Pistol (Robertson Davies) was "very clear . . . general appearance excellent" and had necessary flambuoyance. Mistress Quickly (Lindy McIntosh) exploited fully a certain side of the character but had "a sing-song way of speaking . . . lacked a directness". The inn-keeper (Albert Hill) had "a clown-like quality."

Mr. LeFevre said, looking up at it from the stage, that he realized that the lighting equipment was restricting, and that that explained why more variety in lighting to highlight moods was not possible. He felt that the night scene was well lit; and very successful in the boldness of its staging.

Praise and Criticism

He had praise for Dr. Caius (Roger Davis): "Played with very good feeling for the temper of the man; I liked his performance from beginning to end"; and for Sir Hugh Evans (George Cobb) the Welsh priest: "extreme clarity of diction; keen delicate sense of comedy; real exploitation of his part". And for Robin, played by Jennifer Davies: "a real little actress; has a sense of occasion".

So detailed and comprehensive was Mr. LeFevre's criticism that after general remarks on the play, he dealt with every actor, down to the pages and servants who had only a few lines.

Comprehensive Criticism

In his introductory remarks Mr. LeFevre said that every part had its own importance; he recognized this in his criticism. No actor was passed over; all came in for their share of either praise or gentle, though incisive, censure.

The audience appreciated the criticism, favourable and unfavourablee. When he found room for improvement, the adjudicator, himself an actor and producer, was able to show by comment, gesture and face, what kind of improvement he meant. His criticisms were kindly, but did not shirk. It was the first time that a Peterborough audience has had a truly professional criticism of its favourite and esteemed theatre group.

Mr. LeFevre gave a notable performance. It was a highlight of the evening. Within minutes of the final curtain (there was no curtain, by the way—a matter of which he approved), Mr. LeFevre was giving a masterly review of the play. He has an appealing stage presence, and speaks with disarming modesty and candour. I would not miss one of his adjudications for the price of a series ticket.

The thoroughness of the adjudicator's criticism testifies to the importance, achievement, and artistic endeavour of the Peterborough Little Theatre production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor". No other theatre group in Canada, professional or amateur, has done three major Shakespeare plays in last five years. First was "Taming Of The Shrew (1949); next "Twelfth Night" (1951) and now "Merry Wives of Windsor."—TJA

Duncan Sisters Reappear In Comeback

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Duncan sisters, who made and lost millions as "Topsy and Eva," opened another chapter in their fabulous career Tuesday night by staging a comeback.

A capacity crowd packed the Saddle and Sirloin restaurant in nearby San Fernando Valley and cheered the old-timers. After 45 minutes of their comedy and songs, Rosetta (Topsy) and Vivian (Eva) bowed off in tears.

They won't admit their ages—"because if we did people would say we are 12 years older than that." They are in their late 50s, but they performed with the zest of starlets. Vivian played the piano and Rosetta, always the comedienne in the act, bounced around and kidded with the audience.

The Duncans are resuming their career after a 10-year lapse.

Movie Planned

One reason for their return is that their lives soon will be filmed, with Betty Hutton as Rosetta and Ginger Rogers as Vivian.

"We wanted to prove to people that we weren't dead," Rosetta said.

The Duncans' career ranged from the courts of Europe to the bankruptcy courts. Like Tuesday night's performance, their first one was in a restaurant — Tait's in San Francisco, in 1916. Gus Edwards discovered them in a Coney Island amateur show and sent them to Broadway success.

The act broke up when Vivian married silent film star Nils Asther and retired to Europe. The Duncans' fortunes faded with the crash of 1929.

Ban Rice Exports

HONG KONG, Feb. 27—(AP)—Thailand, one of the few countries with a rice surplus, has banned all rice exports. Spokesmen said this British crown colony was not generally alarmed over the ban, which presumably is temporary while Thailand sets up a new system of import-export control.

Penguins Click In Fourth For Hoop Win

Y-Knots, using Hugh Dibben, centre for Marines, chalked up their second straight win in the Y.M.C.A. house league Tuesday night when they set back Y-Jacks 50-36. In the second game, Penguins broke into the win column with a close 32,28 victory over Normal School.

The Y-Jacks led by Ted Payne, also of Marines, built up a five-point lead in the first quarter, then held a 24-21 score at the half, thanks to the basket-hunting of Bill Huntley.

But in that second quarter, Y-Knots began to hit their stride and never stopped that pace until the final whistle. Payne and Batchelor sank points regularly throughout the second half as Y-Knots took the lead 38-31 at the three-quarter, adding 12 more in the fourth.

Dibben starred for Y-Knots with a steady game working from under the basket for 23 points. Teammate Batchelor drifted in 12 points and Fowler eight. For Y-Jacks, Payne with push shots from close in, totalled 17 points while Spragge netted 10.

Penguins Rally

A last-quarter scoring slump by Normals handed the Penguins their 32-38 victory. Normals had held a slim lead in the rough going throughout the first three quarters, then were outscored 10-2 in the final for the loss.

Laundry, Rikely, Roblin and McFadden sank nine points for Normals in the first quarter as they took a seven point lead on Penguins. The birds came back with a blistering attack in the second quarter, featuring Canning, Gandy and Thompson for 11 points. But baskets by McFadden and Hulsman gave Normals a 15-13 score at the half.

Both teams hit a fast pace in the third with Normals again holding a slim lead with a distributed display of scoring. They were still up at the third quarter 26-22 and then collapsed in the fourth scoring for only two foul shots. Led by Canning, the Penguins rapped in 10 for the win.

Canning topped the scoring with 10 points with a passing attack with Thompson who also scored seven. McFadden with seven and Laundry six were tops for Normals. Lineups:

First game, Y-Knots (50) — Batchelor 12, Butcher, Fowler 8, Jamieson 3, Harwood 4, Dibben 23.

Y-Jacks (36) — Spragge 10, Whithard, Dunning 2, Huntley 7, B. Payne, T. Payne 17.

Second game, Penguins (32)— Canning 10, Motta, Bogue 2, Outram, Hurrle 4, English 5, Gandy 4, Thompson 7.

Normals (28) — McFadden 7, McMartin 4, Roblin 4, Radnor, Rikely 2, Hulsman 4, Pigden, Northcott 1, Laundry 6.

Brown, Likas Are Suspended

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27 — (AP)—Tom Brown, former United States Davis Cupper, and Harry Likas, once among this country's top 10, have been suspended by the Northern California Tennis Association for playing an exhibition with professionals.

It was understood the directors were prepared to reinstate the pair after they apologize. The ban will be recognized nationally until lifted.

Brown ranked No. 4 nationally in 1950. That year he plucked the only U.S. victory as Australia grabbed the Davis Cup, four matches to one. Both he and Likas played only in California tourneys last season.

They were suspended Tuesday for playing an exhibition against pros Don Budge and Jack Kramer, perpetual pro king, Sunday at Pebble Beach, Calif. Amateur rules prohibit play in an unsanctioned tourney for which admission is charged without specific clearance from the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Quote Batman As Admitting Double Slaying

PEMBROKE, Feb. 27—(CP)—The Crown is expected to conclude its case today against Batman Joseph Lanoie, of Welland, in his trial for murder.

The 36-year-old veteran of the Second World War is charged with the New Year's Eve slaying of Spr. James Wesley Caulfield, 20, of Pine Falls, Man., and Craftsman Clifford E. Johannson, 19, of Saskatoon, following a drinking party in the headquarters officers' mess at nearby Petawawa military camp.

Eight witnesses testified for the Crown Tuesday. Among them was Cpl. W. H. F. King, N.C.O. in charge of the mess, where the bodies of the two men were found.

King said he received a telephone call in his quarters early the morning of the slaying and a voice, which he said was Lanoie's told him:

"I have killed your two bar men. Will you come up?"

He said he told Lanoie to "go back to bed and don't bother me at this time of the morning," but when the call was repeated two or three minutes later and then the Provost Corps was also called King dressed and left for the mess.

At the mess, King said, he was greeted by Lanoie with: "It's a good thing you didn't come sooner. I had one for you."

Very Stable

Lieut. B. H. Goss, one of the officers for whom Lanoie worked at Petawawa, told the court Lanoie was "a very stable person" who did an excellent job of his work. He said he had never seen Lanoie drunk on the job.

The gun allegedly used in the shooting was the property of Lieut. Goss, who said he kept it in the drawer of a bedside table in his room. The room was always locked but Lanoie, as his batman, had a duplicate key to the door.

Earlier, Staff-Sergeant W. W. Sutherland, ballistics expert of the R.C.M.P. Rockcliffe Crime Detection Laboratory, said the bullet taken from Caufield's neck definitely had been fired from the pistol identified as the one taken from Lieut. Goss' room.

CANADIAN PAIR FIFTH—Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden, both of Toronto, finished fifth in Olympic pairs figure-skating championships at Oslo. The two, Canadian pairs champions, were competing in their first international event.

Cobourg Wins To Go Into Playoffs

COBOURG, Feb. 27. — The miracle team of the Lakeshore loop, Cobourg Comets, sent Bowmanville Barons into the discard for this season by taking the third game of the semi-final round, 5-2, here Monday night.

Bowmanville, league winners, were favored to take the series easily and won the first game of the set, 9-5. They were never able to down the Comets again. Main reason for the locals' win streak was goalie Stu Lingard, and in the final game of the set he again rose to the heights, holding the Bowmanville crew off time after time when it appeared to be on the verge of a scoring spree.

Comets broke on top, held even in a goalless second period and walked away in the third.

Veteran Cliff Maundrell gave Cobourg the lead in the first and although Bob Bird got that one back, little Jon Fisher put the winners ahead again before the bell ended the opener.

Two goals by Cobourg defenceman Bob Cooper early in the third made it safe, and Ken Wilcox picked up a last-minute Comet goal.

A wild melee marred the otherwise peaceful series in the third session when Buckwheat Cowle and Doug Fisher squared off. Players of both clubs jumped into the fray. During the fight a woman spectator and some male fans grabbed Maundrell and the Cobourg star was punching up at them while at the same time trying to untangle his hair from the woman's clutch. Fisher and Cowle got majors, Lingard a minor and the referees put Cobourg's large football star policeman, Homer Seale, in the penalty box with the gladiators to ensure peace. It was kept.

Bill Given Approval

JERUSALEM, Feb. 27 (AP) — Israel's parliament, the Knesset, gave approval Tuesday night to a bill to abolish capital punishment for murder. If it passes final readings, hanging would be the penalty only for treason and for Nazi war crimes.

Cost Accountants Can Aid Firms To Plan Future

The role of the industrial accountant in business was the topic Tuesday night of an address by G. I. Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Association of Industrial and Cost Accountants.

He spoke to about 40 members of the Peterborough chapter of the association who met for dinner in the Empress Hotel.

Particularly Mr. Mackenzie stressed the need of accurate forecasting in business. Too many businessmen were working on a day-to-day basis; not enough were looking forward.

Can Make Predictions

That, he said, was where the industrial accountant came in. He was qualified to prepare budgets, and make the needed predictions as accurately as they could be made.

Mr. Mackenzie said that a firm should "try to work itself into a comfortable position—where it doesn't need the aid of credit agencies."

Too often, he said, credit agencies hold a greater share in a business than the owner does. One of the main causes of this was over-investment in merchandise.

Nelson Allen, secretary-manager of both the Ontario and Canadian associations, reported briefly on the cross-country tour he and Mr. Mackenzie were concluding with visits to association branches in Ontario.

He spoke of the progress in educational facilities made by the association, and of the increase in size of the association. Mr. Mackenzie was introduced by Mr. Allen and thanked by Gordon Langhorne.

Report Markings Cause Uproar

TORONTO, Feb. 27 — (CP). — An attempt by some teachers to clarify Toronto report card marking systems by adding plus and minus signs to the "outstanding, satisfactory or unsatisfactory" ratings has raised a storm of protest in the Board of Education.

Trustee Stewart Bell objected to the additional markings because they had been used without consulting the board. He was told Public School Superintendent Phimister had told teachers they could make the change, but there was nothing official.

Ontario Badly Worried About Spread Of Cattle Infection In The West

TORONTO, Feb. 27 —(CP)—The Ontario Legislature today gets down to work, with the start of debate on the first of the 20 Government bills, introduced so far.

The House, which assembled last Thursday, started another phase of its business Tuesday when John Robarts (PC-London) launched the Throne speech debate with a plea for a new and sounder basis of taxation at the Federal, Provincial and municipal government levels.

Concern over the outbreak of foot and mouth disease among cattle in Saskatchewan also was voiced Tuesday and Premier Frost announced that the Federal government had complied with Ontario's request for an embargo against shipments of cattle from the West to Ontario.

The Premier said the disease was highly contagious and had no known cure, and thus no step was too strong to prevent its spread. He said he had promised the Federal government the help of provincial agricultural officials in trying to avoid an outbreak in Ontario.

In opening the Throne speech debate. Mr. Robarts made the traditional motion for an address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. He was seconded by John Root (PC-Wellington North).

Mr. Robarts said the real estate taxation powers of municipalities had "an absolute limit which is being rapidly approached." He urged a "realistic" approach by Ottawa to avoid the possibility of "something approaching disaster" to municipalities.

Ontario Worried

The question of the western outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease was raised at the opening of the House's business by W. M. Nickle (PC-Kingston) and opposition leader Farquar Oliver. Both expressed concern over the consequences to Ontario farms if the disease should spread from the west and Mr. Oliver urged a special check be made on cattle which were in transit from the west when the embargo was put in effect.

Lands Minister Scott introduced a bill which implements one of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Forestry. It consolidates the provisions of eight statutes covering the major administrative work of the Lands and Forests Department. The aim of the consolidation is to reduce confusion and overlapping in the present statutes.

The report of the Ontario Northland Railway, tabled in the House, showed the province-owned railway did a booming business in 1950. The O.N.R. earned a net operating profit of $1,935,881 in the year—nearly double the 1949 earnings. The report said the increase was mainly due to a substantial increase in freight revenues and a decrease in expenses.

Won't Effect Chairman Job

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 — (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday appointment of a secretary-general for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization won't affect his job as chairman of the N.A.T.O. Council.

Returning from the council meeting in Lisbon, he said he will finish out his year as chairman of the council regardless of whether Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador in Washington, agrees to take over the new job of secretary-general.

World Obligations Keynote Of Throne Speech

OTTAWA, Feb. 28—(CP)—In a sombre setting, the sixth session of Canada's 21st parliament was opened today with the reading of a speech from the throne that noted the government's continued concern over the international situation.

The 1,300-word speech forecast measures to meet domestic problems and to fulfill Canada's international commitments.

The speech was read by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, installed a few hours earlier as governor-general.

The welcome to the new governor-general was tempered by mourning for King George. The mourning caused a curtailment of many of the colorful functions usually associated with the opening of a session.

"The situation throughout the world continues to cause concern and to require my ministers to devote a great deal of attention to our external affairs", said the speech.

Must Increase Strength

"The government remains convinced that the nations of the free world must continue to increase their combined strength, in order to ensure lasting peace and security by the effective discouragement of aggression".

Reference was made to the "distinguished service" of Canadian forces to Europe. Without elaborating, the speech said "amendments to legislation relating to our armed forces will be submitted for your approval".

Mr. Massey read the speech from the dais of the senate chamber where members of the senate and the commons, representatives of the diplomatic corps and others had gathered.

He was dressed in the uniform of his office. It was made of dark-blue cloth and trimmed with silver on a scarlet background. He wore Wellington boots with spurs and a cocked hat with swan plumes. He carried a sword.

Feel Great Loss

Referring to the death of the King, the speech said that "in no part of the Commonwealth has the sense of personal loss been more deeply felt that in our country". Sympathies were expressed to members of the Royal Family and a pledge of loyalty was given to the new Queen.

As to legislation, the speech contained little not previously forecast.

Approval will be sought of a second contribution of $25,000,000 to the Colombo plan for technical assistance to underdeveloped areas. The Japanese peace treaty will be submitted for ratification.

The outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in Saskatchewan was mentioned.

New Disease Strikes Ontario Cattle

Herd of 45 Shot Near Thamesville With Tropical Ailment

OTTAWA, Feb. 28. (CP)—The Agriculture Department disclosed today that a new cattle disease has been uncovered on an Ontario farm where a number of cattle have died.

The new disease was identified as a variety of trypanosomiasis, transmitted by a parasite. It has never before hit Canada.

The outbreak was uncovered at a farm at Kintore, near Thamesville, Ont., and first reports were that about a dozen cattle have died and more than two dozen were infected.

J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said the new cases had been under observation for a number of weeks.

Mr. Taggart said the exact variety of trypanosomiasis uncovered has not been finally determined, "but one thing you may be sure," he said, "it is not foot-and-mouth disease."

Not Contagious

"The disease dies with the animal. It is not contagious and we are confident it will not spread."

The Department said the disease was uncovered at the Wallace Heron farm between Kintore and Thamesford.

Today the last of the 45 head of beef cattle on the Heron farm were shot in an effort to stamp out the disease.

A quarantine was placed on the farm, seven miles north of here, after 15 of the 45 Herefords sickened and died. When the last of the herd was shot today, the carcasses were buried in a trench scraped out of a frozen pasture.

Federal and Provincial officials diffiered in their diagnosis of the disease. Federal government officials said it was Trypanosomiasis. Provincial experts referred to it as Anaplasomis, a rare disease, also tropical.

Little Danger

Unlike foot-and-mouth disease, the danger of contagion from this latest disease is believed comparatively slight. No other farms have been quarantined in the area long famed for its prize dairy herds.

Thamesford is 10 miles west of Ingersoll, centre of the cheese-producing industry of Ontario.

Deep burial of carcasses was ordered by the federal government after laboratory tests iden-

Men Land Safely Though 17 Trying First Jump

By DON MacKENZIE

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 28. (CP)—Eighteen United States airmen "hit the silk" to safety in a blinding blizzard early today and their big transport plane hurtled harmlessly into a wood at the edge of this steel city of 30,000. The men, 17 without previous jumping experience, took to their parachutes after 20 fruitless attempts to land at the nearby Reserve Airport. They abandoned the C-47 with fuel for only three minutes remaining. None was seriously injured.

One of the worst blizzards in a storm-dogged winter stalked the plane all the way on its hop from Westover Field, Mass. It was en route to Torbay, Nfld. The plane narrowly missed dwellings on its final plunge.

The crew first tried to outrun the storm but conditions became steadily worse. The Westover-Yarmouth, N. S., leg, normally a one-hour hop, took more than 2½ hours.

Tried To Hand.

They decided to land at the reserve airport, on the low-lying "barrens" a few miles from the menacing Atlantic.

Time and time again the big transport swooped over the airport— once to a height of 10 feet— but could not make the touchdown. Capt. T. E. Koblenski, his engines spluttering for fuel, stuck at the controls until all were gone and then leaped into the howling storm clad only "in shirtsleeves and parachute."

Staff Sgt. L. A. Redinger, a Pennsylvanian who had jumped four times previously, conducted an impromptu parachute course as the men hit the silk one by one.

Good Teacher.

"It must be the shortest course on record but it must have been O.K. We're all here," said one snow-encrusted survivor.

Chief dread of the airmen was that they would fall in the Atlantic but they also faced perils from the storm, with gales reaching 50 miles an hour. Several floated close beside high-tension wires that would spell instant death. Others dangled from trees for a time, bashed by the gale.

The escape door jammed at first but broke loose on a frantic second try. Lt.-Col. James A. Harron of Grosse Point, Mich., landed on a hilltop and had to be evacuated by a toboggan. He suffered several cracked ribs.

Rent Controls Ended Soon Legislature Plan

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP)—The ending of rent controls in the near future in areas of Ontario with available housing was indicated in the legislature Wednesday.

The government presented a set of regulations designed to gather together and simplify all existing rent-control statutes and regulations.

Several new conditions are contained in the regulations, however, and one will permit the government to lift the controls in any municipality, to take effect six months after the order unless the local council asks that they be continued.

Premier Frost said he hoped certain areas could be decontrolled immediately, but that the decision in each area depended on the local supply of accommodation.

Want Total Decontrol

"Our aim is to achieve total decontrol as soon as possible," Mr. Frost said, "but in some areas that will not be possible for some time."

The measures aimed at broadening the probation and rehabilitation of convicts were brought up Wednesday for second reading—approval in principle.

Extension of probation facilities, embodies in an amendment to the juvenile and family court act, passed without comment. But a new parole act was held up by J. B. Salsberg (Lab.Prog.-Toronto

Ask Accounting For Civilians In Red Hands

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 28 (AP)—U.N. truce negotiators today asked the Communists for another acounting of non-Korean civilians believed captured by the Reds.

Staff officers handed back to the armistice sub-committee the deadlock over voluntary repatriation of prisoners. The officers reached virtual agreement on all other points. The sub-committee will meet Friday.

Allied staff officers handed Communist delegates a list of 57 names—two more than were on the orignal U.N. list Dec. 30. The new names are those of the Rev. Jean Colin, a French Roman Catholic missionary, and Alfred Gerald Matti, a Swiss national.

The Reds disclosed late last month that 48 foreign civilians are interned in North Korea, but 21 weren't on the Allied list. Thus the U.N. still seeks an accounting of 30 civilians who may be held by the Communists.

Give Guarantee

Col. James C. Murray gave Red negotiators the new Allied list after the Communists asked for a guarantee that foreign nationals in Allied-held territory would be returned. Murray said he knew of none and asked for names. However, he indicated there would be no objections to writing such a guarantee into the armistice agreement.

Police Locate Immigrant In Vancouver; Cattle Disease Controlled

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—A man who speaks only German today was a potential threat to Canada's economy and the object of a two-province search. Willi Bruntjen, a 29-year-old recent immigrant, became the object of an R.C.M.P. hunt when foot-and-mouth disease was discovered among cattle on a southern Saskatchewan farm where he worked. Discovery of the easily-spread disease brought import embargoes by the United States on livestock, hay and straw.

Police want Bruntjen to undergo laboratory tests to determine whether he is carrying the virus of foot-and-mouth disease. He isn't wanted on a criminal charge but authorities want to make sure he isn't spreading the disease which has brought mild paralysis to the livestock industry in its wake.

VANCOUVER.—(CP)—Willi Bruntjen, 29-year-old immigrant, sought as possible carrier of the foot-and-mouth disease ravaging Saskatchewan cattle, was found here today in the immigration quarters and taken to R.C.M.P. headquarters.

Bruntjen is known as the "man with the pompadour." He usually goes hatless and has dark brown hair. He was last reported en route to Montreal or Toronto by train from near Port Arthur.

Police Co-Operate

Police in every village, town and city co-operated with the R.C.M.P. in trying to locate Bruntjen who was reported located once. Later he was found to have boarded the train three days ago apparently at Heron Bay, Ont.

When he left the west, Bruntjen was seeking bush work and there is a possibility he may unwittingly be carrying the virus for foot and mouth disease on his clothing.

At Toronto, city police and R.C.M.P. searched through rooming houses and hotels in the downtown area for Bruntjen. They unsuccessfully checked on rooming houses for a young man who answered his description.

Police there said he was fairly tall, well-dressed, with dark brown hair worn long and combed in a pompadour style. He was bareheaded and wore a grey top-coat.

Some Encouragement

Meanwhile, there was some encouragement for the livestock industry in reports from Regina that no new cases of the disease have been discovered. In quarantined southern Saskatchewan, there are 24 known cases.

Another encouraging sign was an agricultural department statement that the United States may modify its embargoes because Canada is well-staffed with experienced veterinarians.

Agricultural Minister Gardiner, on his way back here from Vancouver, said he believes the situation is well under control. He also said inter-provincial boundaries shouldn't be closed to livestock while the federal government is trying to convince the United States to ease its embargoes.

Edmonton cattle shippers made one attempt to beat the British Columbia embargo. A 29-car livestock train was sent off today. It crossed the border before the midnight deadline.

Huge Ramp Collapses Foreman Killed, 7 Injured

HULL, Que., Feb. 28. (CP)—One hundred tons of wet concrete Wednesday night buried a construction foreman when seven workmen were injured in the collapse of a ramp being built at the partly-erected government printing bureau building here.

Theophile Lafleur, 54, of Hull, was standing below wooden forms while his workmen poured concrete into a 75-by-20 foot ramp. His body was recovered seven hours later. The section collapsed dropping Lafleur and the others 25 feet into the basement of the building.

Three men—Marcel Peterson, 26; Rack Benoit, 30, both of Hull; and Antonio Maniaci, 32, of Ottawa—were detained in hospital. Peterson had head injuries, Benoit's were internal and Maniaci suffered severe head and body lacerations.

Four others—Gervasi Valentino, 40; Mazzareno Mancone, 23; Virgilio Busso, 36, all of Ottawa; and Leo Bisson, 41, of Hull—were released after treatment for cuts and bruises.

Search Under Lights

The search for Lafleur went on under searchlights because of the slowly-hardening concrete. Giant cranes hauled away tons of cement and steel supports.

Spokesmen for the construction company said the jacks supporting the cement may have collapsed, or the cement already poured may not have hardened sufficiently.

At hospital Valentino said the collapse occurred just before the crew finished for the night. Mancone said Lafleur, father of 10, had no chance to escape.

"I was putting in the cement and there was a sort of cracking sound," Busso said. "All at once the ramp started to go under my feet and then I just fell right to the bottom."

Police threw a cordon around the building, a four-storey structure of which three storeys have been completed. They announced about 10 p.m., four hours after the mishap, there was no hope of Lafleur surviving.

U.S. Declines Ease Embargo

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—The United States has declined to ease its rigid embargo on Canadian livestock and animal products, the Agriculture Department disclosed today.

The U.S. clamped on an embargo which applied to all of Canada following announcement of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in South Saskatchewan. Canada tried to persuade the U.S. to ease the embargo on products from provinces far removed from the quarantined area.

But the department said in a statement today that "further advice" received from the Canadian Embassy in Washington indicates there is little likelihood that the ban "will be modified for any one part of the country so long as the outbreak lasts."

The big problem in easing the embargo to a regional one is that the United States government would have to amend its statutes which would require an act of Congress.

The department said:

"According to advice received, the U.S. market will not be opened for unrestricted entry of the named products from any part of Canada until the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture can certify that the disease no longer exists in Canada."

Missing Nurse On Way Home

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 — (CP) — Lieut. Elizabeth Sansom, missing since Dec. 25 and located Tuesday in New York city, is on her way home, it was learned Wednesday night.

The 26-year-old nurse, described by the army as appearing to have been a victim of amnesia is expected to arrive at Fredericton, N.B., about noon today Her parents live at Stanley, N.B.

Miss Sansom left the army hospital at Kingston Dec. 24 last, presumably to visit relatives in Sherbrooke, Que. When she failed to arrive there, a search was started in Montreal.

Plans Made Meet Embargo

OTTAWA, Feb. 28. (CP)—A government spokesman said today that Canada is engaged in "certain plans" to meet the situation resulting from United States embargo of Canadian livestock and meat because of the prairie outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

He declined to say what the "plans" are but noted that Canadian authorities have been in discussion with U.S. authorities on the matter.

Goldfish TV Fans

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Ever hear of two goldfish television fans? Mrs. William Gammons vowed today she has such a pair. Says she noticed their interest while watching wrestling. "Judy and Jane (the fish) were in an upright position near the surface of the water and they were facing the television set." When the matches were turned off, the fish descended to the bottom of the bowl and started swimming in circles, she said. They resumed watching when the matches reappeared.

$150,000 Fire At Factory

HAMILTON, Feb. 28—(CP)—A three-alarm fire in an east end plant caused an estimated $150,000 damage early today.

One fireman was overcome by smoke. The fire broke out in the Vitone Products, Limited, plant, Gage Avenue South, shortly before 5 a.m.

Although cause of the fire is undetermined, firemen said the blaze broke out in a basement workshop, spread through the basement and then "jumped" up to the second and third storeys through an elevator shaft.

Some billowed from the building for hours.

Fireman Jack Fisher was overcome by smoke while fighting the fire on the ground floor. He was treated at General hospital and was in satisfactory condition.

Heartache Lingers As Town Swept From H-Bomb Path

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 28 —(AP)—This weekend the town of Ellenton ceases to exist.

A place of beautiful homes, more than a century old, a historic early American monument, it has to go to make part of the room for the huge United States H-bomb plant.

A year and three months ago notice was given, and March 1 is the deadline when every person, business, interest and every home has to be gone. What is left probably has to be destroyed.

All Ellenton's 600 people are gone together with 80 of their 150 houses. They are among 6,000 persons similarly moved from the 315-square mile military area.

Ellenton's story is typical of them all. Even though this is probably the most kindly of all dicated evacuations, and though many Ellentonians and others have reaped rich financial rewards, the story is said. There is bitterness in many hearts, today.

One group is attempting to start new Ellenton, near the reservation, but many miles from their old home, in a not-so-beautiful site. Many have scattered, finishing life-long neighborliness.

Among some there is a sense of injustice at not getting what they believe is replacement value for what they had to give up.

These values were not lost for any lack of effort by authorities to be generous. It is just a case of the difficulties of justice by fiat.

They are getting schools provided by government. Removal of graves and cemeteries is free. Engineers appraised the land liberally, at better than current values. People who were land-poor—lots of area with little productivity— jumped to comparative wealth. Others, by the time they got their money on smaller parcels of land, couldn't replace because outside land had skyrocketed in this area at boom-town rates.

Hardest hit were among tenant farmers. They had no land to sell. They had no more jobs. Many were too old to compete for jobs in new areas. Still more were heartbroken to leave.

Refuses Envoy's Post Finn Stays In Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—Finland's first minister to Canada said today he has declined to accept a new diplomatic post in Communist China and that he is going on "an indefinite holiday" in Canada.

Simultaneously, it was learned Finland is permanently lowering the status of her diplomatic representation here, a fact which has caused disappointment in official Canadian circles. Canada recently posted a full-time diplomat to Finland for the first time.

Urho Toivala came here from Washington four years ago as minister and is leaving his post Friday, for his place is being taken by a charge d'affaires, Hans Ruben Martola.

Man Missing Since Tuesday

Police are trying to locate Clarence Lackey, 31, 68 Sophia St., who has been missing since Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Lackey told police her husband phoned to say he would be bringing the children to where she works so he could see about a job at local carpet manufacturing firm.

She has not seen nor heard of him since.

A check at the company where Lackey said he was going to apply for work revealed that he had been there.

He is five feet four inches tall, of dark complexion, stocky build and was last seen wearing a blue suit coat, dark brown work pants and a ski cap.

C.N.E. Treasurer Back To Answer Questions

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP)—Fred S. Quirk, treasurer of the Canadian National Exhibition, arrived here from a Florida vacation today and immediately appeared before a C.N.E. committee to answer questions about the big fair's finances and midway contracts.

Mayor Allan Lamport has charged that there is a discrepancy between the C.N.E. books and a report filed with a special committee investigating C.N.E. contracts with amusement operators. The mayor told the board of control Wednesday night that he has uncovered additional shortages — "nothing less than thefts"—in the fair's accounts.

General manager Elwood Hughes of the C.N.E. has said they were "obviously a clerical error."

Royal Funeral Costs 58,000 Pounds

LONDON, Feb. 28 — (AP) — The funeral of King George VI cost £58,000. The government presented the bill to parliament Wednesday, asking it to vote the necessary money.

The total includes £8,000 for entertaining royal and overseas guests, hiring cars and railway expenses.

Biggest item was a bill from the armed forces for £35,750 for the troops who took part in the ceremonies.

That does not include their pay —only special costs resulting from the Royal funeral on Feb. 15.

Carefully Avoid City

Nightmarish Flight Before Plane Crash

(Editor's Note: Capt. W. L. Riley was co-pilot of the U.S. Army transport plane that crashed at Sydney, N.S., early today after 18 men bailed out to safety. Here is his account of the accident.)

Written for The Canadian Press
By CAPT. W. L. Riley, U.S.A.A.F.

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 28 (CP).—Under different circumstances I would have enjoyed my first parachute jump, but this morning's was tough—you couldn't see where you were going and the weather made the descent cold and uncomfortable.

During the night we were flying from Westover Field, Mass., to Torbay, Nfld., and we were bucking headwinds and extreme turbulence all the way. Then ice began to build up dangerously. It locked the prop pitch and the throttles and we realized we were in for it if we couldn't find a place to set down.

But the visibility was zero-zero and we couldn't find a hole to see anything. The rough going had depleted our fuel supply and when we reached the decision to evacuate, there wasn't enough gas in her to start a fire.

By this time we were talking to the Sydney tower and they were most helpful and did their best to talk us down and keep us fully informed as to our whereabouts. I think at times they could hear our motors. Of course the wild blizzard made it impossible for us to see them.

Like 100 Broncos.

Capt. Koblenski, our pilot, was with me at the controls and it was like handling 100 bucking broncos. When we realized our goose was cooked, we decided to take every precaution possible to see that the crew and passengers got out safely and that the plane crashed where it wouldn't harm anything on the ground.

We gave orders for evacuation and let the Sydney tower know what we were doing. They helped us get on a radio range for a straight run at 3,000 feet.

We dropped our landing gear to brake speed and set a course for a straight run over the radio range which we estimated would clear us of all obstacles.

Worked Like Veteran.

We had more two runs over the area previously but our gas was now nearly gone. We made the final run and as Capt. Koblenski and I stayed at the controls to ensure a straight and safe run for the parachuting passengers, Sgt. Redinger, our flight engineer went to work strapping on chutes and getting people away.

He was the only man aboard who had ever jumped. He went to work like a veteran and was just like a jump master on a paratroop plane.

He had the plane cleared in two minutes.

Capt. Koblenski was the last to jump.

Three Canadian Nuns Released

HONG KONG, Feb. 28 (Reuters)—Three Canadian nuns, ordered expelled from China after a Communist trial last December, reached Hong Kong by train today.

They are: Sister Sainte Joy (Elizabeth Lefebvre, La Baie du Febvre, Yamaska County, Que.); Sister Saint Victoire (Germaine Tanguay, a Canadian citizen born in Nashua, N.H.), and Sister Saint Germaine (Imelda Laperriere, Pont Rouge, Port Neuf County, Que.)

They were tried with two other Canadian nuns of the Sacred Heart orphanage at Canton on charges of murdering 2,116 orphans. The other two were sentenced to five years in prison, to be deported after their release.

The nuns weeped and laughed with joy today as they stepped off a train which brought them from the border into British Kowloon after 12 months in a Communist prison.

The three told reporters at the station that before their trial they were paraded slowly through Canton streets on the back of a truck.

Crowds threw rocks, mud and potatoes at them; two were hit on the head and legs by rocks, and another was struck by a club, they said.

The nuns said that at their three-hour trial they were made to walk through the crowd bowing and apologizing for their "crimes."

Rent Controls

St. Andrew) who moved adjournment of debate to allow members to comment. He said he approved both bills.

The House also set up a nine-man committee to keep a continuing examination of all rental problems. The committee will be able to meet when the House is not in session.

Its chairman is Gordon MacOdrum (P.C.-Leeds). Progressive Conservative members are Travel Minister Cecile, Attorney-General Porter, Harold Fishleigh (Toronto Woodbine), John Robarts (Londan), Clare Mapledoram (Fort William) and W. K. Warender (Hamilton Centre). Opposition party members are Arthur Reaume (L.-Windsor) and T. D. Thomas (C.C.F.-Ontario).

The House today is scheduled to resume the throne-speech debate, with opposition leader Farquhar Oliver of the Liberals leading off.

Wider Latitude

The new rental regulations continue the system of appraisers, but give them wider latitude than before to fix rentals on self-contained dwellings. They are to be guided by the general level of controlled rents on Jan. 1 of this year, and by the average amounts agreed on in two-year leases signed since last spring.

The former courts of rentals appeals will be replaced with central boards. The boards will hear appeals as before, and will have wider powers than appraisers. They will attempt to conciliate landlord-tenant disputes but have the power to set an arbitrary rent.

The boards may sit at night for the convenience of landlords and tenants.

Several types of accommodation are exempted from control— the main one being dwellings under construction at Jan. 1, 1947, or completed since then.

Controls continue on "lodgings" —defined as dwellings in which the tenant does not have exclusive use of a private toilet. If rent ceilings are not fixed, the landlord must apply for an appraisal. Rents for lodgings in a landlord's home continue at the Feb. 25 level.

The regulations also provide for continuation of controls over self-contained dwellings, and set out the grounds on which landlords can ask for rent increases and for eviction of tenants.

Five-day Week

Saturday work in all Ontario courts except police courts will be done away with by bills now before the Legislature.

Attorney-General Porter introduced bills Wednesday to put the five-day week in effect in county courts and sheriff's offices. Bills have already been introduced to close division and surrogate courts and registry offices on Saturday.

Mr. Porter also introduced a bill to do away with special juries which now are provided for under the Judicature Act in cases involving libel or highly technical evidence. Anyone applying for a special jury must pay $400.

The Attorney-General said abolition of the special jury was still "a very open question" and the bill would be sent to the legal bills committee for final decision.

Lindsay Taxes Up Five Mills

LINDSAY, Feb. 28 — (ENS) — Members of the town council are burning the midnight oil.

On Monday, the session was held to discuss estimates and the 1952 mill rate. The meeting lasted until midnight and on Wednesday another special meeting was called with the idea of cutting down on estimates. That meeting adjourned at 12.30 a.m.

In 1951 the mill rate was 39½ mills. When estimates were pared to the bone Wednesday night, Ald. Lloyd Burrows, chairman of finance, stated that the rate in 1952 would be up nine mills unless all departments started to cut down on expenditures.

He said the rate would be reduced two mills from the assessment department, leaving an additional seven mills to be cut from the original estimates.

"I do not want to see an increase of more than five mills and I hope we can get it down to a four-mill increase," he said. Last year, Ald. Burrows predicted a five-mill hike this year.

Before the meeting broke up, the mill rate was whittled down to 44½ which was an increase of five mills. One provision was in the final figure, however. Council will request the Board of Education to lop off $1,059 from its increased demand of $11,000 above 1951.

The increase this year is largely due to the demand made for educational purposes over which the council has no control, slary increases "across the board," an increase requested from the parks board, the recreational centre, indigent patients, power rates for hydro at the sewage disposal plant and the board of works where the men have turned down a 2½ cent per hour increase, demanding 95 cents instead of 90 cents per hour.

Another increase is due to the addition of two men on the fire department and another on the police department with both staffs getting an increase in salary.

Ald. A. E. Hick was quite critical of increased expenditures in conection with the recreation centre. Twice, Reeve Butler said "Let's sell the arena and recreation centre and then the taxpayers will be satisfied." Ald. Peirce, chairman of recreation:: "I don't know of any place where you get more value for your money." Ald. Cote, arena committee chairman: "Sell the building and plant and you will have to build a bigger jail."

Plans Held Up

In Regina, the heart of the quarantine area of 11 rural municipalities, plans to slaughter infected herds were held up by the difficulty in digging graves in the frozen ground.

Plans also were being made to set up a buffer zone of partly-quarantined municipalities around those already in quarantine. The plans awaited approval by federal authorities.

Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet of Saskatchewan proposed a federal price maintenance of livestock to help offset any loss to those in the industry.

He also urged the federal government to use emergency powers to control marketing movements of livestock.

The livestock markets were showing the effects of the crisis. In Winnipeg and Toronto, trade was almost at a standstill. Prices in Winnipeg were down sharply and in Toronto they ranged from $3 to $4 lower on steers and heifers and $5 lower on cows.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 (CP). — The United States dollar today opened at 1-32 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.00 1-32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

World Obligation

"Immediate steps have been taken to limit the affected area, eradicate the disease and meet the situation resulting from the embargo under United States law on exports of livestock and meat to that country," said the speech.

No new measures connected with the St. Lawrence seaway and power projects were mentioned. Reference was made to establishment of a board of engineers to prepare an application for submission to the international joint commission concerning the power development.

Legislation will be submitted to enable the Canadian National Railways to construct a branch line between Terrace and Kitimat in British Columbia. A new aluminum plant is being constructed in the Kitimat area.

Amendments will be made to the War Veterans Allowance Act and to the Veterans Benefit Act. Some observers expect the allowances, paid to veterans prematurely aged as a result of war service, will be increased.

The Immigration Act will be revised and amendments may be made to the Canadian Citizenship Act.

Seek Authority

Authority will be sought for new taxation agreements with the provinces. Existing agreements with all provinces except Ontario and Quebec are due to expire March 31. Under the agreements, the provinces give the Federal government almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporation and inheritance tax fields in return for annual payments based on population and the value of national production.

Another measure will provide for representation in the Commons on the basis of the 1951 census. Plans to go ahead with the measure at this session were taken by some observers as an indication there will be no general Federal election this year. Life of this present parliament expires normally in August, 1954.

Members will be asked to approve a complete revision of the criminal code. A legal commission has been working on the revision for three years.

Preparatory steps will be taken for the establishment of a national library as recommended by the Royal Commission on Arts and Science. That commission, which met last year, was headed by Mr. Massey.

Defence Obligation

"You will be asked to make provision for all essential services, and for national defence and the meeting of our obligations under the United Nations charter and the North Atlantic treaty, for the next fiscal year," said the speech.

Reference was made to Mr. Massey's appointment.

"I am deeply sensible of the great honor of having been appointed by His late Majesty as his personal representative in my native land," Mr. Massey read from the speech.

"As I take up my duties as the representative of the Queen, I assure you of the pleasure with which I look forward to our association in parliament and I deem it a privilege to be connected with you in your labors for the welfare and happiness of the Canadian people."

Earlier in the day, Massey, the first son of Canada to represent his sovereign in his homeland, was installed today as governor-general in the Senate chamber with solemn ceremony. He took three oaths of office before a glittering assemblage in the gold-ceilinged chamber as the personal representative of the Queen.

Breaking a tradition that stretches back into Canada's colonial past, he succeeds 17 Britons who have held that office since Confederation. His immediate predecessor, Field Marshal Lord Alexander, resigned to become Britain's defence minister.

Guns boomed a royal salute, a military band played "God Save the Queen" and the governor-general's flag fluttered atop the peace tower of the main parliament buildings as Mr. Massey — now titled "His Excellency"—stepped into what now is the highest office that can befall a Canadian.

Address of Welcome

The ceremony was ended by an address of welcome in which Prime Minister St. Laurent noted that Mr. Massey was assuming office at a time of "universal and heartfelt" mourning for the King.

Expressing the satisfaction of the government with Mr. Massey's acceptance of the appointment, he recalled two new Governor-General's services to Canada in two of this country's highest diplomatic offices—as first Canadian minister in Washington and as Canadian High Commissioner in London.

"The Canadian people," the Prime Minister said, "are confident that you will discharge with devotion and distinction your duties as the representative in Canada of Her Majesty the Queen."

Replying, Mr. Massey promised that it will be his "duty and responsibility to cherish and preserve" the fine traditions that have grown up around his new office over the generations.

Will Give Service

"To the Canadian people," he said, "may I say very humbly that I approach my task with a determination to do all in my power to serve my Sovereign and in doing so I know I shall be serving Canada."

Mr. Massey arrived in the capital at 10.30 a.m. aboard a special train which brought him from his home at Port Hope, Ont. He was greeted by Prime Minister St. Laurent, members of the federal cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps and a great throng of spectators which crowded in and about Ottawa's Union railway station.

A guard of honor of the Governor-General's foot guards, stationed in the concourse of the depot, gave a general salute and an artillery battery stationed nearby fired 21 guns to mark his arrival.

tified the disease. Apparently it is spread by ticks and resembles Texas tick fever.

Mr. Heron said he bought the cattle last fall in the Calgary area. A Holstein raiser until last November, he sold his milk cows and bought 45 year-old Aberdeen Angus and Hereford calves in December. He paid more than $8,000 for them.

At New Year's they were "wonderfully healthy animals," he said.

"Then on January 10 I got my first look at an animal that had this type of trouble," said Mr. Heron. He described how he watched the herd wandering into the field. One of them lagged. He "sort of wobbled when he walked and his back jumped up."

Agreement With Police On Salaries Official

Details of the 1952 agreement between the City Police Association and the Police Commission were finalized Wednesday, when Magistrate W. R. Philp read the terms into the minutes of a special meeting of the commission.

Chief John Thompson is not included in the bargaining unit which takes in all other members of the Police Department. His salary was set at $4,500.

This is a raise of $200 over his 1951 salary, the same amount as was granted to Deputy Chief John Naples.

In addition, Chief Thompson will receive the same $500 cost of living bonus as the other men in his department and will also receive the $182.50 service pay which he and Deputy Naples receive in view of their long service with department.

Prices Level Off On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP). — Early afternoon stock market prices levelled off today after a moderate morning advance.

Trading opened briskly but dropped sharply after the first 15 minutes. Industrial dealings were confined to leading issues and few golds, oils or metals attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,180,000 shares.

Utilities and retail stores led industrials upward while papers, foods, agricultures and constructions drew firm support. Textiles weakened while manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues dipped.

Base metal gains ranged from pennies to the 50 cents climb of Consolidated Smelters. Eureka, Labrador, Mindamar, Quebec Manitou and United Keno Hill traded higher.

Western oils strengthened irregularly. Anglo-Canadian, Canada Southern Oil, Gridoil, Sapphire and United Oil posted advances ranging to about 75 cents.

Senior golds remained weak as Bralorne, Giant Yellowknife, and Malartic retained moderate losses. Secondary issues were mixed.

New Shortages In CNE Books

TORONTO, Feb. 28 — (CP) — Mayor Allan Lamport told board of control Wednesday he had uncovered additional shortages, "nothing less than thefts" in the accounts of the Canadian National Exhibition.

The mayor told the board the shortages "within the C.N.E. Association" had been disclosed by previous audits but no one paid any attention to them.

He said his new charges should not be confused with a discrepancy between the C.N.E. books and a report filed with a special committee investigating C.N.E. contracts with amusement operators.

The mayor said earlier he will "slap an injunction" on the C.N.E. executive any time he feels such a move is necessary to ensure a full investigation of C.N.E. operations. The injunction would deprive the C.N.E. executive of access to their books until a private audit can be made.

Ginger Spence and Harold Peverley, whose homes were directly beneath the plane's path, found the wreckage in a hardwood and pruce forest. The engines were about 50 yards from the fuselage and parts of the wings were scattered over several hundred yards.

The pilot said the storm had "chased us right from Westover."

He said he expected to outrun the blizzard but decided to try a landing at Sydney when he found the storm was getting worse.

Several times he had sighted the lights of Sydney Airport but the strong winds made it impossible to set the big ship down.

It was then he decided to order the jump and told all aboard to don their life jackets in case of a landing in the nearby sea or Sydner river.

Praise Sergeant

Every survivor had high praise for Redinger.

"His course in jumping must be the shortest on record," said one, "but it must have been o.k. because we're all here."

Redinter, a mild-spoken man in his middle 20s, desclaimed any praise. He said it was his fourth jump.

The jump was made at 3,000 feet and the plane went on a few short minutes before crashing on the outskirts of this industrial centre, about eight miles from the airport.

Despite the heavy wind all 18 landed within a half mile radius and were quickly located by police and reserve army men called out to comb the area.

Taken Into Homes

Some were taken into homes after their cries for help roused residents.

"It's a miracle they made it," said a veteran pilot at Sydney Airport. "In a wind like this and with the snow coming like it is anything could have happened."

Bancroft Mill Rebuilt After Bad Fire

BANCROFT, Feb. 28 (ENS).—Bancroft Lumber and Fuel's transit and custom planing mill, rebuilt after a $50,000 fire levelled it to the ground during the early morning hours of Dec. 22, went into production on Saturday.

Construction of the new mill took fifty days, as building operations commenced on Jan. 2. The new building, with cement floor, plank-truss construction, aluminum roof and insul siding is the same size as the one demolished by the fire, 65 feet by 71 feet. It was erected and the machines were installed by local labor, under the supervision of J. N. Brown, president and manager of Bancroft Lumber and Fuel Limited.

In order to show the quantities of materials handled under winter conditions, Mr. Brown told the press that 440 cubic yards of rock, 160 tons of crushed rock, 80 tons of sand and 600 bags of cement were used.

The mill, located a mile south of town on highway 62, is one of Bancroft's largest industries. Serving a large number of customers it is the only transit planing mill in North Hastings. The payroll runs from 15 during the off-season to 30 during the rush period from late spring to early fall.

Completely powered by electricity the mill has 11 motors, from one to 60 horsepower, with a total capacity of 150. The hi-speed four-sided planer can handle a maximum load of 325 linear feet a minute or a carload of 19,500 feet of 2 x 6 in one hour. The resaw is capable of sawing 225 linear feet per minute.

In order to facilitate the handling of carloads of lumber the C.N.R. has provided the mill with a double switch so that there will not be a shutdown while cars are being shunted.

The rough lumber for the mill comes from a large number of mills in North Hastings and the adjoining sections of Peterborough, Haliburton, Nipissing and Renfrew, and is shipped by freight car and truck to a variety of localities, including Buffalo, Cleveland, Tonawanda, Toronto, the booming industrial towns of southwestern Ontario, Peterborough, Belleville and vicinity.

Discrimination In The Criminal Code

Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier recently made some remarks about what he believes to be instances of discrimination in the Criminal Code. The gist of what he said is this: if the punishment for an offence is a fine or imprisonment, it is up to the judge to decide which it shall be; but if he decides to impose a fine, injustice creeps in, for whereas one offender may have the money to pay his fine, another will not have it, and will go to jail. Furthermore, there are many cases in which a man, lacking the ready cash to pay his fine, loses a much greater sum by absence from work during his time of imprisonment. In short, in such cases, the law operates differently for the rich man and the poor man, and this is unjust.

* * *

Commenting on what Mr. Justice Chevrier has said, the Minister of Justice, Mr. Stuart Garson, says: "If the evidence shows that the offence is a serious one, no competent judge will impose a fine upon the accused merely because he is rich enough to pay for it." Of course not, but we think that Mr. Garson has missed the force of Mr. Chevrier's criticism of the law. The point is that there is now a vast difference between the inconvenience caused by a fine, and the loss involved in serving a jail sentence, and for this reason the man with ready cash suffers less than his poorer brother. There is no justice in that.

* * *

This situation could be rectified by an arrangement for the payment of fines by installments; many a man could, by that means, avoid the heavy loss of being absent from work and the repercussions from serving a term in jail. Everybody recognizes that there are offences against the law which are not so heinous that they require that a man be locked up and publicly disgraced; nevertheless, they require stern punishment, and a fine may meet the case very well. If the judge thinks a fine is called for, would it not be wise to arrange that it can be paid over a period of time? This is something for Parliament to think over during its forthcoming session.

Elizabethan Sport?

Angry London (Ontario) fans stabbed and clubbed a burly wrestler with a German name and accent, Hans Robert Hermann. The attitude of the crowd was so hot and heavy that policemen had to snatch him from the ring; even on his way to the dressing room the Canadian Hermann was assailed by spectators, torn, scratched and booted. Why this sort of conduct by supposedly staid Canadians? The reason is that when people go to a wrestling match they are not staid; they go for the amusement (wrestling matches are entertainment); trouble begins when they take the wrestlers seriously.

Hermann wrestled in Peterborough recently and put on the same kind of show: goose-stepping in and out of the ring; raising an arrogant arm as if in a Heil Hitler salute; jabbing with the straight arm of a German prison guard, spitting insults, and generally behaving obnoxiously. It is all part of his theatrical act as the villain in the piece. (In modern professional wrestling one man is the villain and the other the hero. Sometimes they reverse their roles in mid-act; Gorgeous George, for instance, turns nasty and vicious before his match is up.) Hermann, a great big six-foot-six man, who enters the ring in a long robe adorned with an Iron Cross, gives as lusty and vicious a show as the most ardent wrestling fans could crave; but, off duty, he is an enthusiastic collector of old clocks. He is such a good actor that Peterborough spectators hated him and yelled for his blood. Some of them mobbed him.

Wrestling is one of the biggest entertainments in Canada and the United States today. Hermann, for instance, drew 13,000 people a night for three consecutive weeks to the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. During a wrestling season, slightly longer than the hockey season, more people attend wrestling than hockey matches. On an average during the season, 8,000 a night go to Maple Leaf Gardens to see the antics of such wrestlers as Wee Willie Davis, Suni War Cloud, Majyo Singh, The Angel, Bo-Bo Brazil, Lord Athol Layton, and Whipper Billy Watson. All of these fantastic fellows have wrestled in Peterborough, where they draw big crowds.

And why not? The wrestlers know something about wrestling; they know a great deal more about acrobatics (so that they can take the pummelling, neck-twisting, body throwing, biting, kicking and tearing which they give and take); and they know much more about showmanship. They alternately bait and woo the crowd with a skill the biggest rabble-rouser could want, and a Broadway star might envy.

The most popular 'sport' in the reign of the first Elizabeth was bear-baiting. Thousands of excitable, blood-thirsty and shouting Elizabethans (commoners as well as nobles) thronged bear-baiting pits. Today's wrestling matches give similar crowds the lusty, gusty, bloody and violent shows that bear-baiting did in the sixteenth century; but in the reign of Elizabeth the Second the bears are human.

Wrestling as practised in professional exhibitions is not a noble sport; it is a hot blooded and spectacular show, appealing to the animal in man rather than to his humanity. So did bear-baiting; so do bull fights. That is why they are so popular. The connoisseur of amusement can take pleasure in the physical and dramatic skill of the performer; the crowd can howl for blood and enjoy a brawl. The chief fault with professional wrestlers is the people in their big audiences who take their antics seriously; and, when their blood is up, who cannot nonchalantly reach for a laugh.

Biggest Immigration Year

The largest number of immigrants since 1913 came to Canada last year: 194,391 of them. Some short-sighted people are taking a gloomy view of this very satisfactory flow of new settlers because there is now some unemployment.

The unemployment is not attributed to the 194,391 immigrants last year; until the autumn all who came were absorbed by industry and agriculture and services. Canada's experience in other years has been that new jobs are created as the immigrants come. The unemployment is a result of a winter lull in several industries and of the fact that others have not caught up with defence orders. There is a lag between the placing of an order and the time when a factory changes its production gears from civilian to military goods. The dislocation of the export market, particularly of the British market, has also had its effect.

With huge NATO military demands to meet; with scarcity of goods and foods in underdeveloped regions of the world to whose assistance Canada is committed; with an ever-increasing domestic demand because of the enlarged population of Canada and its higher standards of living, there is almost no possibility that the number of jobs will decrease. There will be more jobs in Canada than ever before; the present rather widespread unemployment is a transitional. The Korean War-Cold War boom may be over but that does not mean that a steady prosperity cannot be and will not be maintained. The present hot, warlike rearmament might even create, before the year is out, the biggest post-war boom yet.

There is another way to look at the immigration figures. In 1913 Canada took in 400,870 new settlers. Her population was then 7½ million, so that the immigration for that year was more than five per cent. of the total population. Last year, with a population almost twice as great, the immigrant flow was less than half of the 1913 number: 194,391 newcomers to almost fourteen million, or 1½ per cent of the total population. Surely a country as economically sound, as fabulously rich in resources, and as politically stable as Canada can fully support that rate of immigration?

It should not be forgotten, too that when the 194,391 newcomers were arriving last year, tremendous sums of foreign capital (particularly American) were also pouring into the country. Such money is the tool for providing new jobs and more work.

Kawartha Bustle

The Ontario Bureau of Statistics puts out from time to time some Ontario statistics. It breaks them down—or shall we say displays t h e m?—by regions; the Kawartha region includes Durham, Ontario, Victoria, Northumberland and of course Peterborough counties. We learn from the Bureau's figures just released that in this Kawartha district the average "employment" during last December was 211.9, that is 211.9 per cent. of what it was during an average month of 1939. That would seem to mean that there were more than twice as many jobs in the district last year as in 1939. The December 1951 figure was slightly lower than the December 1950 index of 221.3.

There are figures about payrolls, too. The Kawartha payroll last December stood at 539.4 of the 1939 level of 100; thus factory people in this area were earning five times as many dollars as they did in 1939. The December 1950 payroll index was 530.6, therefore slightly lower than in last December. The average weekly wage in these leading industries of the district was $56.60. It had been $53.31 in December 1950.

Another tid-bit of statistical information which we learned from the same source was that in this city of Peterborough last December 28 million dollars' worth of cheques were cashed. It was not a pre-Christmas splurge, for $28,000,000 were also cashed in November, and $31,000,000 last October. At that rate, Peterborough is far from being hard up.

The Shapes Of Things

By J. BRONOWSKI

IF YOU turn a wolf inside out, as Baron Munchausen did, you get a shape which is recognisably like a wolf; as least, it was so in my nursery picture. Certainly if you turn a glove or a pillow-case inside out you get no surprises. But what happens if you turn the inner tube from a bicycle wheel inside out by pulling it through the valve?

I was asked this question by three mathematicians in one day at a congress at Princeton. As their glee suggested, the answer is an odd mixture of the obvious and the unexpected. Obviously, you can't get rid of the hole, so the new shape is still a tube; but unexpectedly, it will no longer fit any bicycle except a trick rider's.

The wolf, the glove, the pillowcase are simple shapes, as simple as a child's balloon. If you mark a closed circle on one of these surfaces and cut round it the surface falls into two pieces. But you can cut circles on the inner tube—for instance, along the line where it touches the wheel—which do not divide it into two pieces. The inner tube is not simply connected; and, unlike the balloon, it can be built up into surfaces with even more complicated connections, for example, by fastening several tubes together at their valves. Like some modern sculpture, what gives these complex shapes their character is the holes through them.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT MAY seem strange that men of genius, who have given their thinking life to mathematics, should bandy such puzzles over the teacups. But a puzzle is often the pithy and essential statement of a deep problem, freed from its formal trappings. Nor must we suppose that a problem is simple to solve because it is simple to state. What could be easier than to ask whether every even number is the sum of two prime numbers? Goldbach put this question to the great Euler when he had begun to go blind in 1742; but it is still unanswered. Or: if you colour a globe so that no two countries which share a frontier are alike, how many colours at most will you need? The question is perhaps a hundred years old, but we are still not sure whether the answer is four or five. Yet, oddly, if the map is drawn on an inner tube, then we know the answer precisley; it is seven.

There was a time when mathematicians were at least confident that all these questions have answers, which insight and patience would in time unravel. But the last years have exploded a rift in that assurance. This is probably the most remarkable development in modern mathematics: the scrutiny of its logical foundations.

When Russell and Whitehead in the 1900s began to base mathematics on logic, they supposed themselves to be building a solid structure. Their concern to tidy up such paradoxes as "I am lying," and the giddy paradoxes of the infinite, seemed then no more than a detail of courtesy to a minor nuisance. Alas, the paradoxes have since refused to be tidied away; instead, they have grown more alarming; until they have forced many mathematicians into an agnostic attitude to their own subject, of which the philosophy of logical positivism is only a small offshoot.

THE real difficulties have opened in the solid bottom of logic itself. The climax was reached in 1931, when Godel showed that in any logical system of mathematics there are theorems which cannot be proved or disproved. We can never know whether these theorems are true or false—and we cannot anticipate which theorems they are!

This is the gravest of all the paradoxes, and few scientists have yet guessed how deep a gash it may cut in the very base of scientific method. For, of course, the interest of these mathematical alarms is in their wider bearing on science as a whole. Mathematics in the field of thought in which the experimental sciences abstract, arrange, and explore what is common to their underlying methods. Here the individual flesh of science is stripped away—the gene and electron, the virus and the syndrome; and we look at the bare skeleton of abstract relations on which each science is articulated.

It is therefore natural that the scientific revolution of the last fifty years has stamped mathematics also. This has been, most deeply, an intellectual revolution, in relativity, in quantum physics, and in biological statistics; and we see it now reaching into the logical structure of thought itself.

✧ ✧ ✧

I BEGAN with a theorem about structure, and I have been using the word again and again. Structure is the key word to modern mathematics; and is the thumbprint there of our reshaping of the concepts of the physical world. There was a time when experimental science was the pursuit and the manipulation of exact measurements, and mathematics served it as a kind of grand arithmetic. But of the theorems I have glanced at today, only Goldbach's is about numbers, and that is 200 years old. For in the last fifty years physics and biology and all the sciences have lost their preoccupation with quantity and measurement, and have come to turn instead to concepts of shape and of relation.

To-day we hardly ask how large space is, but whether it is open or closed on itself. We say that rubber stretches because its atoms are strung out in chains, and a diamond does not because the atoms are locked in rings. We believe that the enzymes in the body fit the chemicals which they rebuild as a key fits a lock. And when we are asked why bacteria absorb the sulpha drug on which they cannot grow, we answer that the drug deceives them: its molecules have the same shape as the body chemical which the bacteria seek.

The Greeks thought in this way, geometrically, and modern mathematics is nearer to them than to the nineteenth century. Its interests are in logical structure and geometrical structure; and with the second of these it ranks topology, which is a new and wider geometry that allows all elastic deformations. The examples I have given, of the inner tube and the colouring of maps, and even the paradoxes of the infinite, are drawn from topology.

Like the Greeks, we are looking for the structure of thought behind the shapes; and like them, we are drawn on by those abrupt and mocking echoes of logic, the paradoxes. It is a breathless progress, and those who like to be sure that the steps to truth can always be soundly reasoned are advised to hold on to their hats.

Letters To The Editor

WORLD GOVERNMENT: WORLD CITIZENSHIP

Sir: In his letter of last Friday, Constant Reader expressed bewilderment at the intentions of a movement for brotherhood. In a world shaken by two world conflicts; its distances shrunken by radio and the airplane, few indeed are the people who would whole-heartedly support an ideal which on its surface appears utopian.

As a beginning, the Council of Christians and Jews have naturally chosen to promote a deep feeling of brotherhood between Christians and Jews. This seems a wise choice indeed, for religion is one unifying force which recognizes no national boundaries. Thus it is hoped that world-wide friendship may be attained by these two religious bodies.

From this beginning, many people hope to find evolving an all-embracing world-wide brotherhood into which all would be accepted. But until such a brotherhood as this can be assured, safeguards must be provided to prevent strong nations from oppressing their less powerful neighbours. A world government supported by and representing every nation on the earth would have to be provided. If every would-be aggressor were made aware that all the remaining member nations would rise as one to oppose aggression warfare would be minimized. Such ideals are still "dreams" to most people—as were suggestions of a European army and an European federation until a few days ago.

When this all-embracing brotherhood will have established itself everyone will acknowledge the truth of the following statement uttered by an unique figure of the nineteenth century: "The earth is but one country; and mankind its citizens."

Yours truly,
EDWARD OLIVER.

OFFERS TO DISCUSS

Sir: In your paper, last Thursday evening, Edward Oliver replied to my letter, "Dogma and the Nature of Man".

This letter is not necessarily a reply to Mr. Oliver alone, nor is the "you" in it necessarily of a singular nature.

I am glad to hear that you have a "new" religion. Whoever taught you to multiply was, indeed, a master craftsman.

Why did he not teach you that "after" is not "before", and that "on account of", neither of these?

Why did he not tell you that by hypothesis, as it implies, is not mere guess work, neither is it synthesis.

Why didn't he tell you that rhetoric, like dogma, can also be a boomerang?

Did he never tell you that "new cloth" is not made from old garments?

Did you never read, "that there is nothing new under the sun"?

Do you not know that the Prince of Peace said, "I come not to send peace; but a sword . . ."?

Have you not heard of "the stone, which rejected by the builders, has become the head-stone of the corner". He said it. He said too that if a man dared, he could shatter his "ego" over this stone. He also said "Seek you the truth and the truth shall make you free."

I mentioned religion in my original letter, only a point in fact, a point in passing—as a prelude.

Why did you overlook the main point of my letter: the tremendous proposition which is the knowledge of both good and of evil?

Why didn't you see that the whole letter was an implied question?

I now unveil it for you:

How, in the name of logic and reason do you apply arithmetical symbols to quantities which are purely abstract, psychological, lightly relative, indivisible and inseparable?

I know why you do it. I know how you think you do it and I tell you it cannot be done.

I wrote of benediction and introspection. Pick up your mirror. Take a look. Turn it over—what do you see?

Here, by way of explanation, I add that my name is Watt—not Wan. The blame for the error, is not to accrue to this newspaper or to its editor; but to me, to my handwriting. It's dreadful.

So you want to discuss? I do not decline. The argument cannot be carried out through the Examiner. The editor needs some space for his own purposes.

If you still have a yen for discourse; look in the telephone directory. Give me a ring.

W. J. WATT

DISAGREES ABOUT TOLERANCE

Sir: As one of the large majority of those who have not been overly educated, I find myself taking exception to your Brotherhood Week editorial of Feb. 22nd (Tolerance Requires Brains).

Your attitude, as I see it, is that without "education," which is so necessary for "understanding," many of us will find it difficult to be tolerant.

In my opinion, "a soft heart and a pious belief that it is a good thing to be tolerant" is the very essence of Brotherhood. If we are kindly in our dealings with others, whoever they may be, we are tolerant, and a credit to our race. Neither the Bible nor the Golden Rule teaches intolerance, and it is supposed we strive to live by them.

So called tolerance should be taught from the cradle, calmly accepting the fact that we are descended from different tribes and follow slightly different religious teachings, but that we share all the emotions and trials common to all of mankind. Let not one or another be pointed out as different. In my opinion, a fine example of this calm acceptance is the nursery school in Toronto operated by the Negro community, where young children with skins of all colours are allowed to come together to know each other and build the best of foundations for Brotherhood.

A BROTHER.

VERSES ON THE PLEDGE

Sir: I think the churches, and the temperance people, are wasting their time in trying to change the drinking habits of our people. The cause of heavy drinking in my opinion is the fact that never in the history of our country have people had so much funny money to spend.

Come let's not hedge
Just sign the pledge! . . .
Cut out this wishful thinking
And be a man and take your card
And quit this blinking drinking.

The temperance folk are all het up
And are inclined to quarrel.
They are concerned the way you drink
They think you've lost your moral.

So shun those swinging hotel doors.
The landlord's friendly smile and Hurry home on Friday night to something
More worthwhile.

You may pause awhile at the sad sweet
Smile of the waiter growing thinner
But with much money in the bank;
My boy you are the winner.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth . . . For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.

No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him. (John 1:14, 17, 18.)

✧ ✧ ✧

When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. (Matt. 16:13-17.)

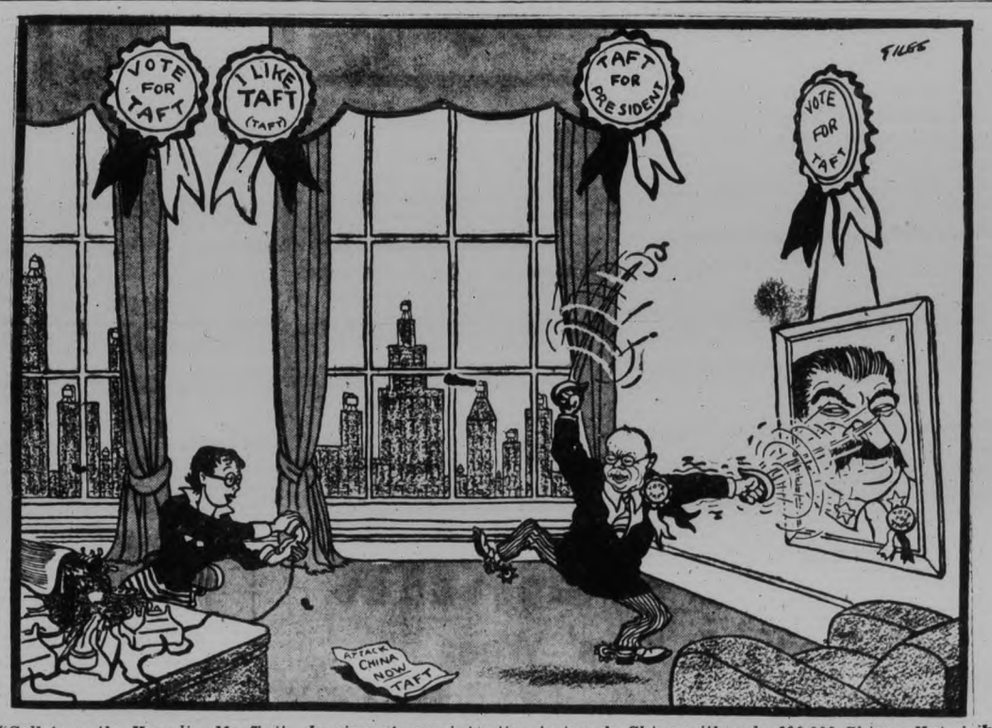
Choosing Its Ground

(Winnipeg Free Press)

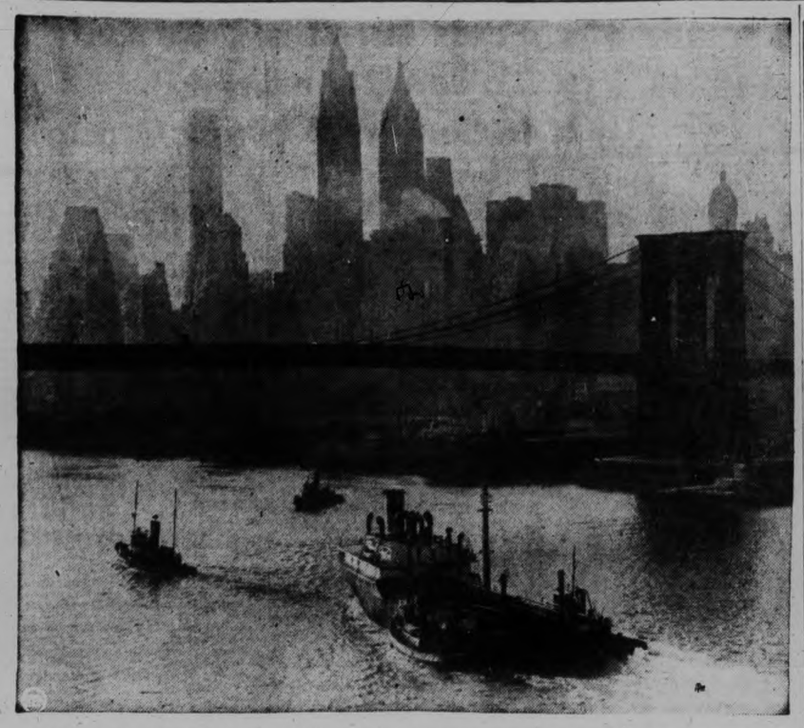
A somewhat startling omission in the Speech from the Throne on the part of Saskatchewan's Socialist ministers who have held office for two terms is the absence of any progress report on what used to be termed in the crusading days the "eradication of capitalism" in Saskatchewan. There is quite a lot about the expansion of the oil industry which is, presumably, reasonably capitalistic, but nothing about socialism and only a single reference to Crown Corporations.

Even with regard to gas transmission and distribution, in which it has been understood that the Government planned to play a major role, the Speech notes only that a "continuous study . . . is being made".

It seems a fair inference—and this will be of interest to Canadians far removed from Saskatchewan—that the Socialist Government does not propose to fight the election on a platform of socialism.



"Call from the Kremlin, Mr. Taft. In view of your intention to invade China with only 600,000 Chiang Kai-shek troops, they are prepared to defend it with only a few billion Chinese."



TORN TANKER—The stern half of the storm-splintered tanker Fort Mercer, which was knifed in two by gale-swept seas off Cape Cod, is towed down the East River into New York harbor. Aboard the battered stern section are some of the ship's crew members who elected to "stay put" during a week of hazardous salvage work. In the background are the Brooklyn bride and the Manhattan skyline.

Former Labor Ministers Turn To Writing Memoirs

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 28 (CP) — Britain's Labor politicians are bursting with best sellers these days and their names are cropping up at the head of newspaper columns and magazine articles.

This state of literary ferment coincides approximately with the last election, which left a number of Labor legislators loose on the market. Stripped of the princely stipends bestowed on ministers of the Crown —anything from £3,000 to £10,000—they had to go to work or get along on £1,000 a year as a member of parliament.

Literary Lions

Most of them chose writing. The result is a spate of creative work such as parliament seldom has seen. Stroll the corridors of the House of Commons these winter days and you'll hear the steady clock of typewriters in the small back rooms where M.P.s pass their off-duty hours.

In this frenzy of composition, the political left leads the way. One of the literary events of the season, for instance, will be publication of Aneurin Bevan's first book, due next month. If this isn't something special, followers of Labor's most newsworthy rebel will be somewhat disappointed.

Other names due to appear on dust jackets include those of Hugh Dalton, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, and John Strachey, one-time food minister who had a way of brightening debates on peanut-growing in East Africa with pertinent quotes from Bacon. Dalton is polishing off an autobiography and Strachey, a good R.A.F. broadcaster during the war, has a novel ready to roll called "The Frontiers."

Among former ministers associated with the party's right wing the itch to write seems just as acute. Hugh Gaitskell, last Labor Chancellor, will expound his more orthodox economic views in a treatise that should make an interesting companion piece to the works of Bevan, his arch rival and keenest critic. Herbert Morrison, once regarded as a future Labor prime minister, has started a book on the way government works in Britain and Patrick Gordon-Walker, former minister of commonwealth relations, is writing about the commonwealth.

Fourth Estate

On a slightly more work-a-day, journalistic plane, the politicians find Fleet Street a handy source of additional income. Maurice Webb, who followed Strachey as food minister, conducts a column in a Sunday newspaper. Among Labor members who didn't get to be ministers, the output is tremendous. Regular contributors to newspapers and magazines include Tom Driberg, Ian Mikardo, Mrs. Barbara Castle and J. P. W. Mallalieu.

Novelist among the Labor backbenchers is Maurice Edelman, whose "Trial of Love" had a success last year.

Not all the members of the last government turn their talents into cash so easily. One prominent former minister, asked whether he had been to the theatre lately, replied with seeming sincerity:

"When I was a minister I had the money but no time to go. Now I have the time but no money."

HE'S FOR SEAWAY — John D. Small, Munitions Board chairman, tells the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the Defence Department favors the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and power project. He called it of utmost importance to national security.

Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star comments on the recent N.H.L. Oldtimers' game here: "Lionel Conacher was the best man on the ice. He fronted Jakie Forbes and probably stopped as many goals as the old acrobat. Mention of Jakie must make many of the young oldtimers recall the fabulous old Amerks, with the accent on the grog. Dit Clapper, without a hair out of place played defence. There was Lorne Duguid, Larry Aurie and Earl Robinson. Then to top it all, Baldy Cotton, the famous Hairbreadth Harold whose convolutions were the delight of friends and the despair of opponents in his heyday. There was Billy Taylor, considered the best junior to ever come up the N.H.L. Big Charlie Conacher blowing hard, and beetle-browed Marv Wentsworth. All playing for charity and having a whale of a time."

Three O.M.H.A. playdown games at Civic tonight, starting at 6:30. It'll be Kingston and St. Peter's bantams first, followed by Kingston midgest vs. Martin-Hewitt, and then Belleville juveniles vs. Outboard Marines. First games of home-and-home second round "A" provincial series, return tilts being early next week on Quinte and Kingston ice. With goals counting, the local minor puck teams will be battling hard to build up a lead to take away, and they'll likely run into some stiff opposition from those centres. These tussles deserve a good crowd as the boys go on the provincial prowl.

Gus Gets The Trophy

Hard-working centre Gus Leonard of the Petes has been voted the most valuable senior "B" puckster in Peterborough this season. Which gives him the Jimmy Drummond Memorial Trophy as well as a suit of clothes from Black's. He'll be presented at the game here tomorrow night. Up to yesterday, Gus had scored 25 goals, he's a real starry team player and deserves the honor. Keith Montgomery of Eagles was a close runner-up in the voting. Judges included this writer and Bud LaBranche of the press, George Ludgate of the radio, Baz Phelan—the P.A. announcer at senior games—and Civic Arena manager Walter Smillie.

Friday night at 8:30 in the arena, Petes play Eagles in their final scheduled game of the semester. While Petes are atop the heap and sure of first place for group playoffs, Eagles and Kingston are still fighting fiercely to finish in second slot and thus get the odd game in the best-of-five semi-finals. If Eagles finish second, they'll open the sawoffs here against Kingston next week, and also get the fifth game if necessary. If K's finish ahead, they'll have that edge. Petes and Belleville are slated for the other semi-final bracket. So, tomorrow's scrap should be another rip-snorter betwixt these old ice enemies, and it rates a hefty Friday night crowd.

Petes Down the K's

Petes pulled out a 10-8 senior "B" win in Kingston last night to lengthen their group lead and hold the K's back in a second-place tie with Eagles. White and Horton sat this one out with an automatic one-game suspension for their match penalties in the tilt here earlier in the week. Kingston were also shy two other regulars but a trio of juniors stepped up and shone in a fine display, one notching three goals. A crowd of 1,544 enjoyed it all, despite the local loss. K's figure they can take the Hawks on the morrow to keep in the hunt for that coveted second spot. Fred Garvey was good for five points to lead Petes, and Collins got four. Rest of it was spread among Floyd, Wade, West, Fryia and Mortimer pretty much. A lively tussle, marked with one fight.

* * * * * *

It's curtains for Oddfellows this season, as Belleville Hawklets edged them 7-6 here last night to win their junior "B" puck semi-finals by three games to one. More than 800 fans saw a swell struggle, but the powerful Quinte crew finished strong to throw in three unanswered markers in the final frame, and that did it. Rugged in spots, it was always, fast, close and exicting, and no disgrace for Johnny Godfrey's gang. They gave it all they had but just couldn't quite make it, so now Hawklets will tackle the survivor of the Kingston-Lindsay series in group finals. Armstrong, Coyle, Clapper and Robinson all hit the mark in Link's big first heat, and Jensen and Heffernan tallied in the more even second stanza. But they couldn't get any more. DeGray shone for the winners, all of them going good. Thus endeth junior "B" hockey here till next season.

Big Season

FREDERICTON. — (CP)—Figures for the 1951 hunting season in New Brunswick showed a total of 64,115 partridge, 21,745 ducks, 2,055 woodcock, 677 pheasants, 500 geese and 83 brant. The big majority was bagged by resident hunters.

HAPPY NOW!!! BUT OOOHHHH! LATER HOW SAD — Coach Johnny Godfrey's I.O.O.F. Juniors bowed out of the Junior "B" playoffs at Civic Arena Wednesday, but not before a battle. They took a 4-1 lead in the first, added for a 6-4 score in the second, and then lost in the third 7-6. Don Barclay, the Belleville Hawklet goalie, (top photo) sprawls out of his net but the puck, just behind him, slips into the twine. Heffernan, the scorer, closes his eyes after his shot. A second later Buster Jensen (left, lower photo), tucked the puck behind Barclay and he leaped into the air with joy. Bill Stewart, lanky I.O.O.F. defenceman, adds his spirited yell. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Hawklets Erase the Links By a Score Of 7 to 6 In Hot Junior "B" Playoff

Oddfellows went down to defeat in the junior "B" semi-final hockey playoffs Wednesday night at Civic Arena, as Belleville edged out a close 7-6 verdict in a hard-fought game to take their best-of-five set three games to one. A record paid attendance for the junior season, over 800 fans, witnessed a stirring two-way struggle between two fine, evenly-matched clubs and though outlucked and outscored at the finish, after a brilliant start, Johnny Godfrey's fighting lads made it a dogfight to the end.

It was a hard game to lose; but Hawklets staged a strong third-period rally to snatch victory from almost certain defeat.

It was a very fast, rugged and open game, clean despite 12 penalties of which the visitors drew seven. Coach Johnny Godfrey and his men congratulated the victors.

Opened Fast

Play opened at a fast clip and after six minutes, Roy (Army) Armstrong started Links with a hard drive inside the blueline that caromed off a Hawk player; Belleville were shorthanded at the time with Munroe and De Gray doing penance. Coyle made it two from Bus Jensen seconds later, on a pass to deep right-wing and the former caught the left corner from a difficult angle. Hawks' first line clicked a Lalonde slid a slow one past Wasson as the latter came out to stop the attack; his linemates drew assists.

Oddfellows stormed to the attack later in the frame and Don Clapper and Robinson each tallied to give the homesters a 4-1 margin. Dick McCracken set up Clapper while Ab Buckton and Ken Floyd fed Robinson as Links held a fair edge in the first stanza.

Belleville tightened up their defensive armor in the mid-frame, at the same time opening an all out offensive to outscore Links 3-2 in possibly the fastest, most reckless period of junior hockey seen this season as the boys played it hard. Ted De Gray, who with Jacklin, scored a pair and assisted on one and who played a standout game, opened up for Hawks from Duke Doran on a sharp right-wing drive from a fast breakaway. Bus Jensen later scored a beauty as he took Stewart's forward thrust to go in close on Barclay. Hawks roared back however, and Jacklin from Lalonde close in climaxed a terrific drive. Kevin Heffernan, who worked his head off along with other forward mates, stickhandled his way past Pete Green to outguess Barclay midway in the frame. With two seconds to go in the period, and Links a man short, Ron Mason scored Hawks fourth goal on a high screened, looping shot.

A real Thriller

The final frame proved a thriller as Hawks played their best defensive hockey besides scoring three goals to edge out the verdict. Oddfellows fought hard but were unable to dent the armor of Barclay. Jacklin and Lalonde combined early to creep within one of Oddfellows, the former potting from the right side close in and Bob Wilson rapped in the tieing goal three minutes later on a long drive from the right blueline after a ganging attack.

Ted De Gray scored the winner at 7:20 possibly the best effort of the night as he followed Pete Green who went in alone on a breakaway and hit the goalpost. The wily De Gray, flying in, managed to recover the rebound and sank it into the short side. Thirteen minutes of scoreless battle wound it up.

Honor Curlers Going West Seeking Crown

If good wishes mean anything, then Dr. R. Clark's local rink is assured of success when these chaps play in the Macdonald Brier bonspiel in Winnipeg next week. Well over 200 friends from the curling club and apart from it, gathered in the club parlors last evening to honor them and to wish them well in their quest for the Canadian championship. It was just a big party for one purpose—to let them know the citizens of PePterborough join with the club members in wishing them God-speed and good luck.

Prior to the party a rink from Lindsay skipped by J. Curtis, gave the boys a stiff workout.

R. Payne, as chairman for the evening, paid tribute to the team, and then called on different members to add their praise.

Gifts From C.G.E.

One of the many fine gestures of goodwill was the gift from the switchgear and inspection departments, and the dip and buff and carpenter shop of the C.G.E. was a complete outfit of sports wear for each member of the rink.

Another tribute to the boys was a purse, the gift from their curling associates and friends throughout the city.

In accepting this gift, Dr. R. Clark thanked everybody. He said that all Peterborough could depend on his rink to do honor for the club, the city, and themselves. He thanked the board of directors, the ladies of the club, and Peter Collins and Bernard Ashmore. It was their untiring efforts which helped to make the trip possible. The party leaves Toronto this evening and will commence play Monday morning.

Besides Dr. R. Clark, V. Brown, K. Bissett, and B. Harrison, going along to cheer the boys to victory are: Mrs. R. Clark, Mrs. K. Bissett, T. Doughty, R. Dawson, W. M. Cruthers, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Skitch of Lindsay.

MOST VALUABLE — Gus Leonard, starry centre for the Petes' senior "B" hockey team, has been voted the most valuable player in city hockey this season. At Friday night's game here, he will be presented with the Jimmy Drummond Memorial Trophy as well as a certificate for a suit of clothes.

Petes Turn Back the K's To Lengthen Lead In Senior "B" Puck Group

KINGSTON, Feb. 28.—Although Kingston Sacs lost their last home game of the O.H.A. senior "B" schedule 10-8 to the leaugue-leading Petes last night the 1,544 fans seemed to be completely satisfied with the night's entertainment. The satisfaction came from the outstanding play of three of the junior "B" Vics who were drafted for the game when three senior men weren't available. The juniors, Maurice Chevrefils, Wilson Reid and Bob Vallier, sparked the local club with their drive and fighting spirit plus their hockey ability. The trio counted for five of the eight local goals with Reid pulling down the hat trick in his first senior game. Chevrefils and Vallier picked up one apiece. Besides the goals, Reid assisted on Chevrefils' marker to lead the Kingston point-getters, and Chevrefils assisted on two.

Three Players Out

The juniors were taking the place of Don Murray and Stan Stewart, out through illness, and Jack White, who sat out a one-game suspension for a fracas in Peterborough earlier this week. All three regulars are expected back when Kingston plays Belleville Hawks in the latter's home Friday night in the last game of the season. The loss leaves Kingston tied with the Eagles for second place. The Hawks tangle with the Petes next week.

Fred Garvey led all the players with five points on two goals and a trio of assists. Collins potted three for the Petes and also picked up an assist while Floyd, Wade, West, Fryia and Mortimer scored the others. For Kingston, George MacGregor, Cliff Aitken, and Jerry Larmer divided the other goals. Assists went to Sweetman, Wager, Aitken, Tinkess, and Mulholland with three.

The game was clean with only four penalties handed out, all coming in the last periad, and three to Kingston. Mulholland picked up two, tripping and charging Sweetman and Fryia, the other two for fighting. Petes outshot the Sacs 35 to 31. By periods Petes 12, Sacs 10, Petes 7, Sacs 14, Petes 16, Sacs 7.

Cal Gardner of Toronto Maple Leafs who scored the winning goal and picked up an assist as Toronto took a 3-1 win over New York Rangers in the only scheduled National Hockey League game.

Leafs Seem Inspired By Boss Down Rangers In 3-1 Win

By The Canadian Press

Whatever invisible power Manager Conn Smythe wields over his Toronto Maple Leafs was never more evident than Wednesday night in New York City. For the first time in seven games, he watched his National Hockey League charges perform and for the first time in seven games, they won. The Leafs were enough inspired by the presence of The Little Major to come through with a 3-1 decision over the fourth-place Rangers and move back into a second-place deadlock with Montreal Canadiens. Both clubs trail the league-leading Detroit Red Wings by 19 points.

Toronto took a 1-0 lead on Sid Smith's first period goal and played through a scoreless middle session before Don Raleigh evened the count early in the final stanza. Cal Gardner tallied the Leafs' winner and Harry Watson added the insurance marker shortly after.

Listless Game

The game was a listless affair with checking extremely close for the first two periods. The pace picked up in the third period, but the Maple Leafs played strictly a defensive game that kept the Rangers away from goalie Al Rollins.

However, Rollins had the majority of work throughout the three periods—handling 32 shots as compared to 14 for Emile (The Cat) Francis in the Blueshirts' nets. It was Francis' first loss since he replaced the injured Chuck Rayner in the New York goal 12 days ago. In four previous games his team has won two and tied two.

Gus Mortson—the Leaf defenceman cleared today by N.H.L. president Clarence Campbell of an alleged deliberate attempt to injure Ranger Hy Buller in a previous game—played Wednesday night. He stuck strictly to business and avoided any penalties.

Two games are scheduled in tonight's N.H.L. play. Detroit plays in Montreal while the Rangers move into Chicago.

Syracuse Shades Pittsburgh 2-1

By The Canadian Press.

Syracuse Warriors, cellar dwellers of the eastern division of the American Hockey League, shaded the powerful Pittsburgh Hornets 2-1 Wednesday night. The Hornets lead both sections of the loop.

Syracuse has only picked up 45 points in the season's play, while the Hornets have a total of 85 points.

Bill Gooden tallied for the Warriors in the second period and Leo Curick notched the winning score in the third frame. Bill Ezinicki spoiled Syracuse goalie Gordon Bell's bid for a shutout with a goal with less than six minutes left.

At Cleveland, the Barons extended their unbeaten string to 16 by defeating Hershey Bears 4-1. The Barons now trail Pittsburgh, the western division leaders, by six points.

Eddie Reigle, Vic Lynn, Jerry Couture and Jack Gordon scored for Cleveland and Leo Labine got the one Hershey tally.

At Buffalo, Larry Wilson scored three goals as Indianapolis Caps beat the Bisons 5-3.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Don Raleigh of New York Rangers picked up a goal Wednesday night to move within one point of third place Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

The night's only game also saw Sid Smith of Toronto Maple Leafs add an assist to his tally to tie Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens with 44 points for sixth place.

Gordie Howe of Detroit continues to hold a powerful lead with 67 points, including 37 goals which is tops in the league. Elmer Lack of Montreal Canadiens is nine points behind in second spot and tops the assist column with 45.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

A whistle-tooting fan started an inter-school hockey argument Wednesday in Toronto that probably won't be settled for a long time.

With Leaside Collegiate tied 2-2 in a game against East York Collegiate, the amateur whistle-blower let loose. All the players stopped, but the referees looked at each other and shook their heads.

Then Leaside's Don Bonnell grabbed the puck and scored the winning goal to give his school the league championship.

East York coach Bill Dobson said however that he had lodged a protest with the school league executive. He thought that "it should be replayed. That's the only fair thing to do."

The undefeated University of Ontario's Mustangs Wednesday night pushed the University of Toronto Blues out of contention for a playoff spot in the senior intercollegiate basketball loop with a 54-43 victory before a crowd of 1,000 in Toronto. The Varsity Jay Vees tamed the Western Colts 47-35 in the intermediate opener.

Plans for a $500,000 three-quarter mile race track for Victoria, B.C., were announced on Wednesday by Ken Darbyshire, president of the Canadian Horsemen's Benevolent Association. The proposed track would be modern in every detail, Darbyshire said in Victory. It would include 400 concrete stalls and a grandstand seating 5,000.

Middleweight champion Ray Robinson will sign a contract for a Heart Fund charity bout in a ceremony in New York Friday. Sugar Ray will agree to meet the winner of the Ernie Durando-Paddie Young middleweight bout in a non-title bout at Madison Square Garden May 16. Young and Durando clash in the Garden, March 7.

The United States Olympic team played Sweden to a 6-6 draw in Olympic Stadium at Stockholm Wednesday night in the opening match of the post-Olympic hockey tournament. A crowd of 12,500 squeezed into the stadium which normally takes only 9,000 spectators.

Ted Williams said Wednesday in Miami, Fla., that he will join Boston Red Sox Saturday for spring training at Sarasota, Fla., although he is scheduled to report to the Marines for active duty two months later. "I want to get into good physical condition," said Williams, who has been spending the winter fishing in the Florida Keys, "so I'm planning to go through spring training with the team."

Havelock Rubs Out Lakefield In T.V.L.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 28 (ENS)—Havelock trimmed Lakefield 11-4 here last night to sweep their T.V.L. semi-final series in two straight. It was an exciting, rough tussle throughout with Havelock earning the win on solid play from start to finish, but Lakefield making it a rousing battle before bowing out for the season. Eakins, McIndoo and Caravaggie scored for Havelock in the first frame, with each of them also having an assist. Eady from Marshall, and then C. Wasson from Fawcett accounted for Lakefield markers in this heat.

Doris got one from Casey in the second for Lakefield, but Caravaggie hit the hemp twice and Crowder once for Havelock, as Reid and Anderson got an assist. Eady got Lakefield's last one in the third, aided by D. Wasson. Havelock rapped in five more, Willshaw pulling the hat trick for three, and Reid and Eakins getting one each. Reid helped on three, Crowder two, and Anderson, Caravaggie and McIndoo one each. Lakefield drew nine penalties and the others eight.

St. Peter's Saints Beaten By Ports In Loop Series

Port Perry High School juniors ousted St. Peter's Saints Wednesday in the first round of the C.O.S.S.A. playdowns. On the small court the Port Perry cagers easily romped to a 43-19 win to take the two-game series 74-48. A week ago the Port quintet edged Saints 31-29.

The Port Perry basketball teams rounded out a perfect night when the senior team coasted to a 47-24 victory over the senior Saints in an exhibition game.

Coach Johnny Lynch's boys enjoyed their best season since they started into basketball several years ago. With their own gym next year the high school should provide strong contenders for C.O.S.S.A. in future seasons.

The Port Perry juniors worked their height to advantage in both games as well as their experience in passing. On the smaller home floor they have always been difficult to defeat.

While Port Perry's Owen, Drake, Dobson and Hadden built up a 15-point score at half time, the best the Saints could provide was a basket each by Quinlan and Board, and two good foul shots.

A Faster Pace

Owen began to hit a faster stride in the second half to lead Ports to the win in easy fashion. He dropped in seven baskets along with a six-point effort by Dobson as the Ports sank 28 points. Quintack.

Port Perry's Owen easily led the scoring with 20 points while the Saints' Quinlan had 10.

Coach Lynch's seniors stayed fairly close to Port Perry in the second game but also fell behind in the second half. Jones with three baskets and a foul shot netted seven points out of the Saints' 12 in the first half but Haugen and Sulman for Port Perry flipped in 15 points for a 19-12 score.

Jones continued his top performance of the season in the second half but the Port Perry lads had an all-round scoring spree. Haugen whipped in 10 points in that half while Waldonspergen got nine as Ports outscored the Saints 23-12.

Haugen topped the scorers with 18 points while Waldonspergen had 11 and Sulman 10. Jones with his season's best totalled 14.

Lineups:

Junior game, Port Perry (43).—Owen 20, Peel 2, Dobson 9, Drake 4, Lawrence 3, Haddon 4, Warriner, Fairman 1.

St. Peter's High (19)—Legros 5, Quinlan 10, Galvin, Ryan 1, Simmons 1, O'Rourke, McGillen, Board 2.

Senior game, Port Perry (47)—Haugen 18, Sulman 10, Waldonsperger 11, Rowland, Warriner 4, Drake 2, Cook 2.

St. Peter's High (24)—Taylor lan and Legros led the Saints' at-3, O'Leary, Armstrong 2, Kirkley, Jones-14, Foley, Hickey 2, Fitzpatrick 3.

The 27-week grand circuit season takes in 15 associations racing at 14 tracks, and the estimated purse value of $3,219,000 is 20 per cent greater than in 1951.

Announce Leahy To Attend Sports Dinner

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP). The names of coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, Canadian football star Bruce Cummings of Ottawa and boxer Rocky Marciano were added today to the list of leading sports figures who will attend the sports celebrity dinner the Toronto Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association is holding March 13 for crippled children.

The Association said Leahy and Cummings will represent football along with Frederick Miller, Milwaukee business man who serves as a voluntary assistant coach to Leahy. He goes by plane to South Bend, Ind., daily in the football season to attend practices.

Marciano, a leading contender for the heavyweight title, will be one of two boxing representatives. The other is Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion. Gene Tunney, another former champion who was expected, is unable to come.

The Ottawa Rough Riders Football Club is sending Cummings as winner of the Jeff Russel Memorial Trophy in the Big Four Football Union last season. He also represents Canadian football and the 1952 Canadian champions.

Proceeds Aid Children

Proceeds of the $25-a-plate-dinner—probably $8,000—go to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. The event also marks the opening of the society's annual Easter Seals Campaign to finance its work for crippled children.

Other celebrities who will attend include: Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., Canadian Women's golf champion selected by the association's members as Ontario's athlete of the year in 1951; golfers Sandy Somerville and Francis Ouimet; Newsy Lalonde, old-time lacrosse great; Aurel Joliat, Bill Cook, Eddie Shore and King Clancy, members of the first Canadian Press National Hockey League all-star team of 1931; Clint Hodgins, a leading Canadian harness horse driver; Jim Thorpe, Lionel Conacher and Bobby Rosenfeld, the outstanding athletes of the U.S. and Canada in the first half of this century.

Leading Coach

Leahy, a centre and tackle in his playing days at Notre Dame, ranks as one of the leading football coaches in the U.S. His Notre Dame teams have been rated national champions in four seasons. He won fame also as coach at Fordham University where he developed the "seven-blocks-of-granite" line that carried the Rams through three seasons with only two defeats. His Boston College team of 1941 won the Sugar Bowl game. He has held coaching assignments at Georgetown University and Michigan State.

Miller, a tackle at Notre Dame where he played under the late Knute Rockne with Leahy, Heads Brewing, Lumber and Investment Companies. He owns the Milwaukee Hawks of the National Basketball Association and last season made an offer to purchase the St. Louis Browns of the American Baseball League with the idea of moving the club to Milwaukee. He plans to come to Toronto for the dinner by plane, bringing Leahy with him.

The association says it hopes to complete arrangements in the next few days for a top-flight baseball figure to round out its roster of celebrities.

10-Day Suspensions For Brown And Likas

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28 — (AP)—Tom Brown and Harry Likas, former top ranking amateur tennis stars, drew 10-day suspensions for playing pros Jack Kramer and Don Budge.

Length of the suspensions was fixed Wednesday by the Northern California Tennis Association executive committee. The two will be permitted to compete again March 5.

President James Moffitt said the excellent records of Brown and Likas plus the fact their violation was technical, accounted for the "light penalty." He explained their Sunday exhibition was not played for money.

Brown was on the 1950 United States Davis Cup team.

Mercurys Clip Dutchmen 4-1 As Brantford Edges Indians 5-4

By The Canadian Press.

Owen Sound Mercurys and Brantford Redmen may have just scraped into the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A playoffs by the skin of their teeth, but Wednesday night both clubs showed they weren't fooling in their fight to reach the finals.

Owen Sound downed Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 4-1 and Brantford edged Stratford Indians 5-4 as both teams took a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series. Stratford plays back in Brantford Friday night while Kitchener-Waterloo moved into Owen Sound Saturday.

In O.H.A. Junior A play, where the clubs are still in their regular schedule, Barrie Flyers provided the upset of the night when they exploded for four goals in overtime and came up with a 9-5 victory over Toronto St. Michael's.

The win does little for the seventh-place Flyers, but the loss left St. Mike's in fourth place where they were overtaken by St. Catharines Teepees who nosed out Oshawa Generals 5-4. The idle Kitchener Greenshirts are but a point behind both clubs.

Collect Win

In other Junior A clashes, Toronto Marlboros held off a late-game Windsor Spitfire surge and collected a 3-2 win from the ninth place club. At Waterloo, third-place Galt Black Hawks pulled off a 9-4 win from the eighth-place Hurricanes.

Bill Simpell and Lloyd Ferguson accounted for four of Brantford's goals while Jerry McCabe added the other. Jack white fired a brace of Stratford tallies with Bill Walsh and George Aitken accounting for the others.

Jack MacDonald, Mike Bukacheski, Gino Antoniazzi and Andy Grant notched Owen Sound goals while Scotty Mair came through with Kitchener-Waterloo's lone marker.

RMC, West Point To Ice Strong Teams

KINGSTON, Feb. 28 (CP). — Royal Military College plays host Saturday to the United States Military Academy in the annual hockey game between the two military colleges.

The game will mark the 20th meeting of the teams, with the Canadians out in front with an impressive total of 15 victories and one tie since the series was inaugurated in 1923. R.M.C. is the challenger this year, West Point having gained a 4-2 victory in 1951.

The series was born through the joint efforts of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then superintendent of West Point, and the late Lt.-Gen. Sir Archibald Macdonnell, at that time commandant here.

They felt it would be profitable for both countries to have young men from the national military institutions meet each other, and compete annually in some sport.

The opening year a cup was presented to the U.S. team by R.M.C. and was deeded to the academy as a memento of the first athletic meeting between the two institutions. In 1939, on the occasion of the academy's first victory, West Point presented a companion cup to R.M.C. to remain at the Canadian college as a pledge of friendship.

Good Sportsmanship

Fair play and good sportsmanship is characteristic of the games. No player has ever been penalized despite keen rivalry and hard play.

As each West Point cadet arrives in Kingston he will be "adopted" by his R.M.C. counterpart. The Canadian will oust his roommate and share his quarters with his opposite number from the U.S.

The West Pointers also have a rooting section at the game made up of R.M.C. cadets. In the arena, one side cheers for R.M.C. while the other roots as vigorously for the boys from West Point.

Coach J. J. (Yip) Radley, one-time professional hockey and football star, is reported to have his Kingston team in first-rate shape. Radley played with the old Montreal Maroons and New York Americans in the National Hockey League and Tulsa Oilers in the United States Hockey League.

Because of the current service mourning for the late King, the large formal dance that usually follows the game has been cancelled. The only ceremony to be held will be a church parade on Sunday.

West Douro Wins

WARSAW, Feb. 28—(ENS)—West Douro squeezed out a 6-3 win over North Dummer here in a semi-final loop playoff game. D. Matthews scored first with Murdock tying it up. C. Trude counted and this time Cupoli tied it, aided by Murdock. In the second, J. Cameron gave N. Dummer a lead but Carl Johnson once more tied it for the other crew, assisted by Frank Leahy. After Dafoe sank one, Cupoli hit the mark on a pass from Tim Maloney. Martell added one more for W. Douro on a pass from Jack Farren, with Murdock adding another from Joe Maloney. J. Cameron got the final goal for the losers from Burley.

West Douro—Keating, Ferren, Allen, Murdock, Heffernan, Cupoli, T. Maloney, F. Leahy, J. Maloney, Johnson, Martell.

North Dummer—Parcels, Cameron, Burley, Trude, Crowe, McClure, M. Little, Mathews, McCracken, Dafoe, P. Little.

Joan Crawford Defends Older Actors

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28 (AP)—Joan Crawford today came to the defence of mature men, described by an Italian actress as "too old to kiss."

"The young lover is an amateur; the older man is the professional," she said, disagreeing with actress Sylvana Pampanini who sounded off in Rome about kissing this week and claimed that some top Hollywood actors are too old to make love convincingly.

Sylvana named Clark Gable, Charles Boyer, Gary Cooper, Humphrey Bogart, Spencer Tracy, Paul Muni and Ronald Colman, all past 50.

"It's ridiculous to see a man old enough to be your grandfather playing an ardent lover," she said.

Her comments drew a violent reaction from Miss Crawford, who rose in gallant defence of the seven actors and mature lovers in general.

Opinions Differ

"Apparently not everyone shares her opinion," said Miss Crawford, "because these men have been playing lovers successfully for a good many years. You can't argue with the box office; that's people.

"Messrs, Boyer, Cooper and Bogart have been married to young and attractive women, which indicates that they are not only adept as screen lover but have thoroughly satisfactory personal lives. Messrs. Tracy, Muni and Colman have slightly older wives, women of the greatest charm and poise. These men also have satisfactory personal lives.

"As for Mr. Gable, I speak for myself as well as millions of other women when I say that he is still king. I'm sure if he called Miss Pampanini for a date, she would drop everything and run in his direction."

She added that she has played love scenes opposite all the actors named, either on the screen or radio. "Speaking professionally, I can say that all of them have great strength and appeal as lovers," she said. "When one of them kisses you, you know you've been kissed."

The Italian actress has praised her young leading man, who had left marks on her arm after a movie clinch. Miss Crawford's comment: "Is she interested in love-making or a wrestling match?"

Miss Crawford's final comment: "The young lover is an amateur; the older man is the professional. I don't think any woman knows whether she has been loved well until she is 30 and her husband is 35. Until then, it's strictly high-school stuff."

I.O.D.E., Band Sponsor Campbellford Concert

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28 — (ENS).—A Sunday evening concert presented jointly by the Bemersyde Chapter, I.O.D.E., and the Campbellford Citizens' Band drew a large audience on Sunday evening.

Mrs. George Vice announced the program and welcomed the audience on behalf of the Bemersyde Chapter and the I.O.D.E.

Two numbers by the band opened the program, after which Bruce Barnum played a medley of tunes on his sonovox. Two piano duets by Donald and Gerald Young were heard, as well as a humorous recitation by George Palliser. Miss Georgia DeCarrol sang a solo.

The choir of St. John's United Church, under the direction of George Nicholls, and accompanied by Mrs. Nicholls, contributed two numbers.

The Rev. Gordon Whitehorne gave a short address on the subject, "You Are Important." Mr. Whitehorne stressed three points. The individual is important because he is unique; no two persons are exactly alike. He is important because he passes through the world but once. Finally he has a job to do in the world which he and he alone can accomplish.

Miss Anne Nicholls gave a piano solo and responded to the applause with a second number. Mrs. Allan Watson gave a solo and Mr. Barnum played another solo.

The Campbellford Citizens' Band presented a final group of waltzes and marches to conclude the program.

Mrs. Vice thanked the artists who gave of their time and talent, and announced that the last concert of the season would be held some time in March.

Lincoln V.O.N. Operates County Branch

The Nursing Services in the County of Lincoln—the pilot service of its kind in Ontario—was the topic of an address given at the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses Wednesday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A.

The speaker was Dr. D. V. Currey, M.D., D.P.H., director of the St. Catherines-Lincoln Health Unit.

Lincoln County has led the way in county health nursing services with the establishment of a county branch of the V.O.N. It was the organization and administration of this county branch that Dr. Currey expained in his address.

Objectives Listed

Following an outline of the history of nursing service and the establishment of the V.O.N. in Canada in 1897, the speaker listed the following objectives of the V.O.N. today:

To establish and maintain nursing services throughout Canada.

To engage and direct activities of nurses and to undertake the care of the sick in their homes.

To demonstrate nursing methods and to aid in prevention of disease and maintenance of health.

To assist in training nurses in public health.

To assist in establishing and maintaining the highest possible standards of efficiency for all nursing services.

"For nearly 55 years the V.O.N. has carried out these objectives," Dr. Currey said. "The Order has grown from four branches in 1898 to some 110 branches today and spread over the whole expanse of our country."

Two Branches Of V.O.N.

At this point the speaker turned to the establishment of the V.O.N. branch, first in St. Catharines and then Lincoln County.

When the St. Catharines-Lincoln County Health Unit came into existence in 1945, there were two branches of V.O.N. in the area. However, because it was recognized that there was a need for bedside nursing service it was decided that it would be advantageous for nurses from both the County Health Unit and the V.O.N. to cover the whole of the County of Lincoln.

The County of Lincoln Branch of the V.O.N. was formed in 1946. The staff has grown from two nurses to a supervisor and six nurses.

"We have made sure that the nursing programs of the Health Unit and the V.O.N. do not overlap," Dr. Currey explained. "Each of the nursing services have been given definite work; each represents the efforts of the other and the two groups work closely in harmony with the other."

Professional Nursing

"The V.O.N. works closely with the medical profession making continuous calls if the patient is under the care of a physician, or at a physician's request. Their nurses provide professional, part-time bedside care with health instructions integrated in each visit."

In conclusion, Dr. Currey paid tribute to the excellent work the V.O.N. nurses are doing in Peterborough.

"For many years your branch has provided a nursing service, probably for many persons who otherwise could not have afforded professional nursing. The amount of good that has been done, the number of lives that have been saved, or all that has been accomplished cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents."

Dr. Currey was introduced by Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., and thanked by James Dutton, first president of the V.O.N.

Cottesloe Y.P.U. Meets

NORWOOD, Feb. 28—(ENS)—The Sunday Young People's Union meeting at Cottesloe opened with a sing song of favorite hymns.

Miss Betty Baker, stewardship training convener, had charge of the worship period. Shirley Thompson read the scripture passage. Flora Gardner gave a poem "Work" and G. B. LaBrash played a piano solo. The meeting then broke up in discussion groups with Betty Baker, Kenneth Trumpour, Shirley Brown and Dorothy Stinson as leaders. Shirley Brown sang a solo.

BREAKS TRADITION—Barbara Ward, brilliant British economist and writer, broke tradition when she was the first woman to address the Canadian Club since it was founded in Ottawa 48 years ago. She is shown with Prime Minister St. Laurent who attended the luncheon.

Say Uniform Sentences Needed

TORONTO, Feb. 28—(CP)—J. Alex Edmison of Toronto said Wednesday there must be more uniform sentencing of criminal offenders all across Canada.

Mr. Edmison, director of the John Howard Association of Ontario, an organization connected with prisoner rehabilitation, told members of the Electric Club that there are men in neighboring cells in penal institutions serving double or triple the time for the same offence.

Build Up Your System With Syntona Compound

Be Able to Eat Heartily; to Sleep Soundly; End Dizzy Spells, Nervousness, Headache, Poor Digestion and Tired, Rundown Feeling.

MRS SIMONE CARRIERE

If you feel tired, wornout, and nervous; if bowels are constipated and you suffer with indigestion, gas, sour acidity, headaches and rheumatic pain; if you have dizzy spells and nerves are on edge so that you cannot sleep well — take a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. Then see what a difference. This Herbal medicine may be just what you need to put you on the road to better health again.

Read here the experience of Mrs. Simone Carriere, 104 Peter Street, Hamilton, Ontario, who said:

"My entire system was rundown. My appetite was poor and I suffered with stomach disorders. Had awful gas, cramps and sour acidity. I was subject to constipation, dizzy feelings and sick headaches. My nerves were so on edge I couldn't get my proper sleep, so I felt wornout and fatigued from the time I got up in the morning.

"But since taking a short treatment of Syntona I am feeling fine once more. My appetite is improved and my food digests without all that distress in my stomach. Have no trouble now with headaches, dizziness or constipation. Also my nerves are relaxed so I sleep fine and do not feel tired and wornout as I did before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

MORE IMMIGRANTS

Gunman Escapes

TORONTO, Feb. 28—(CP)—A lone gunman with "glazed eyes" escaped from a downtown drug store Wednesday night with $200 and six or seven cheap watches. He forced the store owner, two delivery boys and a customer to lie on the floor until he made his getaway. Michael Grossman, the manager, told police the bandit was of slight build with bad teeth and "glazed eyes" as though doped.

Held In Theft Ring

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 28 (AP)—A man identified by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as John S. Doyle, 23, of Windsor, was held Wednesday as a member of a money order theft ring which agents said had operated in Canada and the United States.

Amphibious Sled

HAMILTON, Feb. 28—(CP)—Hamilton Harbor Police will receive delivery in a few days of an amphibious sled built especially for rescue work on thin ice or shallow water in the marshy upper reaches of Hamilton Bay. The 18-foot craft is powered by an aircraft engine and has an estimated top speed of 100 miles an hour.

HAMILTON, Feb. 28—(CP)—An inquest jury Wednesday brought in a verdict of accidental death in the case of Robert Wiggins, 31, of nearby Stoney Creek, killed Feb. 15 in a freak transformer explosion at the Dominion Foundry and Steel Company. A second worker, Wilfred Craig, 43, of Fruitland, died later as a result of burns suffered in the explosion.

Chemical Plant Arousing Wide Interest

By The Canadian Press

The New York head office of the Celanese Corporation, which is building a $54,000,000 chemicals plant just outside Edmonton, recently sent out a letter to top executives of some 5,000 firms active in chemical and allied industries in the United States.

The letter, over the signature of John D. Fennebresque, general manager of the corporation's chemical division, outlined the firm's Canadian program. The idea, Mr. Fennebresque said in an interview in Edmonton, was that some of these firms might want to adjust their own programs to Canadian developments and perhaps establish Canadian branch factories.

Some of the replies, he said, were "very interesting." The Celanese Corporation, through its subsidiary, Canadian Chemicals Ltd., hopes to be turning out by early next year about 15 synthetic organic chemicals—raw materials of the chemical industry — from Alberta natural gas.

To Ease Shortage

Some of these chemicals are not at present produced in Canada. One of the more important is pentaerythritol—"P.E." for short. It is a replacement for glycerine and is used in the manufacture of explosives and finishes for cars, refrigerators and the like. There is a critical world shortage of P.E.

The Edmonton plant will be the only one in the world making the chemical with all the raw materials produced on the spot. This, Mr. Fennebresque said, assures continuity of supply of a product vital in the event of war. All other plants producing it are located on the vulnerable eastern U.S. seaboard.

Canada imports approximately 3,000,000 pounds of P.E. annually, and the Edmonton plant will produce more than enough for Canadian needs. The surplus will be exported to the U.S. and abroad.

Encourage Others

Mr. Fennebresque said he believes the availability of P.E. will encourage other industries dependent upon it to locate in Canada.

The Celanese Corporation hopes to make operation of the Edmonton plant an all-Canadian proposition. Some 1,000 university men have been interviewed from coast to coast, and a first group of 15 are on their way to the firm's U.S. plants for four or six months' training. Another group of 25 will follow within the next few months.

"We are well satisfied with the high calibre of the Canadian personnel who qualified for jobs," said Mr. Fennebresque. Of those chosen, some are just out of the universities, others have up to 10 years' experience in the chemical field.

Told World Of Peary's Feat Two Worst Sea Disasters

HALIFAX — (CP). — One of the few living men who relayed the news of the discovery of the North Pole and two of the world's worst sea disasters retires here February 29.

He is Alexander George Wright plant chief for Canadian National Telegraphs, whose career dates back to 1899.

Admiral Robert E. Peary discovered the North Pole April 6, 1909, and five months later — on Sept. 6—word of his achievement was excitedly tapped out at Indian Harbor, Labrador. Wright picked up the message at his lonely Anticosti post and relayed it to other stations from where it was sent on land lines around the world.

Wright intercepted the first messages of the Titanic and Empress of Ireland sinkings. He was stationed at Cape Sable when the White Star liner Titanic went down on her maiden trip from Southampton after striking an iceberg off Newfoundland April 14, 1912, with a loss of 1,517 lives.

He was at Cape Ray when the Empress of Ireland was sunk May 29, 1914, off Father Point, Que., in collision with the Norwegian collier Storstad. Lives lost in the sinking totalled 1,024.

Thrilling Days

"In those days there was a greater thrill in being a telegraph operator," he says. "While perhaps your place wasn't even as important as it is today you had to handle each message yourself and you knew everything that was going on."

Wireless has come a long way in the past half century, mused the old telegrapher, who probably has worked longer at his job than any other Canadian.

In the early times, on an exceptionally clear day the average transmission of a message was about 120 miles. To reach beyond that it had to be relayed over and over again, as were the first news stories.

"Today a message can be dispatched direct from Halifax to anywhere in the world," said Wright. "In fact, we have had our own messages travel around the world and right back to us."

Wright, 65, started his career as a boy of 12 with the Anglo-American Cable Company in his native London, England. He came to Canada in 1907, joined the Marconi Company and later Western Union before its lines were taken over by C.N.T. At various times he was stationed at Cape Sable Island, Saint John, Cape Ray, North Sydney, Pictou, Yarmouth and Moncton.

He said she used 11 aliases in leaving worthless cheques throughout the district.

MILBURN'S HEALTH and NERVE PILLS

Says Technicians Too Powerful

TORONTO, Feb. 28—(CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa said Wednesday that government by technicians is becoming "all too prevalent" in Canada.

If carried too far, she added, it could do as much harm to the democratic way of life as any communist effort.

The chief magistrate of Canada's capital was speaking against a resolution at the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association. The resolution would enable public utilities commissions to make their own appointments when vacancies arise. It was defeated.

"One of the things that is happening in Canada, from the House of Commons down to municipal governments," said Mayor Whitton, "is the confusion of technical administration of services with policy-making bodies of elected representatives."

"The elected representatives of the people are becoming less and less effective in the evolution of policy because more and more authority is going over to the technicians."

Held 18 Months Without Charge

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 28—(AP)—A negro has been held in jail at Brooksville for 18 months without a formal charge, The Tampa Tribune reported Wednesday night.

He is David Reese, 23, who was acquitted of a murder charge there July 20, 1950.

Records show Reese was held on a verbal order of Judge Fred R. Hocker, issued at the time Reese was acquitted.

Judge Hocker directed a verdict of innocent for Reese on the murder charge but ordered him held as an accessory on the "announcement of the State Attorney."

State Attorney J. W. Hunter of Tavares, who prosecuted Reese, said, "I haven't seen that man since the trial, but if he's still in jail, I'll call the Sheriff and see that he's turned loose."

However, Sheriff Sim L. Lowman was out of the county yesterday and Hunter could not reach him.

Jailor Bishop Brass said last night he had not been given instructions by Hunter and was still holding Reese "on the Judge's order."

NO DEMAND FOR U.S. BILLS

The U.S. dollar is notably fluid around town these days. There is little disposition to tuck it away in the bottom drawer, hopefully as a nest egg to attract others cumulatively into an eventual wad of them.

A corner store tobacco man doesn't want to see any more twenties or even tens. At one-quarter of a cent discount on the dollar, that means four cents on the U.S. $10 and eight cents on the $20. So, a customer lays an Uncle Sam $20 on the counter for a package of cigarettes that costs him 42c.

The dealer passes out $19.58 in change, but when he turns the big bill in at the bank he is credited only with $19.92.—H.T.

Chief Thompson said that he commended all members of his department for their team work, which enabled the department to carry out its work efficiently.

Chief Thompson also said he appreciated the co-operation and assistance of the officers and staff of District 8 headquarters of the Ontario Provincial Police, investigators of the two railway companies and also the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for their help in tracing wanted criminals through their identification and fingerprint bureau.

PCVS Students Visit Institute Of Technology

Toronto's 16-school Ryerson Institute of Technology was investigated by 64 P.C.V.S. students Wednesday for the possibility of furthering their education there next fall.

This interest group, the third in a annual series, was arranged by Howard Moebus, vocational guidance director at P.C.V.S. and the institute. Transportation expenses were paid by the students.

Mr. Moebus said today that the trip was made because the "institute is a splendid opportunity for the young students who don't want to go to university but want specialized training beyond high school." He added that the institute is "an educational outlet for students".

The P.C.V.S. students were grouped to visit the particular one of the schools composing the institute, they may enter next term. Practically every one of the 16 schools had one or two students paying a special visit. There they were conducted about the school with each director briefly explaining the course requirements and jobs available after the course.

Retail Business School

The largest group from P.C.V.S. toured the retail merchandising school which teaches the business of buying, selling and owning a small business. The school director was surprised at the large number of girls from the collegiate interested in that course.

Those taking the merchandising course, one of the most popular, attend classes in the morning and work in a store during the afternoon at jobs provided by the institute. Twenty-seven Toronto stores co-operate with the institute by offering students jobs.

Ten boys and girls attended the radio broadcasting school where they saw studios similar to CHEX's with boys practising the various jobs. All in the group had their voices tested.

This group saw the latest addition to the broadcasting course, the television studio. No one tested there for all the course's equipment was being used on an institute project.

Other Courses

Other courses visited by the P.C.V.S. students were: fashion design, journalism, jewellery, mechanical drafting, architectural drafting, interior decorating, home economics, and industrial chemistry.

After the hour tours through the schools of their choice, the whole student group visited the remaining schools to see the other courses.

The next in the interest group series will be the engineering. The nursing and teaching groups were held a week ago.

Council Ask Company Employ Local Men

The following resolution was passed by the council at its special meeting Monday night: "Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Black, that the City Clerk be instructed to communicate with A. W. Roberston Co., suggesting that a fair proportion of the able-bodied citizens of Peterborough be employed in various construction projects, by the said firm in the city, rather than the present system of giving preference to, and in some cases bringing in foreign workers, principally displaced persons."

Overseas Entry

The secretary of the Peterborough Music Competition Festival received a surprise in the mail Wednesday. Four entry forms came in postmarked Knaresborough, Yorks, England. The entrant is Mrs. Marjory Moore, who lives in Cobourg, but is in England visiting her parents. She sent the forms from there explaining that she was afraid it might be too late if she waited until she came back to Canada at the end of March. She will be competing in two piano and two vocal classes.

Board Forbids Loudspeaker

Board of works declined this week to permit Junior Chamber Commerce to use a mobile sound amplifying truck in their campaign this week to obtain $10,000 for the Cancer Fund.

Ald. Norman Graham said: "I hate to go against a good cause, but people have been telling me about disturbance caused by the U.E. in using a loud speaker around the C.G.E., and it was said they intended to do so again."

Members of the council agreed that any concession of loud speaking broadcasts would tend to weaken the ruling.

In refusing the request of the Jaycees, it was also decided to alter the bylaw to take advantage of the most recent legislation on such noises. The phrasing was to the effect that the anti-noise bylaw be revised and brought up to date.

It was also the expressed wish of the council that Chief Constable Thompson be informed of the decision, "and that we want to see the bylaw upheld by everybody".

Lindsay Population Hits High Of 9,504

LINDSAY, Feb. 28.—Lindsay's population reached its all-time high in 1951, the assessment office reported to council Monday evening.

Present population is 9,504, an increase of less than 2,000 in 30 years. In 1920, population was 7,841, slipped to 6,949 in 1935 and in 1946 reached 8,069.

Seaway Plan Needed For Defence

St. Lawrence Project Bring Benefits Outweighing Cost

Canada wants the co-operation of the United States in completing the long-talked-about St. Lawrence Seaway, but she is prepared to undertake it alone if necessary.

G. G. McLeod, special assistant to the minister of transport, Wednesday night gave this assurance to the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada. At noon today he also addressed the Kiwanis Club on the Seaway.

"The St. Lawrence Seaway and power development is needed at the earliest possible date," said Mr. McLeod. "It is important for Canadian development and urgent for national defence. Not merely can it pay for itself in tolls and power charges, but also it will bring benefits far outweighing its original cost."

Door Not Being Closed

"Postponing the project would not relieve the pressure on men and materials," he said. "It might rather increase it. For without the seaway, Canada and the United States would require alternative hydro or steam capacity, transportation facilities, taconite construction plants, and other works.

"The door is not being closed on United States participation. That is still the logical, the desirable, choice. But it is results that count. The Canadian government is pursuing both alternatives, that is, action under the 1941 agreement with the United States, and action for the all-Canadian Seaway.

It remains to be seen which course will be the first to produce results."

The proposed St. Lawrence Seaway is a 1,200-mile channel, 27 feet or more deep, extending from Montreal in the east to the head of the Great Lakes in the west.

2,000 Miles From Atlantic

Together with the St. Lawrence Ship Channel, already provided by Canada, it would permit vessels to navigate more than 2,000 miles from the Atlantic Ocean into the heart of the North American continent.

If the seaway goes ahead as an all-Canadian project, the cost of the international power development will be borne by the power agencies. Cost of added navigation facilities from Montreal to Lake Erie would be somewhat over $250,000,000 at 1950 prices.

Mr. McLeod said that while this would be a large Federal expenditure it was not beyond Canadian resources. No larger, in fact, than some past expenditures. Already Canada has spent more than $300,000,000 in providing the Ship Channel below Montreal, the 14-foot canals into Lake Ontario, the Welland Ship Canal, and the Sault Ste. Marie lock.

Costs Covered By Tolls

"The facilities would not be provided as a gift to anyone, least of all to the United States," said Mr. McLeod. "The initial cost and the operating expenses would be covered by tolls on shipping In other words, the expense would be borne by those that benefited...."

The whole project hinges on a satisfactory development in the international section of the St. Lawrence River.

The Canada-United States boundary follows the 45th Parallel of latitude until it strikes the St. Lawrence River near Cornwall. From there it follows the middle of the river west to Lake Ontario. Below Cornwall the river is wholly within Canada, and the necessary works will be Canada's responsibility in any event.

"In the Great Lakes above, Canada can deepen the Welland Shio Canal, and the improvement of other inter-lake channels could be left to United States action in response to the normal forces of progress," said Mr. McLeod. "But some form of international co-operation is necessary to get the dams and oher power works built in the International Rapids."

The logical solution would be a joint enterprise undertaken by the Canadian and United States Federal governments, he contended. This was contemplated in the 1941 agreement.

Other Solutions

Failing this, there are other solutions. In 1948 the public power agencies of New York and Ontario applied for authority to undertake a separate power development of the International Rapids. Should this go ahead, Canada could add navigation canals on her own side of the river, thus making an all-Canadian seaway.

Canada has already established the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority to complete the linking up of Montreal and Lake Erie. But the 1941 Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Basin Agreement has not yet been acted on by the United States Senate.

"The seaway has become urgent for our normal peacetime progress and urgent for national defence," said Mr. McLeod.

Take power development:

The St. Lawrence River is the only major source of hydro power remaining to be harnessed in southern Ontario. And the need for power is so great at present that steam generators are now turning out 900,000 horsepower. This in a province that prides itself on cheap hydro power.

The International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River, will develop 2,200,000 horsepower divided equally between Canada and the United States.

18 Or 72?

One of the very special days in the life of Edward Taylor of 544 George St., is Feb. 29—it is his birthday. A party is being planned to celebrate the occasion but it presents a problem. Though Mr. Taylor has celebrated 72 Christmases, this is only his 18th birthday. How many candles should he have on his cake?

Police Chief Urges Wig-Wags At Crossings

In submitting his eighth annual report to the Police Commission Wednesday, Chief Constable John Thompson recommended that wig-wag signals be installed at two railway crossings in the city.

The C.N.R. intersection at McDonnel and Bethune Sts., is "the most dangerous street and railway intersection in the city," said Chief Thompson. He added weight to his recommendation that automatic signals be erected at this crossing by pointing out that there have been three accidents there between trains and automobiles in which people were injured during the year.

The CPR crossing at Monaghan Rd., and Romaine Sts., was the other crossing which Chief Thompson urged should be equipped with automatic signals. "There have been two accidents, resulting in injuries at this street and railway intersection," said Chief Thompson in his report.

School Guards

School guards came in for a special word of commendation from Chief Thompson. "They have done an exceptionally good job during 1951," he told the police commissioners. "No children have been injured where guards are stationed. I wish to thank the guards for an excellent job well done during the year, and trust they may carry on this good work.

Chief Thompson recommended that the six school guards under the supervision of the police department be transferred to the supervision of the Board of Education. At present, six are under the supervision of the police department, and the school board is in charge of three. "It is my opinion, the guards will be better, all under the board's supervision," he said.

Due to the officers having to change from one shift to another, it is difficult to keep track of each individual sale of dog and bicycle licences, said Chief Thompson in asking that his department be relieved of the job of issuing these licences.

Eight New Revolvers

To complete the department's changeover to one type of service revolver, approved by the Police Commission and started in 1950 and 1951, Chief Thompson asked for approval to purchase eight new 38 revolvers. "This will enable every officer to have the same calibre of revolver, making it easier to supply officers with ammunition and will enable the loading machine to make the one size and type, for general use as well as revolver practice," continued the police chief's report.

Another recommendation was that a one and one half inch calibre gun be purchased. This weapon would be extremely useful said Chief Thompson, "in the case of some insane person barricading himself in a room with a gun. This gun, throws a gas projectile which can be aimed through a window or door at a distance of 200 yards. This weapon would be used only in cases where someone was shooting it out with police officers. In such an emergency, it might save the lives of several police officers."

Police Ask $157,464 To Run Dept.

Estimates Increased $21,042 Over 1951 Budget

An estimated $157,464.40 will be required to operate the police department in 1952, according to the budget approved by the Police Commission at a special meeting Wednesday.

This represents an increase of $21,042.19 over the total 1951 department expenses of $136,422.21.

The department's 1951 collections of $72,408.49 for the city show an increase of $12,733.54 over the 1950 figure of $59,670.90. Money from parking meters totalled $35,458.75. This figure represents an increase of $7,087.28 over the previous year's parking meter intake of $28,371.47. Of this amount, $4,864.55 was collected from the old market square which has been converted to a parking lot. Fines from parking tickets brought in $5,277.

Exceed Budget

The 1951 expenditures exceeded the budget estimate by $6,422.21, most of which was the result the continued climb in the cost of living index during the year, which meant higher cost of living bonuses to the officers.

There were 202 fewer dog tags sold in 1951 than the previous year, and revenue from dog tags was down $758 from $2,486 to $1,728.

Nineteen fewer parking permits were issued during 1951 than in 1950, and revenue from the sale of these permits was down accordingly, from $1,806 to $1,001.

The amount taken in through fines and costs was up $4,714.31 from the 1950 figure of $21,925.43 to $26,639.74.

$4,000 Rent?

An item of $4,000 was included in the budget, as a tentative amount to cover the cost of maintenance of the quarters occupied by the department in the city hall. The property committee of City Council has not yet laid down its policy in regard to charging the police department, the Board of Education and other bodies with offices in the building. Commission secretary E. A. Outram said the committee is considering $2.25 a square as an annual charge for rent, maintenance and heating.

The commission has approved the hiring of a clerk for the Police Department, and the estimates include $1,800 for the salary of a clerk when she is appointed.

IMPALED ON TRUCK — The driver of this car was killed instantly when his vehicle was impaled on a monster tree trunk which was being towed along the highway near a small village in western France. Rounding a sharp bend in the road, the driver apparently failed to see the big tree projecting from the rear of a trailer in time to apply his brakes. The trunk ripped through the windshield and passed through the rear window for a distance of several feet before bringing the car to a halt.

Steel Shortage Delays Planes

LONDON, Feb. 28 — (AP) — Britain needs an extra three to nine months to build a warplane now because of shortages of men and materials, the government reported Wednesday.

The disclosure came in a report by parliament's select committee of rearmament, which has been probing into scarcities.

"The most significant change in the list of delivery dates is that for aircraft", the report said. "The interval between ordering and delivery of existing types, which was 15 of 17 months last year, is now 18 to 26 months. The interval for new types which was 21 to 24 months is now 23 to 29 months".

The report said steel is the biggest over-all shortage.

Shortage of skilled manpower also had upset production schedules.

At the same time, the arms program has been hit by rising prices—in most cases about 10 per cent in the last year.

ANN MARTIN takes time out to pose with a seven-foot, nine-inch model of a de-Haviland jet aircraft which will go into service on trans-Pacific service this year. To be displayed at Windsor Station, Montreal, early next week, the $15,000-model will go on tour to Winnipeg, Vancouver, and Honolulu, in addition to appearing at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this year.

School Discovers Stronger Wood

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 28—(AP)— The Yale Forestry School says it has found a wood which not only is five times stronger than white oak, most commonly used North American hardwood, but weighs only a third as much as aluminum.

The wood, from a medium-sized tree that is related to both the laurel and the sassafras, is called kaneelhart and comes from French Guiana in South America.

Frederick F. Wangaard, associate professor of forestry products, said the unusual properties of the wood, also nearly half as strong as aluminum, were discovered during tests made for the United States Office of Naval Research.

Believes Canada Has Important Role In World

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP). — Christian democracy will bring peace to the world and Canada will play a big part in the salvation of the human race, Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, Laval University rector, said today.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Empire Club of Canada, the rector of the Quebec university, marking its centenary this year, said democracy was based on human rights and sound leadership.

Speaking in English, he said:

"We, Canadians, have the privilege of belonging to a great democracy, called upon to play a very important role in the life of democratic nations, and since we claim the honor of contributing our share to the work of social restoration actually going on, it is essential for Canada to offer the highest form of democracy, inspired by the loftiest possible concept of right, of liberty, of justice and of social order.

"That means that Canada has to be a Christian democracy, a nation whose political life and social life must be fully conformable to the requirements and sound philosophy enlightened by faith and by the teaching of Christ.

Great Values

". . . You love your country as dearly as I do: You wish Canada to become more and more looked up to, not simply on account of her economic wealth, her prosperity and her future of great promise, but above all for the wisdom of her constitution, the moral quality of her legislation, the social value of her institutions, the guarantees offered to the liberty and dignity of the human being.

". . . Let us sincerely endeavor to make Canada a Christian democracy. It is on this condition that our country will be a great country and will be capable of saving the modern world from the dissolving materialism which is sapping the foundations of social order. . .

"I love my country, I love without reservation all her inhabitants, regardless of their race, their language, or their creed. . .

"Canada is a democratic country . . . and she will remain so. . . providing she is a Christian democracy. . . Our Canadian democracy must draw its inspiration from the concept of democracy for which human reason is indebted to Christian faith."

Predicts Favorable Vote On St. Lawrence Seaway

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (CP). —A Rhode Island senator predicted today that the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee will approve the controversial St. Lawrence seaway legislation.

Democratic Senator Theodore Greene, one of the main backers of the legislation to authorize the construction of the $818,000,000 water and power project jointly with Canada, told a reporter he believes the 13-member committee will approve it. He declined, however, to predict the vote. Canada has indicated her readiness to go ahead with the project with or without U.S. participation.

Another Senator, Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said today the committee will be urged to act promptly on the legislation.

He told reporters the issue will be raised "at the first chance" in the committee after completion of the hearing this week.

Chairman Tom Connally, a long-time foe of the seaway, brushed the question aside, however, when asked when action might be taken.

"I have no idea when the committee will act," said the Texas Democratic Senator. "It is up to the committee."

Heads Witnesses

Frazer A. Bailey, president of the National Federation of American Shipping, Inc., led the second day parade of witnesses testifying against the seaway.

Scores of witnesses backing the project testified during the first two days this week, and opponents took over Wednesday.

Bailey in a prepared statement said his organization included a majority of all deep-water dry cargo American flag shipping and a substantial portion of the tanker fleet.

The witness said his organization does not believe that the St. Lawrence seaway would open the Great Lakes to "any substantial amount of ocean shipping."

Bailey contended that only about three per cent of the privately-owned American fleet could operate through the proposed 27-foot deep waterway fully loaded.

However, he said, many foreign ships operate with less draft and they would have an advantage in using the St. Lawrence seaway.

In addition, he said, once the legislation was approved there would be pressure brought to deepen the channel to 30 or 35 feet at what he said would be a prohibitive cost.

Bailey said that from a defence standpoint the seaway would be vulnerable to attack from an enemy with the possibility that a ship could be sunk in a lock and bottle up ships in the western sector.

Estimates of income to be derived from tolls to make it a self-financing operation were termed highly speculative and excessive by Bailey.

Repeal Beer Bill

Russians Do It Again

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Moscow radio Wednesday said again that a Russian named Popov really invented the radio and that "the despicable" Italian Guglielmo Marconi stole the idea from him. A man described as "the aged Professor Chatelain" told the world he was present when Comrade Popov invented radio in 1900. Marconi is credited—outside Russia—with the invention of radio wireless signals in 1896. Four years ago, the Russians claimed that radio had been discovered "53 years ago" by one Ivan Popov which would have made the date 1895.

St. Laurent Gives Graceful Address At Installation

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP)—Text of addresses by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey at the installation of Mr. Massey as Governor-General:

Prime Minister St. Laurant

Your Excellency:

Yor are assuming your duties as the representative of the Queen in Canada at a time of universal and heartfelt mourning for His Late Majesty King George VI.

I am sure you will feel that my first duty is to ask your Excellency to convey to Her Majesty the Queen the renewed expression of the sympathy of all her Canadian subjects.

We also pray Your Excellency to assure Her Majesty of the deep attachment of the Canadian people to the crown.

The warm welcome given in Canada a few months ago to Her Majesty the Queen and His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh and the universal sorrow throughout the land at the death of the King were renewed evidence of this abiding loyalty of the Canadian people to their sovereign and of their respect and personal affection for the Queen and the Royal family.

Express Satisfaction

As Prime Minister, it is my privilege to express the satisfaction felt by the members of the Government that Your Excellency has entered upon the duties of the high office to which his late majesty was pleased to appoint, for the first time, one of his Canadian subjects.

We are all proud to recognize in Your Excellency one of Canada's most distinguished sons. For many years you have served your countrymen faithfully and well.

When Canada established a legation at Washington 25 years ago you became its first minister. You discharged the responsibility of representing our nation in the United States of America with skill, with wisdom and with understanding.

For many years, including the trying period of the Second World War, you were Canada's high commissioner in the United Kingdom. The Canadian public will long remember your distinguished and devoted official services to the nation and to the Commonwealth during those years.

Cherish Memories

Thousands of Canadian servicemen will always cherish, too, the memories of the countless personal kindnesses extended to them as individuals by yourself and Mrs. Massey in times when personal kindnesses to them were such precious reminders of their own homes and families.

You have given unstintingly of your knowledge, of your time and of your means in the advancement of higher education and in the encouragement of the arts and the cultural life of this, your native land.

Your Excellency is eminently qualified by your wide experience to fill the high office you are now assuming. The Canadian people are confident that you will discharge with devotion and distinction your duties as the representative in Canada of Her Majesty the Queen.

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General

Prime Minister:

First may I say that I shall have the honor to convey to Her Majesty the Queen, as you have asked, a message expressing anew the sympathy and understanding of Her Majesty's Canadian subjects in this sad hour of her personal bereavement. It will also be my privilege to give the Queen assurances of the devotion of the people of our country to Her Majesty's person and to the ancient crown to which we owe allegiance.

In none of Her Majesty's realms is there a stronger attachment to the sovereign and the members of our royal house. Our loyalty was deepened by the visit to Canada last autumn of Her Majesty the Queen. This made it possible for us to learn to know and love the princess who has become our sovereign lady. Of her visit we shall always treasure the happiest of memories.

I have been deeply touched, prime minister, by your generous and graceful words. I find it difficult on this occasion to say what I feel. To speak of the high, indeed the overwhelming, honor of being asked to assume this great post is an understatement of the truth. As I consider the meaning of the office to which I have been called, the prestige it has gathered over the years, its role in this great country whose citizens we are proud to be, I can only say to you quite simply that I approach my task in all humility.

Of the task itself this is not the time to speak. I am conscious that I follow a long line of eminent and distinguished men who have made an enduring contribution to the life of Canada. We are reminded of this b the governor-general who has just left our shores. Lord Alexander so endeared himself to the Canadian people as to become in a true sense a part of us.

We are grateful for the imprint Lord Alexander has made on our national life; just as we are grateful for the individual and varied contributions of his predecessors. But all holders of this high office have one supreme function in common; they represent the crown. That high function transcends all else. Over the generations fine traditions have grown up round this office.

It will be my duty and responsibility to cherish and preserve them. To the Canadian people may I say very humbly that I approach my task with a determination to do all in my power to serve my sovereign and in so doing I know I shall be serving Canada.

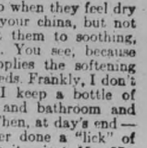
Ten-Thirty and the house is swept and whistle-clean. Now you're ready for a chat with Mary over a good cup of coffee. Well, I'd like to suggest INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. Takes just seconds to make (no longer than boiling the water!) . . . and it's delicious. That's because it's made by the folks who "know their coffee" . . . it's the only instant coffee backed by over 85 years of coffee experience. The flavour's there — and the real coffee lift. After a cheering cup of Instant Chase & Sanborn, you'll feel like a new woman. Another thing you'll like about this good instant coffee . . . it's economical. There's no waste. And it's as easy to make ten cups as one.

Guests For Dinner . . . but a bad backache has you "tied in knots"? Cheer up! You'll feel like a new woman and be a wonderful hostess after you've rubbed the ache away with fast-acting BEN-GAY (Baume Bengué). Ben-Gay chases away "Peter Pain" in almost no time. Its soothing warmth gives welcome relief from backache and muscular pain — rheumatism and neuralgia — and the pain of chest and head colds. That's because it contains up to 2½ times more of those two famous pain-relieving agents — methyl salicylate and menthol — than 5 other widely offered rubins. Contains skin-soothing lanolin, too. Better keep Ben-Gay handy — just 75c a tube!

Your Busy Hands DESERVE The Best Of Care. So when they feel dry after using detergents (nice for your china, but not for your hands!) . . . just treat them to soothing, smoothing JERGENS LOTION. You see, because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Frankly, I don't know what I'd do without it! I keep a bottle of Jergens handy in both kitchen and bathroom and use it after every watery chore. Then, at day's end — my hands look as if they'd never done a "lick" of work! I know you'll like Jergens Lotion. Ask for it — just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

Have You Ever Noticed how things you learned at school suddenly come back to you? Marg said her washing always had a yellow tinge and then she remembered her chemistry teacher telling her that seven colours combine to make white, and one of them is blue. That's why there's no true white without blue. So of course, the answer to the problem of yellow-looking washings is Blue. Just swish it in the final rinsing and presto!—your sheets, shirts, table linens will fairly sparkle. What's more, Blue is kind to fine fabrics — won't harm them in the least! Costs just a few cents a month, too!



Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S Blue.

LOSES HERD — Konstantine Haun, 69-year-old Regina farmer who survived the 1929-36 drought that turned southern Saskatchewan into a virtual dust bowl, sadly accepts another hard blow. His 40-head dairy herd of valuable cattle, infected with the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease, was among the first destroyed by R.C.M.P. marksmen and buried in a mass grave. He said he will receive about one-third the value of each animal in federal compensation. Mr. Haun estimated his loss at $25,000.

Firemen Should Be Equal To Police, Says Miller

"I don't want to have the firemen looked on as less than the police," said Ald. T. D. Miller at a meeting of the Board of Works when Mayor Waddell announced to the members that earlier the Police Commission had agreed to a $500 "across the board" cost of living bonus to the members of the police department for this year.

"I don't know how I could face the firemen with that difference," Ald. Miller said.

In the course of a discussion about salaries, Mayor Waddell informed the members of the council, in committee, about the action of the Police Commission.

"Should we adopt that as policy of the council?" Ald. Miller asked.

"That's up to the council," Mayor Waddell answered."

Ask Another Meeting

Ald. A. B. Burrows, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, informed the Examiner today that the firemen have asked for a further discussion of their position. They have objected that their cost of living bonus would actually be less than last year, as it appeared from their meetings with the salary committee.

In a statement reviewing recent meetings of the salary committee, Ald. J. E. Gillespie, chairman, said it had been made a "whipping boy" in the press and by some members of the council.

Appointment of that committee had been agreed upon by all members of the council. It was composed of Aldermen Miller, Burrows, Anglesey, Longhurst, Gillespie and Mayor Waddell.

In all cases except one, Ald. Gillespie said, the salary committee's reports went to the committee of the whole before going to the council, and the members of the council had an opportunity to question anything there.

It was agreed that the cost of living bonus was not to become part of basic salaries.

Ald. Gillespie said that the salary committee's meetings with the firemen last week were reported to the committee of the whole and it was "okayed."

A meeting of the Police Commission last week was reported as proposing a flat increase of $350 a year to the members of the Police Department. "That was entirely contrary to the position of the salary committee," Ald. Gillespie said. "We are now waiting until they reach some agreement."

No Change In Basic

It was then that Mayor Waddell told the board of works at their meeting Monday night that earlier in the evening the Police Commission had decided on $500 increase to the policemen, but that the basic salaries had not been altered.

Aldermen Graham and Black renewed their objection that they knew nothing about a $350 proposal to the policemen until they saw it in print.

Wants Reports

"When some people came to me and enquired about it, I couldn't tell them anything because I didn't know," said Ald. Black. "Somewhere the set up is wrong. I was also told that a girl of seventeen had been hired in the police department at more money than girls of the City Clerk's office are getting."

"This was by the Police Commission," Ald. Gillespie said.

"If we had some report about it, nothing would have been said," Ald. Black continued. "All that I knew was that the salaries of 1951 would not be disturbed."

To Ald. Graham's comment that there was "too much whispering between three or four members of the council," Ald. Miller said that if that remark included him there were some matters occasionally which had to be kept in confidence until the time came for publicity. He said he would not slight any member of the council. "I feel that I am trying to do the job to the best of my ability and with the interests of the city at heart."

Ald. Miller said that the salary committee recently had taken up altogether more than 20 hours of time.

To Ald. Black, Ald. Miller said that the offer to the police department had never passed through the salary committee, and they could hardly be blamed for something that was done elsewhere.

Accept Offer

HAMILTON, Feb. 28—(CP)—Two more civic unions Wednesday night accepted an offer by Hamilton's board of control. Local 5 of the Civic Workers and Local 700 Operating Engineers agreed to the offer Wednesday night. Local 167 of the Municipal Employees accepted Tuesday night an increase of 70 cents in the cost-of-living bonus, incorporation of $1 of the previous cost-of-living bonus of $4.83 in basic pay and a contributory hospitalization plan.

Coldsprings W.I. Hear M.P.

COLDSPRINGS, Feb. 28 (ENS) —Dr. F. G. Robertson was the guest speaker at Coldsprings Women's Institute meeting, held on Monday afternoon in the hall. Dr. Robertson is Liberal M.P. in Ottawa for Northumberland.

In Dr. Robertson's opening remarks, he complimented the Coldsprings W.I. for their accomplishments. He suggested women taking a more active part in politics. Meaning of democracy is government by the people, for the people, of the people.

To have peace we must show Russia we can match force with force. The cost of arming has at least tripled because of increase in cost of equipment.

In closing, the speaker said it is our duty to do the best we can while we are here, for those who are to come.

The guest speaker was introduced by W.I. president, Mrs. Keith Harper. The secretary, Mrs. Herb. McKinley, read the minutes of the previous meetings. She re-

The "Sunshine" reported by Mrs. Nixon Timlin: eight plants; two boxes of fruit, seven cards sent since Christmas.

During the business period, plans were made for the "Leap Year Dance" on Feb. 28.

Mrs. Newton McIntosh, Mrs. W. McMann, and Mrs. G. Gordon are the committee responsible for the equipment in the hall kitchen.

Plans were made to try and secure the Minstrel Show, Cobourg, for March 15.

The Coldsprings W.I. will cater for a banquet, for the Youth Travelling Caravan on March 21, in the hall. Mrs. M. Dines and Mrs. K. Harper were a committee named in charge of buying tablecloths for hall tables.

The nominating committee to name new executive for 1952 are: Mrs. E. Jamieson, and Mrs. L. McIntosh.

The euchre parties in the hall will be discontinued for the month of March.

It was moved and seconded that two boxes of fruit be sent to the Turner children who were injured recently.

A two-minute silence was observed in memory of the late King. Mrs. Keith Harper read a tribute to King George VI.

Mrs. Harold West, was convenor in charge of the program.

Mrs. Albert Willis sang a solo. Mrs. E. Jamieson gave a reading, "Janet discusses an age-old problem." Miss Annie Moffat moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Robertson and all those taking part. About 70 were in attendance.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Indifferent Cook Serves Up Mess Of Pottage To Family

Toes will be trod upon I'm afraid — but take it easy, girls — I'm rampaging for a purpose.

The object of my gripe is The Indifferent Cook. I will explain myself.

One "born" cook can handle a meal's worth of food and turn every item into a tempting dish.

The "indifferent" cook serves it up, a mess of pottage, to her family and unconsciously constantly alibis to herself by saying "It's good plain food — if they're hungry they'll eat it.

✧ ✧ ✧

A little personal story inserted here might brighten up the point I am trying to make.

When Marianne and Pete were four and three years old they slept in twin beds in the nursery-room. One night when I gave them their last good-night kiss Pete said, "It's the same as last night Marianne." She said "Kiss me again, Mummy."

I was completely baffled — but gladly played along with the imps —kissing each one alternately until they settled their argument. It seems they were trying to decide which kind of soap or perfume I had used when I took my bath — and how I would smell when I kissed them.

✧ ✧ ✧

Since then I have tried to give the family credit for noticing every bit of eye-wash and atmosphere in the house — no matter how young. We mothers and cooks are the creators of this elusive thing — that make a house a home — or an everyday dinner a little banquet.

As an example, one indifferent cook served overdone meat cakes, with overdone fried onions, too-heavy grey mashed potatoes, runny canned tomatoes on the same dinner plates, stacks of white bread, yesterdays unfrosted cake and canned plums.

My thinking and caring and glamour - creating homemaker handled exactly the same food this way:

Fricassed Meat Cakes in Onion Gravy ON French Mashed Potatoes
Casserole of Tomatoes
Hot Cottage Pudding with Hot Plum Sauce

In Meal No. 1 the meat cakes were uninteresting because they were overdone. They were overdone because ground meat is so full of moisture that it dries out easily unless it has expert attention. In Meal No. 2 because they were fricassed they were in a liquid medium and did not shrink from loss of moisture or too high heat.

Cooks, never let your standards slide. Use the cleanest linen, the best china, crystal and silver service your facilities will allow—observe all of the little formal amenities — including "grace' of course.

You know how easy it would be to slip into preparing that unappetizing Meal No. 1, but since you want to make your whole family proud to bring home their freinds any time, here are my few hints for giving that same fool glamour and eye-appeal and you that proud-that-you-were born feeling.

Sear the Meat Cakes in hot butter for 3 minutes, with some sliced onions. Sprinkle in flour, stir, then add about 1 cup hot water or vegetable liquid. Cover, reduce heat, simmer 15 minutes.

For French Mashed Potatoes, boil potatoes in salted water to cover until very tender. Drain. Mash over low heat until completely without lumps. If you have an electric beater give them a whizz under it. Now for 6 medium-sized potatoes add 1 cup whole milk. Stir over low heat until potatoes thicken up a little. For this large amount of milk makes them very soft, but if you constantly stir over low heat they thicken more and more and some of the milk evaporates and the flavor and texture are wonderful. Add butter and salt to taste. We like these served under hash or meat cakes in gravy.

The Casserole of Tomatoes is made as I have told you before, with buttered and oven-toasted squares of bread added to canned tomatoes in buttered casserole and baked until fairly thick—having some of the toast bits protruding from top of dish.

The stale cake was heated in the steamer. The red plums were drained from the juice. The juice was heated and thickened with cornstarch; plums were stoned and returned to the sauce and all heated through in top of double boiler. It made a beautiful topping for the steamed cake, and who would have recognized yesterday's old cake?

Not so much magic as thought. This won't appeal to lazy people though — they won't have read this far.

World Prayer Day Services Friday At Knox Church

World Day of Prayer services will be held this Friday afternoon and evening at Knox United church where the women of all Protestant churches of the city will meet together. A service will also be held at the Anson House in the evening in charge of the ladies of All Saints' church.

The movement of the Women's World Day of Prayer had a simple beginning in Canada early in this century with an interdenominational service planned by the boards of the Women's Missionary Societies. In 1922 they joined with a similar movement in the U.S.A., then spread through other continents until in five years the circle became world-wide. It now reaches 104 countries.

This year's service is being observed on the first Friday of Lent with the theme "Christ Our Hope." The program for Canada was prepared by a committee of the Women's Inter-Church Council and includes sections on adoration, penitence, assurance, intercession for the nations of the world, for our government, homes, the church universal and for missions and concludes with a dedication of self.

Although gathering for prayer is the primary purpose, the offering is important for it will be used to spread Christian literature throughout the world. It is hoped to raise $23,500 in Canada to provide mission presses and libraries in Africa and India and preparation of literature for Korea, also literature for Ukrainian, Hungarian and Czechoslovakian newcomers to this country.

The service commencing at three o'clock will be in charge of Mrs. Howard Clegg, president of the W.M.S. of Knox church. Speaker will be Mrs. F. W. K. Harris and the soloist will be Mrs. D. Sproule both of St. Andrew's church. Parts on the order of service will be taken by women of the other churches.

Miss Mary Haddow who is home on furlough from the Baptist mission field of Bolivia is to speak at the evening service. This program is in charge of Mrs. D. A. Richardson of the Helen Roger Evening Auxiliary of Knox church. Music will feature a duet by Mrs. D. Jackman and Mrs. Norman Hughes.

Mrs. Cecil Thackeray is in charge of the program at the Anson House.

The letter says further: "We could only stare at the boots—our own old shoes are so torn that our toes stick out . . . We send you many hearty greetings from our little mountain village . . . We promise to look after the shoes very well, so they will last very long."

Women Useful In Government

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP) — Women are designed for municipal government, Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa Wednesday told the Canadian Women's Press Club.

"From the moment a woman marries," said Mayor Whitton, "she begins laying by for things that are going to happen. Woman's approach to spending is to keep within her revenue. She sees details—almost to a defect at times."

She said municipal government has not caught up with the times. The home approach was necessary in municipal government.

Girls Within Lawful Rights To Propose In Leap Year

For benefit of those females listed as "spinsters" in the recent census, the Examiner has investigated the legend of Leap Year.

It would seem that the gal with enough gumption to go out and propose to a man is quite within her lawful rights during the year 1952. By so doing she will either change her status to that of "wife" or have a new gown added to her wardrobe.

Possibility of the latter might be very enticing with the Easter parade coming up, but what if he said "yes?" Well, she would just have to face the preacher or be liable for breach of promise suit.

The gallant and delicate privilege which is extended in leap year to the fairer half of creation is founded on both myth and history.

Mythical Origin

Myth refers it to St. Patrick. It was after the good Saint had banished the snakes from the grass of Ireland that he was approached one day by St. Bridget who was in charge of the nunnery. She beseeched him to make it possible for her girls to become wives and he grudgingly agreed to arrange it for them every seventh year. But Bridget threw herself upon him with a plea for something better.

"Biddy Acushla," exclaimed St. Patrick. "Squeeze me that way again and I'll give you leap year, the longest one of the lot."

Thereupon Bridget proposed to St. Patrick, for at that time priests were allowed to wed, but Patrick had taken the vow of celibacy. He patched up the incident by giving her a kiss and a silk gown.

And so the tradition of a new dress or forfeiture of bachelorhood. However in 1948 it was reported that some men were sending dainty black slips and other items of lingerie with their refusal of a girl's hand in marriage. With costs of living even higher what would be proper in '52?

Laws Differ

Law governing the bissextile year was first passed in Scotland and stated that for a refusal the man must pay "ane pundis or less as his estait may be except he can make it appeare that he is betrothed to another."

Shortly after in France it became a commonlaw in regard to social relations of life "that as often as every leap year doth return the ladies have the sole privilege during the time it continueth of making love, either by words, looks, or as to them it seemth proper, and moreover no man will be entitled to benefit of clergy who doth in any wise treat her proposal with slight of contumely."

History also shows that before Columbus made his famous voyage a similar privilege was granted the maidens of Genoa and Florence.

No law appears on the statutes of England but the custom was followed and accepted there from 1750 when they adopted the Gregorian calendar with Leap Year Day, February 29th.

A curious leap year superstition still to be met with in some parts of New England is that in leap year the beans grow on the other side of the pod.

Identical Twins Stewardesses On T.C.A. Planes

MONTREAL (CP)— Marjorie and Marion Quinney of London, Ont., recently became Canada's first twin stewardesses.

The 22-year-old identical twins graduated from the Trans-Canada Air Lines' training school at Montreal along with 25 other young Canadian girls.

The twins graduated at the same time from high school, then graduated as nurses from a London hospital, and have finally become graduate air stewardesses.

But now they will be separated for the first time because the planes on which they fly carry only one stewardess.

The only identifying mark between the two girls is a tiny scar on Marion's forehead, which she got when her sister threw her over her shoulder at the age of five in a sisterly brawl.

Marjorie and Marion were bitten with the urge to fly when their brother returned from duty with the Royal Canadian Air Force and talked about the thrill of making a living in the air.

The twins say everybody has trouble telling them apart—except their father—he doesn't even try.

Ont. Nurse, Ceylon Prince Wed After 40-Yr. Romance

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 28—(CP)—A 40-year romance will culminate in wedding bells for Ethel H. Lane, who Wednesday night served her last shift as night matron at Westminster Veterans' Hospital. Next month she sails for Ceylon to marry a prince she met in 1912.

The ceremony will open the final chapter of a love story which began nearly 40 years ago on the ancient kalks of Cambridge College, England, when a shy Singhalese student and a gracious English miss became acquainted.

The student now is Dr. D. E. Wijewardene, whose family was instrumental in bringing confederation to the last and smallest dominion in the Commonwealth. Miss Lane was a student nurse.

Miss Lane joined the Queen Alexandria's Imperial Nursing Service in the First World War, where she remained until 1920. She worked as a nurse in France for five more years, came to Canada in 1928 and was in Ottawa until 1935, when she joined the staff at Westminster.

Throughout the years she kept in touch with her friend of student days. They met four times in England. Last December she visited the Wijewardene estate at Colombo, Ceylon, on a trip around the world. It was then that the marriage was planned.

The wedding will take place in Colombo as soon as her ship docks. Then will come a summer in Switzerland. After that plans are indefinite.

Meanwhile, staff and patients at Westminster are nearly as thrilled as the heroine of the story.

"'t couldn't happen to a nicer person," said one nurse. "And isn't it romantic? Just imagine—a real prince."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Public Criticism Of Mate Reveals Lack of Character

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it becoming a popular fad to make sport of your husband—to make trifling, belittling, even hateful remarks about him? Or am I just a victim of a few cantankerous neighbors? I think a lot of my husband and never hesitate to leave that impression, but I find myself in the minority. If a man is not good enough for a woman, why did she marry him? If she says he was good when he married her, then she must have ruined him, so for my money she might as well quit beefing. I am very proud of my husband and am repaid a hundred times a day for my pride in him.

ROBERTA W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Hurrah for you, Roberta! You arrive at a very accurate conclusion when you say a woman who belittles her husband is, in the end, belittling her own good judgment in marrying him. Your husband should be proud of you for not yielding to this contemptible practice.

They Think It's Funny

Most of the time the nasty remarks are meant as nothing more than wisecracks. Many, many women have an idea that the font of wit and humor lies in the ability to make such remarks. Where they acquire such an erroneous notion is beyond me. The exact opposite, of course, is true. Nothing is so witless as a cutting, sarcastic remark, whether its victim is present company or not. People who make a practice of intentionally hurting another's feelings, or casting aspersions on another's characteristics, brand themselves as the lowest of the ill-bred. Even their confreres, who may pretend to find their peculiar style of humor funny, are seldom really impressed by it.

When a woman has chosen a man for her husband, and accepts him as such in the presence of God, she is making the most important decision of her life. To let the world know that she is proud of that choice should be her aim from then on. When he achieves the further dignity of becoming the father of her children, she has further cause for pride, and a happy home life is founded on the premise that husband, wife and children take mutual joy in each other's endeavors.

It is a curious anomaly that wives who do the most belittling are those who have the least cause. A wife will tear to pieces, over the bridge table, a husband who is a devoted spouse, kind father, exemplary church member and citizen. Her reason is readily seen—attributing shortcomings to another that she is ashamed of in herself. By tearing down his reputation, she believes she is building up her own. A contemptible practice of contemptible females! A woman of dignity would never lower herself to such a practice.

Let the world continue to know, Roberta, in what esteem you hold your mate and be not impressed with the pettiness of your neighbors.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 17, and a senior in high school. I'll graduate in June, but have no idea what I will be when I am out of school. One day I want one thing, the next another and I don't have much time.

DIANE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You're smart, Diane, to give this important problem some thought before graduation. Due consideration of the question now may keep you from starting out on a job you won't like. Why not take the matter up with a faculty advisor in your school? A teacher who is acquainted with your ability, and knows the job situation in your town, can best help you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it the place of grandparents to discipline a child to the extent of hitting him, when the child is in their home and his parents are also present? Or should the parents take care of the matter?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is a very high-handed assumption of authority for anyone other than the parents to take a child's disciplining in hand, especially if a question of hitting is involved. While grandparents, or other relatives, may properly correct a child verbally—in fact, often their words are more effective than the parents'—physical punishment is the prerogative of the parents only.

WEARABLE CLOTHES designed in simple and natural lines mark these Paris fashions from the spring, 1952, collections. The long train coupled with a short front hem is typical (left) of the evening gowns from Castillo-Lanvin. This is in black organdy embroidered in pink dots and sequins. Jean Desses makes news (left centre) with his changeable taffeta overskirt. It converts from daytime wear, shown here, to a dinner dress by switching around the panel and removing the jacket. The result (right centre) is a dramatic dress in white organdy. A huge ruffled boa (right) is worn with a red chiffon evening gown from Castillo-Lanvin. There's a slight train.

SOPHIE DE ROMER OF LITHUANIA

European Noblewoman Is Starting Life Anew

MONTREAL (CP) — Baroness Sophie de Romer, former mistress of large estates in Lithuania, has started life anew for the third time—as a portrait painter in Montreal.

Madame de Romer, as she prefers to be called, was known for her artistic talent long before the Russians swept away her home, family, her art treasures and her way of life.

Duaghter of a Polish surgeon and wife of Baron de Romer, she studied art in Munich and Paris. Her work is exhibited in London, Warsaw, Versailles, Cairo, Tehran and in the United States.

Madame de Romer has been earning her living painting portraits since her escape from Russia. She has painted princes, diplomats and society people in London and Cairo where she has lived since the war. In Montreal she has painted a portrait of Msgr. Olivier Mauralt, rector of the University of Montreal.

Art has always been an important part in the Baroness' life since her childhood in Poland and the years in Lithuania where she raised five children, three girls and two sons.

Her youngest son was 20 when the Russians moved into Lithuania in 1941. Her home, filled with paintings, antiques and art treasures so impressed the Russians that they turned it into a museum and made her curator.

Later the Baraoness and her husband were seized and sent to Northern Russia to work in factories. For seven years she never heard from her children.

After three years of hunger and hard work a relative helped the Romers to escape, but the Baron died en route to Cairo.

After another four years of working and painting in Cairo, Mme. de Romer finally found her children. Some were in London and she joined them there. Her daughters were married and living in Agentina, Australia and Poland.

She came to Montreal to be near her son who is a construction engineer here. Her other son is in the United States.

Fashion Flashes

MATCHING UP is a favorite theme in fashion for many women, and we noticed a fine example of it at a recent fashion show. A deep gold wool travel suit featured gilded door-knocker buttons. In her ears, the model wore ting earrings that were facsimiles of the suit buttons!

Set Aside $200,000 For Hose Fittings

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP). — The Ontario government has set aside a fund of $200,000 to provide for the expense involved in the standardization of hose fittings in all municipalities.

The work is being carried out under the civil defence plan.

Under the scheme all municipal fire hose connections will be made interchangeable so equipment from one municipality can be used in another in an emergency.

Cost of the changeover is being borne by the government, with municipal fire departments providing the necessary labor.

Need More Police To Enforce Laws

LINDSAY, Feb. 28.—Unless this town's police force is strengthened, it will be unable to properly enforce traffic laws, Police Chief Arthur Webster told town council in his annual report.

Chief Webster also noted that his men investigated 142 accidents, and this action resulted in 65 summonses for traffic violation being issued.

Fractures Kneecap

Adjudicator Praises Choice Of Three Plays Presented

Adjudicator Pierre LeFevre found the three one-act plays entered in the second evening of the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival Wednesday varied and the "choice of material of a high standard." There was "nothing trite or vulgar."

The three plays were Chekov's farce "A Marriage Proposal" by the Trenton Drama Club, directed by Robert Dennison; Christopher Fry's poetic pastoral telling the story of Cuthman, saint of Sussex, called "The Boy With A Cart," presented by the Peterborough Normal School under the direction of John Londerville; and the ring scene, Act V, of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," staged by the Peterborough Blue Triangle Players, whose director is Mrs. Irene Campbell.

The adjudicator felt that in general "none of the pieces was really skilfully acted."

The Chekoy farce has only three characters: a Russian landowner (Philip Flager), his daughter (Wilma Judge), almost as eager to argue as to wed, and a neighbour (Lloyd Heaslip), who comes to sue for her hand but forgets his marriage proposal in violent quarrels with father and daughter about the ownership of a piece of land, and which has the better dog. The adjudicator said that this was the "most difficult to succeed with" of the three plays because it requires great skill in the portrayal of character. The farce lies in character delineation as much as in the situation and actions of the play. He felt that the farcical impact of the play was not given.

Fry's Pastoral

The poetic pastoral about the legend of the rustic saint of Sussex won praise for the effective simplicity of its setting and the ingenuity of the direction. Mr. LeFevre, praising the discipline and clarity of the choral reading group which acted as a continuing comment on the theme and mood of the play, criticized the chorus for being "too formal."

The relation between it and the movement and mood of the play was not made sufficiently close. On one or two occasions, Mr. LeFevre said, the actors created real theatre magic.

The lack of skill of the actors, the improvised feeling and the simplicity of the lighting in a way served the play," the adjudicator said, noting that it was presented along the lines of a mediaeval morality play with "an intention of simplicity and naivete which is in the work." Of Bernard Wright, who played the leading part of Cuthman, the boy with a cart and God in his vision, Mr. LeFevre said that there were "moments when his acting was very moving." He praised Margaret Aiken who played the part of his mother for a very good performance. Her acting conveyed the "caustic but unmalicious humour of Fry."

A Normal School choir under the direction of Quirt McKinney set the mood of the play. The chorus was made up of twelve girls from the school.

The principal other actors were the Sussex neighbors, Catherine Breault, Gwen Wartman, Glen Watson, and Bill Hayes; Gary Stevenson as old Town, a villager ("had a good sense of character"); and M. M. Douglas, Malcolm McMartin, Don Currie, Lorraine Barker, Don Paul and Charlie Stoddart.

Impressive Staging

The final play of the evening was the ring scene from "The Merchant of Venice," presented by the Blue Triangle Players. It was impressively staged and dressed; the second set won spontaneous applause from the audience when the curtain opened on it.

Noting the problems of successfully presenting one act of a Shakespeare play, Mr. LeFevre thought it "quite a good idea, but it remains a sort of exercise." He felt that the interplay about the rings was "not acted quite finely enough for us to understand the intention of it." He had warm praise for Gratiano (played by John Campbell) who was "alive the whole time . . . had a sense of the fun, the temperament and mood." George Bedford as Lorenzo gave a real poetic impulse; he "dared to take his time to play the mood and the poetic thought behind it."

The costuming, he thought, was remarkably good; there was an "intention" in it; for instance, dressing Portia (Gwyneth Reed) and Bassanio (Don Endicott) in the same color scheme. The dress of Jessica (Sylvia Cherney) was "very beautiful."

Other characters in the play were: Alex Sinclair as the Duke of Venice; George Booth as Antonio (who made a very sympathetic appearance); Ella Down as Nerissa; Al Plunkett as Stephona; Irene Campbell as Launcelot Gobbo; and Mary Clifford and Colleen Ferguson, magnificoes of Venice.

Seaway

In the Soulanges section, the output can be increased from 1,000,000 h.p. at present to 2,000,000.

And in the Lachine section 1,200,000 h.p. might be generated.

Low cost electricity would be available throughout southern Ontario.

Elimination of the 115-mile bottleneck between Montreal and Prescott would allow vessels carrying 20,000 tons to penetrate into the Great Lakes. At present the largest vessels that can go through the small locks by-passing the rapids carry less than 3,000 tons.

Save Millions

"Removal of the navigation bottleneck would save many millions of dollars a year in costs of moving grain, coal, and other goods that now use the small canals or follow alternative routes to market."

Mr. McLeod estimated that this saving could amount to $30,000,000 a year, even after tolls were paid.

"The seaway promises to double the market for Quebec-Labrador iron ore, and to open an even greater future for this development. . . Ore shipments will begin in 1954, and that volume will rise quickly to the initial goal of 10,000,000 tons a year.

At present United States steel mills, on or near the Great Lakes, are out of economic reach of the ore. These mills produce 75 or 80 percent of the United States output.

The seaway will open nearly all this market to Labrador ore, making it cheaper to use than imported ores. Mining interests visualize immediate sales for 20,000,000 tons a year.

Labrador ore will become even more important as the Mesabi and other iron ranges near Lake Superior fail to meet the mounting demand, said Mr. McLeod.

Another benefit, not stressed so often, is the benefit that will accrue to the consumers of iron and steel products in the United States.

For too long low-cost steel has been taken for granted on this continent, said Mr. McLeod. Without the seaway, the cost of iron ore to the interior steel mills was bound to increase sharply, regardless of whether resort was made to more-costly domestic mining, taconite concentration, or to bringing imports further in from the coast.

From the standpoint of national defence, the seaway is of the greatest importance, said Mr. McLeod.

Demand for ore has risen in the present period of preparedness and would rise sharply again following the outbreak of a major war. Without the seaway, imported ore would move over ocean routes highly vulnerable to submarine attack. Taconite plants would be costly in time and materials.

Again, the seaway would permit all but the largest type of naval and ocean vessels to be built in inland yards, a 1000 miles from the sea. The seaway would provide an additional transportation route between the factories and the battlefront and the development would create a reserve of power in the industrial heart of Canada which could be drawn on in an emergency.

"The combination of power and navigation facilities would stimulate industrial expansion," said Mr. McLeod, "and so permit more of the specialized production needed in modern war."

Average employment on the project would be 15,000 men, assuming a five-year construction program. Of these, 9,500 would be employed in Canada.

Taxes Unchanged By Legislature In Saskatchewan

By The Canadian Press

A record expenditure of $65,873,390 is called for in the 1952-53 Saskatchewan budget.

No tax changes were announced in the budget, brought down in the Regina house Wednesday by the C.C.F. Government of Premier Douglas. It estimated revenues at $65,922,580, leaving an estimated surplus of $48,890.

Provincial treasurer fines said the province has decided to accept a one-year formula for the next five-year Federal-Provincial Tax agreement, thus gaining a federal annual payment of roughly $24,000,000 in return for surrendering tax fields.

The annual report of the provincial co-operative department showed a combined business transacted by all co-operatives during 1950-51 reached a record high total of $359,914,170.

Introduces Bill

British Columbia also dealt with the Federal-Provincial Tax agreement. Premier Johnson introduced a bill which will give the province an additional $10,000,000 a year for five years in its tax rental.

Under the old five-year agreement expiring March 31, B.C. received an estimated $31,500,000 a year from the Federal Government for leasing these taxes. Under the new one it gets an estimated $41,200,000 annually.

At Winnipeg provincial treasurer Turner told the Legislature that Manitoba's "deadweight" debt has been cut by more than a third during the last 10 years. The term is applied to debts incurred for projects not self-sustaining.

He spoke before members considered estimated expenditures for the coming fiscal year.

Says it's Incorrect

In the throne-speech debate in the New Brunswick house, Premier McNair and Agriculture Minister A. C. Taylor rose to points of order during an address by G. W. Perry (PC-Carleton). Both the Premier and Mr. Taylor said Mr. Perry was incorrect in his conclusions. He rebuked them for what he said were personal attacks on him last year.

Education Minister Henry Hicks told the Nova Scotia Legislature that the government holds firm to its stand that it already pays its full share of education casts.

He had just returned from Cape Breton, where a strike of rural and village school teachers ended Wednesday, and was amplifying the government's position on a commission to study the bitter teachers' salary problem.

Award For Marshall

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP). — Gen. George C. Marshall will receive the annual "Four Freedoms Award" for his work as "chief architect" of the Marshall Plan, it was announced today by the Four Freedoms Foundation. The foundation's purpose is to further the four freedoms—of speech and religion and from want and fear—first enunciated by the late President Roosevelt.

Black Market Busy

PARIS, Feb. 28 —(Reuters)— The dollar and pound sterling soared to their highest peaks since 1949 on the Paris black market Wednesday. Reason was increased buying for foreign currencies by persons fearing the National Assembly would pass a bill providing sliding wage scales. The dollar was at 483 francs compared with the official rate of 350, and the pound was 1,110 francs—official rate 972 to 988.

Called Brute

LONDON, Feb. 28 (Reuters)—A 35-year-old man was described as a "cruel brute" by the judge and sentenced to seven years for burning his 11-year-old daughter with a red hot poker. Frances Fletcher had told the court her father, Cyril Victor Fletcher, beat her with a leather belt because there was no meat for dinner, then burned her after saying: "See how much more punishment you can take."

PREPARING TO START on their daily round of home nursing calls, the two nurses of the Peterborough Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses hold an early morning consultation with the nurse-in-charge, Miss Harriet McGeary. From left to right are Miss Lenore Mather, Miss Mary Allen and Miss McGeary.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

6,136 Visits Made By Nurses Of V.O.N. During Past Year

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

The blue uniform and black bag have become a symbol for the Victorian Order of Nurses in Peterborough as it has in 110 communities in Canada where V.O.N. branches are operating.

But few people realize the services that this symbol stands for.

The V.O.N. in Peterborough means that this community has a part-time nursing service on a visiting basis available for all residents regardless of financial situation.

In 1951, V.O.N. nurses made a total of 6,136 visits to patients in their homes. The services given in these visits include baths, hypodermics, enemas, attendance at minor operations, care of the aged and chronically ill, pre-natal services, as well as after-care to mothers and babies.

The greatest advantage of these home nursing visits is that this type of service reduces the cost for the individual who might otherwise have to procure the service of a full-time nurse.

In addition, crowded hospital conditions are alleviated when V.O.N. nurses give nursing care to patients who might otherwise require hospitalization. Patients are also released from the hospital earlier with the understanding that continued care will be given by the V.O.N. In this way hospital beds are provided for more emergency cases.

Community Benefits

Financially the community benefits if the patient is an indigent, because V.O.N. services are comparatively much cheaper than hospital expenses.

And finally there is the psychological factor. In some cases patients are more contented at home than in the hospital and as a result recovery is often hastened.

At present, the Peterborough branch under the direction of Miss Harriet McGeary, nurse - in - charge, are making a careful study of the problem of chronic illness in relation to senior citizens which is becoming an important public health problem throughout the country.

Visits To Chronic Invalids

Hospitalization for all those in the older age brackets suffering chronic illnesses would not only be costly, but would present a serious accommodation problem.

In 1951, 2,101 visits were made to patients suffering from chronic illnesses. Because of their special training and experience the V.O.N. nurses are able to take care of these patients in the home.

Another important part of the V.O.N. work is service in maternity cases. This service included prenatal care for mothers and care for new mothers and their babies until the babies reach six weeks of age. This care also includes an educational program. Questions are answered and demonstrations given and also general health supervision is carried on.

In 1951, V.O.N. nurses made 1,921 visits to expectant mothers and to new mothers and their babies. Of this total 40 visits were made to give new born nursing care, 29 to give nursing care to the mother. The remainder were of an instructional nature.

The educational program is also carried over into the general nursing service of the V.O.N. The nurses often instruct members of a patient's household in practical home nursing.

Money Spent Locally

One factor in the organization and administration of V.O.N. work is frequently misunderstood. Although the organization is a national one, with headquarters in Ottawa, each branch has its own board of directors which direct the local branch. The money raised locally is always spent locally.

The V.O.N. has a nominal charge for their visits, but no patient is refused because of inability to pay. And it is because of the large percentage of visits made to indigent patients that the V.O.N. has to appeal for funds to carry on.

Last year, V.O.N. nurses made 1,361 free visits for nursing care and 592 visits were paid for on a part fee arrangement.

This large number of visits for which patients are either not able to pay or only able to pay part of the fee makes it necessary for the V.O.N. to appeal for funds through the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign March 7-15.

The money received through the community fund campaign makes it possible for the V.O.N. to carry on its work without discriminating between rich or poor.

The V.O.N. received $4,625 from the community fund in 1951.

Refuse To Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP). —A United States district court refused Wednesday to bar the Post Office Department from issuing a stamp commemorating the 125th anniversary of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Atlantic Freight Lines, Inc., a highway carrier, sought an injunction, contending the stamp would publicize and advertise a competitor.

New Pamphlet Of Kawarthas To Be Prepared

Preparations for the 1952 tourist season in Peterborough and district by the Chamber of Commerce are being highlighted by the publication of a new pamphlet. The pamphlet will feature a new and bigger map of the area covering an area east to Marmora, west to Cameron Lake, north to Paudash Lake, and south to Lake Ontario.

Approximately 14 pictures, accompanied by short explanations, will tell the story of what can be done in Peterborough and area on a two-weeks' vacation. A directory on the back of the pamphlet tells where to eat, sleep and play.

One of the special pictures in the pamphlet will be an aerial view of Peterborough and a descriptive story of the points of interest in the city.

The 10,000 pamphlets to be printed will be sent to the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show, Chambers of Commerce throughout Canada, the Canada Tourist Reception Booth in New York City, and ports of entry at the border.

Pamphlets will also be kept at the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce for distribution to prospective tourists.

Find Evidence Conflicts In Lanoie Case

PEMBROKE, Feb. 28 —(CP)— The defence opens its case today on behalf of Batman Joseph Lanoie of Welland, accused of killing two fellow soldiers at Petawawa Military Camp last New Year's eve.

Conflicting evidence on whether Lanoie was drunk the morning after the shooting featured testimony Wednesday when the crown finished its case.

The 36-year-old veteran of the Second World War is being tried on a charge of murdering Spr. James Wesley Caufield, 20, of Pine Falls, Man., though four indictments — two of murder and two of manslaughter—have been returned.

The shooting in which Caufield and craftsman Clifford E. Johannson, 19, of Saskatoon died, followed a drinking party in the officers' mess at Petawawa. Both victims were stewards at the mess.

Provincial Constable K. O. Taylor, who saw Lanoie several hours after the shooting, said the man was a "borderline case" so far as sobriety was concerned. His testimony followed that of several crown witnesses who described Lanoie as glassy-eyed and unsteady on his feet.

Sgt W. D. Smith, a member of the Provost Corps at the camp, said he was unable to smell alcohol on Lanoie and did not see him staggering.

Lanoie was described by Capt. Fred Bickell, camp legal officer, as "quiet and shy" with "a fair amount of native intelligence." Capt. Bickell, first to arrive on the death scene, said Lanoie was wounded severely while overseas in 1944.

Capt. Bickell said a telephone-caller about 4:35 a.m. Dec. 31 identified himself as Lanoie and added: "I just killed two men. Come and get me."

The witness drove to the mess from his quarters and met Lanoie on the steps of the building with a gun in his hand. He took the gun from him. Inside he found the bodies. Johannson, shot through the back, lay on the bar floor. Caufield, shot through the neck and head, was sprawled on an upstairs bed.

Expensive Mistake

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Feb. 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Polmatier built a home of their own last summer—only to learn they didn't own the land on which it was built. They had purchased lots one and two on a tract of land. A few days ago they were notified their house was on lot three, owned by the city. Polmatier appealed to the city and Wednesday night the city council voted to sell them lot three at $150 plus $14.50 in back taxes.

Couldn't Ring Bells

LONDON, Feb. 28 (Reuters)— The bells in the 500-year-old belfry of the curfew tower at Windsor Castle were not rung at the death of the King earlier this month because the massive heart-of-oak timbers supporting them are rotting and dangerous. The London Daily Telegraph says today. The vibration of the pealing bells which weigh nine tons, might cause the beams to fall, and they will not be rung until repair work has been completed.

CHEAP HOUSING—Built amid the rubble left by departed armies are these new Korean homes, typical of hundreds going up in the war-ravaged country. The barbed-wire entanglement running past the houses gives evidence of a former defence line.

UN Backed Housing Scheme Provides Homes For Koreans

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 28. (CP)—Recipe for a two-family duplex house: Thirteen hundred board feet of two-by-four lumber; 12 to 14 pounds of nails; two or three bags of cement (unless the builder is a reactionary who prefers mud); add assorted rush lathing and mud plaster, work for 12 days.

It's a good house, too, says 56-year-old Lee Tok Chong who built one in a small settlement eight miles north of Seoul on the road to Uijongbu.

Editor's Note: This article is one of a series on the living conditions of Korean civilians, written after a two-week survey by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in that country.)

Lee is chief of the village, elected by the heads of its other 39 families because "he gets things done and knows how to run us."

There are 20 new duplexes like Lee's in the village, each unit housing a family and built by the occupants with materials supplied by the United Nations.

Evaded Communists

The settlement of tenant-farmers was destroyed by Korean Communist troops retreating after the September, 1951, Inchon landings. Lee and his neighbors hid as the northerners pillaged and burned, then moved south with what little goods they could carry.

Last autumn the U.N. permitted some farmers to go back to their land in "restricted" areas and plant winter wheat.

"Restricted" areas extend to within four or five miles of the front, where a "prohibited" area begins.

As destitute citizens in essential employment, Lee and the others in his community qualified for free temporary housing. The United Nations Civilian Assistance Command provided the materials — wood, nails and cement, if desired — and the prospective occupants provided the labor.

Wood-framed, walled in with mud plastered on rush lathing and with tatched roof, each half of a duplex has two rooms—one a 10-foot square living room, the other a kitchen half that size.

"Not so temporary," said Lee. "By thatching the roof every other year, I can make this house last 20 years."

Across Korea, 1,024,000 persons have been moved north into the restricted areas. A total of 1,550 "temporary" houses has been built and 6,200 more are under construction.

To qualify for resettlement on their own land, such famers must:

Return as family groups,

Have all their household effects, and

Still have their family bull to pull the plow.

To save materials, the new houses must conform to a basic plan, though changes have been made to accommodate local needs and customs.

Despite the building program, most of Korea's homeless still are billeted on the populace south of the Han river or are in organized camps.

The colonel commanding the U.N.C.A.C. team in Seoul province says: "Everybody is under cover this winter. There isn't anybody in a tent any more, or in the open."

In the camps the refugees live in thatched or tented dugouts.

A C.A.C. welfare officer said: "There have been rumors about people living in caves this winter, but officially I know of none."

My trip uncovered one case: A Korean soldier prematurely discharged from hospital with a battle wounds. He died in a cave, Beside him a handwritten statement damning civilian hospitals and relief organizations.

In Seoul, half the office and factory buildings and a quarter of the homes were destroyed. There 250 temporary houses have been built. Others in the province are distributed between Inchon and Uijongbu. Largest project in Korea is at Taejon, midway between Seoul and Taegu, where 650 are under construction.

Although the winter has been relatively mild, the thermometer hovering about the zero mark, fuel has been a problem. A government order against tree-cutting has sent firewood prices skyrocketing to the Korean equivalent of 15 cents a stick.

C.A.C. is trying to interest Koreans in using peat, which costs as much as wood but burns three times as long. Koreans are hard to persuade, however. Houses are cold most of the time.

"Life is hard," Chief Lee summed up, "but at least we have a house again."

Britons Await New Budget With Much Fear

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 28 — (CP) — Postponement of Britain's new budget adds another week of tingling suspense to an event that already has politicians palpitating in anticipation.

The budget causes excitement and apprehension but this time it is something special. It is the first Conservative peacetime budget in 13 years. It marks the first decisive, thought-out stroke of policy under the new regime and it comes at a time of critical importance in the affairs of the country.

From the economic point of view, the budget to be presented March 11 may well determine whether a new devaluation of the pound will be needed during the summer. That is when the sterling area's gold and dollar reserves will be depleted if the drain continues at the present rate.

Politically, the proposals of Richard Austen Butler in his first term as Chancellor of the Exchequer are equally touch-and-go. All signs are that the Labor oppostion is in a sour mood. The Communists, small in numbers but influential in some trade unions, have already launched a campaign to use government economies as a trigger for strikes in industry.

Facing Bankruptcy.

By now, everybody knows that Britain is going broke. Nearly everybody agrees something should be done about it. The problem for Butler, in broadest terms is how to do it without providing an obvious signal for industrial unrest in a country where the social climate sometimes tends to be tricky.

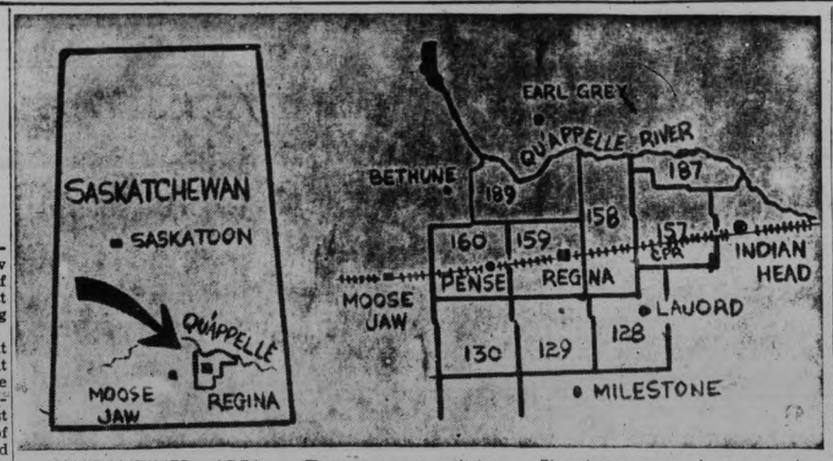
Leaving aside abstruse calculations, one exmaple illustrates the point. Britain is spending more than she earns. The three main items of government expenditure are defence, social services and food subsides. Of these only the subsidies afford prospect of substantial saving.

The hitch is that Labor regards these as inviolate and that the effect of abolishing them would be dynamic. While posters which helped the Conservatives win the last election still wave on some billboards, promising lower prices removal of the subsidies would have an impact on every housekeeping budget. Price tags on bread, milk, meat and butter would show a sharp increase.

The Conservative argument would be that the change has to come, that the subsidies come out of taxes anyway, that it would only affect each individual by a sum roughly equal to that paid for a weekly package of cigarets. The question may be whether the public is sophisticated enough to listen to such arguments.

Butler is not committed to any change. At an election meeting last October, he became wrathful when hecklers taunted him with proposing to clip the subsidies. In the Conservative election manifesto, it is stated although the subsidies had risen to "alarming proportions," in present circumstances it would clearly not only be unwise but impossible to make any radical change."

The key word may be "radical." It seems as good a guess as any that the subsidies will be modestly trimmed, come what may on the political front.



QUARANTINED AREA — Two maps show original area in south Saskatchewan from which movement of livestock has been forbidden by the federal government. The agriculture department Tuesday moved to extend the area from nine to 10 municipalities. Elmsthrope, not shown on the map at the right, has been included in the quarantine section which resulted from an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in the Regina area. Map at left shows the area in relation to the province.

Says U.S. Lacks Stability

LONDON, Feb. 28 (Reuters)— Aneurin Bevan said Wednesday the United States has not established that it has the capacity or the stability to assume the role of world leader. In a copyrighted article in The London Daily Mirror, the left-wing Labor leader said the people of the world still look to Britain for guidance in international problems.

Yogi To Nail Tongue To Board For 60 Days

LILLE, France, Feb. 28 (Reuters). — An Austrian-born Yogi who plans to nail his tongue to a board for 60 days will be fed by having liquids pumped through his nose, he said Wednesday.

Rudolf Schmidt, 50-year-old showman who runs a travelling circus, said he learned in India years ago how to overcome pain.

Schmidt, who goes under the name of "Fakir Rayo," will start his endurance test Thursday.

After spending two months with his tongue spiked to a plank with a three-inch nail, he plans to go on to Paris to be buried alive for a couple of weeks, he said.

2 New Outbreaks Reported On Prairie Farms

OTTAWA, Feb. 29. (CP)—Just as Canada appeared to be over the hump of the first confusion caused by discovery of foot-and-mouth disease, two further outbreaks of a livestock disease were reported in Saskatchewan Thursday night. The reports—unconfirmed by Provincial Agriculture authorities—said the outbreaks resembled stomatitis, the disease the foot-and-mouth outbreak was taken for at first. The two reports came from Gravelbourg, 132 miles southwest of Regina, and Gull Lake, 207 miles west of Regina. An inspector will be flown in ot the two areas today to investigate the reports.

Tiny Virus

Whether the new outbreaks are foot-and-mouth disease remains to be seen. If it is, a tiny virus so small it cannot be seen by the most powerful telescope is responsible.

When the Federal Agriculture Department made the announcement last Monday that Canada, for the first time in its history, has been invaded by the dreaded scourge of the livestock industry, the country became jittery. For foot-and-mouth disease can spread like bush-fire.

R.C.M.P. prepared to start shooting infected animals in the Regina area today. Altogether 850 cattle, 190 swine and 140 sheep have been condemned for slaughter.

Had Suspicions

Federal agricultural officials appear to have suspected for several weeks that Canada had been invaded by the foot-and-mouth disease. But they weren't sure. The final diagnosis was not made until last Sunday and the announcement, which shook the cattle industry, was made the following day.

The federal agriculture department announced on Feb. 25 the infection was foot-and-mouth disease.

A ban was placed on the outward movement of live stock from stockyards in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Cattle from Alberta could still move east if there were no unloadings. But normally there is a feeding point in Saskatchewan and for all practical purposes prairie livestock was sealed off from eastern Canada markets.

But prairie meat could still be shipped eastward, providing again there was no unloading in the quarantined area. But this, too, was soon to be changed for one province.

Immigrant Flies To Ottawa For Inquiry

VANCOUVER, Feb. 29 (CP)—Willi Bruntjen is scheduled to arrive in Ottawa today to tell his story to agriculture department officials trying to find out how the feared foot-and-mouth disease invaded Canada.

Bruntjen is suspected of accidentally carrying virus of the cattle disease from his native Germany to the farm outside of Regina where he was given his first work in Canada.

Not under arrest, but accompanied by an R.C.M.P. officer, the 29-year-old immigrant left by air for Ottawa Thursday night.

Presumably, tests on his clothing and other belongings to discover if they are carrying the virus of the disease will be carried out at the animal disease research laboratory in Hull, Que.

Bruntjen, who didn't know he was the object of a manhunt; arrived here Thursday by Canadian Pacific Railway from Port Arthur.

He said he came west to look for work—preferably on a farm—but a chance meeting with a fellow immigrant prevented him from carrying out his plans.

Taken To Headquarters

Hans Eisenstraeger, who arrived in Canada on the same boat as Bruntjen Oct. 27 persuaded the young farm worker to accompany him to immigration headquarters.

There, his identity was established and R.C.M.P. called.

A few hours later the baffled Bruntjen—who feared for a time that he was being deported—was en route to Ottawa.

Before he left, Bruntjen said he would do "everything I can to help."

"I hope and pray that the disease doesn't get as bad as it is in Germany because I know, since I'm a farmer myself, how bad it is for the Canadian farmers," he said.

He gave reporters an outline of his activities since reaching Canada aboard the motor vessel Nellie. He said he first heard about the disease outbreak while he was in Port Arthur.

He added that he "never dreamed" he might be responsible for bringing the disease to Canada, the first time it has appeared in this country.

IMMIGRANT FLEES

Scour Alberta For New Disease

OTTAWA, Feb. 29—(CP)—Veterinarians are planning to scour southern Alberta for traces of Trypanosomiasis.

The Agriculture department announced today that ticks and other blood-sucking insects in that area will be investigated to find out whether they are carrying the rare tropical disease.

The decision resulted from an outbreak of the blood-destroying disease—the first such outbreak in Canada—among cattle on the Wallace Heron farm near Thamesford, Ont.

Discovery of the disease was disclosed by the Department Thursday and a report from Thamesford said the last of the 45 head of beef cattle on the farm were shot and buried.

Mr. Heron purchased the cattle, said the Department, in southern Alberta and that is why the new investigation will be launched in that area.

Says Canadian Farmers Should Pay More Tax

TORONTO, Feb. 29 (CP). — Canadian farmers are paying far less income tax than they should, the Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the United Church of Evangelism and Social Service, said today.

In a report to the board, Dr. Mutchmor estimates that people on regular payrolls contribute more than 80 per cent of the more than $800,000,000 collected yearly.

"In 1949 when Ontario's farm products had a gross value of a $1,000,000,000 and a net value of more than $500,000,000 the farmers paid less than $2,000,000 in income taxes.

"In other words, the income tax paid by Ontario farmers in 1949 was equivalent to approximately one-fifth of the one per cent of the gross value of the farm production of that province."

Nehru's Party Polls 43% Of Indian Vote

NEW DELHI, Feb. 29 (AP). — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's Congress party polled 43 per cent of the total popular vote in the months-long national elections, virtually-complete figures showed today.

The party won substantial margins of the seats in the central parliament and most state assemblies, however.

Socialists got 11 per cent of the popular vote, Communists six, Workers and Peasants Peoples Party five and Independents 18. The remainder went to small local parties.

The Congress Party polled 43,169,636 votes in the elections of central parliament members and 38,405,964 in state elections.

New Commissioner

CANBERRA, Feb. 29 (Reuters) —Richard Casey, External Affairs Minister, today announced the appointment of a high commissioner to Ceylon as Australia's latest step in a drive to increase the Dominion's representation in rich, strategically - important Southeast Asia. The new high commissioner is Arthur Roden Cutler, high commissioner in New Zealand since May, 1946.

British House Considers Bill To Stop Hypnotism

LONDON, Feb. 29 — (Reuters) —A parliamentary bill to outlaw vaudeville hypnotist from the British stage was published today.

Dr. Summerville Hastings, Labor member of parliament and leading surgeon, is seeking in a private member's bill to prevent hypnotists from using powers on the public for entertainment.

Hasting's legislation would put an end to such cases as:

1. After being hypnotized on a stage at a local movie theatre in Sunderland, England, last week, an 18-year-old factory girl slept for more than 100 hours before finally snapping out of the trance.

2. Last year a 14-year-old Scottish girl was hypnotized by another stage performer. For weeks aferwards she'd keep dropping off at the slightest reference to sleep.

The law would not prohibit use of hypnotism for "scientific or research purposes or for the treatment of mental or physical disease."

Dr. Philp Magonet, Canadian-born president and founder of the Medical Hypnosis Association said:

"I fully agree with the bill in that I belive the pratice of hypnotism should be confined to qualified medical practitioners.

Formerly of Glace Bay, N.S., Magonet has made a name for himself by using hypnosis to deliver babies painlessly without anaesthetic and for treatment of mental illness.

Won't Accept NATO Job Pearson Says

St. Laurent Asks Minister To Stay In His Cabinet Post

LONDON, Feb. 29. (Reuters) —L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, has decided not to accept appointment as secretary-general of the new streamlined North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a usually well-informed source said here today.

Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador in Washington, has already declined the appointment.

Pearson had originally been mentioned as a leading candidate for the job but speculation on the possibility slackened when it was announced that it had been offered to Franks.

State Secretary Dean Acheson of the U.S. and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain are reported to have sounded Pearson out on the job since Franks turned it down.

His rejection throws the election of a secretary-general into the melting pot.

Keeps Pearson

It was reported from Ottawa Thursday that Prime Minister St. Laurent wants Pearson—who is chairman of the Atlantic Pact Council—to remain in his cabinet.

British officials and ministers now are reported to be considering various British candidates. It was felt in Lisbon that a Briton would be a good choice following the decision to make Paris rather than London N.A.T.O's permanent home.

Two possible British candidates for the job are Sir Gladwyn Jebb, chief British delegate to the United Nations, and Sir Edmund Hallpatch, British representative on the organization for European economic co-operation.

Other candidates are the Dutch Foreign Minister, Dirk Stikker, and the Norwegian Foreign Minister, Halvard Lange.

French Gov't Resigns Again

PARIS, Feb. 29. — (AP) — France's 19th cabinet since liberation stumbled and fell today and President Vincent Auriol began a search for the statesmen and money which will enable the country to play the big western defence role given her at Lisbon.

Edgar Faure was ousted from his 40-day-old premiership this morning by an adverse vote of the National Assembly. The assembly first pledged him the money for the new 1,500,000,000,000 ($4,000,000,000) defence program by an overwhelming majority but then rejected his plan for paying the bill.

Only 104 Communist and fellow-travellers voted against the appropriation. But right-wingers joined them in turning down a 15-per-cent tax increase, of which Faure had said "every centime" would go for new military expenses.

READS THRONE SPEECH — Governor-General Massey, first Canadian-born vice-regal representative, reads the throne speech at the opening of the sixth session of the 21st Parliament Thursday. The historic pomp and ceremony at Ottawa were tempered somewhat because of mourning for the late King George VI. His Excellency is wearing the uniform of the late Lord Tweedsmuir, a former governor-general.

Frost Turns Down Principle Of Compulsory Arbitration

TORONTO, Feb. 29. (CP)—Premier Frost Thursday rejected the principle of compulsory arbitration in labor-management problems and urged "good sense and moderation" in the solution of them. The premier entered the Throne Speech debate with an address that stressed the government's basic labor policy. Voluntary arbitration had made its contribution to industrial peace, Mr. Frost said, but there was a difference between voluntary and compulsory arbitration.

Compulsory arbitration would work only if there were "infallible and all-seeing arbitrators." Four recent strikes—the Timmins Gold Mine strike, the Toronto Transportation strike, the two Ford strikes at Windsor and the settlement reached in the Toronto Consumers' Gas dispute — showed the impossiblity of arbitration.

"There is one conclusion which stands out and that is that there is no substitute for agreements freely arrived at around the bargaining table."

Need Good Sense

There might be cases in which public interest would necessitate a form of compulsory arbitration. "It is to be hoped that good sense and moderation would never necessitate such action by the Legislature. As a matter of fact, such a situation has never arisen.

2 Trains Stalled On Gaspe Line

CAPE COVE, Que., Feb. 29 — (CP)—A Canadian National Railways train with 56 persons aboard was held in the station of this tiny Gaspe coast village today. A railroad wing-plow snowbound since Thursday morning was blocking the tracks.

A second C.N.R. train with three male passengers aboard awaited a clear track at Caraquet, N.B., 45 miles east of Bathurst, N.B., after being snowbound Thursday. It is expected to get under way this afternoon.

A wind-driven snow storm swept the area Thursday but skies are clear today.

A C.N.R. official in Campbellton, N.B., said the Cape Cove train, bound for Campbellton from Gaspe village, would probably be free tonight.

Most of the passengers, including 12 women—one of them pregnant—were taken in at homes and an hotel here. About 15 men, including the train's crew of five, remained aboard.

Gerard Langlis, C.N.R. agent here said a wing-plow moving ahead of the train stalled about three miles west of here about 10 a.m. Thursday.

Allied Tanks Raid Red Lines

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 29 — (AP) —A powerful force of Allied tank raiders smashed through the former Red supply base of Kumsong today and blasted Chinese entrenched north of the city.

Another group of raiding U. N. tanks fought it out with Chinese artillery and mortars on the Eastern front.

The big tank strike through Kumsong on the central front was supported by eight inch howitzers and a 155 mm. self-propelled gun.

The two-pronged strike battered the Reds for more than three hours.

Some of the 46-ton General Patton tanks were damaged. But others took them in tow and pulled them back to their bases when the raiders broke off the fight this afternoon.

It was a big strike in the generally quiet Korean war. But censorship prevented disclosure of the number of tanks involved.

On the western front another tank force traded fire with Chinese artillery and mortars for an hour-and- a half this morning before it was ordered to return to its base. The action was west of Chorwon, once the western anchor of the iron triangle.

$350,000 Damage Suit Filed By Union Man

WISE, Va., Feb. 29—(AP)—A $350,000 damage suit against the United Mine Workers Union (Ind.) was filed in court Thursday by a discharged U.M.W. field representative who claimed he was fired after refusing to murder two coal operators.

The suit was entered by Charles Minton, who was discharged Nov. 8, 1951, after several years employment as a field worker in U.M.W. district 28.

Minton alleges in the suit he was ordered by Tony Boyle, "agent extraordinary for the U.M.W. and a personal agent of John L. Lewis," to murder C. P. Fugate and Harry L. Turner, both of Wise, owners of the non-union Gladeville Coal Company.

Minton, in his suit, said the top-level orders were part of an unsuccessful U.M.W. plan to organize a number of small truck mines in the Wise country area.

20-Ft. Drifts Paralyze Maritimes

Report Two Deaths In Worst Blizzard Of Winter On Coast

HALIFAX, Feb. 29. (CP)—Two deaths were reported in the Maritimes Thursday night as the severest storm of the winter petered out, leaving communications and transportation snarled in 18 inches of snow and drifts of 20 feet.

Several small fishing craft were reported missing and others in need of assistance. Two Canadian National Railways trains were snowbound on the shores of the Baie of Chaleurs, between New Brunswick and Quebec and one airplane crashed.

Snow-clogged roads delayed medical aid and cars were buried as the blizzard swept up the Atlantic coast with gale-force winds, blanketing the Maritimes in a few hours.

David Rutherford, 57, of McAdam, N.B., and Frank Doneaster, 69, Amherst, N.S., both died of over-exertion as they waded through unplowed roads.

Four fishermen jumped across gale-lashed waters to the rails of a rescue ship, just as their vessel, the Winnie Anne, neared the edge of foam-covered shoals off Yarmouth, N.S. The 60-foot dragger was swept on the rocks and demolished but the crew escaped to the Gladys Sweeney.

Two craft were abandoned off Nova Scotia without loss of life but at least four others are unreported from ports along the western shore. Number of men aboard the missing vessel is not known because winds in gusts up to 65 miles an hour knocked down communication lines.

The tug Foundation Vera steamed out of Halifax toward the British freighter Loadstone which left Saint John, N.B., Wednesday for the United Kingdom. The Vera was expected to reach the 4,877-ton vessel today. Nature of her trouble is unknown but she reported all fires out.

Some 30 persons were forced to spend Wednesday night in Digby, N.S., rural high school. Radio stations broadcast appeals to neighbors to look after the livestock of those marooned.

Fifteen cars were stranded less than a mile from Annapolis and three youths, one crippled by arthritis, spent the night in their car near Middleton.

Seaway Sparks New Furore

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 (AP) —Lt.-Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers, said today that if the St. Lawrence seaway is not built "the mid-west steel industry faces migration to the seaboard."

"The economic consequences to the mid-west could be tragic," he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, considering a bill to authorize the big $818,000,000 project.

Pick and Chairman Tom Connally (Dem.-Tex.) got into a squabble after the general said "if the United States is to avoid becoming a secondary nation. . ."

Connally interrupted, shouting: "I am astounded that any patriotic American would express sentiments that this country is on the skids, that it will become a secondary nation."

Hint Offensive Restrictions Against Canada Be Eased

OTTAWA, Feb. 29—(CP)—Government trade and financial officials said today Canada has "every hope" that the United States soon will lift "offensive restrictions" against imports of Canadian dairy products.

However, they said if there is no action forthcoming by next June, there is "every possibility" that Canada may impose equally offensive restrictions against some American farm products.

They were commenting on a Geneva dispatch to The New York Times which said Canada is preparing extensive restrictions on American farm products. The action would be in retaliation for the refusal by the U.S. Congress to rescind legislation which imposes quotas on cheese and other dairy products.

Canadian officials here pointed out that the U.S. Senate currently is considering a revamping of the U.S. Defence Production Act without the riders under which the U.S. froze dairy imports from Canada and other countries to the level of imports to the average of the three years, 1948, 1949 and 1950.

"There is every hope that when the new legislation goes into effect next June that the offensive restrictions will not be included," officials said.

But if the section still appears, Canada likely will boost tariffs on such American farm products as grapes and nuts and other less essential items which Canada buys from American farmers.

Arrest One Man Recover Guns, $17,000 Of Loot

TORONTO, Feb. 29. (CP)—Two boys who found a navy duffle bag floating in Lake Ontario off Toronto's east end helped solve the $50,000 robbery of a bank here a week ago, police disclosed today. The boys' discovery enabled police to locate Robert Nicholson, 22, who has been charged with armed robbery. Two others involved in the holdup are still sought. Police have recovered $17,000 and two guns stolen from the Bank of Montreal branch, where staff members were tied up as they reported for work.

The bag was found last Saturday, loaded with $345 in silver. That was the big "break" in the case, police said.

They traced the bag from owner to owner and then raided numerous rooming-houses here in their search for a suspect.

Police believe the robbers wanted to hide the silver and sought to sink it in the bag. However, it floated near the shore when the boys—unidentified by police—opened it.

Police were called and the bag, which had a name on it, was traced through several owners.

Last owner of the bag, officers fund, was a 15-year-old boy, Nicholson's half-brother.

Seeking to question Nicholson, police were told he was somewhere in the downtown rooming area. After three days officers found him in a Gerrard Street room, where the cash and three revolvers—two of them identified as belonging to the bank—were found.

Nicholson was arrested Wednesday night. Since then Ontario and Quebec Provincial Police officers have combed the highways for the two missing men.

No elaborate plans were made to rob the bank, police learned.

The three men are said to have looked over the building the night before and then returned at dawn. Two men forced a side window and waited for the bank staff to appear. The third man watched outside.

Queen Tells Britons Form For Prayers

LONDON, Feb. 29. (AP)—The Queen told Britons today just how she wants them to pray for her and her family.

Presiding over a meeting of the Privy Council she approved two orders on the form prayers should take in the country's churches. One said she should be prayed for as "Queen Elizabeth."

The other said prayers for the Royal Family should read:

"Elizabeth the Queen Mother, Queen Mary, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Duke of Cornwall, and all the Royal Family."

Aga Khan Arrives At Nice On Stretcher

NICE, France, Feb. 29. (AP) —The Aga Khan arrived here today from India, and was carried off his plane on a stretcher.

His son, Aly Khan, was at the airport to greet the wealthy 74-year-old world leader of the Ismaili Moslem sect. He was told by the Aga Khan's doctor, Jean Stehlin, "Don't worry, your father is much better." The Aga Khan was stricken with a heart ailment while visiting India.

Tartan Stealers To Receive Gift Of Haggis

GLASGOW, Feb. 29—(Reuters) —The Scots, anxious to show there are no hard feelings about the U.S. Second Division incident over a Royal Stewart tartan, have sent to Korea a gift of the most mysterious of all Scottish dishes—haggis.

It is destined for those 2nd Division men who have formed a bagpipe band—the same ones who irreverently chose the exclusive Royal Stewart tartan for their kilts.

A note of advice went with the haggis—if you can get some Scotch whisky to drink with the haggis, it makes a perfect meal.

Few people know just exactly what goes into a haggis. It is a suet pudding-like concoction, sewn up in a sheep's stomach and cooked.

No Instructions

No instructions were given on how to serve it, but the Americans can easily find out from their neighbors, the King's Own Scottish Borderers Regiment of the British Commonwealth Division in Korea.

They were the ones who taught the Americans to play the pipes in the first place and who raised a startled cry when they found their students had inadvertently picked on the tartan officially used by the Royal family.

The haggis, enough for 30 men, and a letter of congratulations, were sent by a Glasgow packing firm which specializes in sausages.

Hope To Cut Defence Costs

OTTAWA, Feb. 29 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent gave notice today that the government will quickly establish a Commons committee to examine defence expenditures and recommend economies if possible.

The 26-member committee will carry on where it left off at the last session.

Lt.-Col. David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) is expected to be the chairman again.

The Prime Minister's notice was one of a large number which appeared in the first issue of the Common's document called Votes and Proceedings.

Proposals ranged from a resolution that the government should consider calling this country the Kingdom of Canada to two others which urged steps to introduce a bill of rights.

Expect Verdict In Lanoie Case

PEMBROKE, Feb. 29—(CP)— A verdict is expected today at the trial of Spr. Joe (Frenchy) Lanoie of Welland, charged with the New Year's eve shooting of two fellow soldiers at nearby Petawawa military camp.

Mr. Justice Wishart F. Spence of the Ontario Supreme Court was scheduled to deliver his charge to the jury when court opened today.

Spr. Lanoie, 36, went on trial Tuesday in connection with the death of Spr. James Wesley Caufield, 20, of Pine Falls, Man. Caufield and Craftsman Clifford E. Johannson, 19, of Saskatoon, died in a shooting affray after a drinking party in the Petawawa officers' mess at which they were stewards and Lanoie a batman.

Defence Cousel Joseph Greene of Arnprior, Ont., contended Thursday night in his address to the jury that Spr. Lanoie was too drunk the morning of the shooting to know what he was doing. He said the only reason for the shooting was "alcohol—and lots of it."

Allied Decision To Reject Russia Final

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP) —Allied truce negotiators told the Communists today that U.N. rejection of Russia as a member of a neutral supervisory commission is "firm, final, and irrevocable."

A U.N. spokesman said the Allied statement was the "strongest since last July" when the Reds were warned that armistice negotiations would break down unless they abandoned demands for a cease-fire line on the 38th Parallel.

The Communists replied in almost equally strong language to today's statement that "any such attitude of arrogance and arbitrariness will be categorically rejected by our side."

Irrevocable Decision

Col. Don Darrow told the Reds: "I now tell you formally, unequivocally and with the fullest authorization that the U.N. Command's decision to reject the Soviet Union as a member of the neutral nation supervisory commission is final and irrevocable. Further debate on this subject is completely futile."

In an adjacent tent the subcommittee on prisoner exchange made little progress in its first session since February 6. Staff officers had turned the voluntary repatriation problem back to the sub-committee after reaching virtual agreement on all other points of an exchange plan.

Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby said the Communists again brought up the February 18 riot in a U.N. prison compound on Koje Island in which 75 Korean civilians were killed and 139 wounded. The Reds charged that Allied guards "massacred their people with rifles, hand grenades, and tanks."

Liberal Leader Asks Apology

EDMONTON, Feb. 29 — (CP)— Liberal Leader J. Harper Prowse Thursday demanded that The Calgary Albertan publish an explanation and apology for an editorial it printed Thursday in which it said Mr. Prowse had been guilty of "downright contempt of the legislature."

Mr. Prowse spoke in the legislature on a question of privilege.

The editorial referred to Mr. Prows'e speech Monday in the throne-speech debate in which the Liberal leader said the Alberta government during a nine-year period had given a "hidden subsidy" of $538,000 to horse-racing interests.

Mr. Prowse gave out advance copies of his prepared address. When the House met it spent about 2½ house discussing the report of a special rules committee.

The Albertan said that "more than two hours before he (Prowse) gave it, (the speech) had been fully reported in the past tense and pubblished in an Alberta paper."

Mr. Prowse said in the House that the rules committee debate had been held to "embarrass" him.

He said it had been the practice for years for speakers to provide newspaper reporters with advance copies of their speeches and for Alberta papers to publish items based on these advances in their editions the same afternoon the member spoke.

NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL—Canada's first native-born governor-general, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, inspects his guard of honor on his arrival at Ottawa Thursday to be sworn into office and officiate at the opening of Parliament. The guardsmen, 100 men in bright red jackets, freshly-pressed trousers and high black busbys (hats) are a unit of the Governor-General's Foot Guards.

Ontario Herd Destroyed Halt Tropical Disease

TORONTO, Feb. 29. (CP)—The tropical disease, trypanosomiasis, which attacked cattle near Thamesford, has been halted by shooting the 45 animals in the affected herd, Ontario Agriculture Department officials said Thursday night. The disease now "can scarcely be considered a threat to Ontario's cattle population," a department statement said. A herd of Herefordshire cattle on the farm of Wallace Herron, seven miles north of Thamesford, were quarantined when 15 cattle sickened and died. Veterinaries said the disease was trypanosomiasis, similar to leukemia in humans.

It was the first evidence of disease in Ontario cattle which to date have escaped the foot-and-mouth peril affecting cattle near Regina.

"The cattle affected suffered from a break-down of the red blood cells—something like leukemia in humans—and weakened and died," one government veterinarian said.

Some varieties of trypanosomiasis cause sleeping sickness but there was no sleeping sickness among the Ontario cattle.

Stock Prices Edge Higher On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 29 (CP). — Stock market prices edged slowly higher today in early afternoon dealings.

Industrial trading showed a slight spread from leading issues but few penny golds or lower-priced metals or oils showed large speculative turnovers. Volume for the first three hours is 1,349,000 shares.

Retail stores and miscellaneous issues posted a majority of fractional advances to form industrials' strongest sections. Constructions also drew firm support but utilities and banks weakened.

Western oil gains ranged from pennies to more than $1. Calgary and Edmonton, Central Explorers, Federated Petroleum, General Petroleum, National Petroleum, Royalite and Canadian Williston climbed strongly.

Base metals were mixed as Barvue, East Sullivan, Labrador, MacDonald, Noranda, Quebec Manitou and Yukeno strengthened while Consolidated Smelters, Mindamar and Silver Miller weakened.

Senior golds were firm. Dome, McIntyre and Wright-Hargreaves pushed upward. Secondary issues showed little trend.

WHITBY, Feb. 29 (CP).—For the fifteenth time in as many years, the office of Donald Motors in this community near Oshawa was broken into Thursday night. MORE ABOUT—

"The principle of compulsory arbitration would never be successful in general application."

The Premier noted the "increasing responsibility which rests on organized labor." This responsibility brought out the importance of "protection and conservation of property" during strikes.

The public insists on peaceful and lawful picketing during strikes, he said.

The Legislature today will debate the principle of several government bills introduced in the session's opening days.

Opposition leader Farquhar Oliver also took part in Thursday's Throne Speech debate and at the conclusion of his speech moved a four-point motion of non-confidence in the government.

His motion, based on government policy outlined in the throne speech, criticized the government for making no provision for interim financial aid to municipalities pending the report of a committee now studying provincial-municipal relations.

The government should have helped municipalities meet rising education cost, planned to remedy "obvious defects" in the Labor Relations Act, and taken action on conservation as recommended two years ago by the select legislature committee on conservation.

Introduced Two Bills

The government introduced two bills dealing with Hydro development of the St. Lawrence River's international rapids section.

One will ratify the Dec. 3 agreement with the federal government for Ontario to undertake half of the power development work, along with a designated United States authority. The second will appoint the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission as the province's agent in the Hydro construction, to be undertaken along with the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway canal.

In his speech, Mr. Frost met one of the opposition leader's criticism. He said that 48 of the 84 recommendations of the conservation committee have already been put into effect.

The Premier's speech dealt mainly on labor policies, however. It was ah answer to labor unions which have voiced fears that the situation surrounding the recent Toronto transit strike might bring demands for compulsory arbitration of disputes involving public utilities.

The Premier also mentioned the federal proposals for "rental" of certain provincial tax fields in return for subsidies. He did not say whether Ontario will enter a tax-rental agreement for the coming five years.

He said, however, that in the period of the last five-year agreement, which Ontario did not enter, the province had taken in more by collecting its own corporation and succession taxes and mining and logging royalities than if it had "rented" 'these tax fields to Ottawa.

Cape Cod Hit By Blizzard

BOSTON, Feb. 29. (AP)—Cape Cod which has not yet dug out of its worst storm in a generation got another snowfall today—but it wasn't expected to be as devastating as Wednesday's paralyzing blow.

The weather bureau said the new fall, starting about dawn, would end late in the afternoon and add about three inches of snow to the 14 to 20 inches which crippled the area.

Wednesday's storm left drifts as high as 12 feet and isolated the Cape for 16 hours. Officials of Cape Cod towns say it may be several days before the majority of roads are even passable and before full utilities services are restored.

Some 10,000 homes were left without light and heat, all roads were blocked, scores of motorists were marooned and only emergency telephone service was available.

Even minor crimes have hit a low ebb in the city during the last week. Better than usual winter driving conditions have resulted in very few accidents.

Today, police court lasted less than five minutes. Only two cases were heard, a drunk and a vagrant. Both pleaded guilty.

Harry Brown, 57, no fixed address who has been sleeping at the police station nightly, since he was released two weeks ago after serving ten days for vagrancy appeared on the vagrancy charge.

Brown said he was a barber by trade but had not been able to find work.

Magistrate W. R. Philp fined him $15 and $2.50 costs or 15 days in jail and warned him that something would have to be done about his getting employment when he is released.

Hubert Allen, 47, Douro township farmer, pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place and was fined $10 and $2.00 costs or ten days.

Worked On German Farm

By his own account, the farm where he worked before leaving Germany was infected by foot-and-mouth disease and all 15 cows were stricken. But, he said, he didn't know it was possible for a human being to transmit the disease.

Speaking in his native tongue, he knows only a few words of English, the quiet-spoken, farm hand told reporters he worked at the Haas farm at McLean, south of Regina, for two days.

He said at the beginning of November he went by bus to Winnipeg where he stayed eight days trying without success to find another job.

Then he went to Pine Falls, Man., where he worked as a cutter. From there he went to Port Arthur and worked as a logger at Heron Bay, Ont., until Feb. 23.

"I came west on a C.P.R. train and didn't stop over until I reached Vancouver Thursday morning," he said.

Nigel Birch Given New Appointment

LONDON, Feb. 29 — (CP) — Nigel Birch, Parliamentary Undersecretary to the Air Ministry, has been appointed Parliamentary Secretary to the Defence Ministry, it was learned today.

Birch will thus be deputy to Field Marshall Alexander and will be responsible for answering questions in the House of Commons addressed to the Defence Minister, who sits in the House of Lords.

Lord Alexander takes over his new job Saturday and will meet his senior officials Monday.

Birch, 46, and a rising Conservative,is known to pjarliamentarians as a man who takes pains with his speeches. He first made a name for himself politically with his attacks on Hugh Dalton, Socialist Chancellor of the Exchequer in the first years of post-war parliament.

Dockers Get Raise

LONDON, Feb. 29 Reuters)—Leaders of 127,000 dock workers today accepted a general wage increase proposed by the official arbitration board and a second week's vacation a year with pay. This will cost port authorities about £4,000,000 more a year. The new increase amounts to six shillings, bringing minimum weekly earnings up to about £6 and six shillings.

PLENTY OF GRIT—British soldiers on patrol in Egypt's Suez Canal Zone lean into the wind of a sand storm. Handkerchiefs over their faces protect them from the stinging particles and enable them to breathe. Sand is an enemy that gets into everything—food, clothes, bedding, eyes and lungs.

Health Unit Chief Shows Film On TB

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 29 — (ENS)—A film illustrating the phases and the cure of tuberculosis was shown by Dr. C. W. MacCharles, head of the health units for the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, to students of the Campbellford High School an Wednesday.

Dr. MacCharles told the students that each one of them would be subjected to a tuberculosis test in the near future. He also asked for the co-operation of the students in order to make the tests a success.

The film showed how tuberculosis is discovered and how it is cured. It stressed the importance of an annual physical check-up, and showed that when the disease was discovered in its early stages, fresh air and rest will effect a cure. In order to protect other persons from the disease, the tubercular victim is sent to a sanitarium where he receives the necessary care and treatment.

On behalf of the student body, the principal, E. Darling,thanked Dr. MacCharles for the very informative film.

Can't Replace Tankers

LONDON, Feb. 29 (Reuters).—High taxation is preventing British ship owners from replacing worn-out vessels, Lord Runciman, president of the Chamber of Shipping, said Thursday night. THE PAS, Feb., 29 —(CP)—A possible uranium strike has been reported in northern Manitoba.

More than 350 claims have been filed for stakings in the Wekusko Lake area, about 50 miles northeast of here. The Pas is 350 miles northwest of Winnipeg near the Saskatchewan border.

Claims are scattered on the east shore of Wekusko Lake in three fields known as Herb Lake, Osborne Lake and Watch Lake.

A mining syndicate at Flin Flon, 40 miles north of here, issued a statement Sunday that exploration work last fall showed "the presence of a large deposit of uraninite carrying uranium and radium."

Municipal Board Gives School Part Approval

COBOURG, Feb. 29—(ENS)—Partial approval by the Municipal Board for construction of a new east end public school to cost $280,000 has been given, but final approval depends on what the school board learns when it has drawn up plans and specifications and called for tenders.

The school board has been advised that it can proceed to call for tenders and when the tenders are in, if it is certain the school can be built for $280,000. The board will then sanction the construction of the school at a cost not to exceed that figure.

Re-elect Girl V-P Of Student Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 29 — (ENS)—An election for a vice-president of the Student Council of the Campbellford High School was held this week with a Grade XIII student, Paul Bennett, polling the largest number of votes.

The post was left vacant by the resignation of Miss Ada Goodfellow, and nominations were held in the general assembly room on Monday with the election taking place on Wednesday.

Allan Wickens, president of the Student Council, said he would ask for a revision of the C.H.S. constitution, but did not elaborate on this.

Gravel Pile Grows On Depot Site

COBOURG, Feb. 29—(ENS)—A huge stockpile of gravel is being built up on the ordnance depot site, trucks running steadily all day from gravel pits east of the town to the depot site. Work is proceeding rapidly with the $42,000 drainage job in which tiles six feet in diameter will be laid to drain the big area, and the drainage flow will be easterly into Leonard's Creek.

Sewer construction is going on along D'Arcy St., workmen blasting to loosen up the hard ground. Division St. just north of the subway has an excavation running alongside for sewers.

Big problem on the site itself is mud and with the frost coming out of the ground, things are getting stickier all the time. Once the drainage system is operating, it will be much easier to commence levelling off and excavating.

Foster Families For The Insane

The crowding of our mental hospitals in Ontario suggests that provincial authorities might profitably study a method of caring for the mentally sick which has for several centuries been successful in Belgium. The town of Gheel there is the location of a large mental clinic where patients who are not violently insane receive treatment, but the patients themselves live with foster families who have been approved for this service. In a town of 4,000 families, 1,869 engage in this work. The patients go to the clinic for treatment when required, but the greater part of their time is spent living a quiet family life, and doing work, chiefly agricultural, which is suited to their strength and condition.

• • •

The advantages of this plan are twofold. The patients escape life in an institution, which must always be somewhat depressing; nobody likes to feel that he is "in an insane asylum"; they have the advantage of a family life among sane people who are accustomed to dealing with those who are not entirely sane; they are not surrounded by uniformed attendants, and they do not eat institution meals. Kind and quiet care is what they need, and what they get from the people of Gheel. The advantage to the state is obvious; it is not necessary to build and maintain large residential hospitals. A clinic for treatment suffices.

• • •

Hospital towns like Gheel would not do for violently insane patients, or for the senile, who need continual nursing. But we think that the plan has much to commend it for those mentally sick persons who cannot remain at home—it is an axiom of treating the insane that they should be removed from home surroundings which may in part be the cause of their illness—but who do not need to be guarded. Ontario could make good use of a town like Gheel, and it would solve one of our most pressing health problems.

Bigger Savings

Thanks to its fourteen million people, the biggest buyer of Canadian products is the Canadian consumer. Compared with his shopping, multi-million dollar buying of war goods for NATO is not of tremendous significance. It is the icing of the Canadian economy; what the Canadian himself spends (and how much money he has to spend) is the cake. It is therefore important, in assessing future business and industrial conditions, to gauge how much money he has to spend and to guess how he intends to spend it.

Last year, despite wage increases, the Canadian consumer spent four per cent. less than he did in 1950. This mythical average Canadian has therefore built up his savings. This year he continues to have the high wages of last year, and in addition, he has his 1950 extra savings. If he spends all this, the market for consumer durable goods will be bigger than ever before. This would be in addition to the military orders, production for which should reach new heights by midsummer.

If the Canadian consumer keeps not only his last year's savings, but continues to save at the same rate, the demand for consumer durable goods may continue to be somewhat slack. In that case, the 1951 pattern of lay-offs in consumer-goods industries may not change this year. There would have to be the same employment adjustments, while workers switched from one type of job to another, from consumer goods production to military goods production.

Let's Hope It Is True

The Gallup Poll recently announced that it had found that more than 70 per cent. of people think that the young people of today are better educated than their parents. We hope that this is true. The advancement of civilization depends on children knowing more than their parents. Parents are, understandably, reluctant to share this opinion; it is a very rare parent indeed who does not like to smile in a superior manner upon his young, and tell them that they don't know-what they are talking about; and similarly, children thoroughly enjoy those moments when they can display a knowledge which their parents lack.

There is one sphere, however, in which we think that the young people of today are not as well educated as at least some of their parents. They have not the same background of literary and classical knowledge. For until recently there was one classical literature in which most people of moderate education were well versed, and that was the classical literature which is contained in the Bible. Very often, as well, people who had a good grasp on the Bible had read fairly widely in Shakespeare and in such novelists as Dickens and Thackeray. When they spoke, either publicly or in private conversation they made allusions to the literature which they knew, and it enriched their speech, and provided a background of allusion and knowledge held in common with other people of their own kind.

Young people today do not seem to know much about the Bible. Mention Naboth's vineyard to them and they gape; refer to Jacob and Esau and their jaws drop; speak to them of Joshua and they do not know that he was a soldier; ask them one of the old Bible "catches" such as "Who asked God to put his tears in a bottle," and they are nonplussed. Shakespeare is a closed book to most of them, and Becky Sharpe, Colonel Newcome and Sairey Gamp are utterly outside their ken.

It may be argued that they know things that their elders do not, and we are prepared to admit it freely. But we cannot escape a feeling that their minds are meagrely and shabbily furnished, and that the depth of understanding and the richness of reference which the old Bible-and-Shakespeare training gave would be valuable to them.

Would it not be safer to say that they are differently educated, rather than better educated?

A New Grade Of Secrecy

The Kingston Whig-Standard, which keeps a gimlet eye upon doings in the U.S.A., has recently commented upon the graduations of secrecy which are to be found in U.S. affairs. There is "secret", which does not appear to mean very much, and then "very secret" and "most secret" which are a little better; there follows "top secret", which means something important enough to be partly concealed from the public and the press. But the new graduation is "cosmic secret", which applies to things which only a very few people are permitted to know.

Governments must have secrets, of course, and as roughly two people out of three are blabber-mouths the fewer people who know a secret the better it will be kept. But it is an odd thing about mankind that although most people are unable to keep a secret, virtually every body loves a secret, and as the Whig points out, there is a tendency nowadays to try to make secrets of matters which are widely known, and of no special importance anyhow. An example was given recently when an official of the Provincial Fire Marshal's office gave an address to a club of business men at the Royal York hotel in Toronto. He warned his audience that they were about to hear secrets, and warned the press that nothing he revealed could be printed. He then told his audience a few things of no great importance which many of them had already read in the newspapers, and showed them some pictures which many of them had already seen. His secrecy was a delightful, self-aggrandizing game, and nothing more.

It is not a bad idea to have no secrets at all. For a secret is something which you have told to somebody else, and asked him not to pass on. If you keep your information to yourself, it is not a secret; it is something much better; it is something you know which other people do not know. Indeed, it is your own "cosmic secret."

Diamond Brush

A Montreal man named Adolph Neumann, facing trial in New York, skipped his bail and thereby $35,000 in bonds posted as bail were forfeited. Even for New York it was a large forfeiture. The 32-year-old Neumann, or his friends, must have more where the $35,000 came from.

The reason that Mr. Neumann and two others were arrested in the first place was that American customs people suspect that their money comes from pretty odd places. In fact, Neumann and another were accused of accepting from a Dutchman (also under arrest) some diamonds, $20,000 worth, concealed in a hollowed-out shoe brush. Presumably the American courts would have liked to find out from the missing Neumann how many more shoe brushes he has. But Mr. N. has packed up.

His wife in Montreal told a Montreal reporter: "I do not speak very good the English. I have not seen him since Saturday. He went to New York and I don't expect him back." Perhaps as long as Mr. Neuman has packed his bag with the absolute necessities, a tooth brush and a shoe brush, his wife need not worry that he will make out somehow—so long as he stays out of the reaches of the American courts. He is charged with being part of an international diamond smuggling ring.

NOTES AND COMMENT

We read that a bear cannot run faster than 35 miles an hour. As our own top speed is 10 m.p.h. for approximately five minutes this is no comfort at all.

A Congressman wants a list prepared of all the "subversive" volumes among the 9,000,000 in the Library of Congress. To some minds, virtually any reading is dangerous. Even a cap pistol makes a terrifying bang when fired into an empty barrel.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: When I suggest my husband make a will he says he has nothing to make a will for. He says that when he said at the marriage ceremony "I with all my worldly goods do thee endow" that was enough. Could you give me some good arguments to use on him? We own our own home. Our family are all married and away.

ANSWER: Unless a man deliberately wants to make trouble for his wife and family after he dies, he had better make a will, and a proper will drawn up by a lawyer or trust company. It does not cost much. If he does not leave a will he is said to have died "intestate". In that case, what happens, according to law, it this:

An administrator is appointed by the Surrogate Court. He becomes the executor of the estate and as such is entitled to an executor's fees. If the heirs all agree how they want the estate divided, the administrator will so divide it. If they do not all agree, then the statutory plan comes into effect.

By this statutory rule (a) if the intestate man leaves only a widow, with no children, the widow gets $5,000 first, and the balance of the estate is divided by giving two-thirds to her and the remaining one-third in equal shares to the dead man's next-of-kin—father, mother, brothers and sisters. A child of a deceased brother or sister gets the parent's share. (b) If the man who did not make a will leaves his widow and one child, the widow gets $5,000 first and the balance is equally divided between the widow and the child. If there are two or more children, the widow gets $5,000 first, and one-third of the balance, the remaining two-thirds being divided equally among the children.

There is no difference in cost between settling the affairs of a man who dies with a will than one who dies without a will. If the man has made a will, he appoints his own executor (a friend, his wife or some other) who may forego the legal fee as an executor.

If the Court has to appoint an administrator (when he dies without making a will) the administrator may extract his full legal fee, which is a percentage of the estate.

One good reason for making a will is that, without one, the estate (house, money in the bank, wrist watches, car) may all be melted down for cash at bargain rates, so as to provide the $5,000 for the widow, and to divide the rest among her and relatives: (However, in a place like Peterborough, the Surrogate Court is a kindly, friendly sort of Court and tries to do its best for everybody, at minimum cost.) By the way, there are often as good reasons why a wife should make a will, as that a husband should.

A WILL can be a very simple document. Every soldier in the Canadian Army during the last war was encouraged to make a will, and most did. (By the way, veterans, those old Army wills are still valid, unless you have made a new one.) The Army provided a form—much like the forms that can be bought in bookstores today). The simplest form is to "give, devise and bequeath unto . . . my wife (or mother or father or sister)—[naming the person]—all my estate" and to say "I appoint so-and-so to be executor (or executrix) of this my Last Will". You can name the same person who is to get all your estate to be your executor, provided, of course, you do not get him or her to witness your signature. The two witnesses to your signature (there must be two) must not be people who get anything out of the estate.

Even though you can buy will forms in a store or from a mail-order catalogue, it is best to get a lawyer to do the job. If a person makes out his own will, he may start to put fancy things into it which cause everybody trouble later. He may quite simply bequeath "my old clothing" to his son. But the Courts may find (after a costly legal wrangle) that "my old clothing" does not mean all his clothing, not the fairly new $70 overcoat, for instance.

Making a will gives me a beautiful delusion of grandeur, power and wealth. My chief reason for making a will is not that I have worldly goods to throw around munificently, but that I want to ensure that a rather tasty book I happen to have goes to my favourite University library. I could give the book to it now, of course, but I like to feel the possession of it; and, if hard times come along, I'll be able to pawn it for a square meal.

I toy with a new will every birthday, but thus far have had enough sense not to write an amateur one. After my latest fantasy (bequeathing a pint of milk a day to my favourite cat, Matilda, as long as her life shall last) I woke up the next morning to the folly, destroyed my scribbling and regained confidence in the last solid will I have deposited with my lawyer.

Lawyers, on the round, are not sharks. I had occasion to see one professionally the other day. He kept me waiting in the outer office twenty minutes, but when I did get in, he chin-wagged for half an hour, told me enough good local gossip to keep this column filled for weeks (if only I could print it!) and did not charge me a cent.

SIR: Given the correct spelling of St. James's instead of St. James', is the correct pronunciation St. Jamezuzz?

ANSWER: Yes.

✧ ✧ ✧

TEDDY BEAR: My notes on the nursery books of the first decade of this century "The Roosevelt Bears", have called forth nostalgic comment from several readers, and a reminder by one that the Teddy Bear got its name from President Theodore Roosevelt. When on one of his hunting expeditions President Roosevelt, a keen naturalist and hunter, came upon a bear cub. He took it under his care. This caught the imagination of newspapers and the public, and so the bear cub was named "Teddy", the nickname of the President. Toy models of a bear cub, teddy bears, were used, I believe, as Roosevelt campaign devices.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE RECORD: It seems that 194,391 immigrants last year was one immigrant too many. The foot-and-mouth disease which has broken out among Regina cattle is being laid at the heels of a German farm worker who came out last year, bringing with him on the soles of his feet or the cuffs of his trousers the virus of the disease. That is one current theory, anyway.

Foot-and-mouth disease was mildly endemic in some European countries last year; Denmark, for instance, had a scare. A recent visitor to Peterborough from Britain had a quarantine experience on her flight over. When the plane put down in Iceland for re-fuelling, she was not allowed to get out, but had to sit in solitary state in the plane while all other passengers cavorted at the air base, shop or restaurant. The reason she was confined to barracks was that her passport recorded that she had been visiting Denmark a few weeks before taking plane from London. The Iceland immigration officials spotted the entry, and refused to let her put foot on Iceland soil, lest her shoes carry to it the foot-and-mouth virus. She set foot in Canada without let or hindrance . . . Perhaps the way to prevent immigrants from carrying the livestock disease here is to make them all land naked, fresh out of a decontaminating bath. Of course, this regulation would have to apply to all persons arriving from the other side, including returning Canadians. What remarkable pictures press photographers would get of Very Important Persons stepping off planes and ships!

Try Quiet For What Ails You

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

A MONTREAL doctor has said that what we need is not a "war of nerves": What we need is a "war on nerves." There is too much tension these days. Some of it is, no doubt, unavoidable. But, as he says, we have a way of heightening our tensions instead of easing them.

He suggests, for instance, that everyone should try to spend some part of the day alone. Even a walk along the street—perhaps a walk to or from work—would help wonderfully.

More than 80 years ago Florence Nightingale realized how true this is. In her "Notes on Nursing" she wrote: "You who believe yourselves overwhelmed with anxieties, but are able every day to walk up Regent Street . . . you little know how much your anxieties are thereby lightened."

✧ ✧ ✧

AND when people get home, much could be done to forget the cares of the outer world, if only they had some hobby or interest of their own, that they might follow. Part of the trouble is that when people become tense they begin to crave still more tension. Instead of letting themselves relax, they insist upon tiring themselves still more.

Perhaps if people were really honest they would admit that many of the things they call recreations are only a weariness of the spirit, and much of what passes for pleasure is really quite unpleasant. A 19th century writer and parliamentarian, Sir George Cornwall Lewis, once remarked in a flash of sincerity, upon coming home from a crush party: "Life would be pleasant enough, if it weren't for its pleasures."

This is not to say that people should retire into seclusion and forsake the world to live as recluses. But the plain fact is that many of the pleasures of social evenings are an illusion. People come home nervous and weary, and generally more sick of life than when they set out.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Russian writer, Sophie Kovalevsky, in her reminiscences of the novelist, Dostoevsky, wrote with a rather delightful irony of such a social evening. "Before we left Petersburg," she says, "Mama decided to have a farewell evening party, and invite all our acquaintances. Of course, Dostoevsky was asked . . .

"The evening was, as usual, dull. The guests took not the slightest interest in one another; but as well-bred people, for whom such dull evenings form an essential part of existence, they bore their tedium stoically."

✧ ✧ ✧

THEN there is the passage in a book by the very modern British writer, Cyril Connolly. Perhaps he writes with an excess of feeling. But there is something to what he says: "Dining-out is a vice, a dissipation of spirit punished by remorse. We eat, drink and talk a bit too much, abuse our friends, belch out our literary preferences, are egged on by accomplices in the audience to acts of mental exhibitionism. Such evenings cannot fail to diminish those who take part in them. They end on Monkey Hill."

How different it all is when the true friends get together. Then the time flies, and no one need bear tedium stoically. When the evening ends, everyone leaves in a glow of cheerfulness. And everyone is the better for it.

No doubt some tiresome things have to be done, even by those who need rest more than anything else. But surely it is foolishness for those who are already exhausted to drag themselves out needlessly for a profitless and cheerless evening, and to come home with a greater feeling of flatness and dissatisfaction than ever.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE "war on nerves" is best won by bringing some quietness and rest into living. It may require that a person be not afraid of being alone. And it may be necessary for him to have the courage not to do tiresome things, just because other people do them by force of foolish habit.

Winning the "war on nerves" may require that each person make his own little "declaration of independence." Then he may find that amidst all the strains of living, he still finds time to live. And the tensions of life may only make his periods of guarded peace all the more precious.

So he may learn something of the truth of the ancient saying: "In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."

Tax Rebates

(Vancouver News-Herald)

Many Canadians these days are receiving nice little windfalls, in the shape of Canadian Government cheques returning overpaid income tax.

Such cheques, of course, are cause for rejoicing. Mostly they are unexpected—and that makes them all the nicer.

One cannot help but wonder, however, if it wouldn't be more efficient, less costly, and a saving in the long run, if the Government kept the money and applied it to the person's next income tax.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jacob said, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac, the Lord which saidst unto me, Return unto thy country, and to thy kindred, and I will deal well with thee. . . Deliver me, I pray thee, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau: for I fear him, lest he will come and smite me, and the mother with the children.

And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of the day. And when he saw that he prevailed not against him, he touched the hollow of his thigh; and the hollow of Jacob's thigh was out of joint, as he wrestled with him. And he said, Let me go, for the day breaketh. And he said, I will not let thee go, except thou bless me.

And he said unto him, What is thy name? And he said, Jacob. And he said, Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel: for as a prince hast thou power with God and with men, and hast prevailed.

And Jacob asked him, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name. And he said, Wherefore is it that thou dost ask after my name? and he blessed him there. And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved. (Gen. 32: 9, 11, 24-30.)

Private Secretary

(London Observer)

As the King's Private Secretary Sir Alan Lascelles has been both courtier and diplomatist and has shown competence in both roles. Before World War I he was a member of a particularly brilliant circle of young people in London, and he embodies the grace of Edwardian times.

Early on in life Sir Alan had the ambition of becoming a diplomat. Instead, after fighting in France, he became for nine years Assistant Private Secretary to the Prince of Wales and for four years Secretary to Lord Bessborough when Governor General of Canada. He returned to Court in 1935, in time to watch a Private Secretary's nightmare come true when Sir Alexander Hardinge found that his loyalty to his master, Edward VIII, and his loyalty to the institution of the monarchy clashed over the Abdication.

Lascelles was at that time Hardinge's assistant. He himself became Private Secretary in 1943. He is a cultivated man—he has a sound knowledge of 19th century social history and literature, especially the lesser-known novelists — and he possesses a discriminating intelligence.

A Wigging For Col. Wigg

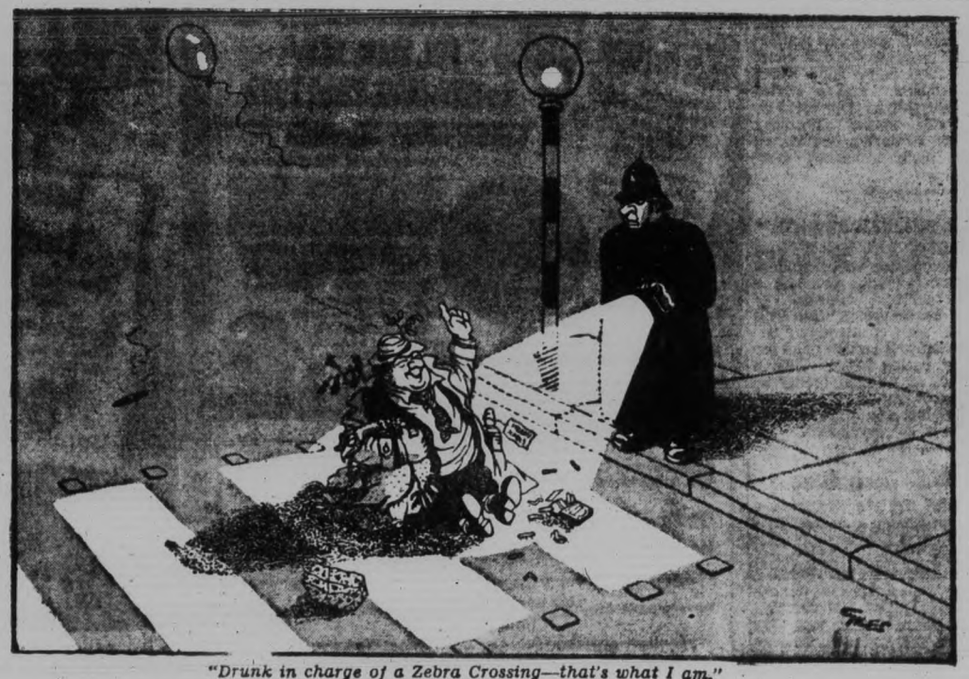
(Ottawa Journal)

When Mr. Churchill visited Washington and Ottawa recently the Cunard Company gave him free passage on the liner Queen Mary and the railroads in the U.S. and Canada carried him without charge.

In the House of Commons a Labor member, one Col. G. E. C. Wigg, questioned the propriety of the Prime Minister accepting such free service, to which Mr. Churchill replied that the British taxpayers thereby had been relieved of so much expense.

"I cannot feel sure", Mr. Churchill continued, "that there is anything discreditable in what happened" (and here we can imagine that dramatic pause and stutter of which Churchill is master) "except perhaps the spirit that prompted the question."

Reports say that the cheers and laughter which followed Col. Wigg could not be heard. As a matter of fact there wasn't much he could say, anyhow.



"Drunk in charge of a Zebra Crossing—that's what I am."

The Enchanted "Distinguished Production"

"One can criticize very freely when one has enjoyed a play, and when that play has been taken so far that one wishes it might go even further, and be perfect", said adjudicator Pierre LeFevre on Thursday night, speaking of the Ottawa Saturday Players' presentation of "The Enchanted", by Jean Giraudoux.

Having commended the players highly for their "enterprising choice" and "a distinguished production" the adjudicator said that he felt that 'the very high, delicate effect of Giraudoux was extremely difficult to achieve, and I feel that I have been robbed of it tonight".

Mr. LeFevre said that he spoke from considerable familiarity with this and other plays of Giraudoux, which he has studied and seen produced by Louis Jouvet in Paris. The Ottawa production had "imaginative boldness and a life of its own", and was "successful in fulfilling the convention of fantasy and comedy", which was inherent on the play. The actors "had the right attitude and poetic reality" and because they were so thoroughly in the mood of the play they were often able to score heavily by "playing against the fantasy".

Critical of Principals

The adjudicator's chief criticism were directed against two of the leading performances. As the Inspector, he felt that Bill Armstrong was too conscious of effect and too much in the fantastic vein" when what was wanted was "a real person coming into a half-real world". Of the heroine Isabel, played by Andree Cunningham, he said that "the basic conception of the part was missed", for it lacked "the ethereal quality of a girl caught between physical love and poetic love". The role of Isabel was "of the whole family of Ethereal Giraudoux women, and only half belonged to the physical world". The performance of the Ottawa actress was "too practical" and was "out of key, though often sensitive". Mr. LeFevre made it plain that he did not intend to be harsh toward the performance, but "as it was the key role, it must bear the brunt of the criticism".

Supporting Roles Excellent

Among the supporting roles the adjudicator gave high praise to Roland McNicoll, who played the Doctor. This was "a beautiful performance, very eloquent and true, and imbued with a strong sense of the poetic form of the play". He created "one of those magical moments which are the essence of the theatre". As the Mayor, Clesson Goodhue "had tenderness", and played with deep understanding and truth especially in the scene where he reveals his devotion to stamps.

The Supervisor, played by Christopher Taylor, was "played beautifully and freely, with a very good balance of reason, honesty and dignity".

As two maiden sisters Marian Taylor and Therese May were "an admirable pair, employing the sharpness and clarity of farce, but with the degree of delicacy needed for this play".

Alas, Poor Ghost

The Ghost, played by Paul Lapointe, had "not quite enough differentiation between his early appearance of ghostliness and its later reality". This was attributed to some confusion in the direction of the play. The two Executioners were "good technically, but might fittingly have been less ballet-like". The same two actors, John Haydon and Dick Lamb, were warmly commended for a later appearance as two card players.

The children who appeared in the play "did a very good job indeed, and were within the poetic frame of the drama". The settings and lighting showed "great imagination and served the poetic feeling of the play well".

The audience was delighted by the play and keenly appreciative of the fact that it had been judged by the highest standards.—R.D.

"Instead of encouraging sterility as we do now, we should encourage those who wish to rear a normal family," Bishop Sweeney said.

Phil Cavarretta Phantom On Payroll

CHICAGO, Feb. 29 (AP).—The name of the manager of the Chicago Cubs baseball team, Phil Cavarretta, turned up today in the investigation of "phantoms" on the Cook County payroll.

The name was listed on county forest preserve district records from Dec. 22, 1947, to Feb. 29, 1948, as a swimming pool manager at a salary of $250 a month.

At Mesa, Ariz., where he is supervising Cub spring training, the Cub manager was quoted by the Chicago Sun-Times as saying "that's a new one on me.

"I was never a Cook County payroller. I think it's silly."

That's not easy, these days. But here are two suggestions that may help you to realize your own particular dream:

FIRST, decide what you want most, how much it will cost, and open a special savings account at The Royal Bank of Canada for that one particular purpose . . . then save for it.

SECOND, use the Royal Bank Budget Book to keep yourself on your course, and to avoid careless spending. The budget book does not suggest how you should spend your money. It does provide you with a simple pattern to help you PLAN YOUR BUDGET TO SUIT YOURSELF. You can get a copy at any branch. Ask for one.

Peterborough Teams Take First-Game Victories In O.M.H.A. Playdown Sets

Ontario minor hockey second-round playoffs began at Civic arena Thursday night with Kingston Rangers opposing St. Peter's school in the bantam curtain-raiser, a 6-4 win for Pat Doherty's local squad; and the second game pitting Ken Matthew's midget Rangers against Moon Wooton's battling Martin-Hewitt squad. This game ended 9-1 for Peterborough, thus giving the Liftlock City a sweep for opening night in the minor set.

In the bantam game, Peterborough scored first as Lester Scharf combined early with Paul Murphy and Pete Stewart to rifle home a dandy at 1:45. Murphy followed up the advantage, after some hard two-way play, to plunk a neat one into the cage from Bill Mahoney.

Mahoney himself next tallied, before Rangers could get clicking when he took Bill Forrestal's pass to beat O'Neill. Kingston came to life sharply near the three-quarter mark when defence ace Cranston De St. Remy drove a sizzler past Hickson to give the limestone boys a start.

The second frame continued hot and even as the visitors drove hard on strange ice to make it a battle and were met in turn by a crew willing to give and take and both teams scored in the mid-frame. Roy Martin put his team closer on a nice individual effort while Mahoney from Bob Naish kept Saints on top; but it was close all the way. Both goalies turned aside many hard chances.

Phil Hyarty put his team closer early in the third on a nice play with Don Turner but Stewart, Murphy and Baker worked in, the latter potting at 8.25 as the dogfight continued. Ted Walton drove a 20-foot blazer to the left corner but Rick Atkinson slammed in the insurance marker midway in the frame. Saints edged Rangers in the third and had a fair overall margin on the night's play; but it was close and all the boys on both teams gave their best, in a fine showing.

An Easy Win

Moon Wootton, got his team away to a flying start in midget playdowns when his Martin-Hewitt gang of ice-burners downed Rangers in the second battle 9-1.

The Wootton crew showed fine form both ways to rack up a good edge in their two-game, home-and-home series. Benny Floyd led the offensive attack with three sparkling tallies closely followed by Bob Gardner with a pair; while Art Smith, Morris Parry and Gary Strikland each notched a single counter. Don Stewart and Bill Godfrey drew double assists while Terry Roberts, Don Chambers, Leon Blodgett, Pete Heffernan, Strickland and Jack Kane each garnered a single point. Team work as a whole however paid off for Petes as each man dug in and pulled his full share of the load. A strong offense proved the local's potent weapon.

Bruce Sanderson scored Rangers lone tally near the half-way mark in the third when he broke away sharply to sail down centre and outfox Masterson on a nice effort when he backhanded the disc into the twine. But for the most part Rangers were held pretty well in check by the speedy Woottonites in a fast, rugged but clean struggle before a big crowd of excited fans.

One-Sided

Outboard Marine Juveniles coached by Bun Hill and managed by Al. Watkins worked like a well-oiled machine to rack up a convincing 13-0 victory over Jim Ethier's Belleville squad in the first game of a home-and-home series, in the first round of O.M.H.A. playdowns. The return game will be played in Belleville next Monday.

With four seasons of play behind them, as a team, the powerful Marine squad looked more finished than ever with a very effective attacking division up front, coupled with a strong defence foursome of Murray Byrne, Frank McGillen, Terry McCormick and Laverne Jones. Belleville played hard, clean hockey, all the way, gave their best and were beaten by a stronger team.

Marines scored three in the first period as big Jack Corbett tallied twice with Ken Pammett and Paul Doris assisting; and Jim McGrath clicked midway in the frame from Paul Spencer on a sharp drive through Russell's legs. Continuing the pressure in the second stanza, the Hill crew led by Jerry Frizzelle, who thrice tallied sparkling goals, Marines added five to their total; Corbett and McGrath snared the others while John Cupoli, Spencer and Gary Kearns all assisted. The visitors fought gamely, though outplayed territorially, and tested Bob Delahay on many hard drives. He proved unbeatable on all shots that came his way.

Five kings in the final frame by the irrepressible crew, wound up the one-sided duel. Frizzelle and Doris twice and Gary Kearns, with Laverne Jones Wayne Dodd Corbett and Frizzelle setting them up, rifled home the pay-off tallies. Every man starred for Marines in the opener; while Ron Atkins, Jack Casey, Bill Philip, Wayne Bobay and Jack Canning worked hard for the losers.

Expect Murphy Play In 2 Weeks

GUELPH, Feb. 29 — (CP). — Coach Alf Pike of Guelph Biltmores said Thursday that his star left-winger, Ron Murphy, should be back in the lineup of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A team "within two weeks."

A report from Toronto earlier Thursday quoted Roy Mason, the Biltmore general manager, as saying that Murphy had suffered a broken collarbone and was through for the year.

"It's more of a separation," Pike said Thursday. "We expect to have him back within two weeks, probably for part of the playoff series against Toronto Marlboros."

Murphy, a candidate for all-star left wing honors and one of the league's top four scorers until his injury, was hurt last Saturday in a game against the Marlies. Pike said it was an aggravation of a previous injury.

Central Boys Feted

The Central School intermediate hockey team gathered at the home of Val Armstrong, team captain, on Thursday after school for a social evening. The guests were welcomed by Val, and spent the first part of the evening playing indoor hockey and similar games.

The team enjoyed a banquet provided by Mrs. Armstrong. The boys gathered around a gaily decorated table where place cards had been arranged. In addition, the players who had goals or assists to their credit during the season, found a puck at their places. The occasion was also the celebration of Val's 13th birthday, so a lighted cake adorned the table. The first line, P. McInroy, D. Dinsdale and V. Armstrong and the coach Mr. C. Crown were seated at the head table.

At the close of the banquet, the alternate captain, Paul McInroy, on behalf of the team, presented a beautiful photograph album to the coach. Mr. Crown thanked the boys and outlined the team's activities over the past three years. Thanks was tendered to Mrs. Armstrong who welcomed the boys and commended them on the sportsmanship they had shown. The banquet closed with a poem which showed the part each player had taken during the season.

After, a number of the boys went across the street to the McDonnnel St. rink where skating and mainder of the boys stayed at the hockey were enjoyed. The re-Armstrong residence to play indoor games.

Buckhorn Rubbed Out

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 29 — (ENS).—The second game of the Kawartha Hockey League semi-finals was played in Lakefield Arena on Tuesday night, with Young's Point getting a last-minute win over Buckhorn, 4-2.

D. Jacobs (J. Darling, D. McIsaac) scored for Youngs' Point at 15.40, while a man short.

In the opening minute of the second frame C. Russelle (D. Heard, J. Church) made it 2-0 for Young's Point. Soon after; at 3.41 B. Shearer got Buckhorn's first goal, and at 10.52 J. Barcroft (W. Williams, I. Northey) tied it up at 2-all.

The rapid pace continued in the third period with both teams having some good chances around the net, but unable to score.

At 18.50 D. Heard took the puck through and netted it for the winning goal, and 35 seconds later D. Heard (Russelle, J. Church) scored again, to make it 4-2 for the boys from Young's Point. This completes the semi-finals, and Young's Point meets Apsley in the finals.

Lasses Take Fifth

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 29 — (ENS). — The local girls' hockey team took a 2-1 win over Lakehurst here on Monday night, to make it five straight wins for the Young's Point team.

The teams were quite evenly matched and throughout the first two periods both teams battled hard but no goals were scored. About midway through the third, B. Calvert put Lakehurst one up with a long slow shot which eluded goalie A. Wilson. Young's Point pressed hard and soon after H. Dunford tied it up. B. McIlmoyle made it 2-1 just before the end of the period.

Two girls' basketball games tonight in the Y.W.C.A., starting at 8:10: Normals vs. Lindsay, and Neill's vs. Black's. These are tilts postponed from Feb. 15, the day the King was buried. That'll wind up the schedule, loop semi-finals commencing next week. Towne Togs take on Whitby lasses at 7:15 p.m. Saturday in the Y.W. here, return joust of their L.O.B.A. playdown series. Togs should take it and go quite a piece along the intermediate playdown path this spring. High school squads are getting set up this way for early playoffs in C.O.S.A.A. and O.A.B.A. classes. March will be a busy hoop month locally.

* * * * * *

Big hockey attraction tonight is the senior "B" fixture at 8:30 in Civic Arena, Petes vs. Eagles. Last scheduled of the long puck season, though a replay betwixt these clubs may have to be run off yet to settle the final standing. Petes are atop the heap and can't be dislodged. Belleville Hawks must stay in the cellar. However, the coveted second spot is still an issue between Kingston and the Eagles, as it means first game at home and the fifth, if necessary, of group semi-finals on home ice. Naturally, the Eagles will be giving it all they have tonight to take that one against their old civic ice opponents. No doubt a huge Friday night crowd will view the battle.

* * * * * *

It Could Be Their Last

Group semi-finals in the Central Ontario senior "B" setup has first and fourth teams playing off in best-of-five, and the second and third squads in a similar series. Finals are best-of-seven. Now, it's barely possible that Petes and Eagles may not tangle again the rest of this season, even in playoffs. Which would be a pity for the rival clubs (considering the gates these games draw) and for the fans. These clashes are always puck classics, and usually closerthanthis. Anyway, it's ll be Hawks vs. Petes in one series, and Kingston vs. Eagles in the other, and upsets often happen in short playoff series. If Kingston should lose tonight to Belleville, and Eagles win here, the replay would not be necessary as Eagles would have clinched that second place spot. A fight right down to the wire.

* * * * * *

It wouldn't be right to dismiss our junior "B" Oddfellows—who were eliminated Wednesday by the Hawklets—without a word of praise for them. A fine hard-working executive, a first-class manager in Len Symonds, a capable coach in Johnny Godfrey, and a hustling bunch of young pucksters. They dished up some dandy hockey here all season long, dumping the favored Lindsay and Belleville clubs from time to time to keep in the thick of the fight right to group semi-finals. And theye didn't bow out in playoffs without a stiff battle, either. They went down fighting. A lot of good hockeyists being developed year after year by the junior club of Triple Links, and they all deserve much credit for their showing.

Local Teams Victorious

Local minor hockey teams came through in excellent fashion before a goodly gallery at Civic last p.m. Pat Doherty's St. Peter's bantams pulled out a 6-4 victory over Kingston Rangers, and the return tonight in the Limestone City should be a keen one. Moon Wootton's midget Martin-Hewitt smoothies rolled to a 9-1 win against their Kingston rivals, to tote an eight-goal lead there this e'en. Bert Hill's juvenile Marines snowed Belleville under a 13-0 avalanche and should have little trouble in the return on Quinte ice next Monday. Their four-year term of sticking together up through minor puck ranks is certainly paying off for this crew, managed by Al Watkins. These are second round O.M.H.A. series, goals to count. A swell showing.

* * * * * *

That alleged game of hockey the other midnight between Mechanics and Salesmen wound up in a 3-3 tie, we're told. Legrow, Rennie and Doug Hatton tallied for Salesmen; while Brown, Oakman and Johnny Russelle counted for Mechanics. So now the screwballs want a replay. George (Iron Man) Dormer went in the net for Salesman to do it ala Turk Broda—and latest hospital report is that he may not need an operation for torn knee cartileges. A few nighthawks who took in the thing said Referees Cournyea and Heffernan were nearly on a par with some of the O.H.A. refs, and these two worthies are considering slander suits.

Heard scored again, to give the Point School a 3-2 win. There were no penalties. Referee: Mr. G. C. Elliott.

Ted Williams, Kiner Head Holdout List

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(AP)—Ted Wiliams and Ralph Kiner head a small but impressive list of major league baseball stars who have not signed their 1952 contracts.

An Associated Press survey today revealed that 29 players—17 in the American League and 12 in the National—have not come to terms.

The majority will be classified as "holdouts" if they fail to sign by Saturday, the official start of spring training.

Five National League clubs, the champion New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds, Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, have all of their players in the fold. Only the Chicago White Sox in the American can make the same boast.

Williams, one of four Red Sox dickering for terms, is scheduled to appear at the Sox' Sarasota base Saturday for a conference with general manager Joe Cronin.

The high-salaried slugger is due to report to the marines May 2 and is seeking a special contract to cover the period until he returns to service.

Other Recalcitrants

Infielders Billy Goodman, Johnny Pesky and pitcher Mel Parnell are the other recalcitrant Red Sox. Goodman is asking $25,000. Pesky $25,500 and Parnell $30,000.

Kiner is scheduled to show up at the Pirates' base at San Bernardino, Cali., Monday, for a conference with Pittsburgh president John Galbreath.

The Pirate star reportedly is aiming for a two-year contract at $70,000 per season, an increase of $50,000 over his [illegible]51 salary.

Pitcher Murray Dickson, a 20-game winner, is another Pirate asking for a $5,000 raise. Dickenson drew $20,000 last year.

The Philadelphia Athletics have four players remaining to be satisfied but only shortstop Eddie Joost and first baseman Ferris Fain, the American League batting champion, may prove difficult to please.

Shortstop Phil Rizzuto and third baseman Bobby Brown are the lone members of the world champion New York Yankees who haven't signed.

Rizzuto is expected to agree to terms calling for an estimated $45,000 today at St. Petersburg, Fla. Brown, is expecting a call any day from the army.

The Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Brown and Cleveland Indians each have two unsigned players and the Washington Senators one.

L. Lee Rolls 779

Lanore Lee of Austin's took both high single and three honors in the Playfair Mercantile League last night. She rolled a three of 779 and a fine single of 306. Following close behind for ladies was Violet Fry with 669 and A. Casey 630.

In the men's division Bob Murray rolled high cross with 698, followed by Bob Willshaw 678, T Holyman 673, A. Brooks 667, G Doherty 647 and H. Cawker 644. Joe Potipco of Mustangs took single honors with a nifty 293.

Shutouts were registered by the following: Austins over A. & P.; Cherneys over Co-Op.; Harrison's over J. J. Turner, Knox over G. & L., and Combines over Ovaltine.

Harrison's led in total pinnage with 3,153.

The league standing to date is: Knox 130, Austins 128, Harrison's 127, Kesco 125, Mustangs 113, J. J. Turner's 108, Grant & Loucks 96, Can. Canoe 89, Cherneys 88, A. & P. 83, Turner's 76, Pet. Express 73, V.C.O. 72, Co-Op. 71, Loblaws 66, Combines 59, Dominion Store 39 and Ovaltine 25.

Two Referees To Handle Bout

The biggest bombardment of head butts that he has ever let loose is what Bobo Brazil says he has in store for Hans Hermann when they meet in their return feature wrestling match at the Brock next Tuesday. There are several reasons why the colored giant figures the head butt treatment is the proper formula for defeating Hermann.

Foremost among these is the crushing effect which the head butts had upon Hermann in this week's match. Practically every time Herman attacked Brazil with a bullying charge, Bobo was able to stop hammering Hans in his tracks or send him recoiling in confusion by means of those punishing head butts.

But Brazil made the mistake of also using the head butts on Referee Gotter and was disqualified. He says he will not make the same mistake next Tuesday.

Hermann, on the other hand, says he will polish Brazil off so fast the negro won't be able to make use of his main ring weapon, the head butts. Two referees have been appointed to look after this important bout.

Both teams turned in an excellent performance with but two minor penalties apiece drawn. The winners had a bit more finish around the net along with some smart passing plays, and Goalie Smillie shone. Doughty and Jay were strong on defence. McFadden proved aggressive in rushing, and backchecking, with some neat organizing of plays shown. Shaw shone, too, with three goals but team-play was the big thing. Haig was best for the losers and got their only goal. McFadden had two for the winners and Murphy a goal and an assist, while Playford aided on two. Teams:

Queen Mary: McArthur, Dunn, Haig, Hendry, Brown, Wilson, Goodfellow, Jobbitt, Fox, Drury, G. Jackson, J. Jackson.

Canadiens Trip Wings 3-2 As Chicago Ties New York Rangers 2-2

By The Canadian Press

It doesn't do to count either Montreal Canadiens or Chicago Black Hawks beaten until the final whistle. The Two National Hockey League clubs are noted for their late-game drives and Thursday night proved their worth once again. At Montreal, the Canadiens scored twice in the final period to gain a 3-2 decision over Detroit Red Wings while the Hawks racked up a pair of third-period goals at Chicago and earned themselves a 2-2 tie with the New York Rangers.

The victory broke Montreal's second-place deadlock with Toronto Maple Leafs and gave the team a two-point edge in the stretch drive to the playoffs. Canadiens are 17 points back of the league-leading Red Wings.

Even though tied by Chicago's late-game surge, New York's single point moved the fourth-place club two full games out in front of Boston Bruins.

Take Lead

A crowd of 14,598 watched the Canadiens take a 1-0 first period lead on Dollard Saint Laurent's long shot that deflected past Terry Sawchuk off Detroit defenceman Leo Reise.

The middle stanza was scoreless and then with Bert Olmstead in the penalty box, Metro Prystai and Sid Abel scored within a minute of each other to move the wings ahead 2-1 midway through the final period. Goals by Dickie Moore and Paul Meger nullified the outburst and the Habs held on for their victory.

At Chicago, Ed Slowinski and Don Raleigh came through in the first and second periods to give New York a 2-0 lead. Gus Bodnar and Sid Finney banged in the third period Black Hawks' goal which earned the tail-end club its 2-2 tie.

No games are scheduled in the N.H.L. tonight. Saturday will see Boston at Toronto and New York at Montreal.

Windsor And Barrie Remain In Junior OHA

TORONTO, Feb. 29 (CP). — Windsor Spitfires and Barrie Flyers, 1951 Memorial Cup champions, both will be in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series next year, the respective managers of the teams said here Wednesday night.

Hap Emms, coach of the Flyers, and Spitfire manager Lloyd Pollock, commented on recent rumors that either Barrie or Windsor or both, would withdraw from the 10-team league after this season.

Flyers are currently in seventh place. Spitfires hold down ninth place. Both are out of the O.H.A. playoffs.

Emms said: "We'll be around again as far as I know."

Windsor was supposed to be "washed up" as far as Detroit Red Wings were concerned. The Windsor executive felt they might be unable to carry on without an N.H.L. sponsor.

Pollock, however, said Spits would be back "with Detroit as sponsor."

Declare Taxes Too High, Hurt Expansion

OTTAWA, Feb. 29. (CP)—Canada's national business organization told the government that taxes are too high and suggested they be cut to a point where "personal and corporate efficiency can again be stimulated."

The executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce made its observations in a brief prepared for annual submission to Finance Minister Abbott and Revenue Minister McCann.

It suggested that personal income taxes are at a level that tends to blunt personal incentive and that corporate taxation is too burdensome for a developing country.

Canadian participation in the tremendous development of natural resources now under way is being thwarted by high taxes. This situation did not encourage an increase in savings for investment purposes or risk-taking in constructive enterprise.

Other Issues

The Chamber's brief also took issue with certain excise and other taxes, claiming that some of them were close to the point of yielding diminishing returns. They raised the price of commodities and increased living costs.

The brief was presented by a delegation headed by Herbert H. Lank of Montreal, chairman of the executive council.

The Chamber also urged the government to keep all non-defence spending to a minimum and suggested that "a searching examination of government expenditures in all departments should be made."

It said buying behavior of the consumer might be the most decisive factor in the 1952 outlook. There was no assurance that the present slow-down in the rate of consumer spending would continue.

Wellington won the first 6-4.

The visitors were full value for their win, apart from the actual score. Hillian, home goalie, kept many hot shots out while Marmora players missed easy chances to beat Parks who gave a fine exhibition of goal keeping.

Istead scored early in the first on Scott's assist and that was the only goal until the last five minutes when Dumais rapped in two in quick succession and Cole scored the final goal, Scott getting two further assists. About 600 viewed the encounter. The fourth and crucial game will be played in Wellington on Monday evening.

If You're Under 23 Years Chances Good To See 2000

By JOHN B. KNOX

If you're 23 years old—or less—you'll probably be alive, 48 years from now, to see Feb. 29, 2000.

That'll be something. For there hasn't been a Feb. 29 in a "century year" since 1600.

Century leap years come only once in 400 years. Of course, man folks now older than 23 will see the next one. But according to the life expectancy tables you've got a better chance if you're 23, or younger.

All this came out when John Patterson, planetarium lecturer at the Museum of Science in Bostin, explained leap year—as of this Feb. 29, 1952.

It's like this: When you hang up a 12-month calendar on New Year's Day, it's really only part of a calendar. For "The Calendar" is a sort of clock to keep track, not only of weeks, months and years, but centuries. Leap years are a part of this long-range plan.

We've been having leap years for 1997 years—but they used to come every four years. The leap year idea originated with the Romans when they began having calendar trouble because the year wasn't exactly 365 days long.

Romans Started It

The "Tropical Year", as the scientists call it, adds up to about 365.24219 days.

The Romans figured out a year of 365¼ days in 45 B.C. That was when they set up their Julian Calendar, named for Julius Caesar. It had an extra leap year every fourth year to take care of that quarter of a day. The trouble is that 365¼ days add up to a little more than a year—about 11 minutes, 14 seconds too long. In a few hundred years those minutes ran into a lot of overtime.

"By the end of the 16th century", Patterson says, "this difference had amounted to several days. And the first day of spring came on March 11 instead of March 21".

That was tough for farmers who lost part of the growing season if the followed traditional planting dates.

In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII did something about it. He set up a new official calendar for the Roman Catholic Church. It became known as the Gregorian Calendar.

First, Pope Gregory subtracted 10 days from the year 1582. On Oct. 4 it was Oct. 4, as usual. But the next day suddenly was Oct. 15. This brought the first day of spring back to March 21.

But he still had that 11 minutes, 14 seconds of drift each year—which led the Julian Calendar astray. To fix this, he changed the leap year rule. No longer would there be a leap year every fourth year. The century years would become "common" years" unless evenly divisible by 400. Thus, the century year 1600 was a leap year, but the succeeding century years—1700 and 1800 and 1900 were common years of 365 days each.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Joe DiMaggio, who came to New York to sign another lucrative television contract, put a finger on Gene Woodling Thursday as the man probably best qualified to fill his old centrefield spot with New York Yankees.

"Woodling is the best fielder of the lot," the Yankee Clipper said. "He is fast and can cover the ground. The only problem would be his arm."

DiMaggio, lean and tanned after a winter on the Pacific coast, talked baseball while putting his name on a new contract for a 15-minute series over N.B.C. to be known as "Joe DiMaggio's Dugout." He already has signed to do commentary on Yankee games.

Asked if his television jobs would surpass his reported $90,000 to $100,000 last year, DiMaggio said:

"Just about. I should make a little more, I guess."

Canada Thursday night beat the Stockholm Combination Lions 12-2 in a post-Olympic hockey game in Stockholm. Billy Dawe led the scoring for Olympic champion Edmonton Mercurys with five goals. Louis Secco got a pair and Bruce Dickson, Jack Davis, Engelbert Miller, Frank Sullivan and Billy Gibson got one each.

Jockey Andre Kolonics had a bad spill Thursday at Santa Anita Park. The little Hungarian rider slipped on a bar of soap in the jockeys' shower room and injured his side so painfully that he had to cancel his mounts for the day.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver fired a brilliant three-under-par 69 Thursday in the first round of the Medican golf open championship in Mexico City. But South Africa's Bobby Locke and defending champion Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina shared first place. Each shot a 68, four under par for the 6,900-yard course.

Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League have received the signed contracts of 15 players, Gerry Gosselin, travelling secretary, said last night in Montreal. Royals open spring training at Vero Beach, Fla., on March 14.

Pilot In First World War Still Active Ace

By LORNE BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, Feb. 29—(CP)—Ken Saunders unloaded bombs by hand from First World War flying crates. Today, at 59, he's still an active pilot, one of the oldest in Canada.

And Saunders modestly insists on giving credit to the unsung airplane mechanic for his being able to boast 37 years as a pilot.

"One of the major factors responsible for my long life in the air is the mechanic," said Saunders, tall and still thin at 59.

"It's always the pilot who gets the acclaim of the crowds. You only see the mechnic once in a while in overalls—but he's the one responsible for having your aircraft in good shape."

During the First World War Kenneth Foster Saunders paid his own expenses to get a licence so that he could be a fighter pilot for the Royal Naval Air Service.

Now the federal government's Inspector of Air Regulations for Alberta, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories, Saunders recalled in an interview how he flew with bombs in his lap and carried a 12-gauge shotgun in the 1914-18 war.

Lead slugs chained together were put in the shotguns to get the maximum tear in the zeppelins' covering.

"I never even got a chance to fire mine at a zeppelin," said Saunders, a native of Victoria, B.C.

But he did win the Distinguished Service Cross. He also was awarded the Air Force Cross.

The veteran pilot also talked of the advances in pilot training since he attended Orville Wright's Dayton, Ohio, school, the first in the United States.

Expensive Training

"We paid $1 a minute for pilot training," he recalled. "Then we paid our own rail fare to Ottawa and were sent by the Dominion Government to England "We got our licence after four hours at the controls."

Sanders' name is on a plaque at Dayton Field commemorating North America's aviation pioneers.

"After my four hours was over," he continued, "the instructor told me I would not be a pilot until I had three write-offs." (A write-off is when a plane is a complete wreck.)

"But that expression doesn't hold today," said Saunders, who now flies a Lockheed twin-engine plane about 200 hours a year. "Many of the highest type of pilot in Canada never had and never will have an accident."

Saunders learned to fly in one of those early open Wright Brothers' biplanes with a four-cylinder engine and a top speed of 45 miles an hour.

To date the United States has issued more than 900,000 pilot licences. One of Saunders' cherished keepsakes is his licence, No. 353, which indicates how early he got it—October 27, 1915.

Wife Also A Member

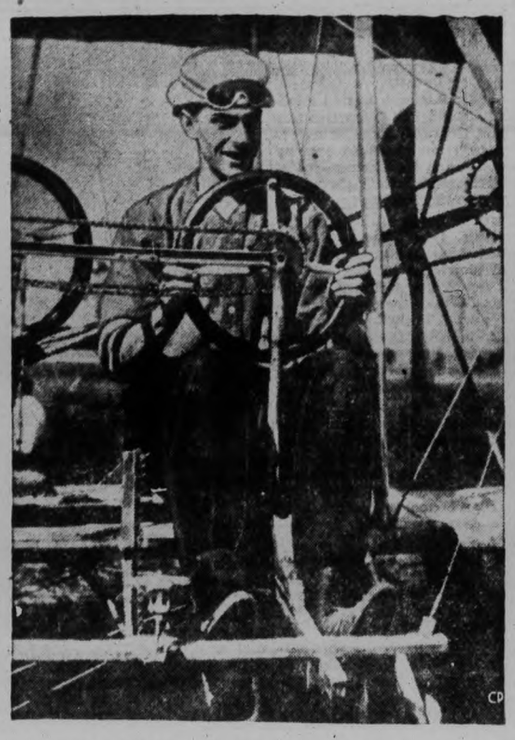
While he was in the Royal Flying Corps, formed after the R.N.A.S., his wife also was a member. She took a course in motor mechanics and was in administration.

"The best co-pilot I've ever had," Saunders said of his wife Peg, a topnotch golfer, a curler and an amateur theatre enthusiast. She won the Edmonton Golf Championship in 1944 and was in the Alberta final in 1947.

Saunders, who was a barnstormer in Sweden and a bush pilot in Quebec and Labrador before joining the infant Transport Department 17 years ago, now enforces air regulations and investigates all civilian plane crashes in the area under his supervision.

A few months ago he gave to the Edmonton Flying Club pictures recalling pioneer aviation days. One was of the plaque at Dayton listing the names of men who learned to fly there.

They include Saunders, Maj.-Gen. H. H. Arnold, former chief of the United States Army Air Forces; Capt. Roy Brown, of Toronto, who brought down the famous German war ace, Baron Richfoten, in the First World War, and Air Vice-Marshal Lloyd S. Breadner, wartime overseas chief of the R.C.A.F.



VETERAN PILOT—Ken Saunders of Edmonton at 59 is one of the oldest active pilots in Canada. He is shown in an early open Wright Brothers biplane, with four-cylinder engine and a top speed of 45 m.p.h., in which he learned to fly 37 years ago. His pilot license issued Oct. 27, 1915, is No. 353. He flew in the First World War and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Force Cross. He now is Federal Government Inspector of Air Regulations for Alberta, Yukon and the Northwest Territories. He now logs about 200 hours a year in his modern plane.

Sees No Danger

TORONTO, Feb. 29 (CP). — Dr. G. H. Collacutt of the Federal Government Health of Animals Branch said Thursday there is no danger of western cattle carrying foot-and-mouth disease into Ontario. He told an emergency meeting of federal and provincial government officials and the executive of the Ontario Beef Producers' Association here that there is no danger to humans even if such meat were permitted in Ontario.

Arbitration Hearings

WINDSOR, Feb. 29 (CP). — Arbitration hearings on the cases of 11 fired Chrysler Corporation of Canada workers opened on Thursday with Welland County Judge Harold Fuller presiding. The hearings were closed to the press.

Food Inspectors Carry Out Important Work

VANCOUVER, Feb. 29 (CP).—The fight against the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan has focused attention on the work of Federal government agencies organized to protect the purity of Canadian foods.

It is a constant vigil and showed in the fast action taken by government inspectors to confine the disease outbreak to South Saskatchewan herds.

Inspectors have wide powers. They work for the health of animals division of the Department of Agriculture's Production Service and the food and drug laboratory, Department of National Health.

British Columbia, like all other provinces, has its corps of inspectors. In the packinghouses they supervise every phase of operation from the time the animals enter until dressed meat is shipped out. The inspectors check live animals for symptoms of disease and deformities and enforce sanitary measures during slaughtering processes.

Always On Lookout

"We're always looking," said Dr. W. A. Ross, chief of staff and a veteran of the division.

"And we get complete co-operation from the packers, who are themselves always searching for ways and means to improve their products."

It is an ever-alert "police force" of purity. The inspectors' work calls for strict observance of federal regulations.

Three tags carried by the inspectors tell the story. Carcasses bearing the "condemned" tag are destroyed; "rejected" portions are rendered into lard or cooked until sterile, and "held" tag animals are withdrawn for further inspection.

The vital stamp for the consumer is "Canada approved" which goes on each quarter passed by the inspectors.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity. controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! PILOTLESS JET—The plane at top is one of the pilotless jet planes being tested by Britain at the rocket range at Woomera (bottom), Australia — the world's most secret town"—where 2,500 people are preparing to set off Britain's first atomic explosion this year. Plane is the type which can be fitted with an atomic warhead. It is 22 feet long and has a wing span of less than 20 feet. The tricycle trolley is dropped at the moment of takeoff. Woomera has been built from nothing since 1948. Most of the buildings are aluminum pre-fabs imported from Britain.

Give Ruling March 5 In Nickel Conspiracy

WHITBY, Feb. 29 — (CP) — Judge F. J. Macrae said Thursday he will hand down judgment March 5 in the nickel conspiracy trial of four Toronto men.

Harry Swartz, Morris Baker, Sydney Stern and Joseph Levy were charged with conspiring to receive stolen nickel ingots.

Prosecution witnesses said the Skinner plant in Oshawa, five miles from here, was entered three times and, on one occasion, 2,000 pounds of nickel was taken.

Police said Levy and Stern were apprehended on the Skinner plant grounds and an automobile registered in the name of Swartz was seen parked on a nearby road.

Britain Eyes Methods Used In U.S. To Boost Man Power

By SIDNEY WEILAND

LONDON, Feb. 29—(Reuters)—Britain is studying training methods used in United States factories in an effort to overcome her critical manpower shortage.

Faced with a need for 250,000 more workers to boost the rearmament and export drive, government experts, industrialists and trade union leaders have joined in calling for a country-wide examination of training methods in the light of U.S. experience.

The primary objective is to provide a chance for older men to get skilled training for jobs in defence plants.

Normally it is impossible to become apprenticed in Britain after the age of 18. Once trained in a craft, a man has to stay in the same work for life or drift into unskilled employment. An unskilled worker finds it virtually impossible to get paid vocational training after passing his 'teens.

Executives and union chiefs will consider whether the training period—a British apprenticeship often lasts five or six years—can be cut down to permit a quicker flow of labor into the factories.

Influence Evident

The influence of U.S. methods is evident in a new study of training plans for supervisory staffs. British workers and industrialists visiting the U.S. have been impressed by the training and efficiency of American supervisors and foremen.

Most of the ideas now taking shape in this field stem from reports made by 57 labor and management teams which have toured U.S. factories since 1949.

Eight hundred British workers and industrialists have taken part in these trips, organized by the Anglo - American productivity council.

Nearly all the teams agree that high American productivity results from better management, more mechanization, simpler processes and standardization, better labor-management relations and greater incentives

Working techniques first seen by a British team in Detroit now are used at a Birmingham munitions plant. Scores of factories are using electrically-operated flame chisels seen for the first time in the U.S.

American molding devices, once rejected here, now are in general use. British steel foundries report that production has been increased by 15 to 20 per cent since their team visited U.S. steel mills in 1949.

The British teams found U.S. training methods, based on a well-run system of talent spotting, paid off in finding the best men for the job.

Social Security Costs Canada Over Billion

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 29 — (CP) — Health Minister Martin told the University of Rochester's Institute on Canadian Affairs here Thursday that Canadian governments and voluntary agencies will spend $1,330,000,000 on social security during 1952. In 1913, the same costs totalled $15,000,000, he said.

The health minister's address w[illegible] one of a series on "Canada: Rising World Power." Among other lecturers were Immigration Minister Harris and E. Letellier de Saint-Just, assistant editor of La Patrie in Montreal.

Mr. Martin said that while Canada's "great period of social progress has been over the past dozen years, it has been a story of steady, unspectacular development of measures responsibly conceived and unhurriedly brought into effect."

Major Measures

Canada's major social-security measures were unemployment insurance, the veterans' charter, family allowances, the national health program and the old-age security program.

Mr. Martin said there is no secret formula for paying for social security. It must be paid out of production. Over-emphasis on social security could impose crippling burdens on the country's economy.

Social measures, he said, should be kept close to the people.

"It is better, when this is possibe, to avoid centralization of social services. In Canada, it is our view that the Federal Government should undertake no health or welfare measures that a province could do better, and the province should leave to the municipality, and the municipality to the family or the individual citizen, whatever can best be done on their level."

Ask Vote On Poultry

KITCHENER, Feb. 29 (CP). — Some 7,000 Ontario poultry producers have signed a petition asking Agriculture Minister Kennedy to take a vote next month on a poultry marketing project, Kenneth Betzner told the directors of the Waterloo County Federation of Agriculture Thursday. A project manager would buy up eggs on the open market to be stored until the best price was reached.

PLANS TO RETURN — Arnfinn Bergman, of Revelstoke, B.C., won the Olympic ski-jumping championship at Oslo competing for his native Norway. He is married to a Revelstoke girl and plans to return to Canada soon. He will not be able to compete on Canadian Olympic teams in the futre under a rule which says a competitor who has represented one country can never appear on behalf of another.

GUILTY IN BASKETBALL SCANDAL—A trio of former Kentucky University basketball stars appear in a New York court to plead guilty to a basketball fix conspiracy charge. They are (left to right) Dale Barnstable, Alex Groza and Ralph Beard. For being "cooperative" with the District Attorney's investigation, they are expected to receive light sentences.

Young Mailman Caught On Cheque

EDMONTON, Feb. 29—(CP)—A 12-year-old mailman-in-reverse was caught Thursday when he made the mistake of calmly returning some of his "mail."

The boy was stopped on the street by a housewife who suspected him of rifling her mailbox of a baby bonus cheque.

The woman said the boy reached into his pocket, took out several such cheques and leafed through them.

"Here's yours," he said in a businesslike fashion, handing her the missing cheque.

Police said the boy was able to cash one of the cheques before he was caught. He will be charged with theft in juvenile court.

Faces Life Term Bandit Meek

NEW YORK, Feb. 29—(AP)—Bank robber Willie Sutton Thursday meekly pleaded guilty to two charges of owning a gun, putting him in the shadow of a life prison sentence as a fourth offender.

Sutton came out of the Queen's County jail to plead guilty in Brooklyn on the gun charges, with the understanding that he would be returned to Queens, where he is charged with a $64,000 bank robbery.

Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said whatever happens to Sutton under the Queens charge is academic because the prisoner's guilty plea on the gun charges made him a fourth offender under New York State law, with a mandatory sentence of 15 years to life imprisonment.

McDonald ticked off on his fingers for reporters other jail sentences Sutton has yet to serve —28 years in Sing Sing Prison and about 37 years in Pennsylvania's Eastern State Penitentiary. He has escaped from both jails.

Found Freezing Man 38, Dies

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 29 (CP) —John McGugan, 38, of Fort William, died Thursday on his way to hospital after a railway crew discovered him almost frozen on the ice of a river near here.

Police said he had aparently wandered down to the river beneath the railway bridge last night. There were no marks on the body. An autopsy will be held.

Fears Growers Will Be Ruined

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 29 (CP)—A Tillsonburg farmer who once headed Hungary's state tobacco monopoly said Thursday a one-third cut in Ontario tobacco acreage this year will "ruin" hundreds of growers and seriously affect the general business economy of the tobacco counties.

"It won't touch the big fellow —he's got acres to spare," said Frank B. Babanes. "But it will clean out the little man with his few acres. A one-third reduction simply kills his profit."

The acreage cut was ordered this month by the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association, whose headquarters is in Simcoe.

This action was based on two major developments: announcement of drastic cuts in British tobacco imports and a decline in domestic tobacco consumption. The association claims Canadian sales are down because of high federal taxes.

Mr. Babanes said that, even with all-out production, Canada need have no tobacco surplus.

"European countries other than Britain would buy all we could sell—if only we could get an export permit," he said.

"But Ottawa's giving export permits only to big companies."

Salamander Defective

SARNIA, Feb. 29 (CP). — A coroner's jury here Thursday night termed "defective" an oil burning salamander which overturned and caused the deaths of three construction workers at the Canadian Oil Refinery project at nearby Froomfield Jan. 31. The jury recommended strongly "that greater safety precautions and more rigid inspection be observed in the use of such equipment in future."

Grateful Britons To Build Student Centre In London

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, Feb. 29 (CP).—Increased accommodation for Commonwealth and American students in London is the aim of a fund raised as a token of appreciation for food parcels received in Britain throughout the Second World War.

Contributions, started in 1950 by the new Queen, now total around £800,000. The fund will be used to build an extension to London House, a building in Mecklenburg Square which is the home-away-from-home for students from all parts of the Commonwealth.

Originally intended to provide the first women's section for what now is an all-man community, the fund has been extended to include "married quarters" and accommodation for American students of both sexes.

This is the first time a Commonwealth project of this type has been extended to include an American contingent. People in Britain, however, insisted that any gesture of appreciation for food parcels must include the United States.

Although building has not yet started, plans have been drafted for a property comprising 20 apartments for married persons, as well as accommodation for 80 women.

Present accommodation includes four flats for married students and a women's section housing 28. The latter comprises two narrow, Georgian houses converted into one and presided over by Dame Jocelyn Woollcombe, former director of Britain's women's naval service, the "Wrens."

Three of the small, comfortable bedrooms, tucked away in dark corners atop winding, old-fashioned stairways in this solidly-built house, are occupied by Canadians. One of the overseas visitors is a tall brunette, taking her master of arts degree at London University. She came here from the Sorbonne in Paris and prefers to keep her Canadian connections anonymous.

The other two are Susann MacQuarrie of (73 Kingston Row), Winnipeg, who is studying education, and Helen Featherstone, kindergarten director at Palmerston High School in Toronto, here for a course on child development.

All three are delighted with the accommodation, which includes meals in a small dining-room decorated like the kitchen of an old English inn.

They'd like to see its possibilities more widely advertised so more Canadians could take advantage of it.

This opinion is seconded by the first Canadian family to reap the benefit of "married quarters." Dr. Hector Ewart Duggan of (9711 82nd Avenue) Edmonton came to London with his wife and two young daughters for a post-graduate course in medicine. His accommodation consists of a comfortable two-storey "maisonette" comprising four rooms, bathroom and kitchen, situated in the square that will eventually house the new building.

CROSS-COUNTRY CHASE—John Richard Bayless, 37, is arrested by FBI agents in New York only a day after he robbed the Bank of America in Los Angeles of $19,600. He was traced through a stolen car and seized as he stepped off a transcontinental airliner at La Guardia airport. Note pistol protruding from agent's coat pocket.

Canadian Press Writer Learned News First

VANCOUVER, Feb. 29—(CP)—A Canadian Press staff writer was the first newspaperman to learn that Willi Bruntjen had been found.

A bulletin announcing that the suspected carrier of foot-and-mouth disease had turned up in Vancouver was flashed across Canada Thursday minutes after Jack Koehler of The Canadian Press walked into immigration headquarters here.

Koehler, 22-year-old native of Dresden, Germany, who came to Canada at the beginning of the year, had been assigned to write a feature story on how the disease is combatted in Europe.

When he asked if there were any German farmers he could interview, an immigration official said:

"Wouldn't you rather talk to Willi Bruntjen?"

REGUGEES CROWD SEOUL—Despite a ban on crossing the Han River, refugees still crush into the overcrowded capital—sometimes at the risk of their lives. The jamming causes ration and housing complications inside Seoul, but everyone has a roof and enough food to live. This girl, her sleeping baby sister strapped to her back in a blanket, is drawing the daily ration of hot, powdered milk.

Koreans Getting Impatient With United Nations Orders

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 29. (CP)—In Korean "hangang" means "great river." The word is reserved for one watercourse, the majestic Han which winds through Seoul in its westward flow into the yellow sea. It's frozen now. Koreans bite out a new definition for its expanse of ice. They call it "the second 38th parallel the United Nations have given us"—because they are forbidden to cross it.

The people—as distinct from the government—are becoming increasingly acid and impatient over an Eighth Army order making the river's south bank the limit of free movement in South Korea, and forbidding them from entering their capital

Public meetings debate the order both north and south of the stream. Newspapers devote editorials and articles to it.

And refugees from Seoul defy the ban, returning clandestinely, often risking and losing life.

Last May Seoul, in peacetime a city of more than 1,000,000 population, numbered 240,000 and was a closed area. Today it numbers 680,000. One way or another more than 60,000 got back last month.

Officially only four classes of civilian may enter the city; civic officials to keep government functioning, tax officials, utilities employees and individuals working with United Nations units.

Eighth Army pronouncements give four reasons for the no-crossing policy:

1. A shortage of rice and other foods.
2. Inadequate water, electricity and sanitation.
3. Overloading of the high-level bridge across the Han must be prevented because it is the only main supply route to the front.
4. Medical facilities inadequate to handle casualties that would result if the Communists decided to launch air raids.

Say Rice Abundant

The Koreans reply:

1. Rice is abundant in the markets, and 10 per cent. cheaper than anywhere else in Korea.
2. The Eighth Army's own civilian assistance command has announced the restoration of the utilities.
3. Most of the army's supplies and personnel move by rail and the bridge could handle several times its present volume of traffic.
4. Medically, Seoul is no worse off than any other city and, as an air target, would not have the strategic importance to the Communists of centres such as Pusan and Inchon.

The provost marshall of Seoul area command said the Korean argument on bridge traffic is valid.

"Vehicle checks indicate about 5,000 vehicles a day cross the bridge," he said in an interview. "The bridge could be freed for traffic without congestion. It might at times interfere with military movement of supplies and personnel.

"But it would ruin the economy of Seoul overnight."

Why do the people want to get back?

Army, C.A.C. and republic of Korea officials agree on the reasons.

There is the call of the "old hometown." Many left families in Seoul and want to return to them. Families billeted on farmers in the south want to return to their own homes. Business men and home-owners want to see how their property has fared.

Matter of Survival

Significantly it is the poor, not the rich, who clamor to return. The rich can afford to wait in Pusan, Taegu or Taejon. The poor consider it a matter of survival. For them there is the lure of some free grain.

Said the C.A.C. team commander:

"They take terrible risks to cross, but it is a great challenge. They know that once the risks have been met there is the virtual certainty of shelter and food.

"People tell me: 'Don't feed them; let them starve; that will stop them coming.'

"Well, you can't. Sure, they'd die. But the U.N. can't let them. These people know that if they once get into Seoul they'll be fed by C.A.C. if they're really in need."

U.N. and R.O.K. police call the movement an "invasion."

Along a key 2½-mile sector of the river front there are 50 control posts manned by 262 police That net caught 2,395 during the month that 60,000 crossed. A known 30 were drowned and countless others are feared lost.

The crossers waded, swam, boated, floated on logs, bribed police, rode army flatcars and hitched lifts on U.N. military vehicles. More than 200 boats were confiscated. The organizer of one ring turned out to be a former police chief.

Now that the river is frozen there are regular guide services. While arrests have dwindled to between 10 and 25 nightly, there is no reason to believe the proportion of successful crossings also dropped.

And as Seoul fills up, the feeling against continuation of the "second 38th parallel" increases.

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, has completed a two-week survey of civilian living conditions in that Oriental country. This article, one of a series, deals with a phase of the refugee problem.)

RadioAuctioneer Found Job Very Boring

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 29—(AP)—One of the most envied jobs in all of show business is that of L. A. (Speed) Riggs, the tobacco auctioneer.

For 15 years, his work has consisted largely of delivering gibberish chant at the beginning and close of his sponsor's radio and television shows. The stint takes eight seconds. Lately, he has not even been required to come to the studios. His chant is inserted by tape or film, and his salary cheque comes in as usual.

Riggs is paid well for his eight-second performance. He says he earns more than the $40,000 annual salaries which top tobacco auctioneers can draw in their normal pursuit.

But even such a handsome deal can have its drawbacks.

"For 15 years, I was under exclusive contract," he explained. "I couldn't do anything else. The inactivity is almost enough to drive you crazy."

Had Sidelines

For sidelines, he had a ranch in the San Fernando Valley, where he raised palomino horses and white-faced Hereford cattle, and invested in a print shop and a furniture factory. But even these interests weren't enough to keep him busy. So when his contract came up for renewal recently, he insisted on a non-exclusive pact. The new, seven-year deal permits him to make outside appearances, as long as they aren't for a similar sponsor.

"Now I can do some of the things I've had to pass up before," he remarked. "I've had many offers to do film roles in the past, and now I can take them. I also have some ideas for a TV show for myself. One of them, called 'Beat the Auctioneer,' is being considered by CBS."

NEW DEAL FOR KIDS—These young boys wouldn't get very far in an ordinary school. They're part of the seven per cent of the population which is less mentally efficient than the other 93 per cent. At Mont Providence, Riviere des Prairies, Que., they're some of the first residents in a fine new $10 million school-home which will give them a chance in life they would not otherwise have had. Above, one of the first lessons at the school is to identify objects, names and functions. It becomes sort of a game, with Sister Praxide de Jesus as chief railroad engineer.

ORIGINAL INHABITANTS

At the time the first settlers reached Canada, the Indian population is estimated to have been less than 200,000.

DR. NORMAN D. BUCHANAN

Dr. Norman D. Buchanan Retires After 44 Years

By DAVE WHITE

When Dr. Norman D. Buchanan ushered out the last of the day-long stream of patients from his Murray St. office two Saturdays ago, he was also closing the door on nearly 44 years of active practice in Peterborough. "I've worked hard but I've enjoyed it all—every minute of it," confided Dr. Buchanan, the oldest practising eye, ear, nose and throat specialist in Peterborough. He has few, if any, senior colleagues in all of Ontario.

"If I were a young man again, I'd do the same thing," said the doctor who, in his 71st year, remains fresh-complexioned, and just as mentally and physically alert as many colleagues 15 or 20 years his junior.

In Almost Every Home

Dr. Buchanan is proud to relate that from 1908 till about 10 years ago (that is until the major expansion began in Peterborough) he had visited almost every house in the city. He still has records of patients, now men and women with families themselves, who were too young to remember his first visit. But their medical records, from 1908 on, are tucked away in his ceiling-high case of filing drawers.

At one time his practice ranged from Huntsville in the north, west to Lake Simcoe, east to Tweed, and south to the lakeshore.

People with bad tonsils or mastoids, cataracts of the eye — or other complaints of eye, ear, nose or throat—came to him for medical assistance.

"I've operated in all the hospitals in this district," he relates. "One day I did 11 tonsil cases and ended with a cataract case in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay."

As he drops the curtain on his medical career, he departs with a general air of optimism: The standard of medicine in Canada is now as good as anywhere in the world. And the last 10 years have seen more progress in the eye-ear-nose-throat field than in all previous medical history.

"In 1933 there was an epidemic of mastoids here," says Dr. Buchanan. "I operated on 96 of them. Now a doctor rarely sees one, let alone perform the operation. I often wonder how the younger men will get a training in that line."

Cause Of Decline

What caused this decline in what was once a serious menace to public health?

"The introduction of antibiotics, penicillin, and allied products has made the change," says Dr. Buchanan flatly. "In 1933 I had 96 cases of mastoids; last year I had none, so far as I can remember, and the year before I had only one."

Emphasis now is on preventative medicine. And Dr. Buchanan estimates that in his specialized field the development of antibiotics, penicillin, etc., in the last 10 years has cut the number of operations by 75 per cent.

Surgeons, he concedes, may not agree with these statistics. But that is his own observation as a specialist.

The decline has been chiefly in mastoids and the various forms of sinus infections. However, operations for the removal of tonsils and adenoids are as common as ever.

He himself has operated on hundreds of mastoids, more than a thousand cataracts and "thousands" of tonsil cases.

Name Conciliator To End Dispute At Raybestos Co.

A conciliation board has been set up by the Ontario Labor Relations Board to settle a contract dispute between Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, and the Canadian Raybestos Co.

Judge J. A. Miller of Cobourg is the chairman. E. Macaulay Dillon, Q.C., of Toronto is the company nominee while Drummond Wren of Ayr is the union nominee.

Union demands include a substantial wage increase (exact amount not disclosed); reduction in the work week from 45 to 40 hours with no loss of take-home pay; larger night shift bonus; and improved vacations.

The union want two weeks vacation after two years service and three weeks after 10 years. At present vacations are one week after one year, two weeks after four years, and three weeks after 20 years.

Union Shop

Other demands are for a union shop; an increase of from seven to 10 cents an hour in the night shift bonus; and a general tightening of the contract.

At present the labor rate at Raybestos is $1.06 for men and 95 cents an hour for women. In addition, a cost of living bonus (one cent an hour increase for each 1.4 rise in the government index, has been in effect since last March.

Leonard Velleman, UE representative, said the union had rejected a company offer that included a three-cent-an-hour increase.

About 130 are in the bargaining unit.

The two parties have been negotiating since Oct. 13 and the contract expired in December but is continuing in effect, by mutual consent, until a new one is signed.

The hearing will be in Peterborough on March 7.

Edward Taylor, 544 George St. who has lived 72 years, has another four years to go to his 18th birthday, a reader pointed out today. He missed one birthday in 1900 when that year was not a Leap Year because of the machinations of the calendar. In 16 years he'll have had enough to vote.

An unusually large number of cases were handled in traffic court Thursday. Utilities Quits Old City Hall

Employees of the Utilites Commission were gathering up their office equipment, records and other furnishings in their section of the old city hall for removal today to the new office at the corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets.

Doug Callan and a group of Harry Beatty's staff made fast work of clearing out the premises, room by room, and getting it away in truck loads. Meanwhile, Howard Clegg and his treasury staff were carrying on in the main office, receiving Utilities customer payments up to 5 p.m.

Remnant oddments will be carted out Saturday leaving the old municipal building in complete vacancy.

Old Photographs

Gone this morning from the walls of the Commission's board room were the group photographs of the men who have administered the public utilities from the early days of the old waterworks service, and its expansion by the addition of the electricity and gas departments.

Some of those Commissioners of other years, many of them perhaps forgotten were: T. Frank Matthews, W. H. G. Denne, Wm. H. Hill, John Crane, Charles E. Sisson, Wm. H. Bradburn, Ernest F. Mason, Robert Hicks, George H. Duncan, Wm. H. Moore, and others down to recent years: Gordon S. Matthews, veteran chairman of the Commission, George A. Macdonald, Fred Hills, E. R. Shirley.

C.G.E. EMPLOYEES are once again being plied with thousands of leaflets as the IUE enters on its third campaign to win over the production workers. Here, at the west gate on Albert St., representatives of the rival UE and IUE unions are shown handing out leaflets to workers returning to the factory Thursday noon. There have been a couple of flare-ups at this gate—fists flying, scuffling, and traded verbal abuse—but Thursday the boys stuck to the business of just handing out the printed word.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Ski Club Holds Championships On Two Slopes

With spring in the air, the Peterborough Ski Club will attempt to run off its downhill and slalom championships this weekend at Bethany as well as the junior ski school races at Kemp's hill.

Conditions throughout the district are good for skiing as four to eight inches of packed snow are reported on most of the good ski slopes. The top is granular, offering fast skiing.

The junior ski school will wind up its most successful season on Saturday when the boys and girls compete for skiing honors. There will be races for both boys and girls in three age brackets, 10-11 years, 12 years and 13-14 years. The results of the older group will be grouped with last week's standing to determine a final standing.

Two Slalom Courses

Two courses of the slalom type will be set up for action, one on each side of the hill. The snow is "thin" but what there is will provide good skiing. Spotty thin patches along the tow track will be repaired before the races.

On Sunday at Bethany the senior club will hold its championship downhill and slalom events for senior men and women and junior boys and girls. If there is time the club hopes to work in another class for novice skiers.

Three weeks ago when the Southern Ontario meet was held at Bethany and Nassau, the club jumpers determined their champion, Ab Vass. He stood sixth in the open invitation meet.

Ski conditions at Bethany are described as good with a foot of packed snow on the slalom hill where the two events will be held. The snow on top is granular.

Ski conditions are expected to be good this weekend in most Ontario ski centres. A survey of snow conditions brought these reports: Haileybury, Huntsville, excellent; Cobourg, Orangevile, Collingwood, good on tow hills; Barrie, Flesherton, Markdale, Summit, good; Dagmar, fair to good.

Life Of Southwest Shown In Film

A film on "The Four Corners"—the junction of the states of New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah—was shown Thursday night at the Audubon Society's meeting in Queen Mary auditorium.

The film showed animal and insect life in that area, and some of the ruined Indian villages. Lecturer was Frank Hall, who with his wife, took the pictures.

Peak Tax Rate Predicted Left Behind; Still Climbing

Even the realistic Edward Humpage, city auditor, may by this time have forgotten the memorandum he prepared for the city council in 1949 indicating a peak tax rate of 52 mills for Peterborough in 1953. That statement was drafted as a guide to the council and the taxpayers showing particularly the trend in the city's debenture debt and capital liabilities. It was confined to a ten-year period ending 1958, and estimates the amounts of the annual charges for debt refunding, and other details submitted to the council as a chart of what was ahead.

Through the 1940's the tax rate had been down around 30 mills through a span of years, and property owners had become accustomed to that light touch upon their income as their contributions to the administration of the city.

A substantial break from that level developed in 1947, with a rate of 36 mills; and in the following year it leaped again to 41¼ mills.

The pace of acceleration was continued in 1949 to 45½ mills; and on to 49 mills in 1950.

Mr. Humphage studied the debentures actual and prospective and concluded that a 50-mill rate would be reached in 1951, would be duplicated this year, and in 1953 the all-time apex in that graph would be 52 mills.

The facts ignored the signs and hopes as Mr. Humpage contemplated them, as the tax rate climbed to 55 mills last year, and from all accounts is going to move on toward the 60-mill mark this year. That does not say the levy will go to 60 mills, but it does reflect intimations around the city hall that the ascending rate will resume its course this year past the 55 mills level.

30 Mills In 1944

Peterborough's tax rate in 1944 was 30 mills, which was equivalent to $30 on a property assessment of $1,000. If a man was assessed for $2,000 in that year, his payment to the tax collector was $60.

Just as an unpleasant supposition, the same $60 tax bill of 1944 would be $120 if a 60-mill rate emerged this year. And the $30 tax per $1,000 assessment would be become $60,—in nine years.

All this is only a reference to trends since the close of the war, and has been the general experience more or less of cities and towns throughout the province and elsewhere.

Some significance attaches to the fact that from his position of study and scrutiny of the indications as they appeared in 1949, Mr. Humpage's estimates for the ten year period ending 1958 were actually surpassed in 1951.

That prospective register was to reach a peak of 52 mills in 1953 and then receded to 51 mills in 1954, and drop again to 50.8 mills in 1955, and 50 mills in 1958.

Cheque Artist Beats Two Stores

Two local merchants will likely be extremely cautious from now on about accepting cheques from strangers.

Last Thursday, a man wearing coveralls similar to those worn by locomotive engineers and firemen walked into a George St. furniture and appliance store and bought a mantle radio.

He offered a cheque in payment, and a short time later, a man answering the same general disruption went into a jewellery store farther up the street two or three times before purchasing a $90 wrist watch. The man paid for the purchase by cheque and walked out.

Tries Again

Later in the afternoon, it is believed the same man went into another jewellery store on Charlotte St., and made another purchase. He asked to have it gift wrapped and suggested a cheque as payment, as it was after the banks had closed. After accepting the cheque, the manager went to the back of the store and began looking for the name and address on the cheque, in the city directory.

At this point, the man apparently suspected what the man was doing and left. "I'll be back later to pick the parcel up," he told the clerk who was wrapping it.

The same fictitious name appeared on all three cheques. The man has not been seen since.

Baby Picture-Quote Contest Calls For Baby Photographs

Commencing Monday the Examiner will publish the pick of Constance Bannister's famous baby pictures. Under the picture will be a quote of what Miss Bannister thinks the baby might have been thinking when the picture was taken.

But in conjunction with the publication of these pictures, the Examiner will conduct a contest among its own readers. They are being asked to submit baby pictures and the trick will be to write a suitable caption implying what could have been on the baby's mind to create such an expressive picture.

The best two pictures will be published every Saturday and five dollars will go to those who submitted them. Then at the end of the contest there will be a grand prize of ten dollars. Every family where there are children, has an unusal baby picture, so look over your albums and think about the captions you would write to go along with them.

Pictures published will be only identified as to the name and address of the person submitting them. All pictures must be sent to the Baby Photo Editor, Examiner, Peterborough.

Judging will be on: (1) Expressiveness of photo; (2) Suitability of picture and quote for newspaper reproduction, and (3) Cleverness of quote in bringing out good, wholesome humor in baby's pose or facial expression.

While The Examiner can assume no responsibility for pictures submitted, it will, so far as possible, return all photos to the senders at the close of the series, if return addresses are clearly marked on the backs of the photos submitted.

Here are a few of the quotes which will go under the Bannister pictures: I won't chase any man, even if it is leap year; Boy, What a day; Jeepers! what a spot to be in; and It might interest you to know we have a complete new line.

Watch the Examiner Monday's edition PAGE THREE for the first of the series.

Local Veterinarian In 11 Flying West To Check Herds Of Cattle

Ottawa Orders Every Farm In Ontario To Be Inspected All Routine Of Vets Comes To Stop

At least eleven veterinary surgeons of the Federal Department of Agriculture are leaving Toronto for Regina by airplane tonight (1 a.m. Saturday) as part of the plans for concentrated inspection of livestock to stamp out the infection of foot-and-mouth disease in western Canada. Dr. Jack Leslie of Peterborough who has been temporarily engaged in the Orangeville district in the examination of Ontario herds was notified there on Thursday night to be ready to leave from Toronto tonight. He has been attached to the local office of the federal Health of Animals branch of which Dr. George R. Penhall is in charge for Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton counties.

"Ten other Veterinary Doctors are leaving on the same plane, according to the information I received today." Dr. Penhall informed the Examiner this afternoon.

Inspect Ontario Farms

"Another announcement from Ottawa directs that every farm in Ontario must be inspected, and all routine work of our men stops at once. That provides an idea of the work that is ahead of our branch."

R. H. Graham, Toronto, of the livestock branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, who was here today with W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner, suggested the advice to farmers to avoid becoming panicky in this emergency.

Mr. Graham arrived here this morning on his way back from Ottawa to Toronto, for a meeting of representatives of the artificial cattle breeding associations of Ontario in the office of Frank C. Paterson.

Must Wipe Out Disease

The immediate job, Mr. Graham said, was to eradicate the disease in the several districts of Saskatchewan where its infection has recently been discovered. Departments of Agriculture were doing everything they could to isolate the disease, and to inspect livestock and premises in a campaign to meet all animal health requirements as quickly as possible.

Trains Speed 25 m.p.h. In City

C.P.R. will be permitted to increase the speed of its passenger train through Peterborough from 10 to 25 miles an hour when additional warning signs have been placed. As recommended by City Engineer Chalmers, one of them is a standard crossbuck at the south side of Townsend St., and an automatic flasher signal at Monaghan Road. That is the proposal of the board of works to city council.

Port Hope Gives Vincent Massey Warm Send-off

While a crowd of 200 cheered Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey boarded a special train at Port Hope Station for Ottawa where he was installed as Canada's first native-born governor-general Thursday.

The first well-wishers began assembling on the platform an hour before the train was scheduled to leave at 4.30 p.m.

At ten minutes after four, another famous member of Canada's first family arrived. Actor Raymond Massey, together with his wife, and Lionel Massey, son of the new governor-general stepped from their car and hurried down the platform to a railway car near the front of the train.

Then at 4.25 p.m., the official party arrived, from Batterswood, country home of the Masseys, where Mr. Massey had been spending a few days after his return from England, before taking up his new duites at Rideau Hall.

Secretary of State, F. Gordon Bradley, togther with a number of officals of Mr. Bradley's department and representatives of the Department of External Affairs followed behind the chauffeur driven car in which Mr. Massey arrived.

Will Visit,

As he stepped from the car, Mr. Massey crossed the platform and shook hands with Mayor W. N. Moore and members of the Port Hope council. As he strolled through the crowd before boarding the train, Mr. Massey said, "You won't lose me. I have lived here a long time. I hope to be here now and then."

"You have been very good to me," was his final comment, as he passed through the crowd for the last time, on his way to the train.

Although there was little ceremony about the farewell, it will long be remembered by those attending, as a historic event in the town's history.

As the train pulled slowly away from the platform, Mr. Massey standing on the rear vestibule waived his hat, and the crowd bid him bon voyage as they broke into song with the familiar "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

B.C. Legislature Asked To Color Oleo Margarine

By The Canadian Press

Another Western Canada legislature has been asked to permit manuafcturers to color margarine.

Mrs. Tilly Rolston, an independent member from Vancouver, introduced a bill in the British Columbia Legislature Thursday. A similar bill introduced last year by Mrs. Rolston was defeated at second reading.

A bill along the same lines met with opposition last week in the Manitoba Legislature. Debate on its second reading has been adjourned.

The House at Winnipeg Thursday gave its final reading to a bill to give women the right to sit on juries. Any woman can be excused if she applies to the sheriff within three days after receiving notice.

The recent teachers' strike in Cape Breton came under discussion in the Nova Scotia Legislature. E. W. Urquhart, a Liberal and a former school teacher, said the teachers were in the wrong in striking for higher pay. He supported the government's stand that it already pays its share of education costs and any increases should come from municipalities.

Reject Inquiry

The Alberta Legislature defeated a C.C.F. motion that a special committee be named to inquire into "all conditions" of the Alberta Liquor Control Board concerning the sale of alcoholic beverages, including beer, and all "premises which now or in the future may be licensed for such sales."

C. Herman Danielson, chief financial critic for the Liberal opposition in the Saskatchewan Legislature, opened budget debate at Regina by describing a two-mill provincial revenue tax as a levy on real property and one that belonged to the municipalities. The government proposes to distribute all the proceeds of the tax as increased educational grants.

Also in the Saskatchewan House, Health Minister R. J. Beltley announced that the provincial hospital services plan spent a record $13,708,089 last year. He said the figure was a preliminary estimate that might be increased by retroactive hospital-rate charges made after the end of 1951.

Inquiry Request Into Morals Raises Storm

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, Feb. 29 (Reuters).—An Anglican priest's call for a church commission to investigate the declining morals of British clergy has brought a cry of indignation from his Church of England colleagues.

The suggestion came from the Rev. Reginald Gaul, recorder of Rand, Lincolnshire, in a sermon last Sunday. He said: "There are more lapses in the morals of our clergy today than ever before in the history of the church."

The Rev. Clifford Rhodes, editor of the Church of England newspaper, said he considers it a "rotten thing" for Gaul to have said of his brother clergymen.

"He should stop and think before making such wild statements," he said.

Recent Case

Gaul's suggestion followed a recent case in which the vicar of a nearby parish was sentenced to 15 years in prison for morals offences against six boys and a girl.

"Although this was a particularly glaring case," Gaul said on Thursday, "there have unfortunately been others like it during the last two or three years. And not all of them come into court."

A spokesman at Church of England headquarters described Gaul's statement as irresponsible. He said it is highly improbable a commission will be appointed.

"Considering there are more than 15,000 Church of England clergymen today, the number of moral lapses is remarkably low," the official said.

Dr. Norman B. Buchanan Retires

Born in Hay township, Huron county, Dr. Buchanan was the son of a general practitioner who retired in 1905 and moved to Toronto. Dr. Buchanan received his secondary education at high schools in Clinton and London, Ont., and he then went on to the University of Toronto where he graduated in 1903, at the age of 22, from the faculty of medicine.

He was one of seven honor graduates among 120 students. Others were Dr. John Phillips, one of the founders of the Crile Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. Edward Gallie, onetime professor of surgery at the University of Toronto; Dr. John Oille, associate professor of medicine at the University of Toronto and the most famous heart specialist in Canada; Dr. George Wilson, associate professor of surgery at the university and in charge of surgery at St. Michael's Hospital; also Dr. Frank Neal, one of the founders of the Peterborough Clinic.

Studied In Europe

Dr. Buchanan's eyes twinkle behind his rimless glasses as he deadpans: "It all goes to show you that a good standing in class does mean something after all in later years."

Any educationalist want to argue the point?

After graduation Dr. Buchanan did what any young doctor at the turn of the century had to do if he wanted to specialize: he went to Europe to study. He perfected his learning at Vienna, Edinburgh and London.

Altogether he was abroad three and a half years. All very novel and very pleasant, he recalls. But today no longer necessary.

"The education and training in Canada is now as good as anywhere else in the world," says Dr. Buchanan. "It is no longer necessary to take post-graduate courses in London or on the Continent. The Canadian training is also as good as any in the United States, even in specialized fields."

The 27-year-old doctor did not choose a particularly auspicious time to arrive in Peterborough and set up practice. To be exact, it was April Fool's Day when he set foot in town.

There was a mild depression at the time, Dr. Buchanan recalls, and even in those days, with the population a mere 16,000, there was a housing shortage. However, he got an office in the Lendrum block, Charlotte St., on a site now occupied by Braund's store. Later he moved across the street to an office site now occupied by the A & P Store.

Some advice given him by a prominent local businessman wasn't encouraging either.

Sought Advice

When he first arrived in town and started shopping around for furniture he went to Bill Comstock (father of Max Comstock) to buy a miror. And he asked Mr. Comstock to tell him frankly what his chances were for survival in Peterborough.

Mr. Comstock looked the young doctor over carefully.

"Not very good," he said bluntly, under - estimating the calibre of the new arrival.

Good chums in years later, the two men often guffawed over this exchange while out on carefree fishing trips.

In 1912 Dr. Buchanan built his 12-room, red brick house at Water and Murray Sts., serving both as a residence and an office. To thousands of patients in Peterborough and district it has become a landmark.

Part of Dr. Buchanan's formula for relaxation after a heavy schedule was to take off one month at least every year to just travel or take it easy. For the past 10 years he has taken three or four months off every year.

Much Travelled

He has travelled extensively in the United States, Mexico and the Caribbean region, and in Europe. The beginning of the Second World War in 1939 upset his plans for a trip around the world. He still yearns for a trip to South America or South Africa.

In a week or so he plans to go to Florida for a vacation.

About 10 years ago he quit golf when his partner, the late Dr. A. W. McPherson, gave up the game.

Now his chief recreations are reading (fiction, biography, travel —anything), and fishing. He has one of the finest cottages on Buckhorn Lake and his own favorite spots for muskie trolling.

He has also belonged to the Ketchecum Fishing Club and the Ketchecum Hunt Club. For several years he was captain of the hunt club and once got the first deer only 15 minutes after taking over his station.

Dr. Buchanan became a member of the Academy of Medicine, Toronto, in 1914. And the same year was elected chairman of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Section, Ontario Medical Association.

In 1919 he was president of the Peterborough Medical Society; and in 1924, by examination, became a member of the Academy of Opthalmology and Oto-Laryngology of America. He was the first chief of staff of the new Civic Hospital, appointed in 1949.

While in Great Britain in his post-graduate days he received the L.R.C.P. from London University, and the M.R.C.S.; also the F.R.C.S from Edinburgh University.

For more than 30 years he has been a Mason.

He became past master of the Corinthian Lodge in 1932 and the T.P.G.M. in the Lodge of Perfection, 1928 (Scottish Rite); the M.W.S. in the Rose Croix in 1938; and in 1939 he was asked to become a member of the Royal Order of Scotland—confined to 70 members in Ontario.

Two years later he took his 33rd degree in Masonry and became a member of the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite Masonry for Canada.

Dr. Buchanan retired from the Rotary Club in 1932. He was on the Board of Stewards of George Street United Church for 25 years and he is still a trustee.

Having passed his "three score and ten," Dr. Buchanan is going to take it easy from now on.

"Coincidentally, on Saturday, Feb. 16, my last day of practising, I had more patients than I ever recall previously," he told the Examiner. "And yet I don't think they knew I was retiring.

"As soon as word got out that I was through I had an offer—from Toronto—to buy my practice in less than an hour. But I'm not doing it. There are enough doctors in the city now to look after the extra patients."

"I don't know whether to sell it or give it away," said the doctor, half musing, as he looked over his equipment valued at many thousands of dollars. "Some of it is very hard to get and it is expensive."

"A funny incident? Of course", the doctor obliged. "You can't practice for 44 years and not run into hundreds of funny situations.

"Once I went to a London St. address for a tonsillectomy. When I had finished removing the tonsils the man of the house came in.

"'Where's all the blood'?" he asked.

"There wasn't much, just some on a towel and the rest has been sucked away," I replied. "I showed him the towel.

"'Well,' said the man, agreeably surprised, "if that's all there is to it I wouldn't mind having my own tonsils out. Last time my tonsils were taken out there was blood flying all over and I had to re-paper the wall'."

Supply Pinch In Newsprint Said Easing

VANCOUVER, Feb. 29 (CP)— the supply "pinch" in pulp and newsprint has eased in recent weeks.

British Columbia producers, whose main market is in the United States, report a buyers' market now with salesmen forced to do a selling job in paper sales.

The slackening in demand has combined with a large increase in production to create a surplus.

"The situation," however, could change again," said a producers' spokesman, "and we might return to the old days of shortages."

A year ago paper and pulp had a customer waiting for every pound, but the once-active "grey market" has disappeared and the high, "under the counter" prices have fallen sharply.

There have been no drops in the contract price of newsprint, however. The Vancouver price is $115 a ton and in New York $116.

Sizeable Drop

A year ago newsprint bought outside contracts would bring as high as $300 a ton, but now it is reported to have dropped to around $180. Some sales outside North America were made at $500 a ton.

Some newspapers in the United States are reported to have cut newsprint purchases by as much as five per cent for the current month. This action was described as a brake to halt price increases.

The change in the paper situation may be significant as many business men both in Canada and the United States watch it as a barometer in economic developments.

There is little chance, however, that contract prices will decline.

Parity of the Canadian dollar with U.S. funds is a factor in the situation. The change-over has deprived Canadian mills of a large slice of revenue. This factor alone, said a representative of a large B.C. producer, is enough to keep newsprint from sliding now.

R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, takes a long-term view. He sees little chance that the demand for newsprint over the long term will lessen.

Yukon Population Increased 85 Per Cent In 10 Years

OTTAWA CP).—The Yukon, strategically important and on its way back to a new mining heyday, is Canada's fastest-growing area and it's got figures to prove it.

On a percentage basis, the Yukon far outstripped any other area of Canada in the growth of its population between 1941 and 1951, an 85.10 per cent hoist to 9,096 from 4,914.

In sheer numbers that boost was puny compared with, say, Ontario's jump of more than 800,000 in the corresponding period but the fact still stands: the Yukon nearly doubled its population in the last decade.

Why the jump in this land of legends about a gold rush that made the Yukon's 1901 population 27,000 and then collapsed?

Officials cite a number of reasons.

The Alaska Highway has gone through in the last decade, putting the Yukon on a direct road link between Edmonton and Alaska. In the last couple of years another important gravel road has been built northward from Whitehorse into the booming mining district of Mayo, a distance of 250 miles.

Whitehorse has become an important military base in joint Canadian-American plans to defend the north. The air force has a base there. It is the heart of the army's engineering system for maintenance of the Alaska Highway.

The air base was developed during the war as part of the staging route for taking planes to Russia. Now it is a key base in plans to fight off any planes that might come from Russia.

Whitehorse's population has boomed from 754 in 1941 to 2,600. Dawson has dropped from 1,000 to 773.

But, aside from the military, the key to the Yukon's growth is mining. In 1946, for instance, the total value of minerals produced in the Yukon was $1,700,000 nearly all from gold on the Klondike.

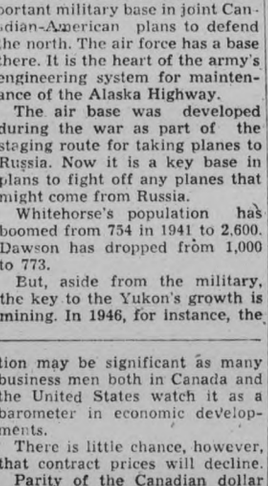
In 1951 it was $8,000,000, with gold at $3,500,000, silver at $2,500,000 and lead at $1,900,000. Officials here think the total may hit $12,000,000 for 1951 and keep on going. The heart of this boom is the base-metal mining area around Mayo, between Whitehorse and Dawson.

Fine Record

WINNIPEG— (CP) —Annual report of the police department of the city of St. Boniface showed no traffic fatalities during 1951. A check with safety officials showed only one fatality in over three years, a record exceeded only by four other cities of comparable size, under 50,000 population, and all in the United States.

Jute Production Up

NEW DELHI — (CP) — Food Minister K. M. Munshi reported that jute production in India rose from 3,300,000 bales to 4,700,000 bales in the past year. An additional 500,000 acres were put under production of jute, a vegetable fibre used for making sacks and many other products.



REAPPEARS — Mrs. Eleanor Jaffrey Cook Make, a school teacher, showed up unexpectedly at House Un-American Activities Committee hearings in Dtroit. After being named a Communist by a former FBI agent, she had temporarily disappeared.

Canada Sends Condolences To Two Queens In U.K.

OTTAWA, Feb. 29 (CP).—The Commons Thursday approved the following address to Queen Elizabeth and message of condolence to the Queen Mother:

Address to Queen Elibzabeth II:

Resolved: That an humble address be presented to Her Majesty the Queen in the following words:

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty:

Most Gracious Sovereign:

We, Your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of Canada, in parliament assembled, respectfully desire to express our deep sympathy to Your Majesty in the great loss you have sustained by the death of the late King, Your Majesty's beloved father.

Your Majesty's sorrow and that of the Royal Family is shared in a personal way by the people of Canada, whose representatives we are. King George VI was a great King and a good man. By his devotion to duty, his high courage, his example as a husband and a father, and his concern for the welfare of those he ruled, he greatly endeared himself to his Canadian subjects. We will not forget the occasion when, accompanied by your beloved mother, he visited our country, nor will Canadians forget the many happy associations established in the course of his reign over us. In common with all the peoples of the Commonwealth, we shall ever deeply cherish his memory.

We welcome Your Majesty's accession to the Throne and we desire to convey to you a sincere expression of our loyalty and devotion. When Your Majesty, accompanied by your husband, visited us a few months ago, you left a deep and lasting impression upon the Canadian people. We are convinced that Your Majesty will ever seek to promote the happiness and well-being of all your subjects. As members of the Parliament of Canada, it is our desire and determination to uphold and support Your Majesty to the utmost of our authority and wisdom, and it is our prayer that Divine Providence will sustain Your Majesty in the discharge of your heavy responsibilities.

Message of condolence to the Queen Mother:

Resolved: That a message of condolence be sent to Her Majesty Elizabeth the Queen Mother in the following words:

Your Gracious Majesty:

We, the Commons of Canada, in Parliament assembled, respectfully beg leave to tender to Your Majesty our heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow and bereavement. We share Your Majesty's grief and loss in the passing of our late sovereign, King George VI, who was greatly beloved by all his subjects.

We pray that, at this time, Your Majesty may be comforted and sustained by the remembrance of what your loving companionship meant to the late King throughout his life and reign; by memories of service shared; and by the sympathy and love that everywhere surrounds Your Majesty in your great sorrow.

Drew Skips Ceremonies Of Welcome For Massey

OTTAWA, Feb. 29 — (CP) — George Drew Thursday deliberately skipped the station-welcoming ceremonies for Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's new Governor-General, because there was no official place listed for him as leader of the official opposition.

His action was interpreted as a protest against what some quarters feel is a government tendency to slight the position of opposition leader, to lump all three leaders of non-government Commons parties together rather than recognizing that one of them has an official position quite distinct from the other two.

There was no indication that Mr. Drew's absence was an implied criticism of Mr. Massey personally or of the appointment of a Canadian as Governor-General for the first time. In fact, he apparently does not intend to criticize the appointment, thus removing virtually all chance that it will become a major political issue.

Mr. Drew is likely to make his party's stand clear in the throne speech debate Monday.

His comment when a reported asked him about his absence from the group that officially greeted Mr. Massey was this:

"An examination of the printed program will show that there was no provision in the ceremony for the leader of the opposition."

Quite A Difference

Mr. Drew, as head of the Progressive Conservatives, the second largest party in the Commons, is the leader of the official opposition and is paid $18,000, the same salary as a cabinet minister. Leaders of the other two parties in opposition get $6,000, the pay of private members.

Mr. Drew attended two other ceremonies, the installation of Mr. Massey as Governor-General and his subsequent opening of parliament.

One recent occasion which drew some comment here was the government dinner tendered Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Mr. Drew was not among those at the head table who numbered between 25 and 30.

During his speech Mr. Churchill spoke of Mr. Drew and of his role as leader of the opposition and called him to the head table from the floor to have a chat.

Hopes To Boost British Exports

TORONTO, Feb. 29—(CP)—A Texas-born Englishwoman who was educated at McGill University, Montreal, has returned to North America to see what can be done about increasing British exports to Canada.

Mrs. A. W. Wakefield, of London, said in an interview Thursday that she has been told slow delivery is one reason British goods aren't selling here.

When she returns to Britain in June, she plans to tell British shoe manufacturers that they would be advised to invest some money in "American lasts" for their shoes if they want them to sell in Canada. She has found Canadian women prefer the long slender look to the stubby wide shape of the British shoe.

3 Celebrate Leap Year In Marmora

MARMORA, Feb. 29 (ENS).— As far as could be gathered, two residents of Marmora township and one resident of Marmora, first saw the light of day on February 29, in different years.

In 1876, Mrs. Elizabeth Clemens, wife of John Clemens, retired farmer of Marmora township, was born on the extra day of the year at Limberg, Belgium. The Clemens have lived in Canada since 1919.

Harry Loveless, for years a resident of Deloro, returned last year to Marmora to live across the road from the former home of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Loveless. Says Harry: "I was born in Almanda, northern Michigan, and I was the only child of my parents to be born in the United States where they spent only a small portion of their lives, and it seems I had to be born on Feb. 29, 1892."

The other of the trio of '29-ers is Michael Callery. He is the son of Mrs. Barney Callery and the late Barney Callery of Marmora Township, and was born in the section adjacent to Deloro. He was born in 1912. An interesting feature is that each family represented by the celebrants has had a long connection with the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, the two men being themselves still employed by the company.

Lakefield W.A. Holds Spring Tea

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 29 (ENS).— Gay yellow daffodils, used as a decorative scheme, gave a touch of spring to the bazaar and tea held Tuesday afternoon by members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of St. John the Baptist, in the parish hall.

Guests were received by the president, Mrs. C. C. Stenner, and Mrs. J. L. Delaney. Mrs. John Twist acted as cashier.

The Dorcas table, with its array of aprons, pillow cases, quilts, knitting and other articles was in charge of Mrs. Walter Chappell and Mrs. B. Q. Dench. A Post Office, where parcels could be purchased for the modest sum of 25 cents was looked after by Mrs. William Armstrong and Mrs. E. Waldon.

Always popular, the table of home baking, presided over by Miss Jean Aitken and Miss M. Hampton, was soon sold out of its stock of delicious cakes, pies, cookies, etc. The candy table, which also reported a complete sell-out, was in charge of Mrs. W. Eaton and Mrs. S. E. White.

Tea was served from small tables centred with daffodils in silver bases. Tea conveners were Miss Amy Watson and Mrs. E. Rogers. Assisting in serving were Mrs. H. Coons, Mrs. Walter Sharman and Mrs. T. E. M. Last.

At the conclusion of the tea, the Auxiliary members enjoyed a pancake supper, the day being Shrove Tuesday.

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER

Miss Mary Medd, regent of the Peterborough Chapter, I.O.D.E., specially welcomed Empire and World Affairs conveners of all primary chapters in the city to the monthly meeting held at the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Margaret McGuire, empire study convener of the Jeanette Scott Chapter, gave a most interesting paper, tracing the gradual changing status of the governor-general from colonial to present day time.

Mrs. McGuire, while born in Canada, was brought up from early life in England where she received her education and graduated as a medical doctor.

"Ever since the British North America Act of 1867 men of distinguished character have come to Canada as our choice as governor-general. Not politic s nor diplomats, but men of whom we have been proud, be they commoners or of royal blood," she said. Much has been said in the past few weeks converning the pro's and cons of our governor-general being Canadian by birth. History alone will provide the true answer for it rests with the personal integrity of the man chosen for this high office. Let us remember that the ties that bind loosely are often the strongest, and our allegiance is always to the Crown."

Reports

On the advice of Echoes secretary, Miss Jean Hamley, a subscription to the I.O.D.E. Echoes will be sent to the Public Library as there has been a demand for this magazine.

Mrs. G. Grombridge, post-war convener, reports 24 food parcels and 295 knitted and sewing articles packed and shipped to England this month.

Mrs. Wm. Nash, municipal standard-bearer, urges regents to impress on their standard-bearers the importance of keeping accurate records of every time the I.O.D.E. flag has been used.

Regents are asked to check with each executive member to have their annual reports forwarded to the Municipal Chapter immediately. Miss Marjorie Benson, 356 Burnham St., is secretary.

A committee with Mrs. W. A. Burrell, convener, Mrs. Harry Roberts, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, was appointed to look after arrangements for the Municipal annual dinner meeting to be held at the Y.W.C.A. Thursday, March 27.

A nomination committee was appointed with Mrs. D. Miller, convener, assisted by Mrs. M. Clarke and Mrs. D. Murray.

Members of the 57th Regiment Chapter served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Fathers And Sons Get Together At St. Luke's

Every seat was filled in the Sunday school hall of St. Luke's Anglican Church Tuesday evening as the Cubs and Scouts with their fathers gathered around the festive board for the annual get-together of the year. Head table guests were the Rev. W. J. Gilling, chairman, church wardens Donald Worboy and Gordon White, assistant scout master Danny Barclay, scouter H. Nokes, district commissioner Dr. G. R. "We owe a lot to the men who are doing their best to train our boys in this game of scouting" said the chairman. "Let us keep St. Luke's to the standard of thenumber under which it is known "2nd Peterboroug, 2nd to none."

A toast to scouting was proposed by skipper Groombridge and answered by Mr. White, former rover. The question "Why am I in scouting" was answered by Akela Bill King and scouter Nokes.

Commissioner Langley expressed the wish that St. Luke's may soon carry the banner of scouting in every phase by the adding of a Rover Crew to the unit. He also made the following presentations:

Founder Honored In Naming WCTU Annual Tea

Frances Willard, the founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, was honored in the name given their annual tea by the local branch of the organization. The ladies held this event Thursday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room where a pleasant half hour was spent by the guests with soft music played by Mrs. J. C. Ellis providing a background for their conversation.

The tea table centre was also a conversation piece because of the attractive arrangement of white snapdragons and tulips with deep purple pansies, yellow daisies and blue garden flowers. The flowers were in a shallow cut glass dish surrounded by folds of white tulle.

Mrs. A. H. Campbell and Mrs A. J. Throop poured the tea and servers were Mrs. A. J. Stephenson, Mrs. V. Boorman, Mrs. E Glover, Mrs. W K Sloan and Mrs. A. J. Macklin. Mrs George Rowe replenished the tea table while Mrs. James Tenney and Mrs. E. Dormer fixed plates.

The tea room hostess Mrs. A A McIntyre made the guests feel very welcome. She was responsible for the table arrangements and after the tea she presented the flowers to president Mrs. W A Poast.

The home cooking table was particularly well laden and did a very good business. Mrs. G. Hewitt, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Mrs A. J Spencer and Miss E. Boyd were in charge.

Mrs. Poast and vice-president Mrs E M Davis were receiving at the door throughout the tea. Treasurers were Mrs. J. M. Fanning and Mrs. W. H. Woollard.

What's Right?

You have unexpected guests for a meal.

WRONG: Keep apologizing for the meal, saying you wish you had known they were coming.

RIGHT: Offer them what you have and make them feel welcome. They won't if you act embarrassed about the meal.

5 Farm Forums Of Asphodel Meet At Supper

The five Farm Forums of Asphodel township, Cottesloe, Daisy D, Donegal, Killarney and Westwood, met together at a pot luck supper in the Asphodel Community Centre in Westwood Monday. Chairman of the evening was Mr. William Mood of Westwood Forum.

Supper was served buffet style to more than 100, who were divided into groups by being named cows, horses, pigs and sheep, and were thus entitled to eat in the Loafing Barn, Horse Palace, Pig Pen and Sheep Fold. There was an expressed preference for being a pig.

After supper the assembly enjoyed some community singing led by Messrs. B. Warr and L. Cameron, then listened to a radio broadcast, and the chairman's advocacy of the greatest co-operation among farmers in order to achieve progress in the modern economic and social world. The plan of the Poultry Producers organization and an appeal for signers of their petition to vote on organization was presented by Mr. H. Lewis, field man for the Peterborough County Federation of Agriculture. Mr. Max Humphries humorously outlined and underlined the address of Mr. Cecil Relxea, field man for the Ontario Federation of Agriclture, who spoke at a recent dinner in Westwood, especially with regard to the formation of township units of the Federation of Agriculture. A committe from the five forums was set up to study the benefits, formation, operation, etc., of such a unit.

DOROTHY DIX

Present-Giving Opposed By One Husband

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I can't agree on a solution to the problem of gifts. He has "laid down the law" as to how he wants things done during 1952. My family has always made quite a fuss over birthdays, anniversaries, etc., exchanging small gifts. My husband wants this practice discontinued except for our parents. He thinks Christmas and birthdays should not be observed as extensively as we do. I have six brothers and sisters, my husband has one brother, but he has many other relatives such as aunts, grandparents, etc. I get a great deal of pleasure from giving, no matter how small the gift, and hate to stop the practice.—M.B.S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband's attitude strikes me as being very selfish, unless, of course, the family finances preclude giving. This does not seem to enter into your case, however. We have ample Biblical testimony as to the value of giving, and the exchange of presents is one of the most pleasant of family customs. It is such things that make a family stay together. Presents can be made, or judiciously shopped for, at little expense and no one should begrudge such a small outlay when such large benefits result.

✧ ✧ ✧

Tell Child the Truth

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a war bride, and have been happily married for four years. I have a 7-year-old son from a previous marriage. Whenever friends meet him, they turn to my husband and ask, "He can't possibly be yours, can he?" We don't know what to say in front of our son because he thinks my husband is his real father, and we want him to keep on believing so.—F. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are making a grave mistake, and paving the way for a great deal of future embarrassment, by not telling your son the truth about his parentage. The facts can be explained to him very simply. Your friends, too, can be given the facts of the situation without unduly lengthy explanations.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 12 years old and in the seventh grade. My mother sends me to bed at 9 o'clock each night and I think this is too early. What would you say is the correct time for a girl my age to go to bed? I think 10 o'clock would be fairer.—BRENDA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your mother, Brenda, is entirely right. Nine o'clock is the proper bedtime for a 12-year-old. Soon enough you'll reach the age when you can stay up later; get to bed early now, and build good health for those coming days.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm going with a girl who is attending college. She wants to become a teacher, and I want to get married. She is 18, and I am 20. Should she complete her education, or should we marry now?

GENE C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are both so young that the delay incurred by having you fiancee complete her education will be an advantage. Having a profession is a wonderful asset to a girl, even though she marries. It will give her (and you, too) a sense of security in the knowledge that should misfortune come, a source of income is readily available. Her college education will make her an asset to the community, and will come in very handy in her job of wife and mother. Let her finish college, then get married. You'll both be much better off.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What does it mean when a fellow gives a girl friend pearls? I have heard it means the breaking of a friendship, and as I am superstitious, I'm worried.—TESSA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'd say that a gift of pearls meant the boy liked the girl quite a bit. Forget the silly superstition! In fact, why not try to get over your whole superstitious attitude? There's no excuse for it in this modern, educated world.

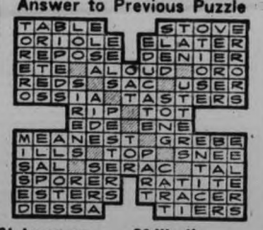
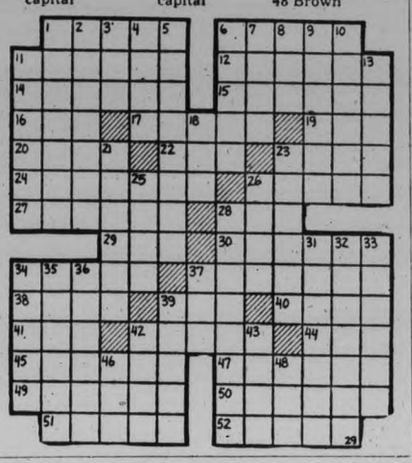
Answer to Previous Puzzle





MARY MOORE SAYS:

Caution Required Roasting Half A Turkey

QUESTION: I like reading your recipes very much, also tried several of them and find them successful. Would you please publish a recipe how to roast a half turkey and how to go about it. Also send me a recipe for individual pork pies.—SUSAN S.

ANSWER: I hope that half turkey is well frozen and that you are not waiting too anxiously for my reply. Allow three weeks at least to elapse before looking for my answer,—that is when you do not enclose stamped self-addressed envelope. I prefer everyone to enclose stamped envelope.

How To Roast a Half Turkey

On broiler pan or shallow roasting pan place a sheet of aluminum foil. On this in the centre in a mound pile the stuffing, roughly in the shape of the cavity in the half turkey. Have the bird clean and dry and salted. Place over the stuffing. Brush bird with melted fat. Cover wtih aluminum foil or moistened parchment paper or lacking either of these, an oiled cloth. Bake in uncovered dish at 325 deg. Fahr. for 3 hours if half turkey weighs 8 or 10 lbs. If half turkey is smaller 2½ hours may do. Test by lifting paper or cloth cover and moving thigh bone. If it moves easily and tends to break away, bird is done.

CAUTION: In roasting half turkey, bird is apt to dry out unless all of the above precautions are used. Dressing should be a moist type, bird should be covered closely with paper or cloth and heat should be lo· and not for too long.

Individual Meat Pies

English Pastry: 4 cups pastry flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups shortening, 1 cup hot water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 egg yolk. Sift dry ingredients, cut in 1 cup of the shortening. Dissolve remainder in hot water, then add egg yolk and lemon juice and stir. Add this slowly to the flour, mixing well, and knead on floured board 3 minutes. This is rich and delicious for individual meat pies. Roll out dough and cut into round to fit individual meat pie tins. (I find that the lower half of 20-oz. vegetable cans — like those we buy containing peas — are excellent. They must be cut off with metal shears and edges turned back as they are razor-sharp if not.) Fill ¾ full with meat mixture:

Meat Mixture: This may be raw or cooked minced meat. If it is cooked add - small onion to about 1 lb. of it, putting it through the grinder with the meat. One-half of a small onion is enough if meat is raw — and is not usually used when raw pork is. Add salt and pepper to taste and enough left-over gravy to make filling somewhat soft. Put on top crust to fit, and be sure it is sealed. Gash top at centre to allow steam to escape. Brush top of pie with slightly beaten egg white. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. until bottom of pies are buiscuit-colored and top is golden — takes about 25 to 30 minutes.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I think I remember you mentioned a "Skimmed Milk Diet" in your column. Will you please send this to me at your convenience.—MARIE D.

ANSWER: I have often mentioned skim milk and skim milk powder and cheese, but I can't remember ever giving anyone a skim milk diet. Obviously one could not exist on such a diet.

Would you please write to me again and let me know the purpose of your diet?

Skim milk powder is becoming so much in demand that I am planning on writing an article containing recipes showing how to put skim milk powder to good use in your cooking, so watch for it during March.

If you want to replace whole milk with skim milk simply buy it from your milkman and use it in place of whole milk to drink and in your cooking. Skim milk cheese may be bought in cellophane packages containing one-quarter pound.

To me, this answer is unsatisfactory because I need to know what you require. Please write again so that I may be more helpful.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Rabbit-Pie A Favorite

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

As surely as spring housecleaning is just around the corer, it's time to clear the old desk-drawer of a hotch-potch of home-making hints and recipes.

There are sewing tips and directions about making "daisies" out of turnips. There's even a health menu left over from Health Week a few weeks back.

The menu incidentally was used for a luncheon in Toronto. Here it is: tomato juice; beef (at least four ounces); baked potato; peas and carrots; salad (cabbage, lettuce, carrots, tomato with french dressing); two wheat rolls; butter or fortified margarine (one-half ounce); cheese one-half ounce); stoned wheat thins; coffee (clear); iodized salt; whole milk (eight ounces).

The turnip tip came from the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association. The daisies add a decorative touch to the sandwich or relish tray.

"Just cut very thin slices crosswise of the turnip," say the fruit wholesalers. "Then cut holes in the centres of the slices with the tip of a knife and insert a tight carrot curl—now with your kitchen scissors, snip the turnip up to within one-quarter inch of the carrot, making about twenty petals."

Snip off a diagonal piece from the tip of each petal to make a pin-wheel effect.

The wholesalers say turnips even make good "Calla Lillies" Simply take two thin turnip slices and bend them gently around a carrot stick stamen, leaving the tops open. Fasten at the bottom with a toothpick and crisp in ice water.

From Ontario's Lands and Forest Department comes a dish said to be a favorite with conservation officials—Rabbit - pie.

Cut the rabbit into frying pieces and brown in frying-pan on top of stove. Remove meat and cool. Cut meat into small pieces. To the liquid in the frying-pan add one cup of Port Wine.

Put rabbit and juices in deep baking-dish. Cut up and add one onion. Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit until tender. Add one can of condensed mushroom soup. Cover with biscuit dough and bake until done.

By the way, rabbits have formed an important part of the meat diet in rationed Britain these last few years particularly at the inns where "jugged hare" is seen frequently on the dinner menus.

But despite the fact Britons have meat rationing did you know they are exporting meat to Canada? A release from the United Kingdom information office at Ottawa explains this:

"The export of canned meat products to Canada is an important part of Britain's drive to earn dollars to pay for essential food and raw materials."

Spring Sewing

Those in the know say that "torso" skirts will be popular this spring — some to feature pleats stitched to the hipline. Others will have a hip yoke from which the skirt bells out.

Important pattern styles for spring: brief cape-line jacket; curved jacket suit; turtle-neck blouses; full swing skirts; shirt-waist dresses worn over crinoline petticoats.

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE

Arrangements for a booth at the Spring Show this month will be one of the questions for the executive of the Junior Farmers Club to deal with at their meeting Monday, March 3 at 8.30 p.m.

✦ ✦ ✦

JEST WITH A STING

Evidently farmers haven't lost the gift of smiling in the midst of reverses as indicated by the story about the hog producer who was mad at his dog early in the winter for eating two of a litter of ten pigs. He was even more peeved at the pooch recently for not eating the other eight.

✦ ✦ ✦

200 AT EMILY RALLY

Farm Forums of Emily township held a joint meeting Monday night in the Downeyville hall with an attendance of nearly 200 farmers and their wives. The chairman was Peter Perdue of King's Wharf Forum, assisted by Clayton Taylor of BobcaygeonForum.

The speaker of the evening was Cecil Belyea of the Ontario Federation, who was the speaker at the recent dinner meeting at Westwood. He dealt with phases of the marketing of hogs and poultry. A social hour included dancing and refreshments.

The rally was an outstanding community success, and Forum members expressed hopes that other union meetings would be arranged.

REDUCE HOG WEIGHT

As a means of reducing surplus pork on the retail market, 250 Perth county hog producers at Milverton last week voted almost unanimously in favor of finishing hogs at 145 to 150 pounds dressed weight. Only three producers voted against the rather novel idea.

The meeting endorsed a resolution that the question of a floor price be reopened. They want 28c at Winnipeg instead of the 24c a pound now established. Reeve Wilfred Bishop of North Norwich township, Oxford, said he thought there had been a "gross blunder" somewhere along the line in the setting the 24c price for Winnipeg.

In Perth last year, 166,000 hogs were marketed. If the producers' suggestion was carried out, to market hogs at 20 lbs. lower than the average market weight now, more than 3,000,000 pounds less pork would find its way to the retail market in that county alone. A nation-wide reduction would cut any dangerous surplus and help keep prices at an even keel.

Reeve Bishop said the producers and all agriculturalists should try to see any crisis from the wider viewpoint of the nation generally, not just from the farmer's position.

WARSAW DINNER

Wesley Down of Hilton, introduced by Don Milburn, was the speaker at the Federation of Agriculture dinner at Warsaw, Wednesday evening. Henry Sharpe presided with an attendance of close to one hundred men and women.

Reeve Stuart Clysdale extended a civic welcome, and Warden R. R. Stewart congratulated the Dummer community, and particularly the Women's Institute on the success of the social assembly. The turkey dinner in the Institute Hall was quite a factor in the pleasant atmosphere of the meeting.

Frank Paterson and R. E. Bell of the Department of Agriculture were present, and Harold Lewis, Federation fieldman.

Those three recent dinner meetings across the centre line of the county, at Westwood, Norwood and Dummer, have amply proved that sentiment is deeply interested in the Federation in East Peterborough. The response of the people has given new encouragement to the incoming executive for 1951.

Another Federation dinner will be held in the north part of Smith about the middle of March. The locality is around the 16th Concession. Harold Lewis reports that prospects there are just as favorable for another full house as they were on the east side.

FORUMS AT COLDSPRINGS

Major Earle Drope, president of the Northumberland Federation of Agriculture, was speaker at a united meeting of Hamilton township Forums in Coldsprings Hall Monday night.

Members of Plainville Forum were hosts to Glourourim, Harwood, and Front Road West Forums of Hamilton, and Bailieboro Forum of South Monaghan. Attendance was approximately 175. Harold Minifie of Plainville was chairman, and Herb Arbuckle manager of Cobourg Co-Operative, showed sound films, assisted by Lloyd Kellogg of Welcome.

Other program features were: piano duets by Wm. Little and Warren Buttars; vocal duets by Mrs. C. Minifie and Mrs. C. Timlin.

Major Drope gave an interesting review of the work of Federation and also indicated its future possibilities as more farmers take an active interest in their organization affairs. Wallace Buttars moved a vote of thanks to him. Lunch was served by the women of Plainville Forum. Music for dancing was supplied by Mrs. Donald Kent, Gordon Buttars and Harold Minifie.

Special appreciation was expressed by the guests to Plainville Forum for a most pleasant evening.

BUS TRIP PLANNED

A two-day bus trip to Ottawa and Kemptville early in June was unanimously recommended by the Peterborough Crop Improvement Association this week. Robert Armstrong was chairman of the meeting.

It was also decided to carry on the 50 Bushel Wheat Club this season and to assist in expanding the Peterborough seed fair at the Central Ontario Spring Show. Plans also provide for a meeting at the Armstrong farm to look over test plots of spring grain, and also to see a sample of the new Oron orchard grass.

Seed Drill Tests Show Need Of Quality Grain

"Seed only the best and feed the rest" should be the slogan for farmers planting grain this year, according to the Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. They point out that good seed can provide the base from which to produce 250 million bushel grain crop which has been set as the objective for Ontario this year.

With this in mind, they urge farmers to check over their grain supplies now. If their home-grown grain does not qualify as good seed, this is the time of year to obtain seed elsewhere and be assured of the seed you want when planting time comes.

Seed supplies are good, as might be expected after the heavy 1951 crop. However, export demand has been brisk and the Crops Branch feels that farmers would be wise to buy their seed supplies now, rather than wait till the best has been shipped elsewhere.

A trend towards the use of better seed has been evident in recent years. Even so, the Ontario Seed Drill Survey last year clearly showed there was still much room for improvement. In this survey grain samples were obtained from the boxes of grain drills in the fields of 10 counties. A little less than half of these samples graded No. 1, while almost a quarter of them classed as rejected. This latter grain may be good feed, but it can scarcely be expected tot produce a crop comparable to that obtained from good seed.

Another point in favor of getting good seed is to be found in the price situation. The Seed Marketing and Publicity Committee of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association recently reconsidered the prices recommended for seed grain. Their figures have been revised downwards to last year's levels. For example they now suggest that Registered No. 1 Oats should sell at $1.80 per bushel with Commercial No. 1 placed at $1.50 per bushel. These recommended prices are baesd on retail sales at local shipping points, bags included.

CATTLE INSPECTOR — Federal officials, dressed in rubber overcoat, rubber gloves, rubber boots, and armed with a towel, bottle of vinegar, two cans of lye, a sponge, two cakes of soap and a washtub are working on infected premises where cattle foot-and-mouth disease has broken out in the Regina area. Dr. Harold J. Hunter, Regina veterinarian, shown wearing the uniform, will assist government inspectors. An estimated 1,015 head of cattle, 190 hogs and 140 sheep will have to be slaughtered.

Farm Review Changed By Livestock Ban

The weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, issued Feb. 25, escaped the pervading dismay following the subsequent report of the discovery of the foot-and-mouth disease on a Saskatchewan farm.

Winter leaves the calendar today with an inheritance for spring in Ontario that lacked the lustre of this week's sunny weather. In the eastern counties, for example, farmers in Frontenac were reported "much concerned over beef and hog prices. The current topic is that feed prices are too high."

This is Glengarry: "Markets for dairy cattle are practically non-existent. There were practically no sales during the winter, and a large number of farmers find their stabling accommodation more or less inadequate. Local cheese producers are quite perturbed with the present marketing situation."

Dundas: "The drop in hog, cattle and egg prices is causing some concern."

Apprehension is also expressed on the west side of the province, as in Grey: "Hog feeders are concerned about the rising costs of feed and price of hogs. Some anxiety prevails over the cattle prospects."

Rural uneasiness was fixed on the market and outlook for poultry, eggs, hogs and to somewhat less extent on cattle.

Then comes the shocking report from the west, followed by the almost automatic action of the United States in excluding Canadian livestock against possible infection from the Saskatchewan source, which has been rigidly quarantined.

The distressing aspect of the outbreak of this alarming disease is the restrictive effect it immediately placed on a branch of the Canadian agricultural economy which had missed the serious repercussion of the loss of British export markets. The blow fell upon the currently strongest link in farm production, beef cattle and their products, and immediately extends to all livestock in this country indefinitely until the U.S. ban is again lifted.

About all that can be said of the ominous outlook to Canadian farming in the first stage of quarantine this week is that official action of eradication of the disease may have swifter effects than were feared in the first sounding of the phrase "foot-and-mouth" at the announcement at the beginning of the week.

The neighborly relations of Canada and the United States may tend to diminish the rigors of exclusion of livestock at the border if it becomes evident that the outbreak has been localized. On the other hand, there are beef interests in the U.S.A., and its election year, that are an unknown factor in relations that are neighborly but also business and competitive.

JUNIOR FORAGE CLUB

Eight Junior Farmers responded to Bob Bell's proposal to form a Forage Club. John Edmison was elected president this week; Reg. Ferguson, vice-president, and Orland Brown, secretary. The other members are Ross Legge, Orville Williamson, Jack Matchett, George Shoniker and Edward Kimball.

The list is still open to others who wish to get in on this two to three year project which will take up such forage details as crop mixtures, top dressing, and so on, at periodic meettings. That is a major part of the undertaking.
